Another Major City Falls to Communists

SAIGON (AP) — The South Vietnamese government has abandoned Qui Nhon, the third major city in a week to fall to the Communists, and the loss of the rest of the central coast is expected soon.

Military sources said Qui Nhon's administrative and military authorities were evacuated by a navy ship Monday, leaving the city, South Vietnam's third-largest, to the advancing North Vietnamese and Viet Cong.

Some fighting was reported at Phu Cat airport, once a major United States base 20 miles north of Qui Nhon. But it appeared only hit and run and the North Vietnamese were reported to have overrun the base.

This completed the Communist conquest of Binh Dinh province, the 14th of South Vietnam's 44 to be taken over by the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong. Most have been given up without a fight.

The next targets of the Communist drive were expected to be the Saigon governments remaining enclaves on the central coast: the port cities of Tuy Hoa, 50 miles south of Qui Nhon; Nha Trang, 50 miles farther south; the big former U.S. base at Cam Ranh Bay, 25 miles south of Nha Trang.

Military pressure meanwhile appeared to be building up close to Saigon.

The Saigon command said Chon Thanh, an isolated district capital 45 miles north of Saigon, was hit by a 3,000-shell barrage and that North Vietnamese tanks moved in under cover of the shelling.

The communique said the attack was driven off and 13 tanks were knocked out. It reported 18 government soldiers killed but gave no report of North Vietnamese losses.

Fighting also was reported at two points near Xuan Loc, a provincial capital 45 miles east of Saigon. The Saigon command said 77 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong were killed and government losses were two killed and seven wounded.

Ford and Ky Differ on Cause Of Reversals

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (CP) — President Ford has let it be known that he attributes Hanoi's military successes in South Vietnam to its violations of the Paris ceasefire accord and the failure of Congress to grant more aid to that country.

But in Saigon, a former vice-president of South Vietnam said his country's devastating losses to the North Vietnamese were not due to the lack of U.S. aid.

Nguyen Cao Ky insted blamed "very poor leadership".

Ky said manpower and military equipment were available to do the job without receiving $300-million in military aid from the U.S., a reference to President Ford's request to Congress for additional aid help.

Bullets Pierce Police Cruiser

An RCMP officer inspects the scene where RCMP Constable Dennis Fycaluk was shot Monday as he waited at a roadblock for escaping would-be bank robbers. The escapers pumped several bullets into his cruiser (left) hitting him in the chest. The suspects failed to get any loot from the bank they tried to rob in Coquitlam, east of Vancouver. (CP Photo)

Two Men Arrested in B.C. After Policemen Wounded

PORT COQUITLAM, B.C. (CP) — Two men were taken into custody today following an overnight search for four suspects wanted in connection with Mondays abortive robbery of a bank at nearby Coquitlam and the wounding of two RCMP officers.

Police said the two men, one of whom was armed, were arrested near the spot where one of two cars used in the attempted holdup had been abandoned. They did not offer resistance.

Meanwhile, the RCMP pressed their search for the two other men. "It looks promising, but we've still got a hell of a long way to go," one RCMP official said.

Police said the holdup attempt began when two armed men forced their way into the bank Monday morning as employees were arriving for work.

Two accomplices remained outside, one acting as a lookout, the other ready to drive one of two getaway cars.

Brian Noble, the branch manager, notified police that he suspected something was wrong when he approached the bank. Several police cars arrived at the bank but they were sighted by the robbers who fled.

During the getaway, one man sprayed the bank parking lot with bullets from a semi-automatic M-1 carbine. Another attempted to take a male employee hostage, but was pushed away.

When the two suspected cars split up, police concentrated their pursuit on the vehicle from which shots were being fired. It contained the two men who entered the bank. Meanwhile, the second car, occupied by a whole-out man and his driver, escaped down a sideroad.

The first car, hit by four police bullets, later was found abandoned near here and the two men were believed to have fled into the bush.

Constable Robert Ellergodt received superficial cuts from flying glass when a burst from the semi-automatic rifle shattered the windshield of his car as he waited at a roadblock.

Constable Dennis Fycaluk suffered a chest wound and cuts when his patrol car was struck by a burst of gunfire at another roadblock. He was reported in good condition.

Canadian Dies in Cyprus

NICOSIA (Reuter) — A Canadian officer serving with the United Nations peacekeeping force in Cyprus was found dead in his room at the Ledra Palace hotel here early today with a bullet wound in the head, a UN spokesman reported.

The spokesman said the officer was presumed to have been killed by a shot fired at the hotel during shooting between Greek and Turkish Cypriots and the Turkish army Monday night.

Strike Expected

Ships Change Courses, Shun Quebec's Ports

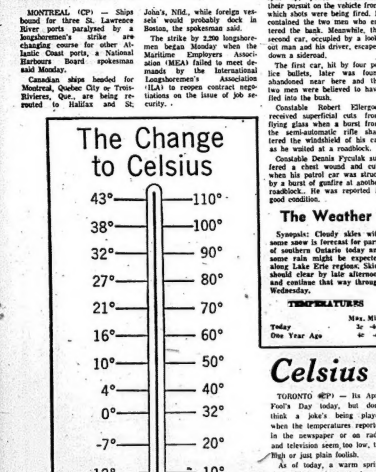
MONTREAL (CP) — Ships bound for three St. Lawrence River ports paralyzed by a longshoremen's strike are changing course for other Atlantic Coast ports, a National Harbours Board spokesman said Monday.

Canadian ships headed for Montreal, Quebec City or Trois-Rivieres, Que., are being rerouted to Halifax and St. John's, Nfld., while foreign vessels would probably dock in Boston, the spokesman said.

The strike by 2,200 longshoremen began Monday when the Maritime Employers Association (MEA) failed to meet demands by the International Longshoremen's Association (ILA) to reopen contract negotiations on the issue of job security.



Beginning today Canada's weather reports will be given in degrees Celsius only. On the Celsius scale, water freezes at zero degrees and 20 degrees is room temperature. When the temperature is minus 12 degrees, you might like to go skating and minus 18 degrees is zero on the Fahrenheit scale. (CP Newsmap)

Two-bits Difference Likely To Stall Belleville Buses

By COLIN BRUCE
Staff Reporter

Belleville Transit Commission management and union will meet Wednesday, with strike predictions already being made by union leader Hugh Kerr.

Union and management are 25 cents apart in negotiations which broke down March 12. Fair has been a stumbling block in negotiations — the first contract negotiations for the 23-member union in five years.

Originally, union negotiators asked for an increase of $1.48 an hour but later trimmed the demand to 81 an hour.

Management opened negotiations with a 75-cent offer and hasn't moved since.

Lawrence St. Pierre, negotiator for the local members of the Brotherhood of Railroad and General Workers, will meet with commission chairman Marylea Burtt Wednesday afternoon. "To see if she has changed her mind," said Mr. Kerr, chairman of the negotiating committee.

Mrs. Burtt told The Intelligencer Monday, "I won't offer any more"

Commission vehicles carried more than one million passengers last year.

Mr. Kerr said that because the union has had the same contract for the past three years, members have fallen behind inflation and that the union request is the minimum it will consider.

"It looks like we're going to have a strike," he said.

A provincial conciliator — after failing to bring a settlement to the transit commission — filed a no board report two weeks ago. The report gives transit workers the right to strike at a time of their choice.

In the event of a strike, Mrs. Burtt said "We'll hold out as long as city residents can find other ways of getting to work."

A strike vote has not been taken by the employees though one is expected to be held following the union-management meeting Wednesday.

The union local has never staged a strike in its 18 years

President Nol Leaves Cambodia

PHNOM PENH (AP) — President Lon Nol left Cambodia for Indonesia and the United States today after expressing hope that his departure would open the way to peace negotiations with the Khmer Rouge insurgents.

The ailing 61-year-old president and an entourage of 27, including Premier Long Boret and their families, took off for Thailand as insurgents rocketed fell on Phnom Penh airport.

Military sources said the government operation against the insurgent firing positions northwest of the airport "was temporarily suspended" as troops were moved back to bolster the capital's northern defence line.

Five government troops were exploded 100 yards away as Lon Nol was helped from a helicopter that took him to an Air Cambodge Caravelle jet from his presidential palace.

The party flew to Thailand to board an Indonesian air force plane for the flight to Indonesia. Indonesian Foreign Minister Adam Malik said the Cambodian president would rest for 10 days in Indonesia and then would go to the U.S.

Although he retains the title of president, Lon Nol is not expected to return to Cambodia. He led the coup that overthrew Prince Norodom Sihanouk and set the Khmer Rouge death list.

"I am leaving to pave the way for a peace settlement," he said his top generals at a farewell meeting Monday.

Celsius Not Weatherman's April Fool's Joke

TORONTO (CP) — Its April Fool's Day today, but don't think a joke's being played when the temperatures reported in the newspaper or on radio and television seem too low, too high or just plain foolish.

As of today, a warm spring day will be about 20 degrees above zero because the weather office will no longer use the familiar fahrenheit temperature figures. As part of a massive metric conversion which will take until 1980, the federal metric commission now wants to implement use of the Celsius temperature scale.

First called the centigrade scale, it now carries the Celsius name, after its inventor, Swedish astronomer Anders Celsius, who decided in the 18th century that the logical way to measure temperature was with a scale of 100 equal units of degrees between the freezing and boiling points of water.

Freezing, which is 32 degrees fahrenheit, becomes zero Celsius. The boiling point, 212 degrees fahrenheit, is 100 degrees Celsius.

The metric commission says public usage is voluntary and it can only encourage radio and television stations to give Celsius readings. However, beginning today, all public weather forecasts will be issued with Celsius temperatures only.

The Canadian Press and its subsidiary, Broadcast News, which relay the weather forecasts to newspapers and broadcasting stations, will distribute only Celsius forms they are received from the weather office, with temperatures stated only in Celsius.

CP news stories on the weather in Canada and abroad will also use Celsius only.

Reporting temperature in both Celsius and fahrenheit readings is frowned upon by the metric commission, which sees it creating unnecessary confusion.

From now on, 25 degrees Celsius will be hot and sticky, 25 degrees will be a pleasant summer day, 20 degrees is normal room temperature, minus-18 is good skating weather and minus-30 is a time for brisk walking.

There is one minor consolation for the traditionalists. At 40 below the two temperature scales coincide, minus 40 celsius being the same as minus 40 fahrenheit.

It May Be Celsius Country Elsewhere But Pumphouse Still Reads Fahrenheit

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

Today it's certainly Celsius — but not for some.

Like the record-keepers at Belleville's filtration plant.

Up at the pumphouse — as it has long been known locally — they've been keeping a record of daily temperature changes since 1918.

They'll still be sticking with Fahrenheit readings for at least another two years after today — when the Celsius gauge becomes part of Canada's advance into the metric system.

The reason: The atmospheric people at Environment Canada which supplies the equipment don't expect to have all observatory units outfitted with the necessary instrumentation until late 1977.

A target date for the switchover by climatological stations is Jan. 1, 1978, says filtration plant superintendent Jim Serson.

In the interim he will continue to furnish monthly reports to the government agency, in the old measurements and any conversion will be done by computer.

The plant is official reporter for all local readings.

It furnishes regular reports to city hall and the Moira River Conservation Authority, as well as to other information sources.

All such local reports will still be delivered in Fahrenheit.

Celsius conversion will be left to those at the other end of the phone.

$338 Will Buy a Lot of Mosquito Repellent

AMELIASBURG — The sum of $338 will buy a lot of mosquito repellent, enough to bathe in and still have plenty left over.

In fact for that amount of money you can obtain 1950 ounces (about 61 gallons) at the price charged by one of Trenton's hardware dealers.

As the result of a swamp fire on Grassy Island just off Massassaga Point in the township last week it is possible that residents may be responsible for its origin will have to pay what it cost the Ameliasburg volunteer fire department to fight and subdue the blaze — $338.

After the bull rushes and undergrowth were reduced to ashes township reeve and fire chief Arnold Wallbridge said a man had purposely set the fire to destroy mosquito breeding grounds before the pests took over later in the Spring.

Council last week authorized clerk William Hutchinson to send Eric Grew of Brighton a bill to cover the fire department's expense in this matter.

He was also authorized to award a carbon copy of the notice to William Belnap, who had permission to live in his cottage on the island.

Nominations Close Friday For Loyalist Elections

This is election month for the students at Loyalist College and the campaign will start on Monday Friday at the close of nominations for the 10 positions on the Student Administrative Council (SAC).

Students will actually elect officers of their Students Association of Loyalist College (SALC) who in turn comprise SAC.

That event will occur between 11 a.m. and 3 p.m. April 10 in the student lounge, followed by an election rally April 9 from 12-1 p.m. at the location where candidates will have an opportunity to address voters

He adds posters are allowed on corridors and notes in all directions, but that there be no comparison of views between SALC and the AFS. Each advertisement can only contain a standard policy statement and vote pitch, he says.

"We try to keep as many personalities out of it as possible because we don't like to see it become a 'popularity vote,'" comments Mr Benson.

He says there is usually below a 50 per cent turnout of voters but points out that figure compares favorably with most municipal elections.

Acclamations in many positions also reduce the turnout. "The problem in the past is we've never had to elect a full slate," he remarks.

As advisor, Mr Benson goes over SAC duties during the initial meetings of the new council and the councillors-elect are also requested to attend any remaining meetings of the present body to become familiar with operations.

Youth Get Support From Army - Navy

By JOAN MOORE

ANAF Publicity Chairman

The ANAF Duke of Edinburgh Unit 201 will continue its emphasis on youth development, executives at the annual President's Dinner were told.

Youth development chairman Stan Melbourne said the ANAF — sponsored Air Cadet Squadron 608 had been given responsibility of maintaining the Quinte-Hastings Recreational Trail from Foxboro north to Actinolite.

Provincial vice-president Leo Murphy reported that 125 Canadian jobs have come to the U.S. will attend Royal Military College this summer under the youth development program. Four of those attending RMC will be sponsored by the Duke of Edinburgh Ladies' Auxiliary and a cheque for this purpose was presented to Dan Hitchcroft by auxiliary president Alice Storms.

At the dinner past president Hank Ford received a scroll, past president's medal and a gold medal for youth development from the provincial Command.

Delegates to the ANAF Ontario Convention at Stratford were selected at the last general meeting. They are president W.J. Ford, vice-presidents A.H. Burns and R.P. Feschenbaugh, past president Hank Ford and youth development chairman Stan Melbourne.

Ministry of Housing
Ontario Housing Corporation
HOUSES FOR SALE
TOWN OF TRENTON
If home ownership has been eluding you, Ontario Housing Corporation's Home Ownership Made Easy (H.O.M.E.) Plan may provide you with the key that will open the door to your own home.
OHC has allocated serviced building lots for the construction of 26 three and five-bedroom detached homes for sale under the H.O.M.E. Plan. These houses will be distributed on a first-come, first-served basis.
An additional three houses will be purchased by OHC for allocation to applicants for rental housing. These houses will be leased on a geared-to-income basis as part of Ministry of Housing policy to integrate assisted housing into the general community.
All the houses will be located in the northeast section of Trenton about one-and-a-half miles from the centre of the town.
Families interested in purchasing a house should contact the builder listed below. Since the H.O.M.E. Plan is designed to help families become home owners, applications are restricted: (a) to couples with or without children or (b) to individuals with at least one legally dependent child.

| BUILDER | PRICES |

| Pomona Homes IncorporatedSuite 1, Grand Floor77 City DriveMississauga, OntarioL5B 1M5Telephone:Toronto 613-392-2253Mississauga 416-277-3675 | 22 three-bedroom houses$21,2504 five-bedroom houses$23,250 |

By leasing the land on which the houses will be built, OHC removes the land costs from the necessary down payment for a house. As a result, the houses may be purchased with down payments as low as five per cent of the house price. With a minimum down payment, a family with a gross current annual income as low as $9,720 could qualify for a house.
The lots are offered on the basis of a 50-year lease, with the home owner having the option to buy the land at any time after five years of the lease have elapsed. Monthly land lease payments will be approximately $36.
Mortgage financing for the purchase of the houses is being provided by the Province of Ontario at 9% per cent interest on a five-year term with an amortization period of 35 years.
All applicants must have been resident in Ontario for at least one full year prior to applying for a house.
Applicants are restricted to single-income families whose current gross annual incomes do not exceed $14,500 and to two-income families whose incomes do not exceed $17,000. In the latter case, the major wage earner's income must not exceed $14,500.
Preference will be given to applicants who do not own a home. H.O.M.E. Plan houses must be owner-occupied and not rented.
Families who have previously purchased a dwelling sponsored under an OHC program are not eligible.
Monthly carrying charges, including mortgage payments, ground rent and estimated municipal taxes, must not amount to more than 30 per cent of the family's gross current annual income.

PERCA to Study Takeover Of Macaulay Ski Slope

PICTON — Resources manager for the Prince Edward Region Conservation Authority, Tom Prout, will investigate the feasibility of operation of the Macaulay Mountain ski slope by the Authority.

The ten members of the Prince Edward Ski Club have requested the takeover following three years of adverse weather conditions for skiing. The club has an undisclosed deficit from its operations.

Members of the PERCA have agreed it would be necessary for Mr. Prout and a ski slope expert to study the proposed takeover thoroughly.

Chairman of the land use committee for the PERCA, Donald Walker said the ski club can no longer operate the slope and unless the project is rescued it will fold.

Mr. Prout noted an investigation will reveal information on water supplies for artificial snow equipment, projected population for the next 30 years, size of the hill and the amount of machinery required to keep the slope in condition if there is not much snow.

Mr. Walker added conservation authorities have assumed operation of ski slopes in other areas and the Macaulay Mountain slope is reported the best for 150 miles around.

Chairman of the PERCA, Henry Leavens referred to the ski club's failure in running the slope commercially. "We feel they didn't put enough work into it."

District at a Glance

Seed Mill Busy

PICTON — Cold, wet weather hasn't deterred Prince Edward County farmers from getting a head start of their spring seeding plans, says Bev. Gibson of Master Feeds here. Farmers have been trucking in loads of seed oats to the mill to be cleaned since early February and over 2,000 bushels has been processed to date, he said.

Classes Begin Wednesday

BRIGHTON — The health unit in this village will begin its annual series of prenatal classes this Wednesday at 65 Main St. between 2:30-4:30 p.m. Officials urged fathers to attend the sessions.

Swans Stop in County

BIG ISLAND — A flock of 15 whistling swans was sighted by Archibald Quinte waiver, home here last week. The large, white birds, enroute from the chesapeake Bay area to their nesting grounds, in northern Canada, decided to stop off for a brief rest in the Bay of Quinte waiver. Local naturalists said this flock was one of the largest concentrations of the birds ever recorded in the county.

Israel Travelogue Feature

TRENTON — The Trenton Kiwanis Club will present their travelogue of the Israel current season tonight at Trenton High School at 8 p.m. Raphael Green will present a lecture entitled "The New Israel.

PICTON — The Price Edward Arena Commission has advertised for a secretary-treasurer with applications received until 4 p.m. Monday, April 7. Duties include payroll, monthly financial statements and minutes of meetings. An annual honorarium of $600. is offered for the job.

World Traveller Still Enjoys Big Island Home

By TERRY SPRAGUE
Staff Correspondent

BIG ISLAND — Henry (Hal) Roche was awarded a plaque this year for travelling one million miles. Not one mile of this distrance was travelled in a car.

An employee of Canadair Ltd., Montreal, Mr. Roche is director of international marketing for unmanned airborn systems. For 11 years he has travelled around the world promoting development programs for these systems including satellites and numerous other unmanned conveyances, meeting with governmental contacts in most of the European countries, the Far East, and the United States.

He is often absent from his Montreal apartment, for as long as six consecutive weeks, but upon return, he drives 250 miles to spend a relaxing weekend at his Big Island.

Mr. Roche estimates that he has crossed the Atlantic at least 100 times. He says that he enjoys his work and appreciates the opportunity to travel.

"It makes me appreciate all the more what a fantastic country we live in. I frequently find myself making comparisons between the 'haves and have nots' in the different countries," he commented.

"Here we are constantly complaining about the price of milk; I have seen many countries where there is no milk to argue over," Mr. Roche said.

"I dont think many people really appreciate just how lucky and advanced we are in Canada. The only thing we know about poverty is how to spell the word," he continued.

Mrs. Roche says that she "doesn't like Hal being away for so long," but manages to keep herself occupied. "I have a lot of hobbies and interests to keep me busy until he comes home," she remarks.

Hal Roche and his wife Anne (Nan) relax at their Bayshen table in their Big Island home during the weekend It is a well-deserved rest for Hal, who was recently awarded a plaque for travelling one million miles on company business for 11 years as a director of international marketing for unmanned airborne systems with Canadair Ltd. in Montreal.

Dance Opens Season

MILFORD — The Cherry Valley Sweethearts will supply the music when members of the Prince Edward Horse and Pony Club meet for a Spring Dance on Friday, April 4, at Milford Hall.

The dance is a kick-off for a series of club events including trail rides and monthly horse shows at Picton fairgrounds.

Variety Show Planned

NORTH MARYSBURG — The annual production of the North Marysburg Folly will be presented Friday, April 18 and Saturday, April 19, at North Marysburg Central School. Tickets for the popular amateur variety show are on sale at Pro Hardware, Mason's Department Store and Vince's Market, Picton, and Quaif's Service Station and Weede's Store, Waupoos.

Tennis Still Popular

TRENTON — If the number of people registered for the first two recreation department tennis clinics for beginners is any indication, the game of the racket remains a popular one in Trenton.

The two April sessions — the first starting tonight at Trenton Community Gardens — are sold out. Only the final clinic, from April 29 to May 8, remains open. Only 24 openings are available.

The last beginner clinic will be held either Tuesdays or Thursdays over two weeks. The one session each week is 1½-hours long and is geared to teaching basic racket strokes and rudimentary skills of tennis.

Cost of the program is $4. Registration is held on weekdays at the Gardens (9 a.m. to noon).

Establishment of the clinics mark a change from last year when small classes were held.

Brenner at the classes was so overwhelming according to recreation department officials, that the change was made to accommodate more people.

During the sessions, Trenton supervisor John Bryant will act as instructor. He is certified by the Ontario Lawn Tennis Association, as an instructor.

Bookworm Turns

Beverley Skidmore enjoys reading and is convinced Picton needs a book store to supply readers with good paper backs. After residing for four years in a community where there are no book stores she has decided to form a partnership with her mother and open her own shop.

School Pool Discussed

BLOOMFIELD — The Prince Edward County Board of Education is expected to hear a proposal for a community swimming pool at Prince Edward Collegiate Institute forwarded during its next meeting in April.

A five-member committee of the board of education, members of the swimming pool committee and representatives from Prince Edward County council discussed location of a pool at the high school at a meeting held Thursday. Also in attendance were Picton Mayor Donald Ings and county warden Clifford Walker.

Business administrator for the board, Ernest Shortt, said the school generally was favored as the best location for the proposed pool although several persons expressed other opinions.

The pool committee plans to make a presentation to school trustees at the next board meeting to learn if the proposal of the pool at PECI is acceptable.

County Authors, Artists To Be Featured in Store

By MARG. HAYLOCK
Staff Reporter

PICTON — In Picton the bookworm has become alerted by two Prince Edward women who expect to open the County Book 'N' Craft Shop here this spring.

Beverley Skidmore, now manager of a Picton record store, observed that in 1970 the town boasted two bookshops but today there is no retail outlet carrying books as its main stock.

To remedy this, Mrs. Skidmore and her mother, Ada Wilkinson of Wellington have formed a partnership to operate the County Book 'N' Craft Shop.

"Its for the whole community" explained Mrs. Skidmore outlining the goals of the store scheduled to open in May in the Armory Mall.

"The shop will carry a full line of paperbacks and a wide selection of children's books in both hard and soft cover.

In addition, an extensive range of crafts kits will be sold as well as crafts made by Quinte area residents.

A number of local craftsmen already have been contracted and have agreed to offer items for sale in the store.

Mrs. Skidmore said among the crafts in stock will be ceramic pieces, hanging pots, afghans and wall hangings. Hooked rugs also will be included.

Picton artist Jerry Putman will provide a number of pen and ink drawings for the shop and is in hopes other will express interest in contributing art work for sale.

To bring books alive for their readers, Mrs. Skidmore and her mother plan to invite local authors to visit the shop and sign their works. Several Prince Edward residents such as Willis Mercaldo and Alan Capon have written of the county and its history.

Mrs. Skidmore stressed the shop will be a showcase for county crafts and county authors as well as a sales outlet for books.

Now manager of The Record Grove, a store in the Armory Mall, Mrs. Skidmore plans to leave this job to work full-time with her mother when their book shop and craft centre opens.

The young business woman has resided in Picton for about four years.

Dealers Report Brisk Demand for Seeds

TRENTON —A survey of Trenton and area stores handling garden supplies shows that many families concerned about rising food prices are getting ready to fight the problem by growing their own vegetables this year.

Demand for vegetable seeds, fertilizers and tilling tools is well above average for this time of year those retail outlets contacted said.

The boom in business in this line is expected to continue while planting time is still about six weeks off, one seed supplier reported.

"The way they're (packaged seeds) going, I think everyone in the Quinte area is putting in a garden this year," reported Jim Little, a clerk at the Canadian Tire Store here. Mr. Little, in charge of the garden section said he has already sold more than 500 individual packages.

Saylor's Home Hardware on Front St. indicated the garden seed turnover is flourishing but found many customers unhappy to learn "our Dutch seta on order hadn't arrived yet!" Down the street, however, MacDonald's hardware sold out of the popular item both soon after they went on display.

Meanwhile, the William Bos and Son nursery at Bayside is getting ready for a big season in boxed vegetable plants. With the Easter rush for plants and flowers out of the way, workers are busy planting seeds for the 25,000 boxes of tomatoes, cauliflower, cabbage, Spanish onions and pepper plants they grow annually for gardening enthusiasts.

CGE Staff Back

TRENTON — Canadian General Electric Co. Ltd. workers returned to their jobs Monday morning after the small motors plant here closed down its production lines last week.

About 150 employees — the majority hourly-rated workers — were given unexpected unpaid holidays for four days last week.

CGE relations manager Ray Baldin said Monday the shutdown was prompted by growing inventories, swelled by slow and erratic buying by consumers

Faced with growth in stockpiled motors, the company was forced to decide between a temporary plant shutdown and further layoffs.

Mr. Baldin said the shutdown route was chosen as a method to stem additional layoffs and a company employees a chance to stay home with their vacationing school children.

So far this year CGE has laid off 80 workers in three separate layoffs. All but three have been hourly-rated members of Local 509, United Electrical (UE) Radio and Machine Workers of America.

Mr. Baldin said last week's shutdown was the least harmful method of combating mounting inventories which otherwise "could have meant more layoffs."

What the future held he said was "unfortunately" unclear.

Company marketing men have failed to predict sales of the plant's motors, but find the task difficult.

"Part of the problem is that it changes day to day," said Mr. Baldin. "How do you predict from that?"

CITY BUS SERVICE
EXACT FARE SYSTEM
Effective April 1, 1975 the Belleville Transit Commission is putting into effect an Exact Fare System on its Buses as follows:
ADULTS ..... 30¢ Cash
SENIOR CITIZENS ..... 20¢ Cash
STUDENTS ..... 20¢ Cash
CHILDREN ..... 10¢ Cash
The sale of bus tickets will be discontinued at midnight March 31, 1975. All outstanding tickets will be redeemed as follows:
ADULT TICKETS ..... plus 10c cash
SENIOR CITIZEN TICKETS ..... plus 10c cash
STUDENT TICKETS ..... plus 10c cash
CHILDREN TICKETS ..... plus 5c cash
Bus drivers are authorized to redeem full strips of tickets. Anyone having more or less than a full strip of tickets may secure a refund at the Commission's Office, 426 Coleman Street, Monday to Friday, 9 a.m. - 5 p.m.
Since 1970 a total of 39 Transit Operations across Canada have changed to an Exact fare System. One of the main reasons for this change is for the protection of Bus Drivers. The recent events in Toronto involving the murder of one Taxi Driver and the robbery of a second at knife point certainly points out the dangers involved.
Each passenger will be expected to have the exact fare ready when their board the bus. If you are unable to have the exact fare, please board the bus and discuss the problem with the bus driver. He will be happy to assist you to the best of his ability. Quite often another passenger on the bus may be able to make change for you etc.
The Commission and its employees intend to make every effort to assure you that no one is refused a ride and in return we are respectfully requesting the full co-operation of our passengers.

YMCA's Community Effort

For a number of years now the Belleville YMCA has been subjected to criticism on the grounds that it does not pay its own way, that it is subsidized by municipal taxpayers.

The sniping has continued since before the late Bert Messacar was the Y's executive director, and has continued during the renewed tenure of Dr. Diamantides who heads a staff of six. These include two women and a part-time male employee who handle reception work, registrations and information, and maintenance personnel. The main burden falls on Mr. Diamantides but the 1975 budget, which is up only 3.6 per cent to $109 845, provides for a program secretary as from May 1. Salaries and wages are up a modest 4.9 per cent to just over $69,000 this year.

Mr. Diamantides, who held the executive post before Mr. Messacar, then returned for a time to his native Greece and Y work there, says the Belleville Y earns 70 per cent of its budget, the rest coming from the community.

Some weeks ago Y president Dr Douglas Horne indicated that the Y was hoping to clear up its outstanding debt of about $40,000 this year.

More than 1,000 people think enough of the Y's work in the community to take advantage of its programs, now numbering more than 100. With the salaried staff down to half-a-dozen, it is not surprising that volunteers play a strong role in the Y's operations.

Ability to pay is not a barrier to participation in Y activities. Young people whose families may be in straitened financial circumstances can participate in the programs without charge.

Yet the criticism of the organization persists among a handful of people. Consider though that without the Y there would be a large gap in the recreational base of the community.

Consider also that if a balanced budget, even a surplus, is desirable, it is not always possible. Deficit financing is one of the economic facts of the day and since a sizeable number of people benefit from Y activities, it is deserving of community support.

If there were no Y, something else would have to take its place. The wiser choice is to give the Y the support it needs to do its job and which most people do not seem to begrudge.

No community organization should be above criticism. Let's have criticism of the kind that keeps people and organizations on their toes; but let's recognize the positive aspects of entities such as the Y; let's recognize also, in the realm of criticism, the point when enough's enough — especially when the same arguments have been heard before.

Tennis Gets Under Way

The tennis clinic for junior players at Ben Bleecker Auditorium is a useful initiative of the Recreation Committee. It's good to see also that some hardy souls are braving Spring chills to play at Zwick's Island — like the two youngsters heading for the courts at 8:30 a.m. the other day.

How's Your 'Awareness'?

If you're one of those people who thinks such groups as the Committee for an Independent Canada is just a crackpot Anglo-Saxon version of the FLQ, consider this.

A year ago, the CIC conducted a "Canadian Awareness Study" in six Vancouver area high schools. Bear in mind all students polled were in their LAST year of secondary school.

One in five students couldn't name the capital city of Canada. Asked to name three Canadian authors, over 61 per cent of the respondents were unable to do so. Only seven per cent of the sample group could name Canada's Governor-General.

The results so astonished CIC director Mel Hurtig that, with the aid of some professional pollsters, he prepared a questionnaire that, this time, was distributed across the country to students in villages, cities, and from a greater cross-section of the population than was involved in the 1974 study.

This time, the results were better, but still astonishingly disturbing.

Sixty-eight per cent were unable to name the Governor-General. Between 60 and 80 per cent of the students couldn't identify people like Margaret Atwood, Al Purdy, and Bruce Cockburn as Canadians.

Both Winston Churchill and Harry Truman might have turned in their tombs to hear themselves picked as former Canadian prime ministers.

The overall failure rate — the number of students scoring below 50 per cent on the questionnaire — was 62 per cent.

In a place at the end of the test set aside for comments, one student responded: "After going through this, I found myself wondering what it was that I had learned in 13 years of school."

MP's Right to Privacy

A politician has a right to an inner life.

That's the word from NDP member Ed Broadbent. It was the possibility of losing that privacy, in the context of family and individual interests, which for a time had dismayed Mr. Broadbent from announcing his availability as a party leadership candidate to succeed David Lewis.

Now the member for Oshawa-Whitby has changed his mind, noting that at the time of his original decision he was "tired and had not had a day off in eight weeks."

The life of an MP makes excruciating demands on his time, and certainly there is additional pressure from the Opposition and allegations of questionable involvement — as there has been in the case of Labor Minister Munro and the Hamilton harbor dredging affair — it is not surprising when the breaking point is reached.

That was the experience of Mr. Munro, although he is now back in harness after a spell in hospital and of home rest.

Mr. Broadbent has made a valid point; he even acknowledges that Prime Minister Trudeau is entitled to his silent trips although, reverting momentarily to the politician, he reserves the right to question government shortcomings which he terms "abysmal".

Certainly, Mr. Broadbent touches on an aspect of the parliamentary scene that is beyond party politics. MPs are human, even if the rest of us regard them variously as superhuman, incompetent, or whatever. We have seen a lot in recent times of the pressures of political life, from, for instance, Mr. Trudeau's and his wife's own experience. There was a time too when provincial NDP leader Stephen Lewis was verbalizing the need for more time with his family, and the responsibilities of leadership. Now Mr. Broadbent has articulated the problem anew, explaining he will run for the federal leadership of his party, but will reserve the right to his free time too.

It makes sense.

North Sea Energy Problems Technical and Political

By VINCENT EGAN
Business and Consumer Affairs Analyst
Thomson News Service

LONDON — Oil companies have had their sights set on the North Sea's hydrocarbon riches ever since the Suez canal crisis of 1956-57.

But the tantalizing promise of the means to energy self-sufficiency, on Britain's east coast, remains unfulfilled.

The shores of the United Kingdom, Norway, Denmark, West Germany, the Netherlands and Belgium are all washed by the waters of the North Sea, and each country has its assigned sector.

It appears that oil deposits are chiefly in the northern half of the sea, and gas deposits in the southern half.

Just recently, some interest has been shown by industry and government in the so-called Celtic Sea, a designation cobbled to indicate the previously unnamed body of water south of the Irish Sea, between the Irish, Welsh and West-Country English coasts. Geological evidence suggests the presence of a large sedimentary basin that could hold oil or gas.

In both the Celtic Sea to the west of England, and the more intensively worked North Sea to the east, the environment is a major challenge. Offshore weather conditions are among the worst in the world.

But when you talk to oil-industry people here, you quickly learn that the whole involvement is only one of several factors that have been delaying the long-awaited day when Mother Nature's gift of offshore gas and oil would end Britain's dependent of the Middle East oil producers' cartel.

The technical problems, for example, are staggering. Offshore exploration and drilling equipment used elsewhere in the world has had to be radically redesigned to be of any use in water depths that considerably exceed 600 feet, and on sea bottoms that range from mud to quicksand to boulder clay.

Not only have equipment designers been delayed because of the additional design work involved, but overall development costs have risen tremendously—up 50 per cent in the past six months on a self-owned North Sea field, for example.

Added to the hyper-inflation has been political intervention. Britain's Labor government has assigned itself a major ownership position ("participation") in all North Sea discoveries, and levied royalties, corporation tax and petroleum-revenue tax that will skim off more than 70 per cent of the producers' revenues.

The ideological, inflationary and governmental factors, taken all together, point to a bad case of excessive optimism. The blame for it must be shared by the government's ideologue's and the industry planners alike.

That optimism was present from the time a huge natural-gas field was discovered in the Netherlands' sector of the North Sea in 1959. It was greatly intensified in late 1973, when the Middle East producers' cartel quintupled the world price of crude oil.

But while Britons have been looking forward to proclaiming their independence from Middle East sources of supply, estimates of North Sea production costs have been climbing so rapidly that any price advantage that North sea oil might have had seems likely to vanish.

And if the cartel were to fall apart and the price of oil to start to drop, it would become decidedly uneconomic to go ahead with development of many North sea oil fields.

Now the oil companies are warning that inflation and government policy could kill the economics of North Sea oil, just as surely as a drop in the world price.

The truth of the matter will probably emerge only when Britain's hard-headed banks decide to stay in or get out of the business of financing the many smaller exploration and production companies operating in the North Sea.

Party Woos Veterans 'Blue Machine' Looks to Defences

TORONTO — The wheels of the Big Blue Machine have started to turn.

There are still in low gear. But they have been put into gear. And from now on we must expect them to move more rapidly.

The other day Osie Villeneuve came up to me in the hall.

A few months ago Osie, the PC member for Glengarry had told me he wouldn't be running again.

When we met this time he said "Don, I've changed my mind. I am going to run again."

I answered: "Charged Osie, or been changed for you."

He gave me just a grin in reply. But it was a knowing one.

The obvious conclusion, of course, is that Osie is being forced, or at least highly-pressured, to run again.

In other words, the government, running scared, is out to get every seat that is possible for itself.

There is no practical, or even humane, reason why Osie Villeneuve should run again.

He has been the member for Glengarry since 1948, with two breaks while he represented the riding federally.

He has been head nearly 30 years of service at the provincial and federal levels.

He has earned a full pension. And he is not going to get into the cabinet. He is now 69 and well merits a rest.

But it happens that by nature Glengarry is characteristically a Liberal riding.

(It was the riding into which Mr. Diefenbaker fled when King when he got defeated.)

There probably is no other PC in sight who could hold the seat. So the pressure has been put on.

And we are liable to see a lot more of this as the election approaches.

Members who hold their seats through a strong personal grip and who would be expected to retire we probably will see changing their minds.

If Mike knows it is under pressure and it is not going to give a any chance within its grasp.

LOOKING BACKWARD

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FILES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

A special meeting of city council will hear representatives of companies seeking franchises for the distribution of natural gas in the city. At least four companies are expected to have representatives at the meeting. It is reported that the actual construction of the Trans-Canada Pipeline is being held up, efforts will be made to build a line east from Toronto with temporary arrangements to supply for the procurement of natural gas elsewhere.

30 YEARS AGO

As a result of discussion at a recent meeting of Front Street property owners and members of council, the first public plan for the construction of the proposed Riverside Drive along the east bank of the Moira River north of Bridge Street have been further brought up to date by City Engineer Chas. Mott. Most striking is the change of plans in the proposed continuation of the drive north of the Front street bank to emerge onto Front street at the present fire hall instead of through the alleyway north of the Belvedere Hotel. The drive would continue north along the river west of the Frost Machinery property. A fill would be necessary in the river at the Frost Machinery property, a metal clad frame structure to the north and the present fire hall would have to be razed.

Board of education of this city will consider the advisability of procuring special medals-overlays to be distributed to school children of Belleville on the occasion of the Silver Jubilee of King George and Queen Mary on May 6, it was stated today by Chl. E.A. Geen, chairman of the board. The medals are expected to be carefully treasured by the children and preserved by them as previous ones have been on similar occasions, such as the Golden Jubilee of Queen Victoria.

Point Anne district is seeking official status as a village. At a meeting held three days ago by prominent property owners of the section of Thurlow, and Col. R.A. Carman, it was decided to proceed at once to secure incorporation. Petition will be presented to the Hastings County Council conveying facts and the wishes of the residents. On the consent of council expressed by them, the incorporation question then is brought up before the Legislature. In case of incorporation as a village, the community will begin its village life on January 1st, 1926. Point Anne is one of the oldest of unincorporated villages and possesses wealth in the form of a large cement plant. Recent incorporations in Hastings were Frankford and Deloro.

NDP Leadership Campaign Is Gathering Momentum

By PETER LLOYD.

OTTAWA (CP) — New Democratic Party leadership hopefuls will hit the political trail early in May on a cross-country tour to present their cases to party members.

Cliff Scotton, national party secretary, said in an interview Thursday the New Democrats will receive $1,000 from the party to cover most, if not all, expenses.

"The party has consciously developed over the years a system whereby any member of the NDP who can get the support can seek the party leadership.

"As a result, we've made a financial allocation to ensure that, as a minimum, they can get across the country and meet party members."

Mr. Scotton said he anticipates that "perhaps half a dozen" people will seek to succeed David Lewis, who suffered personal defeat in the July 8 general election.

So far, three persons have declared their candidacies: Ed Broadbent, parliamentary leader; Lorne Nystrom (Yorkton-Melville) and Rosemary Brown, a member of the British Columbia legislature.

A similar tour in 1971, prior to the convention that elected Mr. Lewis, cost the party between $6,000 and $7,000.

The first leg of the campaign is planned to begin May 2 in Brandon, Man., with candidates spending about two weeks travelling together to Winnipeg, Regina, Saskatoon, Toronto, Sudbury, Thunder Bay and Ottawa, Mr. Scotton said.

After a few days off, candidates will then spend about four days going to Calgary, Edmonton and Vancouver, another break will be followed by stops in Montreal, Halifax, Sydney, Moncton, N.B., Fredericton, Charlottetown and finally St. John's, Nfld., May 31, if tentative plans hold up, he said.

The suggestion we've made to the meetings is that each candidate address the audience for about 10 minutes with questions from the audience and answers from any or all of the candidates following," Mr. Scotton said.

Any NDP member who has the signatures of 50 other party members can run for the leadership, he said. No one is allowed to spend more than $15,000, including the $1,000 from the party, on the campaign.

The new NDP leader will be elected July 7, the final day of the four-day convention in Winnipeg.

LETTERS

Whither Canadian Society?

Editor,
The Intelligencer:

I have a few comments on a number of subjects. The appearance in this paper of letters which seem to follow the well-known line of divide and conquer, limited or no-growth support which is due the city council is sadly trying to do a difficult job. Instead of constructive criticism, such bitterness has no value.

Perhaps our immigration policy should be more, restrictive, as something is happening to the character of our country. Canada is becoming different from the maxims that made Canada a great country. The reckless policies of today would not have been likely in the past as Canada's welfare was paramount.

Also we should be happy to welcome a visit from the Royal family of England whose influence has been generally good as far as Canada is concerned, but we are not part of Canada nothing apart from their sentimentalment while they are our guests.

A CONCERNED CITIZEN.

Recreational Needs of City

Editor,
The Intelligencer:

In your editorial "Discipline and Recreation" on Friday March 14 I believe you have misquoted the "teen-aged girl" when you infer that she said that "the only recreational activity available for young people is pub-crawling."

I understood her to say that she enjoys dancing but it is difficult to find a place to dance where liquor is not served with the resulting pressure on those present to drink.

This is a rather different connotation and the young lady in question obviously shares your views that there are other things to do and wishes she could not have been in attendance at the seminar.

Perhaps some of our organizations in Belleville could give some thought to organization of social functions more suited to young people.

B.L. COLLINS.

Editors Note: Perhaps some of our young people in Belleville could give some thought to organizing social functions of their own suiting.

William Sawyer Exhibition

Editor
The Intelligencer:

The Agnes Etherington Art Centre is planning a retrospective of the work of William Sawyer (1820-1880) a portrait painter who worked in Kingston, Belleville and eastern Ontario.

We are now trying to locate as many of his works as possible. Through our research we have come across the names of several Belleville people who had portraits painted by Sawyer. In 1837 Sawyer painted — Mr. Richardson, Mr. Hagerman, Mr. Hames, Mr. Jellet, Mr. and Mrs. Aitkin, The Aitkin children, Mr. McAymony, Mr. Dault, Mr. Bell, Mr. and Mrs. Menckell, Dr. Lister, Mr. and Mrs. Turnbull. In 1839 Sawyer returned to Belleville and painted — Mr. Coleman and Mr. Frank's child. In the event that any of your readers have in their care any of these portraits or are of others by Sawyer we would appreciate your help in locating them for this exhibition.

Any information would be greatly welcomed and may be sent to:

One-time Jazz Musician Becomes Rawdon Farmer

By CHRIS ALMEY
Staff Correspondent

MARMORA — Former New York City jazz musician Lars Anderson is "having a ball" working on his 300-acre farm just south of this village on concession 14, Rawdon Township.

Mr. Anderson was studying as a young man to become a violinist with the National Symphony in the United States. He started out studying the organ in Sweden.

"The program to just get acquainted with the music the National Symphony played consisted of playing constantly at home, plus three hours a day in rehearsal five days a week, for three years," Mr. Anderson recalled in an interview recently.

The young Anderson, however, had to support himself and his mother, so he could not pursue this career. Instead, at the recommendation of Mr. Roxy, of the Roxy Theatre in New York, years before it was the rage across the U.S. in the mid-1930's.

He said he decided to come to Canada with his family for various reasons, such as his neighbors running around with guns. He is also disturbed over Viet Nam, and the killing. He also expressed deep gratitude for the peace in Canada and said he loves nothing better than plowing the land.

Commission Not Board Imposes Whey Controls

STIRLING — Percy Reid, past chairman of the Hastings Milk Committee has pointed out "a little known fact". It is the Ontario Dairy Commission and not the Ontario Milk Marketing Board that is imposing a whey control system upon cheese factories.

This system would have cost the Rylstone Cheese and Butter Co-Op $30,000 to $40,000, co-op president Don Stewart said in a interview, and this was what, finally forced the co-op to close and sell the cheese factory. This fact was deleted in the original story which appeared in Monday's Intelligencer. The unedited story attributed the OMMB as being the force behind the whey tank installation.

The original story contained 19 paragraphs, and eight were deleted to shorten the story for publication. In editing, the first three paragraphs were attributed as statements by Mr. Stewart. They were not statements made by Mr. Stewart, but were facts gleaned from the story for an introduction to what it was about.

Mr. Reid also pointed out that all cheese factories can purchase milk quotas, and when the Rylstone quota was sold, it went for $80,000.

Mr. Reid also pointed out that the OMMB has been reducing the amount of milk distributed to all cheese factories.

In the story Monday, it was noted that the Rylstone factory could not get enough milk to operate. The factory had a quota for seven million pounds, but was getting a little over five million from the OMMB. To overcome this shortage, which had forced the plant to close, two million pounds were leased from another company.

Mr. Reid explained that many cheese processing factories and dairy companies bought quotas from cheese factories as they closed since the OMMB was decreasing the amount of milk everyone could receive each year. This was the only way they could be certain of having much milk, he said.

Stoco Lake May Be Fit for Swimmers

TWEED — Hopefully, this is the last summer Stoco Lake will have to be closed to swimming because of pollution, says Reeve Barbara Allen.

Mrs. Allen explained 50 years ago Tweed was one of about six communities in Ontario that installed a septic tank system. Tweed has three of them, one large and two small. At the time the system was installed the storm sewers and sanitary sewers were combined.

The reeve said that 50 years ago the system was adequate, but now because of automatic washers, two or more bathrooms, "they don't even have the phosphates we have today."

"The main separation of storm and sanitary sewers was carried out in 1960. It is two-thirds finished now. The septic tanks are being replaced with sewage lagoons," reeve Allen noted.

At times with heavy rains the septic tanks have flowed raw sewage directly into the lake "like two huge toilets," the reeve said.

"Because of the tremendous overload on the septic tanks, one thing we have been doing for the past five years is hypochlorinating to kill some of the pathological germs getting into the lake," Mrs. Allen observed. "That is far from 100 percent but it is better than doing nothing."

Mrs. Allen said one of the problems of the sewage runoff has been that it acted as a fertilizer in the lake which she described as warm and shallow. This makes aquatic growth flourish, she said, the result being less oxygen in the water for fish at the deeper levels.

The reeve added that the geology of the area contributes to the water quality, and there will always be a rich algae bloom.

A study on Lake Stoco was carried out in 1972 and work on the sewage separation and lagoon system was started last year. The report based on the study suggests that until the work is completed all bathing beaches within Tweed should be posted as unfit for swimming, but it also notes they were not posted in 1975, but had been previously.

Mrs. Allen noted that checks are made by health people to ascertain if posting is necessary.

Red Cross Backs Pool

MARMORA — The main objective of the Red Cross Society is to provide aid when an emergency first arises, Mrs. R.W. Spry of Orono, regional vice-president, told the members of the Marmora branch recently.

Mrs. Spry congratulated the Marmora branch on the $750 collected to date toward its $1,000 objective. She recommended that other areas, such as Cordova, Springbrook and Madoc, should be canvassed for funds next year.

Mrs. Spry also said The Marmora branch should provide some specific piece of equipment for the swimming program at Legion Park or use the money to promote water safety or awards, rather than contribute toward salaries.

She also urged residents of Madoc and Tweed to participate in the blood donor clinic scheduled for May 21 at Centre Hastings Secondary School. She also suggested that the local senior branch should try to maintain closer contact with students who might wish to support a local project since the Junior Red Cross is being decentralized.

Cartoon Book and Art Show To Benefit Viet Nam Child

MADOC — Central Hastings Secondary School has two events taking place in April — one funny, one serious, but both for the same good cause.

The Cartunion, a 1975 cartoon book compiled entirely by CHSS art department students will be on sale shortly in the school. On April 24, 25, and 26 "Arts in Action," the second such exhibition featuring 50 artists from Centre Hastings, will take place.

Art teacher Brenda Hudson says the art department has put a lot of money into the art show, and hope to get a response that will make it worth while. Some of the proceeds will be used, to support a child in Viet Nam.

As far as the cartoon book said "it is a risky business putting cartoons out about people. They will either use me or won't speak to me again."

We had 209 cartoons to chose from," Mrs. Hudson noted. "All the students had a go at it. It took quite a while to teach the students to be funny without being unkind — not to treat teachers with abuse. It was a good moral lesson as well as an art lesson."

"Arts In Action" will offer a diversified look at the arts. There will be 30 painters showing their work. There will be exhibits of drawings, illustrations, photography, small furniture, costume jewelery, ceramics, quilting and needlecraft.

Second Youth Charged

MADOC — A second Loadon, Ont., youth has been charged with the theft of a motor vehicle in connection with an incident in this village late Thursday.

Ontario Provincial Police have identified the youth as 19-year-old Jerry Williams. He is charged jointly with 18-year-old Steven Paul Chippewa, also of London.

The charges, followed the theft of a 1968 Plymouth, parked on Durham St., owned by John Stitt of Madoc.

50 Married Years Celebrated

AMELIASBURG — A couple formerly from the third concession of Ameliasburg now living in Toronto celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary Sunday at the home of there were snow squalls and Carrying Place.

Mr. and Mrs. Ceburn Adams, 43 Robinson Avenue, Scarborough, were married in the Rednersville parsonage by the Rev. T.L. Seymour, Monday, March 30 1925.

Sunday the couple recalled their were snow squalls and short periods of sunshine almost identical to the weath-er here on Easter Sunday.

Best man Douglas Williamson drove them to the railroad station at Belleville in a model T. Ford to catch a train for Montreal for their honeymoon.

He was among the 50 guests some from as far as Brockport, N.Y. who attended the afternoon and evening receptions and luncheon held in their honor.

The couples daughter Vivian, son Keith and grandson Neil were also present along with Mr. Adams' two sisters, Alta Brown of Picton and Olive White of Belleville.

Many telegrams, flowers and beautiful gifts were received by them for this special occasion.

Today's Child

By Helen Allen

ANDY

With that questioning look, Andy might be asking, "Are you going to be my Mummy and Daddy?" But Andy has just turned two and doesn't know that he has no mother and father of his own. The look was probably because he was entranced by the man with the camera.

Andy is a beautiful child, with his light brown hair, big blue eyes and fair skin. Three of his grandparents were white Anglo-Saxon, the fourth Canadian Indian.

Andy was a frail and sickly baby but is in amazingly good health now considering his difficult start in life. He has cerebral palsy (lack of muscle control), with some paralysis on the right side. He can walk, though he drags his right foot, and he is using his right arm more than he did.

Andy's main problem is speech. He makes lots of noise but doesn't say any words. Speech therapy has not yet been recommended but he will need it later.

Though Andy doesn't talk, he has no trouble in making himself understood by gestures. And he knows everything said to him. Ask him if he wants a cookie or where his sweater is or say "Point to your nose" and you get appropriate action.

Andy is alert, happy, responsive and sociable, if a bit shy with strangers. Psychological testing is difficult because of his lack of speech but he appears to be good average in intelligence.

Andy has a good appetite, feeding himself with his left hand. He sleeps right through the night and has a long afternoon nap. The rest of the day he's as busy as most two-year-olds.

He loves small children and cheerfully welcomes rough games with bigger boy and girls.

Lovable Andy needs parents who will give him much love, help him continue the good progress he has already made and see that he has therapy when it is needed. Andy will bring real joy to such parents.

To inquire about adopting Andy, please write to Today's Child, Ministry of Community and Social Services, Box 888, Station K, Toronto M4P 2H2.

Golden Wedding Anniversary Celebrated

Walter and Alice Wardhaugh celebrated 50 years of marriage March 13, at a reception held in their home.

Many friends and relatives called to see the Wardhaughs, including their two sons, Walter and Don Wardhaugh, and their seven grandchildren and one great-granddaughter.

A purse of money was given them by their family, and gifts and cards and flowers came from as far away as Hawaii and Nevada.

Congratulatory messages were received from Governor-General Jules Leger, Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau, Premier William Davis, Robert Stanfield MP, Jack Ellis, MP, Richard Pedar, MP and Mayor Robin Jeffrey who also participated in the reception, passing refreshments.

Mr. and Mrs. Wardhaugh, who met going to school in Belleville, were married in Christ Church by Rev. C. E. Clarke. Mr. Wardhaugh was born in Belleville and Mrs. Wardhaugh (nee Simpson) came from Watertown, New York.

Mr. Wardhaugh worked 37 years for Charles Hyde and then went into partnership with his son, Walter. Later his grandson Ron left the RCMP to join the family business, Wardhaugh and Son.

Mr. and Mrs. Wardhaugh are caretakers for Robert Temple.

Ann Landers

Reader Knocks Ann's Answer

Dear Ann Landers: I do have better stationery than this one, but after reading your advice to the Protestant parents whose daughter was going to marry a Catholic, I decided even this junk is too good for you.

You owe an apology to every Catholic in the world after that rotten answer. You said it wouldn't hurt them to go and suffer through the hour."

I'll have you know the Catholic Mass is a beautiful experience and nobody has to suffer through it.

You spoiled my day.—A Disappointed Christian.

Dear D.C.: Sorry I spoiled your day. You didn't spoil mine. Please read the next letter:

Dear Ann Landers: This is for "St. Petersburg, Fla." the woman whose daughter is being married to a Catholic. She wonders if she and her husband should attend the wedding.

I know how you feel because our son, who was brought up a Protestant, married a Catholic girl five years ago. My wife and I refused to attend the wedding and we have regretted it ever since.

Our son and his dear wife forgave us promptly and we see them often, but I still have a gnawing feeling at the pit of my stomach that they will never get over the humiliation.

Our daughter-in-law is one of the sweetest girls in the world. Our son could not have made a finer choice. Please, St. P., don't make the terrible mistake of building a barrier that will never disappear. — Columbus, Ga.,

Dear Columbus: Thanks for the testimonial from someone who has been there. A letter such as yours is worth 100 admonitions from Ann Landers. I hope St. Pete and others will heed your advice.

Dear Ann Landers: I was burned up by that letter from the woman who signed off with, "Vote Yes Now." After all, my body is putting a gun to her head and forcing her to read your column. The fact that she and her husband fight over who is going to read it first is pretty interesting.

Doesn't that imbecile understand that people write to you because they want your advice? If they want to know what you think, why do they write?—Siga Me—Nuts to Here

Dear N.Y.H.: Some readers don't bother to write if they want my advice until they get it. These people aren't looking for guidance, generally they just want someone to reinforce their prejudices. If I don't hark them up, then it's nuts to me. So what? I win a few and I lose a few. But don't write.

Dear Ann Landers: I just read something that might get millions of women off cigarettes. The research I recently read about the indisputable link between cigarets and lung cancer didn't make much of a dent—but now a doctor in California has evidence that cigaret smoking can cause premature wrinkles. I'm sure that's something women will pay attention to!

I saw you up close when you spoke in Lubbock, Texas. Now I know why you have such nice skin! That's your secret, isn't it?—New Hope

Dear Hope: I have never smoked, and it helped my skin, so he it. Actually I believe a couple of other factors were more important. First, I picked a mother who had lovely skin and second, a dermatologist in Washington, D.C., told me 20 years ago to stay out of the sun—and I listened.

Group Work Can Build Character

How do we build character and good social attitudes in children? Teachers know again of the ways. They involve groups of children in working together in a game, or putting on a play, or in producing a paper mache display — among other things.

If one child is too aggressive he or she is helped to simmer down a little and to give someone else a chance." If another youngster is too shy, he or she is given a responsibility to carry out by himself, or an executive position in an organized club.

Children need to see why they are doing things; and they need to realize that their part in what is being created deserves respect — theirs as well as everybody else's.

Dear Doris: I love my husband very much, but he doesn't seem to love me. He always seems to be mad at me. He works shifts and a good deal of overtime, so I find myself alone with the kids a lot.

I drink a bit, and cry a lot. I'm getting very fat, too, but when I diet I get so depressed. Please help me to sort out my life.

Help!

Dear Help: You do your best and right away. First trip is to see a family counselor to pour out all your troubles. Just talking about it will help; and a trained counselor can help you see that the indulgence in eating is directly related to your loneliness. A diet routine comes next, and some level-headed talks with your thoughtless male.

You've got to pull yourself together — and do it now.

Dear Doris: I am 26 and still a virgin. My sister, brother-in-law and brother are always teasing me about it. I feel as though I am the only virgin in the world. They also have a friend whom I like very much. I'm so afraid they'll tell him I'm a virgin, and I will be very embarrassed.

Sometimes I feel like going out and going to bed with a guy just to lose my innocence. My sister lost her virginity at 16.

Andy,

Dear Andy: Don't do it. There's no disgrace in being a virgin! Something tells me your sister is a wee bit jealous, and the men-folk goad her along.

Next time they tease you, just say that you're proud to be a virgin, and when the right man comes along, he'll be proud, too. Walk away with your head in the air, and don't let their jibes bother you a bit. It's only because they can't upset you that they keep teasing.

City Facing Zero Vacancy Rate

Restrictive legislation and high mortgage rates have led to a zero vacancy rate in Belleville rental accommodation, says Gerry Joyce, past president of the Quinte District Real Estate Board and current vice-president of the Ontario Real Estate Association.

A zero vacancy rate means that virtually every rental accommodation in the city is occupied.

"From my own experience (as a realtor) this is the case and it is discouraging some people from joining the community," said Mr. Joyce.

No surveys have been undertaken to precisely gauge the rental situation, but, said Mr. Joyce, "it would just confirm what we already know".

The lack of multi-family unit construction hinges on the tight economy and the freezing now council applied to the city three years ago.

At that time — when interest rates were low council set to make apartment construction attractive to developers — council from high rise development from most areas of the city, he said.

"Council said at the time it would be submissions from developers, but that takes too much time and aggravation," said Mr. Joyce.

"With current mortgage interest rates, it's not economically feasible to build apartments," he said. "Income in Belleville couldn't afford the rent."

Apartment residents in Belleville are not likely to feel the pinch of the law of supply and demand for this reason.

Generally, as demand goes up and quantity remains the same, the price climbs.

But, said Mr. Joyce, "there's a limit to just how much people can afford," and Belleville landlords are aware of this.

"Any rent increases passed by the landlord are to cover increasing costs such as labor in maintaining the building and energy supply for heating and lighting."

It is because people can only afford so much, "rents haven't followed grocery cart prices," said Mr. Joyce.

"Something has to be done," he said, remarking on the lack of rental accommodation. "The present situation is not in the best interests of the city."

LIP Program Wins Economist's Praise

LONDON (CP) — A government-commissioned study asserts that real unemployment in Britain is far higher than commonly believed and recommends that Britain look to a Canadian experiment to help alleviate the situation.

The 10-page book, Theory of Work To Be Done, is the product of Santosh Mukherjee, Oxford University lecturer on labor economics. He reports glowingly on the success of the Canadian pioneering project called Local Initiatives Program (LIP), initiated in 1971 with a budget of $100 million. Because of good response, he writes, another $50 million was added and in the spring $40 million more was put into the program so projects could be maintained through the summer.

Although Mukherjee describes similar plans in a number of countries, he singles out LIP for particular praise as being at its most objective "the creation of jobs for ordinary Canadians as well as the improvement of the quality of life."

He argues that while other countries, including Britain, are prepared to subsidize employment in goods-producing, private industries such as ship-building, they generally are unwilling to put tax-payers' money in support of jobs in services and municipal community activities as Canada has done.

While Britain basks in the popular belief that its unemployment is comparatively low—the "official" rate hovers around three per cent—as compared with about six per cent in Canada—Mukherjee argues that this is deceptive, due to different methods of calculation.

"If unemployment statistics for different countries are looked at on a comparable basis then the rate of joblessness in Britain is close to that in Canada and the United States."

If in 1975, Britain does top one million unemployed as some experts believe likely, then the rate will be even higher than Canada's, which is the highest of any advanced country, he says.

The study was commissioned by the Manpower Services Commission, which now is studying it.

One potential drawback in plans such as LIP is that while workers' pay is more than unemployment benefits it generally is lower than regular pay. This raises the "cheap labor" spectre but a commission spokesman says that so far none of the union representatives on the commission have raised objections on these grounds.

Devoting a whole chapter to the Canadian project, the author says it seems probable that between 70 and 80 per cent of the projects involved work that would not have been undertaken without LIP money. Another finding is that about 25 per cent of projects continued to operate with other resources after LIP money had ceased.

Projects have included local community centres, parks, ski runs and beach developments as well as day care centres and clinics, all ideas put forward by the unemployed and their community.

The advantage is that the government - sponsored program can pinpoint employment opportunities in communities where unemployment is above the national average.

From a psychological point of view, Mukherjee argues, the unemployed, drawn largely from the unemployed and the unemployable, no longer feel they are on the scrap-heap. On the contrary, they are doing useful and needed job for the wider community.

In essence, the plan turns the problem of winter unemployment over to the unemployed themselves, reversing the usually passive role of unemployed people simply waiting for work to turn up.

Mukherjee says studies show that about 75 per cent of work done was considered to be either value for money or "a bargain." Eighty-seven per cent of those involved were satisfied with the sense of achievement given by the projects.

Vicar Saves Fuel

IRTHINGTON, England (AP) — Anglican church services this winter in this Cumberland village (population 600) are being held in the house of the vicar, Rev. Peter Canham, instead of the church. He said it would cost too much to heat the church for only three or four people at Evensong services.

Home of the Week

1,327 Sq. Ft.

The house illustrated was designed primarily as a year-round vacation home but it could serve equally as a suburban cottage or retirement home. Depending upon these circumstances the floor plan could be reversed from back to front. There is a good closet at the present back door and any builder could build the basement stairs with a railing instead of the wall on the kitchen side to add a feeling of openness to the entrance foyer.

The living room shows exposed ceiling beams built into the fireplace wall, as the separate dining room is unusually spacious for the size of the house. The sleeping area can be totally shut off from the more active areas by the hall door, and the three bedrooms have high windows affording a certain amount of privacy. This home has a full basement with utilities and heating appliances and roughed - in powder room which can be put in anytime.

The living room beams extend outside under the roof overhang adding charm and protection to the front entrance. Vertical and horizontal siding, with brick trim are used for the exterior of this appealing little cottage.

Plans for Design RS-622 cost $35 for the first set, $11 each additional set and are supplied by return mail.

Survey Shows Mortgage Rates on Way Back Up

Interest rates on mortgage financing are on the upswing, figures in a recent A.E. LePage financial survey show.

By last December interest rates reached the top of the curve at 12.5 per cent and then began dropping at the start of January.

The decline continued until March when home mortgaging was available in the 10½ to 10¾ per cent range.

The survey taken at mid March shows all areas of financing leveling their rates or increasing.

In pre-sold and re-sale houses, the February rates ranged from 10½ to 10¾ per cent. This month's figures show 10½ to 11 per cent.

Builder loans have remained steady at 10¾ per cent while industrial rates are up one per cent. Commercial mortgaging is up ½ per percentage point.

The only drop recorded is in funds for apartment and town house construction where the rate fell from about 11¼ to 10¾ per cent more.

Gerry Joyce, a vice-president of the Ontario Real Estate Association and past president of the local real estate association, said that with current mortgage rates, "there is very little buyer resistance."

An increase in buyers will not affect the interest rates on mortgaging, said Mr. Joyce.

"Interest rates and where they are set is purely a political decision made by the federal government and the Bank of Canada."

1974 City Surplus May Ease Expected Property Tax Hike

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

Two contributions to the city treasury could help lighten the increase in city taxes — expected this year — indicated Mayor Robin Jeffrey.

The mayor says the city now has:

(1). Nearly $400,000 in an expected — though as yet unaudited — surplus from 1974.

(2). An increase of $140,000 in new assessment.

However, are two credits which hopefully can be used to ease a tax hike in what is seen as a foreboding year for local government budgeting.

Last week, Kingston became one of the first Ontario cities to strike its budget. The result: A tax increase of nearly 13 per cent — close to the national 1974 cost-of-living index rise.

In Belleville last year a 16-per — cent increase returning mill rates to par with 1971 — meant an additional $90 for the typical householder with a $10,000 home assessment.)

Kingston's $21.9 million budget was up $1.6 million in city spending. But only $267,000 was marked for extra expenditures. The remaining $1.25 million was linked to inflationary-created costs — higher salaries, more expensive supplies and services.

"We are going to be in a very similar position to Kingston. There's no doubt about it," said Mayor Jeffrey. "Our wages and the costs of materials have increased too."

However, she didn't know if Kingston's figure was offset by increased assessment or a surplus from 1974 carryover. She should have "a better picture than Kingston had to face," said the mayor.

A key question area is school costs. The amount needed from local government won't be known until after the provincial budget — and its education grants — is introduced in the legislature next week.

But Mayor Jeffrey said she is "not too optimistic" on the whole matter of provincial government funding.

She said she learned at a recent meeting of the Association of Ontario Municipalities (AOM) that increased provincial revenues do not necessarily mean higher grants from the senior government to its municipalities.

Ontario Treasurer Darcy McKeough has told AOM officials such increases could be passed along to local public sector depending on provincial grants — including school boards and police commissions, said Mayor Jeffrey.

"We just won't know about any increases until Mr. McKeough comes down with that budget," said the mayor.

Meantime, budgets from city departments and the various boards and commissions are heading for financing, are being assembled into an overall budget reflecting the total demand on municipal funds for 1975.

City manager Wilbur Purcell hopes to have the preliminary estimates ready for assessment by council during the last week in April, said Mayor Jeffrey.

After that councillors will begin wrestling and slashing their way through to the final budget expected in mid-May.

But we're going to have an increase (in taxes) — predicts, although "the size of it, I don't know".

Rolled Steel on 401

Damage was estimated at $40,000 when this truckload of steel rolled on Highway 401 just east of Shannonville Gravel Road overpass early today.

The driver, from Toronto, was released from hospital after treatment for minor injuries.

Humane Society Plans Campaign for Support

By JIM SMELLIE
Staff Reporter

The Quinte Branch of the Ontario Humane Society is planning to take it case to the people of Belleville on whether it should run the animal shelter on Avonlough Rd., instead of the city as has been proposed.

A brief has been prepared and depending on the outcome of a presentation by local OHS officials to city council today, will be distributed to all householders in Belleville.

During Monday's night annual meeting of the society branch at the shelter attended by about a dozen people, a financial report was presented that revealed a deficit of $46,287.62 in operating the shelter last year. The Ontario manager of the OHS Tom Hughes mentioned that the figure was subject to audit.

The financial statement of operating income and expenses for the Quinte branch of the OHS revealed total shelter operating income totalled $38,278 from animal control and humane fund work amounted to $54,278 The bulk of this income was derived from a government contract fee from the city of $25,777.64.

Total operating expenses for the year 1974 came to $100,53.66, with close to $60,000 of that being paid out in salaries and wages.

"And even then," said Mr. Hughes, "is paying the minimum wage. It would be better if a union was involved."

Leaving behind the financial report, the four-page draft of the brief that will be the Animals, Save the Shelter, Save Tax Dollars was presented.

In it, the society asked to be allowed to provide a complete range of services including operation of the shelter, which it said it could do by "introducing some economies and with an increased "payback" to the city."

The brief said the society can provide these above mentioned services for the city for a contract fee of $1 per capita from Jan. 1, 1975, $1.10 from July 1, 1975 and $1.25 from July 1, 1976.

The city has offered a flat contract fee of $1 per capita for six months. Mr. Hughes said that many communities across the province have a contract fee of $2 and even with that don't provide all the services we'll be doing".

The brief states: "These increased fees are still not sufficient to meet the total cost. We would only continue to subsidize the city but the amount would be less than in the past and we hope it would be reduced to the point we could carry it by providing funds from alternative sources including charitable fund raising, special projects and donations.

In 1974, the humane society received over $25,000 in contract fees. In 1975 the brief said a tentative figure of $36,522.00 would be received from the city while in 1976, the cost of providing complete service to the city would be $43,515.

By contrast Mr. Hughe mentioned that if the city took on the task of operating the shelter, taking into account interest rates built up over the years from the new building it proposes to construct, total operating costs would then amount to about $62,500.

The brief mentions that the city plans to build a new shelter costing from about 15,000 to $20,000 figures which Mr. Hughes calls unrealistic when taking in account present-day construction costs He said that a range from $50,000 to $100,000 would be more in line.

"Anything less would mean an inadequate building which would inevitably lead to criticism, complaints and eventually some form of legation would have to be taken against the city to force it to meet its responsibility and comply with the law."

Truck Rolls, Spilling Steel Cargo

SHANNONVILLE — A 27-year-old Toronto man was slightly injured and damage was estimated at $40,000 to a tractor-trailer and its load of steel when the vehicle overturned early today on Highway 401 just east of this village located about eight miles east of Belleville.

Ontario Provincial Police at Belleville said Terrance Sager suffered cuts and bruises for minor cuts and abrasions from Belleville General Hospital following the accident which occurred during an overnight snowfall on snowcovered pavement.

Investigating Constable Jim Wilson said the 4:15 a.m. mishap was caused when the trailer portion went out of control, forcing the unit into the median where it overturned spilling some of its load of steel rolls.

He said cranes were to begin unloading the steel coils other vehicles some time later today and will probably slow traffic somewhat for several hours. The unit is owned by Makatsel Industries of Rexdale.

Ellis to Head Party Caucus

Jack Ellis, MP Hastings, has been appointed co-chairman of the three-day Conservative party's Atlantic caucus.

The caucus — scheduled for June 6-8 in Halifax — is aimed at improving communications between the Conservative organization in Ottawa and its local associations in the four Atlantic provinces.

Federal Cost Overruns Concern Hastings MP

Costs of bureaucracy and executive posts are a major contributing factor to soaring inflation hitting federal public works estimates, Jack Ellis, MP Hastings, says.

Mr. Ellis, Conservative public works critic, told the Commons recently the government was becoming its own architect and designer of inflation.

The public works department is "one of the worst offenders" he said.

Among examples he cited of cost increases over estimates:

A parking garage in Hull, Que. — up 71 per cent; renovations to the new anbon affairs ministry building — up 70 per cent; facilities management processing plant — up 186 per cent; the post office's new Montreal centre — up 200 per cent.

The total public works budget has increased by 23 per cent, he chrged.

While inflation is "rampant" the government cannot expect to blame it for such increases, said Mr. Ellis.

20-year-old Charged After Weekend Mishap

A 20-year-old Belleville youth has been charged with impaired driving, careless driving and driving while under suspension following an accident at the corner of Emily and Station streets late Saturday.

Police Chief Harold Reid of city police identified the man late Monday as Kenneth Alderson of 97 Stanley St.

He said the accident involved a car owned by Harry Bosma of 940 Stevenson Rd., in Oshawa and a vehicle owned and operated by Carol Fortia, 20, of 44 Village Dr.

Both vehicles were traveling east on Station St. and the Fortia car was making a right-hand turn onto Emily St., when the accident occurred, said Deputy-Chief Reid.

Both Fortia and a passenger in the other vehicle were treated and released for minor injuries at Belleville General Hospital, he said.

Damage was estimated at $1,200 to the Bosma car and $500 to the Fortia vehicle in the 6:22 p.m. mishap, he said.

McKee Wins Top Prize

Most of the money won in the Belleville Yardmen Benefit Fund draw remained in the Quinte area, although the $10,000 top prize was picked off by a Port Colborne woman, Bev McKee.

Trust St. barber Graham Seeley sold Jack Barrett of Belleville the winning $6,000 ticket, Keitha Rice, Belleville, won $5,000 and another Belleville resident, Maude Holly, picked up $3,500. Peronnda D. Palladino won $2,500 and Doug Reid of Kingston is $1,500 richer.

Ice Leaves On Schedule

Ice in the Bay of Quinte has again performed on schedule, bowing out on the Easter weekend.

A commercial fisherman, Jack Alyea, of Bay of Quinte Fisheries, says "you can pretty well count on the ice going out of the bay by Easter". This, he says, has been true in his memory and that goes back more than 50 years.

"The earliest I can remember the ice going out was March 17 — St. Patrick's Day — and that was at least 30 years ago.

"This isn't a real early year, but most of the ice is out now and there's a lot of open water."

More Forms Returned

A story in Saturday's intelligencer reported that only two per cent of 400 questionnaires sent returned from construction, industrial and service companies.

The story should have said 39 per cent of the questionnaires had been returned to the Belleville and District Employment Committee for tabulation.

Kinsmen Donate $2,000 To Three Area Projects

The Kinsmen Club of Belleville proved their generous spirit during their regular meeting Monday night by donating a total of $2,000 to three area projects.

In response to a plea from Alderman Ben Corke, who appeared at the group's last meeting, $1,000 was donated to the YMCA Building Fund.

Also, a rose garden will be built at Hastings Manor by the Kinsmen. A total of $500 has been donted towards this project, and the Easter Seal campaign is $500 richer thanks to the Kinsmen.

Monday night, besides being a night for donations was also a night of gifts for Kinsmen members. The best presentation was Bruce Gordon's representing Bill's Custom Auto Trim (Century Glass) who brought in a customized car.

Upcoming events for the city Kinsmen include a trip to Tweed this Friday for the charter of the Tweed group by the Belleville Kinsmen.

For the first time, the Kinsmen Club will sponsor a K-40 club for those members under the age of 40. A special charter night will be held April 12 at Sir Georges Vanier School.

Understanding Goal Of Loyalist Open House

The Loyalist College open house celebrations, to be held Wednesday from 10:30-9:30 p.m. in both Ernie Eves and Plonger buildings, are both a source of pride for college administration, faculty and student body and a means of better understanding of the Quinte area residents, says Herb Young, the Loyalist president.

"It is a lot of work to prepare for it," he noted in an interview today. "Nobody gets anything for that work."

A contribution is made to the relationship between the college and area people "by opening the doors," he remarked. "By letting them see the college, they should be able to understand it better."

He pointed out the college is financed by provincial taxpayers "and we like the chance to show the taxpayer what we've done."

Young pointed out the event gives potential students and parents a chance to look over the college in a relaxed atmosphere.

Two-year-old Improves

TRENTON — The condition of the two-year-old boy who is believed to have fallen from the sixth — floor balcony of the Tripp Memorial Highrise Friday has improved.

A Kingston General Hospital spokesman said today Steven Whiting is in satisfactory condition with head injuries. He has been taken out of the intensive care unit where he was earlier listed in serious condition.

A Rusbnell ambulance spokesman said today it is not certain if the boy climbed over the balcony railing. He said that he was found lying on the ground close to the balconies of the building.

Police are conducting an investigation.

Teachers Stress Need For Compulsory Subjects

Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation (OSSTF) representatives from Hastings County unanimously supported the establishment of a minimum core of compulsory subjects for secondary school students.

The Hastings OSSTF delegation attended the annual assembly of the federation last weekend in Toronto when members voted overwhelmingly to promote a return to more compulsory subjects.

Hastings OSSTF president Judie Carty, representing about 530 secondary school teachers in the county, said "the move is a definite reaction against HSP." This was a curriculum guide which gave secondary school students a free selection in various subjects.

Mrs. Carty interpreted the federation move as a statement "more OSSTF input should be involved in course curriculum", She said there were emotional appeals made by teachers at the assembly who felt strongly about the lack of compulsory subjects.

A revised HSI policy last year ordered secondary school students to take four English credits and two Canadian study credits in order to graduate with a secondary school diploma. However, there has been disagreement over what constitutes a course in Canadian study.

A report, initiated at last year's assembly, was presented to the delegates. It also recommended regional exams. The report said there is a concern across the province about the standard of education.

Two Escape Injury In Crash

Two persons escaped injury when their car left the road and struck a tree on Highway 62 north of Belleville early Sunday morning.

Ontario Provincial Police said Ronald Bruce Hall, 20, of Belleville was driving north when he lost control of his car on a curve. The vehicle left the road and struck a tree.

Pressure Cooker Days Appear Over for Guy

MONTREAL (CP) — Four seasons of intense National Hockey League pressure may have eased somewhat for right winger Guy Lafleur of Montreal Canadiens.

The 23-year-old native of Thurso, Que., picked No. 1 overall I in the 1971 amateur draft and immediately hailed as a likely successor to the great Jean Beliveau, blew the lid from his own personal pressure cooker when he broke the 50-goal barrier in the weekend—a target that had eluded him in his three previous seasons.

When he scored his 51st season goal against the Bruins in Boston Sunday, Lafleur broke one of the oldest club records in the NHL—a mark that had lasted for 36 years and 12 days.

Lafleur's goal against the Bruins put his name in the club record book in place M Maurice (Rocket) Richard, who was also a 29-year-old right winger in Montreal when he scored 50 goals in the 50-game, 1944-45 season.

Richard's 50-goal mark was tied by another Montreal right winger—Bernie Geoffrion—in 1960-61 when the league had expanded its schedule to 70 games. Geoffrion played 44 games that season. Lafleur got his 50th goal in his 70th game.

Geoffrion played 44 games that season. Lafleur got his 50th goal in his 70th game.

Neither Richard nor Geoffrion ever equalled their mark.

While Lafleur now owns the mark for most goals in a season by a member of the Canadiens, Richard's performance will not be forgotten, despite the fact 10 players have since recorded a total of 50 goals-or-better seasons.

And there remains the strong possibility of that number increasing during this final week of the current season.

Lafleur's weekend performance made the most goals record player to pass the 50-goal mark this season.

Centre Phil Esposito of Boston, who has been the league's leading goal-scorer in each of the last five seasons. Is again the leader with 59 goals.

Two more players stand an excellent chance of reaching the 50-goal mark by next Sunday.

Jennings, Buckland Honored

TORONTO (CP) — Membership in the Hockey Hall of Fame swelled past the 200 mark Monday with the addition of William M. Jennings of New York Rangers and veteran administrator Frank Buckland of Peterborough, Ont.

Their induction brings to 201 the members in the Hockey Hall of Fame, including 143 players, 39 builders and 11 referees.

Players candidates for induction will be considered by the selection committee at its annual meeting June 16.

Jennings, 58, has been president of the National Hockey League Rangers since 1962 and involved in league activities for more than 10 years.

Buckland, 73, has been associated with Canadian amateur hockey since 1927, is a former president of the Ontario Hockey Association and treasurer of the OHA during the last 13 years.

Opener To Flyers

BARRIE, Ont. (CP) — Barrie Flyers, who finished first in regular season play, opened their Ontario Hockey Association Senior A playoff series against Stratford Foresters Monday with a 3-1 win.

Captain Corby Adams led the Flyers with two goals and defenceman Jim Thompson scored the other. Jim Lebar scored for Brantford.

Brantford led 1-0 after the first period, Barrie took a 2-1 lead after the second period and added a goal in the third.

Barrie outshot Brantford 37-26.

Location and date of the next game has not been announced.

goals during 1973-74, and left winger Danny Grant of Detroit Red Wings, who is near the mark for the first time, each has 48 goals with three games left to play.

It's a Scramble For Positions

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif. (CP) — Bobby Hull has 75 goals in 74 games, six teams are separated by a mere six points in the World Hockey Association playoff berth scramble and—to add insult to the fast approaching the four million mark according to league statistics Monday night.

The only certainties after 317 games of the WHA's third season are that Houston Aeros and New England Whalers are again Western and Eastern division champions, respectively, and that the Aeros (most points) will face Cleveland Crusaders in the opening round of playoff action.

The remaining three in-between pairings, along with the scoring championship and Calder rookie division winner, may not be decided until the final night of the season.

Hull continued his assault on the NHL's all-time goal-scoring mark with 75, one shy of equaling the major league record of 76 owned by Boston Bruins Phil Esposito of the National Hockey League.

In his bid for the scoring crown, however, Hull's lead over Andre Lacroix of San Diego narrowed to five points, 135-130. Lacroix, leading the league in assists with 94, had a nine point week as the Mariners extended their winning streak to six games.

Houston's Larry Lund became the fifth player this season to reach the 100-point plateau, joining Winnipeg's Ulf Nilsson, Serge Bernier of Quebec, Lacroix and Hull.

Hull's three goals against New England in a 9-3 romp represented his career total for game of the season. He's the WHA career leader with 14.

Everton Noses Back in Front

LONDON (AP) — A goal by Martin Dobson sent Everton nosing ahead of local rivals Liverpool Monday in the jostling race for the English soccer championship.

Everton gained a 1-0 victory over Coventry and Stoke, another strong challenger, downed Liverpool 2-1.

That left Everton leading the standings with 46 points and five games to play. Liverpool and Stoke were tied for second with 45, but both have only four games remaining.

Derby hammered Burnley 5-0 at Burnley and was fourth with 44 points. But Derby has six games left and is well placed to overhaul the other teams.

Everton 1 Coventry 0

Everton dominated the midfield but lacked their usual fluency in attack. The goal came nine minute before half-time. Dobson took a short pass from Mike Buckley and crashed the ball into the net from 25 yards.

Stoke 2 Liverpool 0

Stoke went ahead with a penalty by Peter Dodd in the 20th minute after John Mahoney had been tripped. Liverpool had had a shot by Ray Kennedy cleared by defender Alan Dodd on the line and rebounded to safety, and a shot by John Bertschin just cleared the crossbar. Conrad Yates made it 2-0 for Stoke in the second half, bringing his total to seven goals in four games.

Burnley 2 Derby 5

Bruce Rioch scored for Derby after 45 seconds. Ray Hankin headed an equalizer in the 11th minute, but David Nish chipped a free kick over goalkeeper Alan Stevenson's head and Derby Davies made it 3-1 for Derby before half-time. Kevin Hector scored twice for Derby in the second half.

Chelsea 0 Ipswich 0

Ipswich, playing its fourth game in seven days, held Chelsea to a scoreless draw. Only Charlie Cooke looked capable of cracking the Ipswich defence, but from two of his openings Steve Kember and Marvin Hinton headed wide.

Leeds 3 Leicester 2

Leeds, semi-finalists in the European Cup of Champions, took a half-time lead when Alan Clark shot home with Leicester appealing for offside. Johnny Giles made it 2-0 but Leicester, struggling to escape the drop to the Second Division, hit back with goals by Bobby and Jeff Blockley.

Arsenal 1 Sheffield United 0

Ian Kidd won the game for Arsenal with his 19th goal of the season, but it was a lucky effort. His free kicking the 28th minute bounced inside the post after Alan Woodward's shot Brown apparently unsighted.

Francis—Answer Sunday

NHL Races Going Right to the Wire

NEW YORK (AP) — New York Rangers and Atlanta Eagles Francis considered the up-coming Sunday for playoffs and said: "Well, we'll know who's playing come Sunday . . . I think."

Sunday, April 6, marks the end of the National Hockey League's regular season. By some time later that evening the point standings will be final and every team that makes the playoffs will know its their opposition will be.

Six teams don't include Philadelphia Flyers or Buffalo Sabres, who have clinched the Eastern division crown in the Patrick and Adams divisions, respectively. They earn a rye past the first round, as do the Montreal Canadiens, yet to be decided.

In the Norris Division, Montreal Canadiens are one point away from ruining Los Angeles Kings' playoff hopes. The Canadiens could clinch the title Wednesday night when they play host to Pittsburgh Penguins.

The Smythe Division crown remains up in the air with Vancouver Canucks, St. Louis Blues and Chicago Black Hawks separated by a mere two points entering tonight's action.

Atlanta Flames, facing virtual elimination in playoff berth in the Patrick Division, visit New York Islanders tonight.

"We'll have to go for broke," said Flames goalie Dan Bouchard after Atlanta tied the Islanders 2-2 Sunday and remained five points behind with just four games remaining. A loss tonight would put them two points behind the Islanders and New York Rangers with three games to play and would mean the start of summer vacations.

The Kings, still clinging to a hope of overtaking Montreal, host Kansas City Scouts. The Scouts were blasted for 59 shots on goal in an 8-2 loss to the Rangers Sunday night which lifted the Rangers into a second-place tie with the Islanders.

Three teams from each division can make the playoffs. The spots have been decided in the Adams Division where Buffalo has clinched first, Boston second and Toronto third.

In the Norris Division, the Canadiens, Kings and Pittsburgh Penguins are guaranteed post-season action. Likewise the Smythe Division, although it is far from certain where St. Louis, Chicago and Vancouver will finish. The Blues play Minnesota North Stars and the Canucks take on California Seals tonight.

Playoff Picture

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

The top three teams in each of the three NHL divisions qualify for the playoffs, plus the two other wild-card teams with the highest point totals. Pairings for the best-of-seven quarter-final playoffs are determined on points, regardless of division standings. The team finishing with the most points in the league meets the team with fewest points; the team with second-most points meets the team with second fewest points, and so on.

Today, the following teams would be in the playoffs (asdivision leaders, first-second bye):

xPhiladelphia Flyers 108 points

xBuffalo Sabres 107 points
Montreal Canadiens 107 points
Los Angeles Kings 100 points
Boston Bruins 93 points
Pittsburgh Penguins 87 points
New York Islanders 85 points
New York Rangers 85 points
xVancouver Canucks 80 points
Chicago Black Hawks 78 points
St. Louis Blues 78 points
Toronto Maple Leafs 78 points
Atlanta, with 80 points, is the only other team which could still qualify for a playoff berth, should it overtake Islanders or Rangers. The Patrick Division in this final week of the season.

WHA Wild Card Berth So Near Yet So Far

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Winnipeg Jets keep winning but their goal of a World Hockey Association playoff berth doesn't seem to get any closer.

The Jets, whose strongest hope for the playoffs is to win a wild-card berth, beat Indianapolis Racers 6-1 Monday night to run their points-total to 80.

Going into Monday's action, Minnesota Fighting Saints and San Diego Mariners, each with 82 points, were the two teams Winnipeg had to catch to qualify for a wild-card berth.

But in Monday's only other game, San Diego beat Edmonton Oilers 8-3 and moved up to second place in the Western Division, leaving Phoenix Roadrunners, who have 81 points and three games left, as the other wild-card favorite along with Minnesota, which has five games remaining.

The Jets now have four games remaining, are four points behind Toronto Toros who hold second place in the Canadian Division, but Toronto have three games remaining, all at home. Winnipeg has two at home and two on the road, at Toronto on Friday and Quebec on Sunday.

"We're going to have to win every game from now on," said Jets left winger Bobby Hull who tallied to add to his season's goal total of 76.

"We could even win the rest of our games and still be low man on the totem pole."

The Jets have been within three to five points of the wild-card berth leaders for the last two weeks despite winning nine of their last 16 games.

"It's getting tougher each game and it's frustrating to keep winning and not get any closer to the wild-card berth," said Jets defenceman Alain Beaule, who made individual history to end the night, two goals by Veli Kotala in the second period and Anders Hedberg in the third period.

Indianapolis next hits Northlands to challenge Toronto Monday's game and the Jets their quarter-final playoff hopes on goal. Hull is within one goal of matching the professional major-league season record of 76 goals scored by Phil Esposito of Boston Bruins in the 1970-71 National Hockey League season.

Winnipeg coach Rudy Pilous praised the work of Harbaruk and Hedberg Hull, calling Harbaruk an excellent defensive player and a very good checker, but Hull was unhappy about the attention.

Four Area Teams Get Shot at OMHA Crowns

The Bay of Quinte area is getting to be downright pushy when it comes to monopolizing berths in Ontario Minor Hockey Association (OMHA) final playoffs.

And it sure plenty for the people involved in minor hockey associations in communities like Wellington, Picton, Brighton and Trenton.

The players on these Ontario finalist squads, their coaches and managers and yes, the parents, also deserve commendation.

Wellington has long been a producer of first-rate minor hockey teams. The village has its share of OMHA championships to its credit.

This time around Loyalist Coach Lloyd Peewees will be aiming to add the C title to the that string of honors.

Tonight in Wellington, the squad opens the title set with Cayuga. Game time is 8 p.m. Dates of remaining games in the series have not been announced.

The Coach Lines skaters have chalked up an enviable record this season, losing only once in 36 league and playoff contests.

That lone setback came in quarter-final play with Hailburton. A 4-3 loss, it deadlocked the series at 1-1 but Wellington came on to take the next two matches and move to the semi-final with Oro.

Wellington moved past Oro in three straight games.

Coached by Bill Greer, the Loyalist team has Ralph Mountney handling managers duties.

The club defeated Marmora 5-0 in games to win the Trent Valley League crown and then scored 8-2 and 8-3 wins over Keene to qualify for provincial quarter-finals.

Picton and Brighton are new to OMHA final playoff competition, according to spokesmen for the teams.

The Picton Kiwanis entry will be shooting for the Bantam B title in a best-of-seven matchup with Exeter.

Games one and two are scheduled for Exeter Saturday and Saturday with the teams meeting in Picton, April 12 and 13.

Coach is Ken Ireland, and the manager, Vern Armstrong.

Advancing to the final showdown Picton defeated Campbellford, Stouffville, and Bracebridge.

Brighton makes its debut in OMHA finals after getting by Port Hope, Uxbridge, Bancroft, Uxbridge, and Schomberg.

Coach Elgie Currie and manager Bernie Cline will head the Ontario Provincial Police, Brighton detachment - sponsored team in the hunt for the Peewee C crown.

MORE

The OPP team had to work to get by Schomberg in the semi-final. Brighton had the home ice advantage in the best-of-five series and made it pay off with three wins. But Schomberg was in command on ia ice, winning a pair in what club publicity man OPP Corporal Ray Noble describes as a "home ice series".

Mitchell will be in Brighton Saturday to open the best-of-five championship serieh. Game time is 1:30 p.m.

Second and third games are in Mitchell, April 12 and 13 with Game 4 if it is necessary, set for Brighton, April 19.

In Trenton, Birt's Handy Stand is making his third straight appearance in the Juvenile AA final.

Coached by Charlie Drake when it captured the top honors in 1972 and again in 1974, the Birt's team could become the first club to take the AA title three years in a row.

And there's still a Drake at the controls. Charlie's son Roger took over as coach this year and is getting plenty of production from his squad as the Birt's aggregation closed in on a championship hattrick.

It's Trenton and Oakridge Village in the final. The same two teams met for the title last year with Birt's the winner in seven games.

Oakridge gets the home ice for the first two games, Saturday and Sunday, with the teams shifting to Trenton for Games 3 and 4, April 12 and 13.

Now all that is necessary is for these area teams to be blessed with good officiating, intelligent followers, the same sound leadership that has carried them this far, and continued good fortune on the ice. That could add up to four championships.

SLICES — If you've been a little slow to volunteer to take in a couple of young hockey players who will be visiting the city for the annual Shrine Peewee Hockey Tournament this Friday-Saturday-Sunday, now is the time to act.

Contact Jean Reid (968-7448) or Doreen Meagher (968-6516).

That should be an entertaining show when police and firefighters play it strictly for laughs in a 5-minute hockey game at Trenton Community Gardens, Wednesday night. The fun starts at 8 p.m.

Don Foster's Clown Troupe will be adding to the hijinks.

Proceeds go to the Trenton Minor Hockey Association.

They'll Be Back April 12

JOHN McLELLAN

Bep Guidolin, whose Kansas City Scouts have surprised a few National Hockey League charter members, and John McLellan, Toronto Maple Leaf assistant manager have confirmed that they will be here April 12 for the Flori Gorgaz Memorial Night.

No, Guidolin hasn't brought Scouts home to a playoff berth in the club's first season in the NHL, the team is last in the Smythe Division. But Bep's troops have made things interesting at times downright embarrassing for established squads, more than once.

McLellan, of course, moved from his position as coach with Leafs to his present place in the scheme of things with the Toronto club, when Red Kelly took over the coaching reins.

Both men, since putting in part of their hockey careers in Belleville with the championship McFarland teams of the late 1950s, have moved to the top and made it big.

Other former McFarlands who have signalled that they will be here, April 12, are Don Barclay of Bramalea; Joe Lepine, Ottawa; Mike Menard, Des Moines, Iowa; Keith Montgomery, Lindsay; Gosse Goselin and Bo Bo Bobocele, North Bay and Pete Conacher, Toronto.

B Finalist in 1974, Kingston Squad Back

Four more teams in the running for top honors in the Belleville Pepsi-Cola Tournament are Kingston, Whitby, St. Catharines and Nepean.

Kingston, because of the league they play in and the fact that they were finalists in the B championship games last year, are among the preTournament favorites.

The Kingston team plays in the four team loop with Belleville, Oshawa, and Peterborough. They finished third in regular season play.

In four tournament starts this season they have one championship. It was earned at the Kingston Township competition.

The Limestone City crew meets Whitby at 8 p.m. April 4 in the opening round of the Shriner's Tourney.

Whitby, an AA OMHA club, have competed in four tournaments this year and took home A Conn ion and Grand Canadian honors from the Lindsay invitational.

Also at 8:10 p.m., St. Catharines takes on Nepean. St. Kitts lost out in the semi-finals of their AAA OMHA league playoffs. To date they have only participated in one tournament. The Ekobicoke Toronto International Christmas event in which they were Consolation finalists.

Nepean is an A OMHA club, but has always fared well in the Belleville tournament. They bring with them a keen sense of competition. In three tourney starts the team has won the Ottawa City Invitational final series Monday night with a hard-earned 3-2 win over Belleville Generals.

Stanley finished first after the regular season with 23 wins in 36 starts. Their only loss was an early season one to the Generals, who finished second with 17 wins, five losses and a pair of ties.

Ray Summers led the Stanley attack with a pair of markers and Russ Harrington added the other. Bob Whodyka drew two assists.

For the Generals, Bob Dolza and Bill Van Soelen did the scoring.

The second game in the best-of-seven series is scheduled for Wednesday night, 8:30 at the Memorial Arena.

Junior Girls Tie

Two Bellville Junior Girls' Hockey House League teams battled to a 1-1 tie, Sunday.

Beth Baker shot the goal for the Belles, converting a pass from Kim McFarland.

Looking Canadian Legion's scoring was Sue Maher who finished off a play with Janet Bennett.

Sherry Towns was in goal for the Legion team. Handling the goaltending for the Belles was Ronnie Hannah.

How Do You Know Other Rustproofers Won't Run Out Before Their Guarantee Does?

YOU DON'T.

Someone who's been in the rustproofing business for two years might give you a lifetime guarantee. But his guarantee isn't just a lot longer than he will. Ziebart has been in the rustproofing business 18 years. We pioneered rustproofing. And we've inspired a lot of imitators.

In the first place, our speical compound is patented. Secondly, it's not only what we use, but how we use it. Ziebart coats every critical area of your car. So here's no possibility for rust.

Finally, our process is so effective we guarantee it. If you have your car Ziebarted before it's been driven 3000 miles, we'll guarantee it won't rust through for ten years. No matter how many miles you drive it. We put it in writing.

And if that's not enough to convince you, just ask someone who's had it.

Because has got a rustproof car. And our long guarantee. Which is our guarantee we'll be around for a long, long time.

Rangers' Pitcher, 31 Makes Impressive Bid

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Brown, a few curves over the baseball bow Texas Jackie [illegible] and who owns, and now things are beginning to change on both sides.

After spending most of his adult life in the minor leagues, the 31-year-old right-hander is making the most of his third shot at a major-league role.

He pitched five scoreless innings Monday in Texas Rangers' 9-1 exhibition win over Atlanta Braves, allowing only [illegible] hit. In fact, manager Billy Martin said Brown his best pitcher this spring and that includes 25-game winner Fergie Jenkins and 19-gamer Jim Bibby.

Elsewhere, there were a number of shutouts--Kansas City Royals 3 Baltimore Orioles 0; Pittsburgh Pirates 4 New York Mets 0; Cincinnati Reds 1 Philadelphia Phillies 0; Minnesota Twins 2 New York Yankees 6; Cleveland Indians 2 Chicago Cubs 0.

Other scores: Montreal Expos 7 Houston Astros 1; St. Louis Cardinals 6 Boston Red Sox 2; Detroit Tigers 3 Chicago White Sox 2; Milwaukee Brewers 15 Oakland A's 4; San Diego Padres 19 California Angels 8; [illegible] Cleveland Indians, the 28-year-old Texas League's strikeout king of 1974, held the Cubs hitless in three innings, fanning three and thoroughly impressed manager Frank Robinson.

"I've been very much impressed by Eckersley despite his limited experience," Robinson said. "It's possible, though not likely right now I wouldn't say probable, that a kid like Eckersley could move into Tom Burkey's spot." Burkey is the Indians' short relief man.

Nelson Briles, bidding for the fourth starting spot in Kansas City's rotation, bested six innings of three-hit shutout ball to help the Royals blank Baltimore.

Bruce Kison, Dave Giusti and Ramon Hernandez combined for a three-hitter as the Pirates blanked the Mets and Jack Billingham pitched a six-hitter as Cincinnati downed Philadelphia in a game shortened to six innings by rain. Minnesotan Joe Decker and Bill Butler blanked the Yankees on four hits.

Doubles by Larry Lintz and Pete Mackanin highlighted a five-run Montreal first inning against Houston. Montreal starter Dennis Blair allowed six hits and one run through 7 1-3 innings.

BIRTH

TWIDDY — Wayne and Janet Twiddy (nee Hall) are pleased to announce the birth of their baby, Jason Hall on 4:55 p.m. March 29, 1973, a brother for Jeff, twelfth grandchild of Mrs. F. Twiddy and the third for Rev. and Mrs. W. G. Pletcher. Special thanks to Dr. Hamilton and staff of Belleville General Hospital.

IN MEMORIAM

REILLY — In loving memory of a dear husband, Mr. Wm. F. "Jack" Reilly who passed away two years ago today, April 1, 1971.
The years we shared together,
The memories we hold dear,
The sad happiness you gave us
Will never leave you.
Till hymns have lost their meaning,
It broke our hearts to lose you,
But you did not go alone.
For part of us went with you
The day God called you home.
If we could have one lifetime wish,
One dream that could come true,
We would pray to God with all our hearts
To have you here with us now.
From those yesterdays with you,
"The Lord is your Shepherd".
—Always remembered by wife, Mary, daughter Jean, son-in-law Harold, Martha, Brian, Jeffrey and Neil, Martha Frist, Rochester, N.Y.
Georgina Church, Saint John's Avenue, Picton Reviews, Wahnapitae, Ont.

FITZGIBBON — In loving memory of a dear husband and father Peter Joseph Fitzgibbon who passed away April 1, 1970.
Sweet memory resting at rest
His weary trials and troubles are over.
His silence he suffered, in patience and love.
His God and his home is now his all so more.
—Sadly missed and never forgotten by wife Mary, daughter Margaret, son-in-law Bettie, Marion, Ron and Douglas and families.

C. (SKIPTON) L. SNIDER — Who passed away on April 1st, 1971.
Dear Jesus care, when I've said good-bye,
To the one, I have loved so dear,
Hold her safely 'neath your wing,
Till I reach her father dear.
I know my father cares,
Behind are all the loves and pleas
All shattered, missed to be,
But I'll meet you in the land,
And there we'll never part,
A little farther on.
When up the hill whose hill I am,
And see the valley all below,
Where time we feel not and know not,
The farther farther on.
Through many dangers toils and snares,
We have already come.
The grace that brought us safely through,
And grace will lead us home.
—Lovingly remembered and sadly missed by his wife Marjorie (nee) Crowter and family.

CARDS OF THANKS

We would like to thank the Victoria community for the lovely wedding gift.
—Gloria and Ralph Maher.

ENGAGEMENTS

Each house is a good buy in its own way. Separate entrances, plenty of parking, close to bus stops; both properties have two bedrooms up and two down, enclosed floors and some carpeting. Rental income on one is $210.00 per month, $200.00 on the other. Low down payments and mortgage rates to suit. Full price of these triple-A financing are $39,900 and $41,900 in the title. This kind of investment is the best there is with real property appreciating at about 25% per year. Recession? NO! Not in the housing market. Would you like to increase its value or use the other unit to help you buy a home?

ROME (AP)—Actress Sophia Loren and her husband, producer Carlo Ponti, deny their marriage is on the rocks and they're planning to divorce.

In a statement issued here Friday by Ponti's headquarters, the couple denied the persistent reports. They said: "We are presently with our children in Switzerland for the Easter holidays and we shall return immediately afterward to Paris, where we have our residence."

The Pontis used to live in a fashionable villa near Rome. They recently moved to Paris and reports said they feared they or their children might be involved in the current wave of kidnappings in Italy.

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Television talk show host Johnny Carson has filed a $25-million civil suit against Paramount Pictures, alleging breach of contract, a spokesman said Sunday.

In 1973, Paramount and the host of the Tonight show on NBC television formed Carson/Paramount Productions Inc. Under terms of the agreement, the suit says Carson was to seek out talent to produce television specials and films in connection with Paramount.

The suit says Paramount failed to live up to the agreement. Paramount is accused of cutting executive salaries and failing to adequately fund Carson-Paramount to keep it solvent.

Paramount officials could not immediately be reached for comment.

Carson is seeking $30 million in punitive damages and $8.5 million in general damages.

LONDON (AP)—Actress Britt Ekland says she is in love with pop singer Rod Stewart. "We've signed a pact to be faithful to each other."

It's a 31-year-old Swedish blonde, former wife of comedian Peter Sellers, told London reporters Sunday: "It's too early to talk about marriage, but Rod and I see our lives as a permanent relationship."

Stewart, 30, said: "I have been looking for someone like Britt for years. I'm in heaven. I have promised to be faithful."

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—A Lincoln bank and a travel agency have agreed to pay entertainer Johnny Carson $1 plus "other good and valuable consideration" for falsely using his name in a tour promotion.

The Nebraska Department of Commerce and Travel Unlimited Inc. agreed to the payment to settle a lawsuit filed by Carson in 1972.

Carson claimed the bank and travel agency falsely represented a trip from Lincoln to Las Vegas by using his name and photograph. Carson was once a Nebraska resident.

Lawyers for both sides signed the agreement, which said the $1 and other consideration fully settled "all claims and causes of action arising out of the travel promotion."

Plans Seminar

ANTIGONISH, N.S. (CP) — St. Francis Xavier University plans to hold its third consecutive Family Life Institute this year from July 2 to Aug. 8, Rev. Sydney Mifflen, institute director, said he has noted an increased interest in the program that deals in family attitudes and teaching values.

Vatican Invests Saigon Safe

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican's profitable investments throughout the world were valued by the papal finance chief Monday as less than $130 million—none of it in firms making munitions or contraceptives.

OTAWA (CP) — Despite the movement of North Vietnamese forces in South Vietnam, Canadians in Saigon still are considered safe, an external affairs spokesman said Monday night.

HID IN SWAMPS

Your Horoscope

By BERNICE BEDE OSOL
Wednesday, April 2

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Be careful how you conduct yourself in front of others. Your image is very fragile for the next couple days.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You have a tendency today to jump to unwarranted conclusions. Hear others out before making hasty judgments.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Business dealings with friends at this time are more complicated than usual. Be wary— or you'll be burned.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Don't treat lightly legal involvements today or tomorrow. A mistake could prove costly later. Act only on advice of counsel.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) This is not a day to tackle tasks beyond your talents and capabilities. Trying to impress others will have the opposite effect.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Don't count on others today if you're involved in a risky situation. Don't buy a big deal or a dime's worth, sight unseen.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) An issue between two persons of whom you're very fond will arise today. You'll find yourself in the middle. Arbitrate.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) If you don't take the time to give subordinates clear-cut instructions, there's no way you'll get hoped-for results.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You'll have to count your pennies today. Pay past obligations before assuming new ones. Manage money prudently.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Your actions could cause some hard feelings today. You're too anxious to serve your own interests. Be careful whose toes you step on.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You're too easily put upon today. You could later resent a commitment so think before you volunteer.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Stay out of situations with friends today where money or things change hands. You're likely to feel later you got the short end.

Drugs Can Bring Strange Tastes

By G. C. THOSTESON, MD

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 19 years old. I had a slight heart attack six years ago, and have been taking pills for shortness of breath. I have this metal taste in my mouth. Can you tell me what causes this?—R. J.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Can you tell me any reason why I should have a hair line in my mouth? I have a cyst in the throat, also a tefoil stub. I wonder if there is any connection? I have a hernia, high blood pressure, also arthritis, but I can't see that they have anything to do with a salty taste.—Mrs. D. E.

This matter of perversion of taste is an interesting thing. It can be caused by a variety of phenomena, some of which both of you hint at in your letters.

A metallic taste can result from the use of iron compounds or compounds of iodide. A medication R. J. mentions taking is diuretics can also cause this sensation.

Compounds with an alkaline base can produce the bitter taste, and one of the medications being taken by Mrs. D. E. E. could be causing her unpleasantness. Her doctor can quickly tell her if any of the drugs he is prescribing for her ailments can produce such a taste, in fact, I suspect that many of the similar complaints reported to me by readers can be just a readily explained.

But taste and taste abnormality is quite complex. For example, the tonsil tag or sore throat cyst could be factors complicating things in Mrs. D. E. E.'s case. Any disorder that disturbs the nerves which supply the tongue (where the taste buds are), or even a minor stroke, can cause abnormal taste phenomena.

Often the sense of smell enters the picture, because most of us associate taste with smell to some extent as a part of single sensation. We know that, with children especially, loss of sight and touch become an apparent part of this. Actually, all are separate and distinct senses.

But a severe head cold that interferes with nasal passages and olfactory cells also affects the sense of smell which seems to at least play a role in anticipating the appropriate taste.

So, while the questions asked by both of you may have a simple answer, as simple as the medication you are taking, it also can be complicated by these other factors. Age must also be taken into account, for there is little doubt that in this kind of disturbance the years exact their toll.

It's not uncommon for women to lose some of their hair following delivery, anesthesia, or pregnancy, he exact cause of which is not clear, and anyone who understood the physiology of it could reverse the process and thus instant millions.

We do know that hair grows in cycles and there is evidence that the "resting phase" of the cycle can be prolonged in some manner. When this phase is prolonged, the hair get back into phase two lose hair naturally all at once continues. Then the balance soon shows up as baldness.

Women of your age, too, begin to lose hair at slightly increasing rates anyway, a factor that can be adding to your total loss. Finally, nutrition during such occasions as surgery or a long illness can contribute to the deficit. Hair lost under such conditions usually grows back in time as things get back into adjustment. In the meantime, be extra careful in combing and brushing in order to avoid any more loss than necessary from these manipulations.

I know of no way under the sun to stimulate actual hair growth, but mysteriously, a lot of folks over the centuries have made considerable amounts of money promising to accomplish it.

Chinese Teach English

URBANA, Ill. (AP) — Eskilstuna, Sweden, has begun to taught foreign language in the People's Republic of China, an university in Chinese language says. Chen Ch-chuan, a professor at the University of Illinois who toured China in 1974, said English is taught in nearly all schools.

Hoard Tokens

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israel keeps raising the price of cats from pay telephones. So Israelis hoard phone tokens to profit from the next increase. As a result, the ministry of communications keeps running out of tokens. The ministry said its entire stock, equivalent to five for every person in the country, has been sold out and hoarded. A call costs 0.3 cents.

Win at Bridge

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY

Bridge is a game full of slogans—"second hand low; third hand high"; "cover an honor with an honor"; "rules are made to take kings"; "lead from longest and strongest". They all form a litany that makes a Gregorian chant seem brief. One of the standard admonitions for declarers is to attack your best suit.

But just as good declarers learn to postpone finesses until the chances of play are exhausted; they should also be alert to instances when weaker suits should be attacked first in the play of a hand.

Today's declarer was a firm believer in adages and standard admonitions. He won the king of spades; played a club to the king and a club to the ace. When that split failed to split; he tried the Diamond finesse. The result—down one.

Since he was always going to make the hand if clubs split; declarer should have given himself an extra chance by FIRST playing the heart suit. With a three-three division, the ninth trick would be assured. The extra dividend occurred here. With the queen and 10 falling in the East hand the play of the third round of the suit toward the nine in dummy will produce the game-going trick.

Compulsive Gamblers Likened to Alcoholics

By JACK TRACY
The Canadian Press

Adrian Waller makes compulsive gambling sound as virulent and ruinous as alcoholism in his new book, The Gamblers.

He follows a group of seven men to their meetings of Gamblers Anonymous in the basement of St. Kevin's Roman Catholic Church in Montreal.

He lets them—he-se-players and high-rollers with names like Little Brucie, Gloves and the Mouse—tell their stories of wrecked families, lost careers, deprivation and the violence of loan-sharks.

Gamblers Anonymous, like its counterpart Alcoholics Anonymous, tries to help compulsive gamblers abandon their addiction.

Waller, who went out with a tape-recorder in the fall of 1973, started by talking with gamblers in their homes. His book, which he presents as a blow-by-blow account of gambling in Canada with special focus upon the kind of gambler who cannot stop his wagering."

He met and interviewed the players themselves but to officials of the Montreal Urban squad to sweepstakes officials, psychologists and newspaper men. The locales of his reporting range from a Montreal bookie joint to the Las Vegas Hilton with the world's biggest casino.

While Waller offers no moral judgements, he sets out to show the gambler always loses in the long run—the odds are against him.

The Gamblers, Adrian Waller; $8.50; 172 pages; Clarke, Irwin.

Cabinet To Study Strike

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario cabinet will discuss possible action to resolve a strike by 1,800 Ottawa secondary school teachers Eric Winkler, chairman of the management board of cabinet, said Monday.

Mr. Winkler said in a telephone interview that the possibility of legislating teachers back to work is something the cabinet must decide and a meeting will be arranged as soon as possible, possibly today.

He said he will make a strong recommendation to cabinet, but declined to elaborate.

The chairman said he will meet today with mediator Owen Shime of Toronto to discuss the situation.

Reactor Running

PICKERING, Ont. (CP) — Ontario Hydro says a reactor at its nearby Pickering nuclear station resumed electricity energy production Monday after having been out of service since last August for tests and replacement of leaking pressure tubes.

Constable Killed

KEMPTVILLE, Ont. (CP) — Constable G. Allen Thompson, 32, of the Kemptville detachment of Ontario Provincial Police, died in an Ottawa hospital Monday after his police car was struck by a CPR freight train at a level crossing five miles southwest of here.

Buy Thermometers

TORONTO (CP) — Stores which handle thermometers report brisk sales as the change is made from the fahrenheit to the Celsius scale.

Most people are asking for thermometers with both scales, which may not be available for long.

Train Kills Boy

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Paul Spindler, 8, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Spindler, was struck and killed by a Canadian National Railways freight train Monday as he was crossing a trestle near his home. Police said the boy started to run when he heard the locomotive whistle and was within feet of the west end of the bridge when he was overtaken by the train. Police said no decision has been made on an inquest.

Moncton Murder Case Goes to Jury Today

MONCTON, N.B. (CP) — The jury will begin considering its verdict this afternoon in the trial of two men charged with the murder last December of two Moncton city police men.

Mr. Justice David M. Dickson of the New Brunswick Supreme Court will give his instructions to the jury after the Crown and defence complete their submissions this morning.

The Crown ended its case Monday afternoon after calling its 74th witness in the trial, which began March 17. The defence called no witnesses.

James Hutchison, 47, and Richard Ambrose, 36, are charged with murder punishable by death in the shooting of Moncton policemen Aurele Bourgeois and Michael O'Leary, who disappeared while investigating a kidnapping last Dec. 13.

Raymond Stein, 14, the kidnap victim, was released unhurt after his father paid a $15,000 ransom.

Cpl. Dale Swansburg, the final witness for the Crown, told how he and another RCMP member arrested Ambrose on the morning of Dec. 13 near Moncton and recovered $5,482 from his pockets, all of it in $10 bills, except one $2 bill.

Testimony during the trial showed that Cy Stein, father of the kidnapped boy, paid the ransom in packets of $10 bills. The bank which provided the money made a record of most of the serial numbers.

Cpl. Swansburg said 106 of the $10 bills recovered from Ambrose had serial numbers coinciding with the numbers on the bank list.

Healing Substance... Shrinks Piles, Checks Itch

Exclusive healing substance proven to shrink hemorrhoids ... and relieve pain

A renowned research institute has found a unique healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids painfully. In rectal itching and discomfort in minutes and speeds up healing of the injured, inflamed tissues.

One hemorrhoidal case history after another reported "very striking improvement." Pain was promptly and gently relieved . . . actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most important—this improvement was maintained in cases where clinical observations were continued over a period of many months. Furthermore, these tests and observations were made on patients with a wide variety of hemorrhoidal conditions. All this was accomplished

The gems were in a small bag, noticed on the table at the Grizzly Bear Pizza Parlor by two customers. The unidentified customers turned the bag over to Chris Brower, 19, assistant manager of the establishment, who notified police.

FBI agents in Twin Falls and New York helped locate the gem company that owned the gems.

Police refused to disclose the identities of the courier or the company, because of security reasons. The incident happened last week but police did not release the details until Monday.

Elimination

GLOUCESTER, England (Reuter) — Farmer Les Cools gulped down about 1,-200 baby eels in 44 seconds Monday to claim the world eel-eating championship for the third time.

Port Hope Layoff

PORT HOPE, Ont. (CP) — Hourly-rated workers at the Chemetron Canada Ltd. plant say the company told them off last Thursday without advance notice to reduce costs by having employees collect unemployment insurance, a union spokesman said Monday.

Courier Mislays Fortune in Gems

BURLEY, Idaho (AP) — About $200,000 worth of gems have been returned to their owner after a courier from New York left them on a table of a Burley pizza parlor.

The gems included more than 3,000 diamonds, sapphires, rubies and emeralds from Thailand and India. A seven-carat ruby worth $15,-000 was the most-expensive single stone, authorities said.

Deadline Refused

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Supreme Court rejected Monday a request by three midwestern states and some environmental groups that it set a two-year deadline for an end to pollution of Lake Superior by Reserve Mining Co.

Reserve discharges taconite waste containing asbestos fibres, identified as a possible cause of cancer, from its iron ore processing plant at Silver Bay, Minn., 120 miles southwest of Thunder Bay, Ont.

The court let stand a U.S. circuit court order giving Reserve a "reasonable time" to switch to dumping the waste on land.

Film Scarce

ORILLIA, Ont. (CP) — A member of the National Film Board predicted Monday that film makers may become more selective in the future because of a shortage of film.

Guy Glover told an Ontario Film Association seminar that film will become scarce because of world oil and energy shortages.

Why experts feed lawns now

John Bradshaw

Grass starts to grow in early spring: sooner than most people realize. Once the soil temperature reaches 32°F (0°C) the plants are growing, and in immediate need of nitrogen. Any left over from last year is not released to the grass plants until the soil temperature reaches 55°F (13°C) and the bacteria start working: usually in early May.

That's why I feed my lawn as soon as the snow is gone, and the ground firm. The best lawn food is CIL Golfgreen, it not only supplies nitrogen at once, to get the grass started, but goes on feeding your lawn for weeks. CIL Golfgreen, high in the long-lasting nitrogen your lawn so badly needs, also has trace elements to build lawn health and color.

Spread CIL Golfgreen at 20. lb./1000 sq. ft. as soon as the snow is gone and the ground is firm. It's a giant step towards your perfect lawn this year. For the full story on lawn and garden care, pick up a free copy of my 1975 CIL Lawn and Garden Guide at your CIL Golfgreen, it not only supplies nitrogen at once, to get the grass started, but goes on feeding your lawn for weeks. ## Saigon Senate Critical

Five More Cities Given up to Reds

SAIGON (AP) — The South Vietnamese Senate called unanimously today for "a new leadership" as President Nguyen Van Thieu's government yielded the last of its enclaves in the central part of the country to Communist-led forces without a fight.

Anarchy and panic gripped five cities in the region, including Cam Ranh, now among the three-quarters of South Vietnam under North Vietnamese and Viet Cong control.

In its first open break with Thieu, the previously pro-government Senate charged the president with "counting exclusively on a military solution is solving a war with many political characteristics." It said he was guilty of "an abuse of power, corruption and social injustice."

The five South Vietnamese cities yielded were Tuy Hoa, Phan Rang, Phan Thiet, Dalat and Cam Ranh, the latter with its big military base and deep water port that U.S. forces established. Military and administrative authorities simply fled.

The latest retreat of the Saigon government's demoralized forces brought the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong holdings to three-fourths of South Vietnam, including total control of 17 of the 44 provinces and a third of the 244 district capitals. Their zone along the coast now extends to within 100 miles of here, although their forces are considerably closer inland to the north and northwest of the city.

Vietnamese officials said four U.S. cargo ships trying to evacuate refugees from the Communist advance will be stationed off the abandoned cities in hopes some of those left behind could get out to the ships.

President Nguyen Van Thieu summoned Premier Tran Thien Khiem, his cabinet and the top military commanders to a meeting and there was speculation that a new cabinet would be announced.

U.S. State Secretary Henry Kissinger was reported to be asking other countries to urge Hanoi to live up to the 1973 peace agreements which Kissinger negotiated. Ambassador John Scali asked UN Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim to appeal to the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong not to interfere with the evacuation of South Vietnamese refugees. But Waldheim refused to go beyond a general appeal he made Monday on behalf of "innocent persons, including those who have been displaced."

The Saigon command said radio contact was lost with Tuy Hoa and telephone communications had been lost with Dalat, the hill resort and vegetable-growing centre in the lower central highlands 130 miles northeast of here.

Telephone communications also were lost with Nha Trang and the air base there was closed, a spokesman for the command said.

The Viet Cong delegation in Saigon said its forces had taken over Tuy Hoa and Qui Nhon but there made no mention of Nha Trang, which was abandoned Tuesday with Qui Nhon, or of Cam Ranh, Dalat, Phan Rang or Phan Thiet.

Saigon May Fall Before Summer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Many key U.S. military officers believe South Vietnam may go down the drain in 60 to 120 days if the North Vietnamese army sustains its momentum.

They believe the North Vietnamese could gather sufficient strength in that length of time to strike the final blow in the Saigon region.

However, these officers hold out the possibility that the North Vietnamese may have been surprised at the rapid collapse of South Vietnam's resistance in two-thirds of the country and may be unprepared to move into the final attack for some time.

"We don't yet know whether the South Vietnamese have the mobility and the logistic support to exploit their advantage fully," said one general.

The North Vietnamese also are faced with the same situation of administering those places they have overrun.

Last Mekong Post Falls To 'Rouges'

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — The Cambodian government lost its last outpost on the Mekong River below Phnom Penh today, and insurgent forces were reported on the doorstep of the country's second largest city, Battambang, in the northwest rice bowl.

From Peking, Prince Norodom Sihanouk ruled out negotiations with the Phnom Penh government despite the departure from the country Tuesday of President Lon Nol. But sources in Bangkok said Premier Long Boret, who accompanied Lon Nol to the island of Bali, in Indonesia, was expected there Saturday to look into the possibility of peace talks.

Military sources said Khmer Rouge forces Tuesday afternoon overran the Mekong river town and naval base at Neak Leung and nearby Banam, 32 miles southeast of Phnom Penh.

Mine Will Reopen

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

BANCROFT — Long-awaited federal approvals to put an expected $100 million uranium export deal into production near here have finally come through.

Needed government permission to reactivate the Faraday mine and mill was announced Tuesday night by Jack Ellis, MP Hastings.

The mine will be in full production later next year and is expected to create about 300 jobs.

The announcement ended years of speculation on the fate of the proposed export of uranium from here to Italy. At one point, government concern about the need for domestic reserves had cast doubt on the project.

It was not immediately known what reserve stipulations — if any — could have been imposed on the volume of exports.

Mr. Ellis said that federal agencies had approved the plans of Federal Resources Corporation and Consolidated Faraday Ltd. for sales of uranium to the Italian state energy agency, ENEL.

Federal Resources — in the United States — owns 51 per cent interest in the operation and the Canadian company 49 per cent.

Plans for the project had been approved by the Atomic Energy Board and the ministries of trade and commerce, natural energy, mines and resources, said Mr. Ellis.

He said he had been advised by Nels W. Stalheim, Federal Resources chairman, that work now will begin immediately at the mine site, said to be 6km off Highway 28.

Mr. Stalheim said production of uranium valued up to $100 million was expected from the site, said the MP.

Plans call for the 1,300-ton-daily processing mill to be renovated and put back in operation with production starting in "began the latter part of 1967."

Mr. Stalheim said Tuesday president W. Clarke Campbell estimated more than 200 people will be employed when the project is in peak operation, said Mr. Ellis.

AGIP will advance nearly $6 million to Faraday and Faraday between now and October. An additional $15 million may be available for a search for additional reserves when the need arises.

A new company, Madawaska Mines Ltd., has been formed by Federal and Faraday to operate the site.

D. R. (Dell) Wilson, mining engineering consultant with the Faraday company, will be vice-president of Madawaska and will manage the mine.

The Faraday property has been inactive since the early 1960s. It ceased operation after government contracts for more than six million pounds of concentrate had been filled.

Plenty of Canines

The animal shelter here was a busy place Tuesday evening with the arrival of 94 dogs impounded after a raid on a house in Cambridge, earlier in the day. O. D. Hepworth, chief inspector with the Ontario Humane Society, piles up cages containing some of the dogs. A total of 153 dogs were found in the house. For story, see second section, first page.

The Weather

Synopsis: Up to three inches of snow is forecast for most of southern Ontario today. The snowfall should end Thursday morning as the continued cold weather continues.

Downtown Air Service Possible

OTTAWA (CP) — The government is moving rapidly toward proposing downtown-to-downtown air service on selected air routes across the country.

Robert Turner, public affairs director for the Transport department, said Tuesday the department will shortly submit a policy to Transport Minister Jean Marchand declaring STOL (short takeoff and landing) air service desirable on certain routes.

Falls to Death

TORONTO (CP) — Jonathon Steel, a 20-year-old Trinity College student, fell to his death Tuesday from a snow covered ledge on the college's fourth floor while taking part in a sporting "hazing."

Last Chance

AMSTERDAM (AP) — The president of the International Chess Federation (FIDE) gave Bobby Fischer another 24 hours today to tell officials in the Netherlands if he wants to meet Soviet challenger Anatoly Karpov for Fischer's world chess crown. But Fischer has apparently decided to give up the title rather than play by FIDE rules.

No Talks at Montreal

MONTREAL (CP) — No discussions are scheduled today between representatives of the Maritime Employers Association (MEA) and 2,200 striking longshoremen following a breakdown in mediation talks Tuesday.

Clementine Ninety

LONDON (AP) — Baroness Spencer Churchill, widow of Sir Winston Churchill, celebrated her 90th birthday Tuesday with a luncheon attended by members of her family. Known to her husband as "My Darling Clementine," the baroness looked frail but happy, witnesses said.

Cheaper to Dump

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — The aircraft carrier Independence dumped 9,000 gallons of aviation fuel at sea last week because it was cheaper and more efficient than unloading it at a shore base, the United States Navy said Tuesday. A spokesman said the fuel, valued at about $4,000, would have cost as much as $20,000 to unload it here.

New Ambassador Named

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian government has decided to send a top flight economist and trade negotiator as its man near the White House. Jack Hamilton (Jake) Warren, 54, until recently high commissioner to the United Kingdom, will take over as ambassador in Washington from Marcel Cadieux this summer.

Five Found Dead

BUFFALO (AP) — Five adults were found dead early today in a burned out house and police said they may have been beaten and stabbed to death before the fire broke out. "It appears as though we've got arson to cover a murder ... These bodies were beaten and stabbed," said police Lieut. Edward Lyons. He said the dead were three women and two men, all approximately in their 60s.

Eggs Will Be Cheaper

TORONTO (CP) — Max Routenberg, the general manager of the Canadian Egg Marketing Agency, says he expects the producer price of eggs to drop about 13 cents a dozen — to about 40 cents from the 53 now paid for Grade A large eggs.

Quiet Campaign Raises $87,000 for Y Mortgage

By COLIN BRUCE
Staff Reporter

An unpublicized campaign during the past year has raised more than $87,000 to reduce the $100,000 mortgage on Belleville's YMCA, says campaign chairman Ben Corke.

Mr. Corke, a city alderman, said about eight campaigners were "selective" in the businessmen they approached and that by last June, the campaign had gathered more than $60,000 after six months of operation.

"Funds" collected have immediately been applied against the mortgage and are not to be confused with operating funds," he said. "Contributors' names will be kept confidential."

The fund drive stopped for the summer, "so as not to interfere with the United Way campaign in October," said Ald. Corke. Another $27,000 has been collected since February, he said.

Fund raisers will "definitely meet the target of wiping out the mortgage by the time the campaign closes at the end of April," said Ald. Corke.

"Nothing would have been served by publicizing the campaign . . . we don't want any big fanfare at the end of April," he said.

News of the campaign became public record Tuesday night at a meeting of the Quinte District Labor Council where it came under heavy criticism.

Carson McLauchlan, representing the labor council on the board of the United Community Services, told labor delegates he was having difficulty gathering information about the campaign.

He said campaign organizers had not required the permission of the Financial Appeals Review Board before soliciting funds.

Ald. Corke answered this morning, "we have the approval of the community services board".

Campaign details drew hot reaction from labor council vice-president Ian Reilly who said, "the YMCA should withdraw from the United Way campaign if the organization has this kind of fund-raising drive."

In addition to more than $20,000 from the fund campaign, the YMCA also receives a city grant in excess of $10,000 annually.

"We should go on record opposing this campaign," said Mr. Reilly. "The YMCA should receive no more operating funds from the United Way until this money is spent."

Mr. McLauchlan interrupted to say, "the special campaign is not to provide operating funds (such as those provided through the United Way) but to erase the mortgage".

The labor council took no action on Mr. McLachlan's report, allowing him additional time to meet with fund-raisers and gather more information.

Ding Dong, Bells May Chime But Tooting Horn Is No-no

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

Even if you're just married, it's not legal to hone your horn in Belleville.

But you can have wedding bells.

City council made the discovery Tuesday night as it briefly scrutinized a 1963 bylaw regulating "unusual noises" in city streets.

Among the sounds prohibited are shouting, blowing horns and discharging any gun "or firing piece" that can be deemed audible inconvenience.

While you can ring a bell in the street, that doesn't apply to a church bells — or fire bells.

"Does this mean we're going out and arrest everybody that gets married — and they blow their horn" . . . It's a common thing," when people get married, said Ald. Stu Meeks.

The bylaw came in for brief scrutiny because of a request from a city food service for permission to use loudspeakers.

Two Men Sentenced To Death

MONCTON, N.B. (CP) — Two men convicted of murdering two Moncton police officers were sentenced Tuesday to be hanged Friday, June 13, six months to the day after the officers disappeared while investigating a kidnapping.

However, there is an automatic appeal procedure for persons sentenced to death.

James Hutchison, 47, and Richard Ambrose, 28, were each convicted of two counts of murder punishable by death by a Supreme Court jury and sentenced to hang June 13. The jury of eight men and four women deliberated for two hours and 40 minutes and made no recommendation regarding clemency.

Million In Speed Is Seized

TORONTO (CP) — Police said Tuesday that they have cracked a multi-million-dollar illicit drug ring operating in Toronto.

Nine persons were arrested Monday and more than $1 million worth of methamphetamines (speed) drugs were seized in raids by Metropolitan Toronto police and RCMP, police said.

Deputy Chief Harold Simmonds said an investigation into the ring began about four months ago when it was learned that several apartments in Toronto, Etobicoke and Scarborough were being used as distribution and selling centres for the drugs.

Dinner Kicks Off Salute to Industry

The Salute to the Manufacturing Industry in Belleville this week starts with a dinner at the Four Seasons Motel, tonight. Guest speaker will be Maurice W. Crompton, Ontario industrial advisor for Imperial Oil Ltd.

Mr. Crompton is involved in a variety of community and civic organizations, having served on the public relations committees of the Belleville Hospital, the Metro Citizens' Safety Council and the Toronto Power Squadron.

The Salute to the Manufacturing Industry in Belleville takes place April 3, 4 and 5, with displays set up by about 60 industries at the Quinte Mall.

Higher Grants May Ease City's Share of Budget

New provincial legislation may ease the weight of municipal financial support for Children's Aid Societies, city council heard Tuesday night.

The legislature has given third reading to a bill increasing the provincial grants to 80 per cent from around 60 per cent, said Ald. Brian Knudsen.

When processed through the grants system — and the agency starts coming in — this might mean Belleville will pay less toward local CAS costs than last year, estimated city manager Fred Purnell.

Car Rolls, Two Hurt

TRENTON — Two Quinte area residents were treated and released from Trenton Memorial Hospital for cuts and bruises received in a one-car accident late Tuesday at 6RD Rd., about 1½-miles north of Highway 2 just east of here.

Ontario Provincial Police at Belleville said today the two persons were the driver, Allan Peavoy, 180 Ann St., Belleville and his passenger, Sheila Doreen Simpson, Glen Miller.

A damage estimate was unavailable on the 1969 Chevrolet station wagon which rolled over about 10 p.m.

The possibilities were leaving ness as Ald. Knudsen answered a series of queries from council colleagues. The province in 1975 established for the Family and Children's Services of Hastings County — delayed approval of the budget proposals two weeks ago.

The questions were triggered by the fact Belleville's share of the agency estimates is up 34.1 per cent.

A major reason for the increase — a 37 per cent increase of charges from last year because of an unexpectedly high volume of city juveniles committed to agency care by the courts.

In 1974, explained Ald. Knudsen, the agency had budgeted to receive 44-45 Belleville juveniles. Instead — with the courts turning more to CAS care facilities — it was given charge of 56 cases. This year the agency has budgeted Belleville for 55 cases.

Council, after Ald. Knudsen's explanations, approved the estimates.

Museum Seeking Higher Grant from City Council

The Hastings County Museum — centred on Belleville's Glanmore House — is seeking higher grants from local governments this year.

Belleville city council Tuesday night received a museum request for $15,085 grant to the city manager's office for consideration in the 1975 debates starting later this month.

The museum is seeking a matching grant from Hastings County council.

Last year, each council contributed $12,000 to Glanmore House Museum, run by the Hastings County Historical Society which showed a deficit of $377 in 1974, its auditors' report shows.

In total, the society received $36,946 and spent $37,483 the report states.

This year's proposed budget estimates for Glanmore total $44,130. Of this $34,750 but the actual budget was reduced to $31,977.

A decision during the year brought in $3,308.

New Budget Means More Flying at CFB Trenton

By AL ZABAS
Staff Reporter

TRENTON — A $3.5-million increase in the 1975-76 operating budget for CFB Trenton will mean a slight loosening of tightened belts the armed forces experienced last fiscal year when inflation cut deeply into spending power.

April 1, the start of the federal government's fiscal year, saw the Trenton base with $19.4-million in the kitty.

The increased budget will enable aircraft to log more flying time per month. Some training flights will be resumed as well as one additional trans-Canada flight.

Capt. Bob Burke, base information officer, said Tuesday, CFB Trenton will get nothing new as a result of the increase: "It (the increase) will take care of inflation."

Flying times and use of aircraft were cut substantially in late 1974 after fuel costs jumped 400 per cent.

At that time, one of three European Boeing 707 weekly flights was dropped. One of the three cross-country flights each week was also discontinued.

Last year, the five 427 Squadron Boeing 707s logged 900 hours a month before fuel cost increases forced hours to fall to 600.

NEW Take 2

Capt. Burke said flight hours will increase, but he wouldn't estimate by how much.

The 900 hours as far as Boeings are concerned "is what we'd like to aim for and I would assume it will creep up there," he said.

In summer, when more flights will be needed to carry freight and armed forces personnel returning from tours of duty in Europe, flying hours for Trenton planes will likely reach or surpass the 900-hours mark.

Brochure Highlights Trenton Facilities

TRENTON — A brochure promoting Trenton as an attractive location for industry will soon go out to various Ontario and federal government agencies as part of a program to lure new industry to Trenton.

The glossy, multi-page brochure, was recently returned to the town by the printer, at an estimated 75-cents per copy.

Town clerk Aubrey Sharp said Tuesday while the brochure is primarily aimed at industry, attracting tourist dollars and encouraging the town residents with services offered in Trenton are two other goals.

The first copies, he said, will go to the provincial industry and tourism ministry, where industries looking for new locations go first for information.

Mr. Sharp added that industrial representatives can now be given the brochure, called The Quality of Life, when they hesitantly ask at the town hall for information about Trenton.

The brochure, which includes health, education, power and water cost information, was about six months in the making.

Two Hurt In Crash

SMITHFIELD — A Brighton woman and her 13-year-old daughter remain in Trenton hospital in satisfactory condition today following a three-car collision on Highway 2 west of here Tuesday.

In hospital are driver Sheila Cater, 33, and her daughter, Leslie, who suffered a fractured jaw in the collision. A hospital spokesman said Mrs. Cater is under observation for possible internal injuries.

Brighton provincial police say both were injured when their eastbound car was in collision with a westbound car driven by Harold Van Slyke, 50, of R 7 Brighton. A third vehicle, driven by George Goodwin, 30, of Rt 4 Trenton, was struck by one of the other vehicles and sustained light damage.

Damage to the Slyke vehicle was estimated at $2,000. The Cater vehicle was described as a write-off.

Coad Construction Ltd. workman Ron Lawson tears down wall as part of $20,700 contract aimed at enlarging by just less than half Canada Manpower offices in Trenton. The expansion, to be complete May 9, will give Manpower offices room for a new job information centre and bigger testing facilities for job seekers.

English Night Planned

PICTON — The Leicester Square will be in it in song during A Night in England to be held at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church Sunday, April 6.

Sponsored by Club Kolonia, this ethnic night is one in a continued series. Also on the program is a film depicting England and its traditions.

In the Money

TRENTON — A single telephone call Tuesday evening made a Trenton resident $185 richer. Helen Morgan of 33 Brighton Crescent won the money during Belleville radio station CJBQ's cash call contest.

Horse of a Different Color

PICTON — Quinte area horsemen familiar with horse-trader jokes recently treated to a typographical error in an intelligencer "Horses for Sale" ad.

The horse being adver tised, apparently was a sorrel, but letters accidentally were subtilted and the animal was proclaimed "sorrow with white marking."

Fashions on Display

TRENTON — The Trenton Business and Professional Women's Club will present a spring fashion show tonight at the Canadian Legion, Branch 110, on Quinte St. Commentators for the show will be Maureen Schatz and Bill Coulson.

Police - Firemen Faceoff

TRENTON — The cops and jailbirds contest on hockey skates is tonight at Trenton Community Gardens at 8 p.m. Proceeds from hockey game cum comedy act between the town police and fire departments will go to the Trenton Minor Hockey Association. Some tickets will be available at the door.

Quinte Point Once Hub of Activity

By TERRY SPRAGUE
Staff Correspondent

BIG ISLAND — According to reliable reports, Quinte Point, at Big Island's extreme east end, was once bustling with activity. Early post cards depict numerous cottages, a wharf, resort and dance hall.

One of Big Island's long time residents, Albert (Al) Reinhold, whose father purchased property at Quinte Point in 1925, says steamers to and from the neighboring community of Northport, would often churn their way to Quinte Point to take on passengers.

Where once there was only a handful of summer cottages, the area now abounds in cottages and permanent homes. It also enjoys school bus and postal service.

The Reinholds decided to retire at the site of their former cottage because it is a "a refreshing change from the city".

"We are at a location now permanently where we can enjoy fishing, golfing and watching wildlife, and "there are no black flies down here," laughs Mrs. Reinhold.

Good Ole Days

At Reinhold, a long-time resident of Big Island, gazes out over the Bay of Quinte from his home at Quinte Point, remembering the days when the area was largely deserted when his father bought the property in 1925 and steamers used to churn their way to Quinte Point from Northport to take on passengers.

Labor Reps Defend Strike Action as Bargaining Tool

The image of Canadian trade unions and the right to strike were the topics of discussion at a labor seminar sponsored by the public relations class of Loyalist College Tuesday.

Speaking on behalf of labor were International negotiator Ian Reilly of the Boot and Shoe Workers Union, Reg Leader, president of the International Jewellery Workers Union and Jack Thoms, secretary treasurer of the Quinte District Labor Council.

All three men said the news media favor management and "never give unions a fair break".

Mr. Reilly said reporters are gagger to print stories of strikes but only print stories on settlements "if it will make the union look bad".

He said not enough union funds are spent on a public relations campaign that would explain the trade union movement.

Figures quoted during the seminar showed little more than 25 per cent of working Canadians are union members.

Mrs. Thomas said if the situation was reversed and that 80 per cent of working Canadians were unionized "we'd probably have a more progressive country".

As Mr. Reilly mentioned the trend of management giving unions a black eye, one student retorted, "management doesn't have to do that . . . the union does it for itself".

"It's all handy dandy for you as a student to say that sitting in the back row of a lecture theatre but wait until your job is on the line It will be a lot harder to make that statement then."

When audience members began asking questions concerning the absence of strike action, Mr. Thomas answered "no outlaw strikes through legislation! . . . will be like outlawing rain on holiday Monday."

"Without the right to strike, serious bargaining between management and employees cannot take place," he said.

"It's a myth to believe that management is so enlightened that the right to strike is not needed," said Mr. Thomas.

2,000 Trees Goal Of County Scouts

PICTON — Boy Scouts in Prince Edward County this spring will plant 2,000 trees at Beaver Meadow, a Prince Edward Region Conservation Authority site, as part of the Trees For Canada project.

The project offers all Canadian Scouts the opportunity to actively display concern for their country, says Douglas Baker, president of Prince Edward District Council, Boy Scouts of Canada. Approximately two million trees will be planted nation-wide through this program.

Trees For Canada also raises funds for scouting in Prince Edward as all participants will seek pledges in the community for the trees they expect to plant.

Some of the money is used to further local scouting while part of it is saved to support Operation Amigo, an international program of Canadian Scouting planned to help five South American countries adapt scouting to their needs.

Helen Duggan, secretary for the Prince Edward Region Conservation Authority said the trees to be planted at Beaver Meadow, a site on East Lake Rd., are conifers.

In 1974, county scouts planted 2,000 trees at the Macaulay Mountain Conservation site.

Museum Curator Plans More Rotating Exhibits

By MARG HAYLOCK
Staff Reporter

PICTON — The Prince Edward County Museum is a potential community centre where students can explore the past and discover crafts, says new curator James Gooding.

Mr. Gooding, former museum advisor for the province of Ontario and from 1962 to 1968 head of the museum section of the National Historic Parks Commission, started work Tuesday at the county museum in Picton.

He described the museum as unique because of its facilities and their potential for development.

Exhibits now are dismayed in the Old Church of St. Mary Magdalene renovated as a showcase for early Prince Edward. The church is surrounded by a small burial ground where the Rev. William Macaulay is interred.

Adjoining the church yard are the sweeping grounds of the rectory, also part of the museum property.

Mr. Gooding observed the museum this year will feature a series of changing exhibits in addition to a number of permanent exhibits.

The second floor of the building will be used for a special exhibit gallery.

Mr. Gooding said no official opening date has been set for the 1975 summer season but it is likely visitors will be welcomed in mid-May.

The curator will be assisted by museum employee Donald MacDiarmid and a number of volunteers who will provide craft demonstration.

A former teacher of museum technology at Algonquin College in Ottawa, Mr. Gooding expects to work with two pupils here this summer in restoration of some of the original church furnishings found in the church.

He observed restoration of the rectory will be a long-term project requiring from four to six years for completion.

This year it is hoped the brick in the old home can be re-pointed and a verandah removed will replaced by a copy of the original porch. This work is described as phase one.

Phase two involves work inside the rectory where an office and a library will eventually be set up. Workshops are needed for museum operations will be established and teaching areas and special exhibit areas will be introduced.

The grounds of the rectory will be restored as closely as possible to their appearance in the days of Rev. Macaulay. The Old Church of St. Mary Magdalene was given to Prince Edward County in 1970 and subsequently renovated as a museum. It was officially opened in 1975.

The rectory and adjoining grounds were purchased by the county more than a year ago but no renovations have been made as yet.

"I know of no other facilities like this," remarked Mr. Gooding discussing the county museum and the rectory.

South Vietnam and Cambodia Near Collapse

Renewed Despair at Earlier Loss of U.S. Lives as Red Tide Advances

By JOHN D. HARBRON

Foreign Affairs Analyst

Thomson News Service

The Communist brew of an Indochinese triumph, held off for most of the post-war decades first by French arms, then by international diplomacy, then by massive American firepower of the Vietnam War, is coming after all.

In hundreds of thousands of American homes where men's lives were wasted, shortened or ended, there must be renewed despair and anger that American young men were sent to Asia to fight in what has become a futile cause.

Only last month, Gen. Westmoreland, retired Vietnam commander who had the most firepower and manpower of all U.S. commanders-in-chief and who failed to win the war was at it again. Overwhelming firepower would win the war he was still sure.

Again, the futile, brutal and callous "bomb the bastards back into the stone age" was heard in America. Generally simply cannot learn science and too often must be tamed.

The semi-final blow for the Americans must have been the news of the fall of Da Nang, so shortly ago the hub and centre of the huge U.S. military presence in South Vietnam.

It was the largest supply base the Americans had built in Asia since the Second World War and you will remember was defended with much loss of American young manhood against Viet Cong rockets and night attacks.

Along with its loss goes desperately-needed crack troops of the South Vietnamese armed forces, trained and supplied with weapons by the Americans, to the tune of the murderous loss of face.

The final blow will be the fall of Saigon, if that ever comes. It could be precluded by the flight of the hapless Premier Thieu, determined to hold his crumbling republic together by authoritarianism not unknown to the communist people's republics in the north.

If he goes, he will be the only Indochinese leader to fail. Rumors abound that the unpopular Gen. Lon Nol, the president of nearby and beleaguered Cambodia, will leave his surrounded capital of Phnom Penh, most certainly never to return.

Indochina before the end of 1975 and 30 years after the late Ho Chi Minh started the struggle for release from colonial powers in the spring of 1945, will be mainly in the hands of the Communists.

"People's republics" along the line of that established in Hanoi in 1954 will probably emerge in both the present Cambodia and South Vietnam. American hawkish politicians, military leaders and newspaper editors will see "the long night descend" and perhaps more ominously look for scapegoats as they did with the failure to help China stay free of Communism.

The "China Lobby" of the 1940s which helped throw American life a paroxysm of anti-Communism and false accusations of many hapless specialists, recalls one of the most paranoiac eras in U.S. public opinion.

Will it all happen again over Vietnam? It's unlikely. The anti-Vietnam War reaction in the late 60s has done its work and millions of Americans were already totally disenchanted with the war and the justifications of its issues, about 100,000 of them strongly enough to face or desert rather than fight Asians.

The abject futility of Indochina's staggering loss of life, struggling to support desperate causes which were doomed can be seen in our current attitudes to the People's Republic of China.

We accept, live with, work with the worlds largest Communist state and view it as a worry of the future. The treasure and blood and face lost in Indochina may make this acceptance forever impossible in America.

Young Folk Want Jobs

There are young people in Belleville who want jobs but are having difficulty finding anything.

The pattern of their day is one of dressing up and pestering themselves at various establishments, only to run into a blank wall as it were.

That, from a young woman, who explains the situation as she finds it in Belleville: "I have been in search of a job since I moved back to Belleville in December and haven't even come close to getting one. I'm always shot with the usual, 'sorry you have no experience; we aren't taking any applications; we'll give you a call etc." "

And she adds, in her neat handwriting and grammatical style (a distinct asset to any employer these days): "This isn't good, not good at all. You see, I have no income at all and I am not able to live at home. Some friends of mine have been supporting me which puts a bigger hole in their pockets and makes me feel very uncomfortable."

Uncomfortable, for instance, when it comes to relaxing over beer after work. And don't knock it, for who wants to sit home all day?

The writer encloses with her preamble a poem. As has been explained on a number of occasions The Intelligencer does not print poems as a matter of course, lest it open the floodgates.

It's a good effort though and it expresses, poignantly, the plight of many young people today who want to work, but for one reason or another, they can't land a job.

She points out that there is no money even to go to some other town, for another try, and she ends her poetic plea thus: "Please help us with our problem; And don't be such a fuss; For a job doing something . . . Would be so good for us."

Where to Write

The Intelligencer has been taken to task in a letter from Mrs H. R. Gibson for not giving the equivalent Canadian addresses in Ann Landers columns for the donation of eyes and kidneys.

"It is possible — and very probable," says Mrs. Gibson, "that you do not read Ann Landers' column.

As a matter of face we do read Ann Landers. However, the burden of Mrs. Gibson's letter is those addresses, and she lists them as follows: for eye donations —Canadian National Institute for the Blind, 1929 Bayview Ave, Toronto; similarly for kidney donations — The Kidney Foundation of Canada, 1430 Yonge St., Suite 220B, Toronto.

Mrs. Gibson's parting thrust is that "we are not a subsidiary of the United States and we have our own foundations."

She may be interested to know that on March 4, we published a letter from Reader's Digest editor Ralph Harman which had originally appeared in The Montreal Gazette, in which he listed the Montreal addresses of the above organizations.

Private Schools Today

Loyalist College English instructor Doug Barnett's appointment as headmaster of Rosseau School focuses attention on the private school education which this Muskoka area institution offers, and of others here and abroad.

Belleville's Albert College has a fine tradition in this field and there are others in Ontario and across Canada which continue to flourish while similar establishments abroad are feeling the pinch economically.

Mention has been made of Britain's exclusive Eton College where students are being asked to sweep up, scrub floors and wash dishes in an economy move. And of Prince Philip's Scots alma mater, Gordonstoun, where the living is disciplined and the education among the best.

In Northern Ireland the Enniskillen-based Portora Royal School — a 300-year-old pile whose male population has included such notables as Henry Francis Lyte, Oscar Wilde, and Samuel Beckett — the current boarder strength is said to be 100 from the 300 or so it housed in happier times.

The school's vice-principal, English-born George Andrews, says that "southerners" (southern Ireland) "do not send their sons here (as in the past) because they believe the media and think that Ulster is a universal battlefield (even though I tell them I have lived here throughout it all and never seen a shot tired in anger. . .").

Andrews has been on the staff for 40 years and will retire shortly to a cottage in the heart of the County Fermanagh lake country. His decision compounds the irony of many Britons in another situation in Ulster; members of the military, they like the region enough to take up residence there when their service is completed.

Meanwhile, in the United States, Christian Science Monitor education editor Cynthia Parsons reports on a fluctuating situation in New England where many of the country's private schools are concentrated.

She says that since 1960, more than 15 New England independent schools have had to close their doors. However, in the same period of time more than 20 new private schools in the six-state region have been established.

Private school education remains a strong influence in society. If it were otherwise — if circumstances of social change or whatever were to militate against its continuance" — it would be the country's loss.

'MR. SPEAKER...WOULD YOU PLEASE HAVE THE OPPOSITION REFRAIN FROM IMPLYING THAT THIS GOVERNMENT IS INVOLVED IN SOME KIND OF COVER UP!'

Conflicting Role of Committees

By DON O'HEARN

Queen's Park Bureau

Thomson News Service

TORONTO — They who speak shall not be heard.

If Confucius had happened to say this or something like it he could have been forecasting the situation regarding committees at this particular seat of government.

What, in other words, could be described as probably the most ridiculous situation among situations which surround the government.

The situation is that members of the house spend hours upon hours and hours, and even more hours, down-stairs in committee rooms and practically nobody knows about it and what they are doing.

Most of the time they are doing reasonably important things and more often than not quite important things.

For if matters in bills are made they tend to be made in standing committees.

And practically no record at all is made of the proceedings of these committees.

No Hansard is kept of their debates (Except when they are examining the estimates of a department) and none of the letters of reports are made to the main house.

What does this mean?

Well for one thing it means that actual changes in law are made in committees. And some days later when this point at last comes before a court a judge will say that he interprets the feeling of the legislature to have been such and such.

But he really won't be able to know just what that feeling really was because he will have no record to tell him what the reasoning was that led to the particular piece of law.

The government's position on committees has been contrary.

On the one hand it has encouraged them. Principally, probably, because it gives its own back benchers something to do.

But on the other hand it has resisted any record being made of them.

And again it has kept them restricted by confining them to matters which are designated to them by the legislature. Which effectively means matters that are delegated by the government.

The opposition parties have contended that committees should be able to go into any subject matter they desire.

And though certain controls should probably be kept they have not been successful in doing so.

But also they could provide a forum at which the public could appear and express its views.

And today when lack of communication between government and the public is at such a high level itself, could seem to be enough to justify them.

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FILES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

April 2, 1955

Employment in Belleville and area is slowly making a comeback after the peak unemployment period reached late in February, it was stated today by H.H. Reed, manager of the local employment service office. A total of 1,979 persons in Belleville and the area served by the local office are receiving benefits from claims. The peak period was the week ending February 26th when a total of 2,200 claims was paid.

Mr. Cleo Colling has been elected president of the Quinte District Physical Fitness Council for the coming year. He succeeds Joe Foley, of Wellington.

30 YEARS AGO

A keen interest in rehabilitation problems of the post-war era insofar as they affect men of their own calling and those desirous of taking up their their work as a life vocation has promoted several young men of the Trenton Air Station personnel to inaugurate an organization known as the RCAF Sales and Advertising Club. Sanctioned by headquarters at Ottawa with the approval of the station commanding officer Group Captain A.D. Bellhouse, the newly formed club has adopted as its aims and objects assistance for repatriated and ex-service R.C.A.F. personnel who have served to turn to the sales and advertising field for their life work. This and all its activities are creating widespread interest at the air station.

Byng Hayes, formerly the junior mayor of Belleville, now of Watertown, N.Y., has written advising that a group of Belleville scouts from Watertown would attend a special convention of scouts to be held here later this year, commemorating 110 years of peace between the United States and Canada.

There is a possibility of the formation of a Ku Klux Klan branch in the city. A report that was current last evening that Belleville resident had been approached in the usual manner regarding membership was found on inquiry to be unfounded, however, the opinion prevails that there will be a branch here shortly.

President May Soft Pedal Issue of Domino Theory

By BRUCE LEVETT

WASHINGTON (CP) — The Ford administration, concerned that domestic pessimism over Viet Nam may damaged the United States image on an international scale, may be preparing to blunt one of the weapons it has been using to keep Congress in line.

President Ford has scheduled a major policy address to Congress for next week.

Speculation here is that he will try to convince that body — and the world in general — that U.S. credibility remains unimpaired. And to do that may require unprecedented peace overtures to Congress.

Among the tactical maneouvres may be a strategic withdrawal from the use of the "domino theory," which maintains that damage to American security interests in one country produces a chain reaction on others like a row of toppling dominoes.

Ford has used the theory, borrowed from past administrations, to engender a feeling of guilt within Congress — blaming congressional reluctance in the area for widespread waves of frustration and disorder in others.

Insiders say privately that the administration may have gone too far in this regard.

They point out that warnings of global consequences of the congressional decision not to vote emergency aid to South Vietnam and Cambodia were followed swiftly by the unexpected military chaos in South Vietnam.

Southeast Asia Debacle

By AL COLLETTI

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — The house of cards the United States government built in Cambodia over vice president Richard Nixon helped build in Cambodia has fallen.

In the tragic aftermath of five years of war, the destruction of the Southeast Asian country the US tried to build not only strives to clutch at its Southeast Asia.

President Ford said in an interview Tuesday that he would "certainly support" the idea of placing a UN peacekeeping force in Phnom Penh to avoid what he fears will be a Cambodian "bloodbath," and assist in the internecine warfare for power of the Khmer Rouge insurgents take over.

have openly taken to the streets of Phnom Penh to demonstrate against the government. All that remains is the capital have been closed indefinitely.

The refusal of the U.S. Congress to continue the funding of the war in Cambodia, and in South Vietnam, has left Nixon's successor with the choice of only arrows to clutch at in Southeast Asia.

President Ford said in an interview Tuesday that he would "certainly support" the idea of placing a UN peacekeeping force in Phnom Penh to avoid what he fears will be a Cambodian "bloodbath," and assist in the internecine warfare for power of the Khmer Rouge insurgents take over.

'Walled City' Has Two Sides

Editor,

The Intelligencer:

The article concerning "local hiring only" is a rather interesting proposition. In these times with unemployment and recessionist feelings on the rise, why not expect such feelings on a local level. I think such an attitude was strongest during the Middle Ages when cities were walled to protect their economy. However, the threat today is not the fear of attack by neighboring cities; rather, it is the noble threat of social mobility.

Nevertheless, the practices of mediaeval times has some application today.

However, isolationism is a two-way street. If Belleville feels that it should protect its citizens from us, maybe we should protect ourselves from Belleville's citizens. Once this architect has been built and Belleville has its citizens fully employed, then we'll have to lobby to get the Unemployment Insurance Commission and Canada Manpower offices to move out of the city where their real work lies.

Continuing along this line, maybe we should have laws that prohibit "the businesses of Belleville from working outside the city, so that we can fully develop our own businesses and keep our people employed. Then there are those people who live in Belleville but work out of town and who would have to be hired.

All kidding aside, Belleville has established itself over the years as the cultural, social and economical centre of the Quinte area. Now it must live up to that role. The attitudes of some local politicians makes me feel that the city is willing to perform its role. The lack of commercial proliferation — but not all — is sincerely hoped that a sense of responsibility to the Quinte community will prevail, and that the city-state attitude will be left buried where they belong — back in the Middle Ages.

Beam Condition Vital To Renovation Scheme

MARMORA — After considering various options, a joint meeting of councils is proceeding with an investigation to ascertain the feasibility of bringing the patched Marmora arena up to standards and operating it next winter.

Last week there was a meeting held by Marmora, Belero, and Marmora and Lake townships. The chairman of this committee is Gordon Bennett.

Tuesday afternoon, Mr. Bennett announced he had just talked with an engineer and he is coming to Marmora on April 9 to examine timbers in the arena.

Provided the timbers are sound, an engineering firm spokesman said the roof trusses can be reinforced as they have already done in another similar arena.

"At a meeting in January it was decided by the joint council that a new arena to be built this coming summer was beyond the capacity of the municipalities — that is a new conventional $400,000 — plus arena — there was no way we could raise that kind of money," Mr. Bennett said.

"A winter works program is not being considered at this time to build a conventional new arena as this would have meant being without an arena for another winter," Mr. Bennett added.

That until we are actually into a contract with somebody, we are not committed to anything," the joint council chairman pointed out.

Asked if the bubble dome that was talked of several months ago was a serious proposal, Mr. Bennett, said that in his mind it was. He said he had looked at a couple but other members of the joint council were reluctant to accept it, as they felt it was susceptible to vandalism.

The chairman said that already the joint council has a quote on replacing the arena with a steel structure, and on Monday another type of quote will be made on replacing the roof with a quonset-type roof.

"It will be up to the joint council to decide what will be the most economical," Mr. Bennett said.

Arena Repair Plan Support Sought

MARMORA — The combined councils of Marmora, Belore, and Marmora and Lake townships want the support of the people in their scheme to repair the Marmora arena if it is feasible, Marmora clerk William A. Shannon said today.

"There was unofficial talk after the meeting of the councils last week enlarging the ice surface and revamping the interior. Further talk was made on setting up a fund-raising program to build a new arena sometime in the future," Mr. Shannon said.

"There were all kinds of thoughts. Some people questioned spending any money on an old arena compared with the cost of a new steel-clad, insulated arena, but everything considered, without going into the ramifications of financing and costs, the feeling is it is too good a building to abandon," he also noted.

One observation the clerk made was that Marmora "has a huge debt but not an unhealthy one."

A letter from an engineering firm said the cost for reinforcing the truss timbers, if they were sound was $28,000. Mr. Shannon said that if the idea of revamping the arena was pursued, the total cost would come to around $80,000, including the $28,000 mentioned.

Mr. Shannon said the engineers felt the life of the structure would depend upon how well the trusses were protected from moisture penetration due to a leaky roof.

"There is generally thought not to be much damage done," the clerk said. "The steel has to be taken off in places. There could be further expense if we have to replace the roof.

"Everything considered, this is the thing to do and the combined council is very desirous in obtaining the support of the people," Mr. Shannon said.

Rollins Supports Riding Change

By NAN THITLAW
Staff Correspondent

BANCROFT — Hastings representation Bill 22 was introduced in the provincial legislature on Wednesday, March 26, and of the largest change included in the first reading was to the existing riding of Hastings and of Peterborough.

Once the bill has received its third reading, 10 township and two villages from Peterborough will be included in a newly enlarged, Hastings-Peterborough riding.

Hastings MPP Clarke T. Rollins indicated in an interview recently that he is in agreement with the new riding.

However, he also said that some changes will have to be made in the the riding party associations.

Peterborough riding progressive conservative riding association members have used an elected committee to select a candidate, however Hastings, delegates have been mandated to attend a riding convention on a basis of population through the riding.

The new riding of Hastings — Peterborough will include all the existing portions of Hastings with the addition of Asnnurcher, Anyidel, Belmont, Burleigh, Cavendish, Chandos, Dummer Galoway, Harvey, and Methuen townships.

The villages of Harvelock, and Norwood will also be included in the new riding.

Crusade Starts Sunday

MARMORA — The Good News Crusade team from England will be in this village Sunday for start of a four-month crusade for Christ.

Composed of people from a variety of denomination backgrounds, the team is being brought to the Marmora area by members of area churches.

Two team members will arrive Sunday followed by three more Tuesday to prepare for a two-week campaign April 13 to April 27.

Five meetings will be conducted each day with an hour of prayer meeting at 9 a.m., a children's hour at 4 p.m., youth discussion time at 6 p.m., Bible exploration class at 6.15 p.m. and crusade service at 7:30 p.m.

The first two events each day will be held at St. Andrew's United Church Hall with the remaining events in the Earl Prentice Public School auditorium. All Sunday meetings will occur at the school with a family rally at 3 p.m. and crusade service at 7:30 p.m.

Crusade Take 2

Rev. John Lombard, crusade coordinator, says additional choir members and counselling members are needed and those interested can contact him by ciher mail or telephone.

Practice sessions will take place at Marmora Free Methodist Church Monday to Wednesday with choir practice at 7 p.m. and a counsellors' meeting at 8 p.m.

Marmora and Madoc church members are involved as present but other area centres are being encouraged to participate.

Hastings Highlights

$700 Damage in Collision

TWEED — A tractor trailer and car collision on Highway 37 near here Monday has resulted in a total of $700 damage to the vehicles.

Madoc OPP said the tractor trailer, driven by Rhea Laroche, 22, of Quebec, and the late model car, driven by Harold Morton, 79, of Thomasburg, both headed bound on Highway 37 near Thomasburg when the mishap occurred.

Police said the car made a left turn off the highway and tractor trailer, behind the vehicle, jackknifed. The trailer skidded into the car causing $300 damage while the cab of the truck had $500 damage.

Madoc OPP have laid no charges in the incident. There were no injuries.

Warkworth Prisoner at Large

WARKWORTH — A warrant for the arrest of a Tarkworth Medium Security Institute inmate who failed to return here a week ago today is still outstanding, according to a prison spokesman.

Still at large is Edward Stephen Piercy, 20 formerly of Bramalea, who was to have returned to the prison after a three-day temporary absence last Wednesday.

Piercy was serving a three-year sentence for possession of stolen goods, fraud and theft.

Ready to Race

Paul Burris, 20, of Madoc, took a three-day, $500 course to learn to handle Formula Ford racing cars at Mosport. Now he might try go-kart racing if a track operates at Shannonville this summer. He works in Ray's Sport Shop in Madoc.

Course in Race Driving Memorable Experience

By CHIS ALMEY
Staff Correspondent

MADOC — Paul Burris, 20, of Madoc says it all. Time has plans are open and he is playing things by ear. Last year he spent $500 on a three-day course to handle Formula Fords at Mosport Racing School. However, with the machines costing $14,000 and considering go-kart racing and is hoping this might also start at Shannonville this summer.

Telling about the course in an interview, Paul said he started out at 2,000 r.p.m. about 60 miles an hour on a pylon course on the pit straight.

"The idea is, after classroom instruction, to get used to downshifting, the brakes and the feel of the car. It is so responsive and quicker handling for a guy who has never been in a race car before," he noted.

The Formula Fords are 1600 cc Pintos or Cosworths, four-cylinder engines and are capable of 130 mph.

Graduating to the fast Mosport track, racing students go up 10 m.p.h. a time, on the last day drivers start at 4,000 r.p.m. and end up to 6,000 r.p.m.

Paul didn't get to the ton r.p.m. but still was zipping around the track at 125 m.p.h. The reason why the car he was handling developed timing chain problems and he had to switch to another car, which he had to learn to handle all over again.

"I felt about two inches high," Paul said about the course in general. "You go in with this big ego, figuring you would be the world's best driver, and make all these mistakes. You have to forget everything you ever did in a road car. There were only four gears, but I missed gears, it was a modified racing gear box and not synchromesh."

Paul said one good thing about the course was it made him more aware for highway driving. He said coming out of Toronto recently he saw people looking all around as they drove, and just missing things like rear end collisions. He pointed out you have to be really defensive driving, and said to watch out for somebody tailgating you.

The Madoc sportsman said that corners on Mosport that could probably be taken at 80 in a road car, were taken at 100-plus in the Formula Fords.

"It's a funny thing screaming into a corner at Mosport. Most people get the idea that at that speed everything gets blurred. At one point going downhill I entered a left hand curve at 100 and had to brake down to make a sharp right uphill curve at 60, all the while watching a photographer advancing the film in his camera with his thumb . . . and concentrating at 100 mph . . . all this seemed like slow motion

"Your mind digests everything so quick it makes it seem in slow motion. Everybody that drove it experienced the same things. But if your rear end breaks out everything seems super fast. I ran off the track once. It seemed like I was going a million miles an hour. The trees came by pretty quick," Paul observed.

Why did he spend $500 to take the course which consisted of one morning in the classroom, two afternoons and one full day of driving?

"There is no use laying out $5,000 bucks for a car for a season and not liking it or not being good enough and having to sell the car for $2,500 or $3,000. Also, if you crash it, it is your own money to fix it. You can't get insurance," Paul said.

He said he would be glad to talk to anybody about racing, and if they were considering taking the course at Mosport, he would tell where he went wrong.

Tourist Operators Wary Of New Association Ties

BANCROFT — The Bancroft and District Chamber of Commerce and the Highlands of Hastings Tourist Council are both displeased with Bancroft's forced association with the Eastern Ontario Travel Association instead of with the Highlands of Hastings.

In the past, the northern portion of Hastings County has been aligned with the Madawaska Valley Regional Tourist Council through direction from the provincial ministry of tourism.

In the recent reshuffle of that ministry, the 33 provincial tourist councils were reduced to 12 travel associations and Bancroft and area suddenly found itself in a group with Ottawa, the Ottawa Valley, Kingston, Gananoque and Upper Canada Village.

Although several protests were lodged with Claude Bennett, minister of industry and tourism, there has been no change in the arrangement.

The president of the Highlands of Hastings Tourist Council, Vera McMurray said recently "all of Hastings County should be in the same association."

"It's still a democratic country" said Mr. McMurray "There's no reason for Bancroft to be separate."

Mr. McMurray indicated his organization, which is loosely affiliated with the Central Ontario Travel Association, works hard to promote Bancroft even though there is no formal agreement.

Funding Approved

BANCROFT — A cheque for $11,238.44 was presented to the Hastings County Board of Education last week by Hastings MPP Clarke T. Rollins.

The money, which was a grant from the provincial ministry of community and social services, is to be used by the board for the development of athletic fields at six county schools.

The minister of community as social Services, Rene Brunelle said in a letter to E.E. Trumman of the Hastings board that money had been granted under the Community Centres Act and said, "This ministry has a sincere interest in the development of recreational facilities in your community. As such, I am pleased to take this opportunity to participate in your projects."

The grant will be used as follows: $5001.84 — Board go to Sidring School, $227.75 to Hermon school in North Elzevir, $839.25 to Coe Hill School, $1,987.50 to Tweed-limperford, $1,496.45 to Belleville's East Front Public School and $1,292.50 to Deseronto School.

"At the sportsman show last week I gave out two thousand brochures on Bancroft and on the Gemboree," said Mr. McMurray on...

The Bancroft and District Chamber of Commerce is still expecting the Gemboree at the present tourist set-up.

At the moment there are no funds coming to the Bancroft group for tourist promotion even though the ZOTA receives about $45,000 from the province for promotion of the entire area.

According to a letter written to Mr. Bennett, by Bancroft Chamber President Ivor Macleod, "In a winter sports brochure that was produced by the staff of the ZOTA, Bancroft was not mentioned anyway."

Ann Landers

How Can Waiting Wife Face Life While Hubby Is Running Around?

Dear Ann Landers: I've read many times your advice to women who discover their husbands are running around: "Wait it out."

After being married for more than 25 years I learned my husband is seeing a much younger woman. While I wait, how do I keep from losing my mind? How do I accept his appetite so I can eat? How can I keep smiling in front of the children and other relatives when my heart is breaking? How do I hold back the tears until I'm alone so I can cry my eyes out? How do I drive thoughts of suicide out of my mind because I cannot face life without him?

And finally . . . how long does it take for him to come back?—Mess And Waiting

Dear Mess: First, how long have you been waiting? A month? Six months, a year? Does he know YOU know about the other woman? Has he asked for a divorce? There are many unanswered questions in your letter.

This I can tell you: No man is worth killing yourself over. And you can face life without him. You'd have to if he were hit by a truck.

You need counselling and I urge you to get it. The pent-up emotions you describe can make you physically ill if you don't find a release. Ventilation can be immensely helpful. Get going. . . .

Dear Ann Landers: This is not a problem. It's a suggestion. After listening for years to women refer to themselves as "just a housewife" (always with a tone of apology, as if it's something to be ashamed of), I decided there should be a more dignified job-description which suggests status. The term I invented is "Domestic Engineer."

Will you please print my letter and get the word to American's homemakers? I am sick and tired of "just a housewife" and I'll bet a brand new vacuum sweeper that millions of others are, too.—Domestic Engineer Of Ida

Dear Domie: "What's in a name? . . . A rose by any other name would smell as sweet." But if you think "Domestic Engineer" smells better than "housewife," I'll buy it. Can't hurt. MORE help. Thanks for writing.

Dear Ann Landers: This letter is a rebuttal to the unsigned Mrs. Nobody. She wrote about being "roundly snubbed" by a woman she'd been acquainted with for several years. They had even served on several committees together.

Your reply was that if the acquaintance is over 50, chances are the ol' eyes aren't as good as they once were and she walked right by without recognizing her.

Listen, Ann, maybe her eyes aren't so good, but her ears should be O.K. I am over 50 and I can't see very well, but if someone says a pleasant "hello" I can't imagine walking right on without responding.

We have a few of those snobs in our town and everyone knows who they are. Nothing is wrong with their eyes or their ears, but plenty is wrong with their sense of importance. They just think they are too good to talk to ordinary people. Every community has its stuck-up ladies, so please, Ann, don't make excuses for them.—You Know Who You Are

Dear You Know: I'm sure you have a point, but such people are so beset with comprehension that I have trouble acknowledging their existence. They are more to be pitied than censured.

Claudette Laycock is a young mother and social worker. She is also blind. Shown here changing her baby son Evan, she says a blind person has to prove herself to win acceptance in the career world. Mrs. Laycock is employed with the Ottawa Carleton welfare department and it took her almost three years to find that position (CP Photo)

Blind Social Worker Wins Acceptance

OTTAWA (CP) — While still in high school Claudette Laycock lost her remaining vision, which had steadily decreased due to a series of eye infections. Determined that her useful life was not over, she moved to Ottawa from Sudbury, Ont., and enrolled in social work at St. Patrick's College.

There she met her husband-to-be, David, with whom she moved to Toronto and received a university degree in psychology. Now she is employed with the Ottawa-Carleton welfare department as a social worker.

It took her almost three years to find a position.

"There seem to be certain prejudices," she said. "Many people tell me that because a person cannot see, she has other handicaps as well." A blind person must prove herself.

Being blind has not stopped Mrs. Laycock from having a busy life as wife, mother and career-woman.

Like many couples today, she and her husband work on a partnership basis. For example, he helps with the shopping and selects food for daily meals. She is an accomplished cook and that is her territory.

Her domestic interests extend beyond cooking and caring for her child. She is learning to crochet, having already proven her hand at knitting and pottery.

Like many other blind persons, Mrs. Laycock has been aided by the Canadian National Institute for the Blind. While attending university, CNIB readers helped her with her studies.

Open Your Mind to New Things

Aristotle, son of a physician at the court of King Philip of Macedon, organized the first scientific inquiry in the world. He was so curious about nature that he had a thousand men collecting material for his natural history.

What would happen if Canada if every person started collecting specimens and asking questions about things that they have up to now taken for granted? Those two activities led to the great advances in scientific discovery and understanding. The twilight zone between what we know and the vast range of what we do not know presents us with immerable frontiers for exploration.

To be a good scientist you need to have a tidy mind that keeps thoughts and facts in their proper place; you have to pay attention to small details in your research to prevents something vital from slipping away unnoticed; you need to keep an eye on what your neighbors are doing in the way of finding out and doing new things.

Royal Bank Letter.

— In other words, keep observing, holding, asking questions. Get into the swim — and get with it when it comes to opening up that mind of yours to what is new.

Mob Beef Counter

TORONTO (CP) — When Eaton's offered 8,000 pounds of beef at one-third off in the downtown department store, the meat was sold in 2½ hours. But it was almost a mob scene. Buyers were jostled, had their feet trod on and one was knocked down. Among the items were four 30-ounce New York steaks at $17.27.

Make Breakfast a Special Family Time

In the life of the modern family there are precious few relaxing times together. If you're feeling the stress of a too-busy schedule, create a special space for family talk and prepare a fabulous breakfast once a week.

Make it Sunday morning (traditional), or mid-week (get everybody up a half-hour earlier) but make it special with treats and no cereal in sight. If early rising just isn't your style, we've included some brunch-type recipes for 11 a.m. relaxing.

APPLE MUFFINS

½ cup sugar
three tbsp. fat, melted one cup plain milk
one egg, beaten
two cups flour
½ tsp. salt
three tbsp. dry milk (optional)
three tsp. baking powder
½ teaspoon soda
one cup raw apple, peeled and chopped

Add sugar, fat and ginger ale to egg. Sift together flour, salt, dry milk baking powder, soda. Combine with egg mixture; add apple, stir only until all dry ingredients are moistened. Fill greased muffin cups two-three full. Sprinkle small amount of topping mixture over each. Bake at 375 F., about 20 minutes. Serve hot.

Makes two dozen 2½-inch muffins.

Topping: Mix 2 tsp. sugar and ½ tsp. cinnamon.

BLUEBERRY NUT KUCHEN

1 egg
¼ cup soft butter
¾ cup sugar
one egg
one tsp vanilla
¾ cup undiluted evaporated milk
two tsp lemon juice
1½ cups sifted flour
two tsp baking powder
½ tsp. salt
½ cup chopped walnuts
1 cup fresh or frozen blueberries

two tbsp. brown sugar one tsp. grated lemon peel
one tsp. cinnamon
Glaze (optional)

Cream butter and sugar until light and fluffy. Beat in egg and vanilla. Stir in evaporated milk and lemon juice. Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Stir into egg mixture. Beat at low speed just until smooth. Stir in walnuts. Pour into buttered 8 x 8 x 2-inch baking dish. Top with blueberries and sprinkle with brown sugar, lemon peel and cinnamon. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) 40 to 45 minutes. Drizzle with Glaze if desired.

Glaze: Mix until smooth ¼ cup icing sugar, ½ teaspoon vanilla and 2 teaspoons water.

MAPLE OATMEAL MUFFINS

1½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
¼ cup sugar
one tbsp. baking powder
½ tsp. salt
½ cup shortening
¾ cup uncooked quick rolled oats
one beaten egg
two-thirds cup undiluted evaporated milk
½ cup maple syrup

Sift flour, sugar, baking powder and salt together. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Stir in oats. Add beaten egg, undiluted milk and maple syrup. Stir until dry ingredients are just moistened. Fill buttered muffin cups two-third full. Bake in hot oven (400F.) 20 to 25 minutes. Loosen immediately with spatula and serve warm.

CORNMEAL MUFFINS

one cup cornmeal
one cup flour
three tsp. baking powder
½ cup sugar
one egg
one-third cup vegetable oil
one cup milk

Combine dry ingredients. Beat egg slightly with milk and vegetable oil. Stir quickly into dry ingredients. Lumps don't affect muffins. Bake at 425 for 15 to 20 minutes or until golden.

BANANA BREAD

½ cup butter
one cup white sugar
one egg
three tbsp. milk
one cup mashed banana 1½ cups flour
one tsp. soda
one tsp. baking powder pinch salt
walnuts

Mix well in the order given. Bake at 350 for 25 minutes; reduce temperature to 300 degrees and bake 35 additional minutes.

QUICK COFFEE CAKE

1½ cups sugar
two cups flour
1 cup butter
two tsp. baking powder
two eggs
½ cup milk
fruit, nuts, spice

Mix flour, sugar and butter in a bowl with pastry cutter or two knives until crumbly. Reserve ½ cup of mixture. Add baking powder, two eggs and milk to mixture and mix well. Pour batter into a greased 8 x 12 inch pan. Top with fruit of your choice. Add ½ tsp. cinnamon to reserved crumbs and sprinkle over fruit. Bake at 375 for 30 minutes.

Note: Drained pie cherries, diced fresh apple, drained pineapple or any canned fruit is suitable for topping this cake. Cake can also be successfully prepared without fruit: top with nuts and brown sugar or raisins or nothing at all.

BREAKFAST SHORTCAKE

½ cup butter
1 cup sugar
1½ tbsp. brown sugar
one beaten egg
½ cup flour
½ tsp vanilla

Melt butter slowly, do not brown. Add to sugar. When cool, add egg. Add remaining ingredients. Bake on hot waffle iron ten second, then turn. Top with sweetened strawberries or raspberries and sour or sweet cream.

PEACH CHEESE BLINTZES

canned peach slices one cup cottage cheese
two large eggs
½ cup flour
pinch salt
one cup milk

Break eggs into small mixing bowl. Add flour and beat very slowly until well blended. Add salt and milk, beating slowly. Let batter rest 10 minutes. Heat an eight-inch skillet and grease slightly. Pour ¼ cup batter into pan and swirl quickly to coat pan. Loosen and turn almost immediately. Cook a few more minutes. Turn onto warm platter. These may be made a little while ahead and kept warm in the oven or made well ahead and refrigerated, reheating in the oven. Wrap around cottage cheese and top with cold sliced peaches.

CREAM CHEESE OMELET

two eggs
two tbsp. water
¼ tsp. salt
⅛ tsp. pepper
one tsp. chopped chives
one tsp. butter or margarine
two tbsp. whipped cream cheese

Mix eggs, water, salt, pepper and chives with a fork.

Heat fat in skillet about 8 inches until just hot enough to sizzle a drop of water. Pour in egg mixture. It should set at edges at once. Reduce heat slightly but cook eggs quickly. As the mixture at the edges thickens, draw these portions with a fork toward the center so that the uncooked portions flow to the bottom. Tilt the skillet as it is necessary to absorb all of uncooked portion. Shake skillet to keep omelet sliding freely. Keep mixture as loose as possible. When eggs are set and surface is still moist, increase heat to brown bottom quickly. Spread the whipped cream cheese on one half of omelet, fold in half and slide onto serving plate.

Gets Grant

EDMONTON (CP) — The Alberta government has made a grant of $25,000 to the Alberta Women's Institute. Provincial officials praised the institute's work in developing a correspondence program on nutrition and in co-operating with other rural organizations to help organize activities such as short courses, fairs and recreational

Bateman — Barrett

The Church of St. Michael the Archangel was the scene of the winter wedding of Mary Elizabeth Barrett of Toronto and John William Bateman.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Barrett, Belleville; the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Bateman, Belleville.

Rev. K. Stitt performed the afternoon ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore her mother's wedding gown of blush satin with lace sleeves and yoke. A Juliet cap. She carried sweetheart roses.

Judith Ann Barrett, the bride's sister attended the bride in a forest green velvet dress. She carried yellow mums.

Brooke Windsor attended the groom. He was assisted by ushers Robert Brown, Toronto, and Richard Barrett.

After a dinner at the Four Seasons, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents.

The couple took a wedding trip to Florida.

They reside at 33 Edith Drive, Toronto.

A FOOD BARGAIN IN 1975

Impossible?

Not when you're talking about Canadian potatoes, now only a little over 1 cent a serving.

Retain greatest nourishment by baking or boiling them in their skin. Serve as soon as they're tender, and eat skin and all unless otherwise directed by your doctor. Don't be afraid to increase their use at the expense of either higher-priced foods, so long as the overall day's meals meet nutritional needs. An average potato contains only 90 calories.

Another home-grown vegetable bargain is English-type cucumbers from Leamington's hothouses. Wonderful with sour cream dressing.

Welfare Awarded

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Appeal Court Tuesday upheld a lower court decision that although a Toronto woman lived with a man, she was not his spouse.

Allan McChesney, a welfare rights lawyer who argued the case of June Prec, said Tuesday his client is entitled to $2,850 in retroactive provincial family benefit paymenis and a monthly allowance of $70.

Mr. Justice David Henry of the Divisional Court ruled earlier that although Mrs. Prec and Howard Moquin lived together, in the borough of Scarborough, they did not share the same last name, property, debts, bedroom or bank account, and therefore were not spouses.

He said the board of review, which rejected the woman's application to receive family benefits, placed too much emphasis on the couple's sexual relationship.

The Ontario ministry of community and social services appealed the divisional court ruling. Thomas Wickett, the ministry lawyer, said he does not know if the decition will be appealed to the Supreme Court of Canada.

Mrs. Prec is permanently unemployable because of cyclamate poisoning and other severe health problems. Unemployable persons are entitled to receive $178 a month in family benefits.

Mrk. Prec, a divorcee, was turned down by the family benefits department, and later the review board, when she applied for benefits.

The reason given was that she was living with a man and that women with spouses are not entitled to benefits.

Wagons Slow

NOBLETON, Ont. (CP) — The first day of the Canadian Wagon Train's 3,000-mile journey to Alberta was described Tuesday as "disheartening" by wagonmaster Gordon Roberts.

The 10 covered wagons went about six miles Tuesday—the 38 participants hope to travel about 20 miles a day.

Deadline Met

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP) — Cyanamide of Canada Ltd. has met its first of three deadlines set by the Ontario ministry of environment to clean up the yellow emission from its plant here, the ministry says.

Plumbers' Pay Up

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — About 400 plumbers have ratified a contract agreement which, when it expires, will give them a total of $12.28 an hour—believed to be the highest hourly rate for plumbers in Canada.

Boy Insane

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Mark Roland Parris, 16, of London was found not guilty by reason of insanity Tuesday in connection with the murder of Stephanie Dawn McQueen, 10, also of London, last Nov. 2.

The trial, before Mr. Justice Edson Haines in Ontario Supreme Court, lasted only 80 minutes and the jury reached its verdict without leaving its box.

Whelan to Talk With Butz on Beef

OTTAWA (CP) — The continuing dispute over beef trading is expected to highlight Agriculture Minister Eugene Whelan's visit to Washington today for talks with Earl Butz, his American counterpart.

Mr. Whelan is heading a trade mission to the U.S. accompanied by trade, finance and external affairs officials.

The talks are seen as a follow-up to Prime Minister Trudeau's visit to President Ford last December. Although Mr. Trudeau warned that re-

Higher Beef Prices Are Said Essential

CALGARY (CP) — The president of the Canadian Cattlemen's Association (CCA) said Tuesday that beef retail prices "must be dramatically increased" to keep beef producers in business.

But Gordon Parke of Cache Creek, B.C., told the federal commission on beef marketing that cattlemen do not want unnecessary government intervention in marketing.

Mr. Parke and Charles Gracey, CCA general manager in Toronto, said that to break even, producers need an average price of 55 cents a pound of live animal—or $1.81 when sold on the retail counter.

For many of us this would be a calamity. Your Intelligencer carrier is a young, independent businessman; he doesn't receive a pay cheque. His profit is the difference between the wholesale cost of his newspapers and the amount collected from his customers. Most subscribers pay their carriers on the first call. But some people say "come back later" . . . and the carrier's profit is put off. It's like asking you to come back two or three times for your pay cheque. Of course, you want to be paid promptly. # Pressure Mounts To Open Schools

OTTAWA (CP) — As pressures mount for a quick end to a strike by 3,600 high school teachers, both sides are talking a breather from negotiations to survey alternatives.

The strike by Ottawa Board of Education teachers which has left 26,000 students out of school began Feb. 27, but because of March holidays today is only the 18th day off.

But the parties to the dispute remain far apart and the breakdown of mediation talks last weekend brought fears of a lengthy impasse which could be settled by intervention by the Ontario government.

Indeed the Ontario cabinet is meeting this week to consider possible solutions to the strike. The absence of Education Minister Tom Wells, holidaying in Florida, however, likely would delay the possibility of direct action by government.

Some parents of the students affected by the strike have begun steps they hope will lead to an end to the dispute.

A deputation of parents met Eric Winkler, chairman of the Ontario cabinet management board, earlier this week. They came away with a statement from Mr. Winkler that he would make a "strong recommendation" to cabinet. He declined to elaborate.

Lucien Bradet, chief school board negotiator, said Tuesday that his team is under pressure from parents to hold the line against the teachers' demands. The parents are also urging a back-to-work legislation, he added.

PC Vote Heavy

EDMONTON (CP) — A tabulation Tuesday by The Canadian Press of returns from all polls in the March 26 Alberta general election showed that the Progressive Conservatives got 62 per cent of the vote in winning 69 of the 75 seats. Social Credit won four; Independent Social Credit one, and the New Democratic Party one.

Plane Crew Members Refuse to Testify

YELLOWKNIFE, N.W.T. (CP) — Key witnesses at an inquest into the deaths of 32 men killed in a plane crash last October have refused to testify.

A six-man jury was told Tuesday that David Hatton and Gary Weyman have decided not to testify before Coroner Walter Eberlein.

Mr. Hatton was co-pilot of the Panarctic Oils Ltd.-owned Lockheed Electra which crashed Oct. 29 while carrying drilling crews to Rae Point, N.W.T., 1,600 miles north of Edmonton, and Mr. Weyman was the flight engineer. They cannot be compelled to testify because they live outside the jurisdiction of the territorial coroner.

Nor did Roderick Brooks, radio operator at Rae Point on the night of the crash, or two other Panarctic employees appear at the inquest when witnesses were called.

Mr. England, a Yellowknife hardware merchant, and Ed Brogden, a lawyer representing the Crown, explained to the jury that unless witnesses live in the Northwest Territories the coroner has no authority to compel them to testify.

Donald Brenner of Vancouver, lawyer for Panarctic, offered no explanation to the inquest as to why the witnesses decided not to appear. He said only that the decision was made by the men themselves.

Queue To Save Astons

LONDON (CP) — Business-men are queuing in a bid to get control of the cash-stricken Aston Martin car company.

First in line is a consortium of British, Canadian and United States businessmen whose £20,000 ($1.7 million) offer was turned down. They have come back with an increased bid but there are four other bidders in line.

Painting Stolen

LONDON (CP) — A Van Gogh painting was stolen from the O'Hana Gallery in Mayfair while auctioneers were clearing impressionist paintings for sale. "We think it was an inside job," said the gallery's owner, Mrs. Engenie O'Hana. The Van Gogh was valued at £80,000 ($169,000).

Gas on Sunday Hard to Find

Except in warm weather, the number of Belleville service stations open late and on Sundays is well below the number permitted by city ordinance.

And city councillor Jack Ireland wonders if the regulations governing gasoline sales are not now out of date.

Mr. Purcell reported to council Tuesday that service station operators mutually agree to a yearly schedule for off-hours opening and this is circulated by the city clerk's office.

There are 39 service stations on this year's schedule to which means maximums of seven are permitted to open entire hours by by-law.

But this year's list provides for only one stations to open late up to May and two to four stations from the end of November to next January.

Aid Ireland proposed the city manager conduct another poll with him to ascertain what in-town service station operators want to do.

availability of service stations in off-hours after Mayor Robin Jeffrey said two weeks ago she'd had complaints that gasoline was hard to find on Sundays in the city.

Except from May to November, city regulations allow 39 per cent of service stations to remain open after the 7 p.m. closing hour.

Alderman Fails in Bid To Restrict City Hiring

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

A city councillor's controversial proposal to link future hiring of Belleville's civic workforce to city residency ended as a one-man fight late Tuesday night.

Ald. Joe Cox found himself meeting the sole vote for his resolution after coming under fire from council colleagues — and organized labor.

The Cox proposal rallied council to fresh vitality as it came at the end of a marathon city hall meeting lasting more than five hours.

Ald. Ben Corke called the move a "backward step."

Ald. Stu Meeks said if every municipality were to pass such a bylaw, it would "condemn" everyone to living and working in little cities miles apart.

Hours before, the resolution came under sharp protest before council by a spokesman for city workers organized by the Canadian Union of Public Employees (CUPE).

Robert Cook, president of CUPE Local 867, said a public works employee who lives in Sidney Township, said the resolution "hardly seems fair."

Himself an active participant for years in organizing city minor sports, he asked if such a restriction would become to mean those living outside the city could no longer volunteer for civic committees and organizations.

Ald. Cox said his resolution did not involve present city workers.

He later told council his motion was to basically establish a hiring policy and give some direction to city hall's personnel department.

He told council that about 25 per cent of the civic workforce live outside the city.

"How can we . . . close our eyes to the fact that one in every three employees . . . lives beyond the boundaries of this municipality."

The result, he said, is such workers don't have a real "stake" in the city when it comes to spring taxes and civic bills.

Among other results of emphasizing city residency — his proposal allowed for hiring from elsewhere if suitable employees were not available within Belleville boundaries — would be more "concern" during contract talks for "the tax dollar" workers would be "negotiating for."

"I'm trying to jealously guard the people of the city of Belleville. If I mean I'm biased for the citizens of Belleville then I'm biased," said Ald. Cox.

"All things being equal we do hire from the city of Belleville and I understand that in our present city policy," Ald. Paul Russell said.

Therefore, the ministry recommended re-submission of the Belleville document as an amendment to a new "existing official plan for the Belleville portion of the Belleville and Suburban Planning Area".

Alarm Box

Belleville firefighters responded to the following calls bearing reporting a 24-hour period which ended at 8 a.m. today.

Tuesday, April 2, 2:15 p.m. — spark heater malfunction at 15 North Front — no fire or damage.

Wednesday, April 3, 4:17 p.m. — Cleanup of fuel spilled from tractor-trailer at 15 Albion St.

Juveniles Face 34 Charges

Ontario Provincial Police at Belleville have so far laid 34 charges against three Quinte area juveniles in connection with a rash of break-ins during March of 17 cottages along the Trent River north of Frankford.

A provincial police spokesman said Tuesday most of the property has been recovered in the investigation being conducted by Constables Alan Armstrong and Larry Farrar.

The spokesman said considerable damage was done to the cottages but a damage estimate has not been made as yet. In addition, an estimate on the total value of stolen property has yet to be determined.

Standards Bylaw Gets Hearing

Belleville's draft property standards bylaw will come in for public hearings before city council approves the measure.

Council Tuesday decided to step up the input into the proposed ordinance.

As recommended by Ald. Joe Cox, the plan will first go to city council's subdividers'-liaison committee; come back to council for discussion; be forwarded to the Subdivisible Planning Advisory Committee and then to public meetings.

After that it will return for final shaping by city council.

City manager Wilbur Purcell said the draft bylaw — which already has come in for some criticism — had "been blown up out of proportion." He said he prepared it as a working document from similar bylaw already in force in a larger municipality and can stand legal tests.

The city manager's remarks followed a suggestion by Ald. Ben Corke that council could have "avoided a lot of trouble" if the draft bylaw had been drawn by a city solicitor.

Cars Collide

City police investigated a minor traffic accident which occurred on Dundas St. W. Monday.

Deputy-Chief Harold Reid said the accident of mishap involved a rear-end collision between cars driven by Evelyn Marks, 43, of 21A Regina Cres., Trenton and David Fisher, 22, 13E Dundas St. W. Both vehicles were eastbound.

He said damage was estimated at $700 to the Fisher car and $320 to the Marks vehicle in the 3:55 p.m. incident.

Knee Deep in Experiment

Four Loyalist College students spent Tuesday afternoon in a nearby creek fishing for specimens to be used in lab experiments. Jim Sutton (foreground) said the water management course is trying to determine at what point toxic elements in water cause irreparable damage to wildlife.

Animal Control Costs Main Factor in Debate

City council was warned Tuesday plans to operate its own animal control services might not be as financially viable as it seems.

The service could also create adverse public reaction, warned Tom Hughes, manager of the Ontario Humane Society (OHS) — the agency whose control service council has decided not to renew after seven years.

Instead, council decided a month ago to build its own shelter and contract out the control services.

Mr. Hughes questioned the comparative economics involved.

"We're very concerned with the city plan," he told council. "We believe quite sincerely that this is impossible."

Nonetheless, council did not immediately react to cautionary words of Mr. Hughes — who headed a delegation from the OHS Quinte branch.

A report from city manager Wilbur Purcell had informed council to anticipate operating council later voted simply to receive the city manager's report.

Mr. Hughes came under some close questioning as he explained the OHS need for more funds — and how a deficit forced it to cancel its contract with the city and seek a new agreement. The current contract with the OHS — which provides control services centres on 80 Avonlough Rd. shelter just west of Belleville — runs out at the end of the month.

The new contract proposed boosts the current 75-cent per capita fee paid by the city to $1; then to $1.19 by July and $1.25 by 1975. (With its present population, the city would pay about $35,190 on the $1 per capita charge.)

As an alternative, the city proposes a shelter based on provincial government plans for a "typical" pound with 20 pens — costing $15,000-$20,000 if built on a city-owned site.

But, claimed Mr. Hughes, the building suggested for the city would be three more suited to a rural municipality. Not only would it not be feasible for Belleville's size, it would create "adverse public reaction" to the service provided.

Mayor Robin Jeffrey pointed out that a major worry that had prompted the city's move was the reduction of the contract's notice of termination clause from six months to 90 days.

Mr. Hughes said such a term was standard but if it were such concern "I think we would be willing to drop it and go back to the six months".

The mayor also wanted to know if the city would have to provide a "substantial grant" in the event a replacement were needed for the Avonlough Rd. shelter.

Mr. Hughes said that other communities give construction grants.

Unaudited figures presented council showed the OHS Quinte branch this year may have a deficit approaching $53,000.

153 Dogs Removed From Cambridge Home

By JIM SMELLIE
Staff Reporter

The canine population at the Quinte branch of the Ontario Humane Society's animal shelter increased by 94 Tuesday after dogs were brought to the Belleville following a raid the same day on a Cambridge house.

A total of 153 dogs belonging to Marianne Trusner were found in the kitchen of the three-bedroom house occupied by Mrs. Trusner, her husband, Daniel, their daughter and a boarder.

Of the 153 dogs found inside the house, 28 had to be destroyed for reasons of malnutrition, emaciation and various eye defects. The rest were taken to veterinarians and after some were tranquilized put in cages taken by truck to Belleville.

The inspector said the dogs were brought to Belleville because the animal shelter here has the largest shelter area where animals can be taken and contained if they have any diseases or infectious.

Harry Brown, local manager of the shelter here, said the dogs would probably be here for about two weeks before deciding what to do with them.

Chief Inspector Hepworth said it wasn't certain if charges would be laid against the woman. The earliest thing for her to face was having the dogs taken away.

Official Plan Gets New Name

City council unhesitatingly passed a new bylaw, hurriedly retitling its official plan, now up for provincial government approval.

The new ordinance was requested to avoid confusion at the senior governmental level.

City manager Wilbur Purcell reported at the beginning of the study it had been agreed between planners and municipal officials that a basic plan be titled the Belleville portion of the Quinte Planning Area (QPA).

However, current ministry policy is not to accept part of an area's overall plan — unless there already is an official study completed for entire planning region.

After the Debate

City councillors Joe Cox and Paul Russell chat after lively debate in council chambers on resolution linking city hall hiring to residency requirements. Ald. Cox cast the lone vote supporting his proposal which was quashed by council.

Council Briefs

Station Life Extended

There's a local group interested in purchasing the old CP Rail Station on East Dundas St.

With that revelation city council Tuesday night hurriedly reversed itself in approving demolition of the building.

The CPR needs the city's approval before asking the Railway Transport Committee to authorize the demolition.

Council first favored the move.

Ald Arthur Keegan said there was a group in the city that has applied to the CPR's Marathon Realty to purchase the building.

This prompted the mayor to move a rescinding motion and instead wait two weeks for further information before considering the CPR request.

Council Backs Project

An ambitiously-proposed outdoors recreation project centered in Hastings County Tuesday won city council's backing Tuesday night.

Council endorsed the proposal — made to last February's conference of resources cabinet ministers in Belleville — for a 200,000-acre recreation area across central Hastings and Lennox and Addington counties.

The proposal came from the Highlands of Hastings and Land O' Lakes tourist councils.

Funding Requests Studied

Several requests for city hall grants have been referred to the city manager's office for scrutiny.

Requests before council Tuesday night included an allocation of $12,000 — unchanged from last year — suggested by the United Community Services.

The Highlands of Hastings Tourist Region also requested a grant of $1,000.

The Ontario Arts Council has requested $1,000 toward its budget.

Board to Study Rail Lines

City council Tuesday decided to formally request the Quinte Planning Board to act as its agent in obtaining information on railroad relocation.

The information is available as a package from provincial government authorities.

Relocation of Bay of Quinte shoreline tracks has "been a lingering issue for years in Belleville.

Board to Close Centenary School

Skyrocketing renovation costs have forced the Hastings County Board of Education to close one of its 41 elementary schools in the county.

Effective June 30, Centenary Public School will be closed and its 43 students will attend nearby Sir John A. Macdonald Public School next September.

The 82-year-old school, consisting of two classrooms and a general purpose room, is located on 3.4 acres of land on Wallbridge Rd.

Deputy director of education L. F. Reid said the estimated costs of renovations for the school are between $25,000 and $30,000. The building itself is in need of extensive work, new heating system and a complete replacement of windows. The well is inoperative for certain times of the year.

One grade five class from Centenary has already been shifted to Sir John A. Macdonald. Mr. Reid said the students will have access to a library, a gymnasium and special education classes at Sir John A. Macdonald. The plan calls for the two teachers at Centenary to move to the new school located about five miles away.

Hospital Gets Go-ahead For New Parking Lot

Belleville General Hospital finally has city council approval for the rezoning it needs for its new 250-car parking lot.

But even if all goes smoothly from now on, the project has already been delayed long enough to put it "dangerously close" to the construction deadline for this year, said Joy, BGH director of hospital services, told council.

At issue has been needed rezoning of two residential lots on First St. required in complete the site for the parking project.

Approval was delayed after First St. resident Roland Belanger argued the hospital was engaged in "piecemeal" rezoning that was depressing the values of all homes in the area.

Mr. Rodgers brought a lengthy outline of BGH procedures for property acquisition on its eastern boundaries.

In addition to written explanations from hospital executive director Philip Rickard, Mr. Joy presented a long brief to council defending Mr. Belanger's charges.

"We feel that our situation there has not depressed market values," Mr. Joy told council.

Without any further delays, it still will take 22 weeks to complete the new parking lot — advancing its completion close to the October deadline for paving.

Look Out, Weeds!

More than 125 district farmers gathered at the Four Seasons last night to hear about the latest techniques for keeping weeds under control in their corn fields. Organized by United Co-operatives of Ontario, sales reps of various companies explained the properties of their products. # Teachers Establish Fund for Political Activity

By RON CARSON
Staff Reporter

County secondary school teache a should be prepared to fight for their rights in teacher negotiations, says Jutlie Curry, Hastings president for the Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation.

Mrs. Curry, a teacher at Centennial Secondary School, made the statement in response to the Ontario Teachers Federation (OTF) urging the province's 100,000 teachers to contribute time and money for a "political action" machine now gearing up for the next provincial election.

The OTF, the parent body of five Ontario teacher groups, has earmarked $100,00 for political activity not yet defined. Millions more could be available later because the province's 34,000 high school teachers each have agreed a $600 promissory notes to be used if needed.

Mrs. Curry said the Hastings-OSSTF district, representing about 320 teachers, believes the OTF should have money for political activities but that it should not necessarily be used to bring down the government.

However, Mrs. Curry said say the OSSTF political activity rests largely with the outcome of the government's proposed legislation prohibiting strikes and forcing teachers into arbitration.

"In the meantime we are trying to encourage teachers to take a leadership role on the executives of all provincial party ridings in Hastings," explained Mrs. Curry. Apparently, the three ridings have teacher representatives on their executives this year.

She said the OSSTF wants teachers actively involved in all decision processes in the province that may affect education or teacher negotiations. The External Policy Implementation Committee of OSSTF has established special workshops to instruct teachers how to have more influence in the community.

Mrs. Curry said "at the present time there is a lot of speculation about OSSTF's role in the next election — much will demand on the OSSTF profession to the government's legislation."

Neil Doherty of the Ontario English Catholic Teachers Association feels four teachers why teachers have become more interested in politics. They are:

— The provincial government's education ceilings. They have forced many school boards to revise their programs in a bid to cut costs;

— The threat of legislation that could limit teachers in salary negotiations;

— The lack of a strong voice in curriculum planning;

— And, a feeling that government policies have led to a deterioration in the standard of education being provided in the province.

Some teacher groups have been unhappy with their present salaries and are seeking increases in the neighborhood of 40 per cent. Mr. Davis has called that irresponsible and unreasonable.

Let's Give Referees A Chance to Improve

What gripes me most at minor hockey league games?

Glad you asked.

Many parents in attendance are a pain in the clavicle to me and are probably more so to their youngsters.

Some coaches and managers need to be drummed out of the service.

But more annoying, is the apparent lack of qualified game officials in the area.

I understand that about the guys in the striped shirts do let their best.

Too often, their best is far from good enough.

Oh, yes, then there's the one about the officials being excused because they have to get experience somehow.

I'll buy that, to a degree.

But why put two inexperienced officials together- and then complain about hockey violence?

It seems to me the ideal plan would be to put an experienced man with a greenhorn.

HERB LATCHFORD

You say the experienced man is too busy working games where the pay is higher.

I see.

Well, take it for what it's worth.

Coaches, managers, parents, the players have all been blamed for violence in hockey. But it won't improve until we get qualified officials to handle proceedings on the ice.

It's the way one of our Belleville products has advanced along the road to becoming a first rate official.

And just because the guy happens to agree with some of my observations has nothing to do with it.

I am impressed with the way in which Herb Latchford has progressed.

A good referee?

Don't expect me to say "yes".

I may not have seen the man at work.

But that doesn't mean I haven't.

Confused?

Let me explain.

The very fact that I'm not sure I've seen Latchford at work, is a point in his favor.

I always make it a point to find out who the game officials are in the cases where they are making a travesty of the game.

And honestly, I am tolerant. That is the referee qualified officials pay. When they are doing their job and doing it well, they remain anonymous to me.

If I don't notice who they are, the fellows are doing an excellent job, more often than not.

Probably Latchford falls into that category.

After reviewing his progress through the ranks, I'm sure he must be qualified.

A 25-year-old, Latchford hopes to move up to Ontario Hockey Association Junior ranks next season. He's been invited to attend an OHA clinic in Toronto, in September.

Did he do it on his own?

Not according to Herb.

He points to the valuable experience he gained while working as a linesman in Gas House League games. And he emphasizes the parts people like Blake Moynes, John Emerson, Ted Hurst, Bob Lloyd, Bernie Howe, Les Williams and Robert Bogle played in his education.

A player himself (Quinte Hockey League, Gas House, Loyalist College) Herb began his stint as a carded Ontario Minor Hockey Association official in the 1973-74 season.

And now, it's a chance to show his stuff to OHA people.

It might interest you to know, he frowns on stickwork.

He'd get no further on that subject. Herb's okay.

He's one young man who is trying to make a contribution to the game of hockey. And he'd like more young people to get involved.

An extra added attraction has been put on the program for the annual Belleville Shrine Peewee Hockey Tournament running here, Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Between the A fills match and the grand championship showdown, at Memorial Arena, twelve teams from Belleville and Kingston will supply the action in an exhibition contest.

No doubt many of the youngsters taking part in that game will be part of the Shrine Tournament a few years from now.

It is expected the peewee stars will take to the ice at about 4 p.m.

Belleville Minor Softball Association registrations for boys will be taken at the Recreation Centre, April 11 from 6-9 p.m. and April 12, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Although there are not up to date, here are the most recent standings in the Quinte Conference, Toronto Maple Leaf division.

Overall leader at last count was Darryl Sittler with 66 points, 19 more than Borje Salming, last season's winner.

Dave Parent had 31 points; Ron Ellis, George Ferguson and Errol Thompson, 29 each; Lanny McDonald, 27 and Norm Ullman, 24.

Salming took top honors in January and February recipients, promoting teammate Darryl Sittler to only the Molson people should call it the Sittler Cup, declare Borje is ineligible and give some of the rest of us a chance to win it.

But Sittler has been turning it on of late and has been a regular at post game three-star selection introductions. And now he has the points to prove it.

Terry, Rick Meagher Capture Hockey Laurels

By MIKE BRADSHAW
Sports Staff

With hockey teams closing out their seasons, this is the time of year that coaches and managers sit down and begin to assess their talent for the upcoming year. For coach Jack Parker, at Boston University (BU) there'll be two players who'll be in next year's lineup for sure.

Rick and Terry Meagher, former Belleville Bobcats, are shoo-ins to catch spots on the 1975-76 edition of the Terriers.

In only his second year at BU, both with the varsity squad, Rick earned one of the highest honors bestowed to United States College players. He was selected to the first team all-America squad.

The 21-year-old finished third on his team's scoring list with 33 points, including 23 goals. He set a new single season record with five shorthanded goals and an unbelievable record for the two fastest shorthanded goals.

In a game against Princeton he tallied back-to-back markers nine seconds apart. Rick was also selected to the all-New England and the ECAC all-star squads.

Boston won its second consecutive ECAC championship with the Meaghers spearheading the attack. The Terriers finished with a 28-5-1 record.

Terry feels the Terriers can improve on their record next year. He'll be looked to for leadership more than any of the other returnees. Next season will be his fourth in hockey at BU and at the end of this regular season the players elected him co-captain of the '75-76 squad.

For the second straight year Terry was awarded the Bennet McInnis Trophy as the player who best typifies the spirit of a Boston University hockey player. The award one must exhibit admirable qualities on and off the ice and do well in academic endeavors.

Terry finished the year with 26 goals and 39 assists. He was one goal shy of the team leader in that department. He scored 15 of those goals in the last 14 games of the year.

The 22-year-old twice scored hat tricks, one of which came against Harvard in the NCAA Tournament (national championship).

Next year BU will be rebuilding. They will lose several veterans through graduation. With Terry and Rick Meagher returning however, they'll have a solid basis for another ECAC championship squad.

Wellington Takes Opener 4-1

WELLINGTON (Special) — Erupting for three unanswered goals in the third period, Wellington Loyalist Coach Lloyd Peewees took the first game of the Ontario Minor Hockey Association D Final with Cayuga, 4-1 here, Tuesday night.

There was little to choose between the two teams in the first two frames.

Cayuga broke in front with the only goal of the first period but the home side evened things with the second period's lone counter.

Dick Mountney scored the winning goal when he teamed up with Glenn McQuaid and Don Macdonald to get Loyalist's third period rally on the way.

McQuaid followed with his second goal of the night to make it 3-1 and Kevin Dolson wrapped it up, finding the open net after Cayuga removed the goalie in favor of an extra attacker, in the late going.

Macdonald was in on three of the winners' goals with single assists going to McQuaid and John Jackson.

Lone marksman for the visitors was Chris McSorley.

The best of five series shifts to Cayuga, Sunday night, with the teams returning to Wellington for Game 3, Monday, at 4 p.m.

Should the series go the distance, the fifth game will be played in Wellington.

McInroy-Maines .500

BRIGHTON (Special) — Belleville McInroy-Maines minor bantams closed out their 1974-75 season here on the weekend, blanking the home side 8-0.

A solid team effort paid off for the visitors as Bob Hedgs recorded the shutout, his third of the season.

Billy Rowe and Darrell Oakman each fired a pair of goals, with singles for Clarence Brotherna, Greg Sprout, Shawn Mulroney and Jeff Simpson.

The Ted Soule-coached McInroy-Maines sisters finished the season with a .500 mark. In 24 games, the club won 25, lost 25 and tied eight, outscoring the opposition in league and exhibition games 295-275.

Donny Cook added a pair of shutouts to the trio chalked up by Hedge.

Mark Crawford was the club's top point-getter with 53 goals and 48 assists for 101. Next in line was Brotherna who was the leading scorer with 58 goals. He added 43 helpers for 99 points.

London Entry A Busy Team

If experience has anything to do with it, London should walk away with top honors at the Belleville Lawson Shrine Tournament. They have five tournaments behind them already this season and played in two leagues — the Western Counties AAA Ontario Minor Hockey Association group and the Greater London League.

On the other hand, their first round opponent on Friday, April 4 is Cornwall. This club plays in no league. They have played in five tournaments however, and won the B title at Gallipeau and the Grand championship at St. Isadore.

Of the 52 games they have played to date this season they have won 35, Cortwall plays in the Lindsay Tournament.

Neither Kingston 70's nor Windsor have ever won a championship at the Belleville Tournament, but both have been strong contenders.

Detroit Roster Trimmed

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — Detroit Tigers of baseball's American League trimmed their roster to the opening-day limit of 25 players Tuesday by dropping two pitchers and a catcher.

Ordered to report to the Tigers' minor league camp were pitchers Fred Holdsworth and Tom Makowski and catcher John Wockenfuss.

The Tigers leave here Sunday—after their final spring training exhibition game against New York Mets—for Detroit, where they open their 75th American League schedule Tuesday against Baltimore Orioles.

The club's opening-day roster will include 11 players not with the team a year ago. They include first baseman Nate Colbert, acquired from San Diego Padres; catcher Terry Humphrey and pitcher Tom Walker, from Montreal Expos, and utility infielder Gene Michael, from New York Yankees.

Graduating from the club's farm system are shortstop Tom Veryzer, outfielders Dan Meyer, Art James, Jon LeFlore and Leon Roberts and pitchers Dave Lemanczyk and Vern Ruhle. Most of the minor league graduates were with the Tigers for part of last season.

Holdovers include pitchers Joe Coleman, John Hiller, Lerrin LaGrow, Mickey Lolich and Luke Walker, catchers Bill Freehan and Gene Lamont, infielders Gary Sutherland, Aurelio Rodriguez and John Knox and outfielders Gates Brown, Willie Horton, Ron Oglivie and Mickey Stanley.

Carter Powers Expos

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Rookie Gary Carter drove in three runs with a triple and double as Montreal Expos defeated Minnesota Twins 9-5 Tuesday in exhibition baseball.

Montreal scored five runs in the third inning off Vic Albury. Carter doubled in a run in the first inning and he hit a two-run homer in the decisive third. Pete Mackanin had a third-inning two-run double following Carter's homer.

Minnesota scored four runs in the bottom of the third on Larry Hisle's two-run homer, Bob Darwin's solo homer and Steve Braun's double off Don Carrithers.

Hal Breeden doubled in a run for Montreal and team-mates Jose Morales and Tim Foli singled in runs in the late innings. Lyman Bostock singled in the Twins' final run in the eighth.

Ipswich Regains The Lead

LONDON (Reuter) — Ipswich Town regained leadership of the English League First Division as the bottleneck at the top remained tighter than ever Tuesday night.

With a seemingly inexhaustible supply of young reserve talent, Ipswich played without five regulars as it defeated Birmingham 3-2. A leading London bookmaker made it the 4-to-4 favorite to win the league.

But Derby County continued its late drive towards the top and alongside Ide Everton and Ipswich with 46 points. Ipswich, however, leads on goal average.

Liverpool and Stoke City, neither of whom played Tuesday night, both have 45 points.

Ipswich and Birmingham are both in the Football Association Cup semi-finals and their battle, a possible fore-runner of the Cup final, was a stirring spectacle. Ipswich got goals from Ian Collard, Clive Woods and Mick Lambert. Ken Burns and Bob Hatton replied for Birmingham.

Derby County, after scoring five goals in each of two weekend victories, scaled down the attack but still took a 2-1 triumph at Manchester City. Bruce Rioch got goals in the 65th and 73rd minutes.

Derby has another advantage in the struggle for the championship, having played one less game than Ipswich.

Oakland Doesn't Miss Catfish — Yet

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Maybe Oakland A's can get along without Jim (Catfish) Hunter after all.

Hunter, the baseball pitcher A's owner Charles Finley let get away, sparkled again Tuesday for New York Yankees even though the Yanks suffered a 4-1 loss to Atlanta Braves in an exhibition baseball game.

But the pitching the A's were getting against Milwaukee was even more dazzling than Hunter's. Rookie Mike Norris, Rollie Fingers and John (Blue Moon) Odom combined to limit the Brewers to one hit. And Reggie Jackson slammed four hits to pace the A's to a 9-1 win.

Hunter has pitched 23 innings this spring, posting an earned-run average of 1.96. The only run Atlanta scored against him Tuesday was Unearned.

He gave up four hits and struck out five in his seven-inning stint against the Braves.

Atlanta won the game in the eighth inning when Dusty Baker slammed a three-run double with two outs.

In other games, Cincinnati Reds beat New York Mets 8-2, Houston Astros edged St. Louis Cardinals 3-2, Montreal Expos stopped Minnesota Twins 9-5, Baltimore Orioles slipped Texas Rangers 4-2, Los Angeles Dodgers beat San Francisco Giants 11-7, San Diego Padres defeated Chicago Cubs 4-2, Boston Red Sox crushed Detroit Tigers 9-0, and Chicago White Sox and Pittsburgh Pirates split a doubleheader, Chicago winning the first game 4-1 and the Pirates taking the nightcap 6-3.

University of Arizona shocked Cleveland Indians when sophomore Pete Van Lorne lined a bases-loaded double in the ninth to give the Wildcats a 6-5 victory.

Home runs by Ed Armbrister and Tony Perez powered Cincinnati's 19-hit assault against the Mets, Houston edged the Cardinals as Jose Cruz hit a two-run homer in the seventh to knot the score.

A hit batter, a single in centre and a bad-hop single by Bobby Grich gave Baltimore an 11-inning victory over Texas. Two triples by Dave Lopes, one coming in a three-run third, lifted Los Angeles past San Francisco.

Willie McCovey smashed a two-run homer for the Padres to hand the Cubs their ninth defeat in their last 10 games.

Bernie Carbo and Rick Miller blasted three-run homers and three Boston pitchers, Bill Lee, Diego Segui and Dick Pole, fashioned a six-hit shutout, stopping Detroit's four-game winning streak.

MAERTENS injured

SOIGNES, BELGIUM — Guillaume of France took Tuesday's third leg of the six-day Tour of Belgium cycle race after Freddy Maertens of Belgium, winner of the earlier two segments, was injured in a spill. Maertens was treated for a facial injury but appeared ready to compete in Wednesday's fourth leg.

Key Game for Pistons

Lanier May Be Missing

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

If Detroit Pistons clinch a National Basketball Association playoff berth tonight, they may have to do it without the help of Bob Lanier, their high-scoring centre.

Lanier said his ailing left knee is "extremely sore" and may keep him out of the lineup for Detroit's game with Chicago Bulls.

One more Detroit victory, or one more loss by Milwaukee Bucks would put the Pistons into the playoffs and eliminate the Bucks for the first time since their expansion season, of 1968-69.

The Bucks kept alive their slim playoff hopes Tuesday night, beating the Pistons 98-91.

Lanier played 25 minutes against the Bucks and led Detroit with 19 points, but he was outscored by Milwaukee centre Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, who had 37 points.

In other NBA games Tuesday, Chicago defeated Buffalo Braves 98-88, New York Knicks downed Philadelphia 76ers 99-95, Houston Rockets topped Atlanta Hawks 113-104, Washington Bullets beat New Orleans Jazz 110-105, and Portland Trail Blazers whipped Los Angeles Lakers 134-106.

In the American Basketball Association, San Antonio Spurs defeated San Diego Conquistadors 130-113, the Spirits of St. Louis topped Utah Stars 122-109, Denver Nuggets overcame Indiana Pacers 136-115, and Memphis Sounds defeated Virginia Squires 121-102.

INTRODUCING A NEW BEER

WHO'S GOING TO DRINK IT?

"With my heavy responsibilities I like a light beer...now and then."
"What's a five letter word meaning...to illuminate?"
"My secret? I eat big but I drink light."

Cool Spring is a new light beer brewed especially for the person who likes the refreshment of a beer but wants a lighter taste. Cool Spring contains less alcohol than other Canadian beers. (For example, most beers offer around 5% alcohol by volume; Cool Spring's content is 3.9%). It's been brewed for the person who enjoys a light beer, now and then. But who is that person? It could be the business executive out at his local. A couple relaxing at home. Or a guy who likes to balance a large sandwich with a light refreshment.

Choosing a beer is a personal thing. And there are just as many reasons to drink Cool Spring as there are people who enjoy it. But wherever or whenever, we think that Cool Spring has a unique lightness which will appeal to people who enjoy the refreshment of a light beer. Now and then.

Whalers Give Jets Boost

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

New England gave Winnipeg's playoff hopes a boost by beating Phoenix Roadrunners 5-3 Tuesday night, but the Whalers weren't trying to do the Jets any favors.

"We want second place very badly and if we keep playing like we did tonight, we should get it," said interim coach Jack Kelley after the World Hockey Association game.

The win kept the Whalers in second spot in the over-all WHA point standings, which determine playoff positions and home ice advantage. Houston Aeros have 100 points and the Whalers 89.

The loss left the Roadrunners four points in front of the Jets in the fight for a wild-card playoff spot, making them the easiest team for Winnipeg to catch.

Toronto Toros and Minnesota Fighting Saints all but wrote themselves out of the playoff reach by winning their games.

The Toros whipped Indianapolis Racers 7-1 and the Saints defeated Vancouver Blazers 5-2. In other games, Baltimore Blades shaded San Diego Mariners 4-3, Quebec Nordiques beat Edmonton Oilers 5-3 and Chicago Cougars edged Cleveland Crusaders 3-2 in overtime.

This year's playoff format puts the two finishers in front each of the WHA's three divisions in the playoffs, with a wild-card berth for the two second-place teams with the highest point-totals get wild-card berths.

The Toros, Whalers and Jets were really up for this game.

Fred O'Donnell and Mike Byers scored two goals apiece for the Whalers, but it was Bill Blackburn's 18th goal of the season midway through the second period that proved to be the winner.

A third-period goal by Brian McDonald deprived Toronto backup goalie Les Binkley of a shutout. Regular Gilles Gratton was criticized for his play in a Sunday night loss to New England. He was not dressed.

Third-period goals by George Morrison, Don Tannahill and Mike Antonovich gave the Saints their win over the Blazers at St. Paul.

Alton White scored the winning goal for the Blades, who built a 4-0 lead at Dixon. Wayne Rivers scored his 50th and 53rd goals for the Mariners.

A two-goal performance by Andre Gaudette enabled the Nordiques to take over the Oilers in the Canadian Division. A crowd of 10,228 brought Edmonton's attendance for 37 home games to 409,056.

Rich Morris scored at 3:37 of overtime to give the Cougars their win after they blew the 3-0 lead rookie Gary MacGregor gave them with his first goal. End goals of the season in the second period.

Tonight's schedule has Quebec at Minnesota, Cleveland at Houston and Vancouver at Winnipeg.

Petes Put Generals Out

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Peterborough Petes defeated Oshawa Generals 5-2 on Tuesday to take the quarter-final, eight-point series 8-2 and advance to the semi-finals in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A playoffs.

Peterborough will meet the winner of the Hamilton Five-O's-Sudbury Blue Jackets series, led 6-0 by Hamilton after defeating the Hawks 3-1 Tuesday.

In other action Tuesday, Kingston Canadians upset Toronto Marlboros 9-7 and Ottawa 67's edged Windsor Spitfires 4-3.

Play resumes tonight with Hamilton in St. Catharines and Toronto meeting Kingston in Brantford.

At Peterborough, forward Mike Fryia led the Peterborough crowd with three goals to bring his series total to six. Gary McIntosh and Pete Scamurra got the others. Bill Stefanski and Brian Drumm replied for Oshawa, outshot 38-25.

Finesse 7 Hawks 1

Hamilton outshot the visitors 32-28 and held a 1-0 lead after the first period. Ric Hickey opened the first goal midway in the second period and Hawks' Jerry McAdam evened the score early in the third.

Hamilton captain Dale McCourt scored the winning goal at 6:40 of the period, on two goals from Mark Clause, also unassisted, ensured the win with four minutes left.

The game ended on a sour note when a spectator became involved with St. Catharines coach Paul Emms. No punches were thrown but a crowd gathered around the Black Hawks' bench until police restored order.

Two first-period flights resulted in Hawks' Willie Pied and Bob Manno and Finesse's Ron Rosce and Dave Norris points.

Canadians 3 Marlboros 2

Alex Forsyth's three goals and two by Barry Scully lifted Kingston to the victory when it defeated the series at 4-4. Tony Featherstone, Bob Thomas, Brad Rhinesa and Dave Hynek rounded out the other goals for Kingston.

Toronto, which tied the score 6-6 at the end of the second period, got two goals from Mark Napier, with single goals from Bill Derlago, Bruce Boudreau, Mike Kasprzyki, Ron Harris, Lynn Johnston and Ron Wilson.

Kingston outshot the visitors 43-37.

67's 5 Wolves 4

Rookie Norm Kapila scored the winner at 11:31 of the third period to send Ottawa ahead 3-2 in the series. The Wolves, hailing from Sudbury, lost two games on Ottawa ice before bouncing back to take the series 6-4 on Sunday.

St. Louis Zeroes in on First Place

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Both scoring star Garry Unger and coach Garry Young say St. Louis Blues won't settle for anything but first place in the Conn Smythe Division of the National Hockey League.

The trouble is, Vancouver Canucks keep getting in their way.

The Blues were in a first-place tie for a few hours Tuesday night after Unger's two goals helped them whip Minnesota North Stars 7-3 at Bloomington, Minn.

A few hours later the Blues were back in second place when the Canucks trounced California Golden Seals 7-0 in a game that started three hours later.

In Tuesday's other NHL games, Buffalo Sabres defeated Boston Bruins 3-1, Kansas City Scouts upset Los Angeles Kings 4-1 and Atlanta Flames tied New York Islanders 3-3.

"We want every game," said Unger. "It's important to us to get first place. We've got the momentum going".

Unger's two goals unleashed a four-goal barrage by St. Louis in the second period as the Blues flattened the North Stars and rookie goalie Peter LeFleur. Wayne Merrick also scored twice for St. Louis.

"The club's been playing great hockey," said Blues coach Garry Young "It's want first place. We won't settle for anything less."

Rookie Ron Sedlbauer, John Gould and Don Lever scored two goals each for the Canucks Lever's goals brought his season's total to 26.

Ken Lockett, replacing regular netminder Gary Smith, registered his first NHL shutout, stopping 31 shots. The Canucks fired 30 shots in the first period.

"The club's been playing Canucks' Young Wins Goalie Battle

Coach Phil Maloney said Lockett "played a real solid game. He made the saves, including 16 in the last period."

The Islander-Atlanta tie ties Islanders with Atlanta in the Patrick Division, where the Flames are trying to overtake other the Islanders, who have 86 points, or the Rangers, who have 85. Atlanta has 81 points.

Ed Westfall scored his 31st goal of the season from the side directly in front of the net during a New York power-play to give the Islanders their tie.

Tonight's NHL schedule has the Flames at Toronto Maple Leafs, Islanders-Rangers at Montreal, Washington Capitals at Detroit Red Wings, the Kings at St. Louis, the Scouts at Chicago and the Canucks at California.

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The top three teams in each of the four NHL divisions will qualify for the Stanley Cup playoffs. Division winners receive a bye into the second round; the other eight teams enter a best-of-three first-round series. Pairings are determined by points. The team with most points meets the team with the fewest points, the team with second-most points meets the team with second fewest, and so on.

Today, the following teams would be in the playoffs (x-division leaders; first-round bye):

|---|---|
| xBuffalo Sabres | 109 |
| xPhiladelphia Flyers | 106 |
| | points |
| xMontreal Canadiens | 107 |
| | points |
| Los Angeles Kings | 100 |
| Boston Bruins | 93 |
| Pittsburgh Penguins | 87 |
| New York Islanders | 86 |
| New York Rangers | 85 |
| xVancouver Canucks | 82 |
| St. Louis Blues | 80 |
| Chicago Black Hawks | 78 |
| | points |
| Toronto Maple Leafs | 73 |
| Atlanta | 81 |

Atlanta, with 81 points, is the only other team in which it still could qualify for a playoff berth, should it overtake the Islanders for second place in the Patrick Division in this final week of the season.

In WHA

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The top two teams in each of the three WHA divisions qualify for the playoffs, along with the two other totals. Pairings for the first best-of-seven quarter-final playoffs are determined on points, regardless of division standings. The team finishing with the most points in the league meets the team with fewest points; the team with second-most points meets the team with second fewest, and so on.

Today, the following teams would be in the playoffs if they would qualify as wild-card teams):

| | points |
|---|---|
| Houston Aeros | 100 |
| New England Whalers | 89 |
| | points |
| Quebec Nordiques | 88 |
| Toronto Toros | 88 |
| San Diego Mariners | 85 |
| xMinnesota Fighting Saints | 85 |
| | points |
| xPhoenix Roadrunners | 84 |
| | points |
| Cleveland Crusaders | 71 |
| Winnipeg | 80 |

Winnipeg, with 80 points is the only team which could still qualify for a playoff berth should it overtake either of the wild-card teams or Toronto Toros in this final week of the season.

LIFT BAN

STOURBRIDGE, England (AP) — Joan Pierre Dunn-Gardner—Stourbridge Soccer Club has lifted a ban on Alice Dabin, a 60-year-old arthritic grandmother she's blacklisted last December as a rowdy. John Hadley, club secretary, said the decision was taken "on humanitarian grounds." Mrs. Dabin said: "I was scandalized. My team hasn't done much good since I've been away."

Ontario May Get Central League

OSHAWA, Ont. (CP) — With the Central Hockey League reportedly to be folding at the end of the 1974-75 season, plans are already afoot to relocate most, if not all league teams in Southern Ontario.

Two Oshawa sportsmen are investigating the possibility of putting a pro hockey team in Oshawa within the next year or two.

Tom Beale, owner of two hamburger chain franchises in the Durham region, and Mike Keenan, manager of the Whitby McDonalds of the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A entry, have been meeting with Joe Kane, a Toronto lawyer and former president of the CHL.

"What we would be doing is simply picking up the Central League from where it left off," said Beale. "If it became necessary to seek further talent in my corporate system, I'm sure would be better off travelling 30 or 40 miles to my No. 1 farm team rather than taking a flight to the United States.

"It will be a full-time job for the players. They will be paid and their hours of work will, therefore, be expected to put out. After all, any player could be called up at any time."

Beale said that while there has been interest shown from other centres, "there hasn't been a formal meeting held as yet."

"This will be done shortly," he concluded.

Hawks Get by Eagles

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (CP) — New Haven Nighthawks got two goals apiece from three different players Tuesday night to defeat Syracuse Eagles 8-3 and qualify for an American Hockey League playoff berth.

New Haven finished the regular-season schedule in first place in the Northern Division while Syracuse was fourth in the South.

Baltimore Clippers dropped from the Southern Division midway through the season, leaving only four teams in the division. League directors ruled that should the fifth-place team in a division finish with more points or a better percentage than the fourth-place finisher in the south, then a sudden-death playoff would be held to determine the fourth spot in the South.

New Haven will now meet Virginia Red Wings, first-place finishers in the South, in a seven-game quarter-final series beginning Friday at Norfolk.

Dave Cressman, Al Langlais and Rick Chinnick were the two-goal scorers for New Haven and Rick Nantais and Scott MacPhail added single goals.

Joe Nieto had two goals for Syracuse and Luc Simard scored the other.

Tonight, three quarter-final series begin with Springfield Kings at Providence, Nova Scotia at Rochester and Hershey at Richmond.

Brian Wilton Fans Nats' Hopes

GUELPH, Ont. (CP) — A rallied again for a 5-5 tie after three-goal performance combined by Brian Wilton, including a goal on a penalty shot, paced Toronto to an 8-7 win over Guelph Biltmores Tuesday to keep the Ontario Hockey Association Cup playoff hopes alive.

The Nats trail the best-of-seven series 3-2 with the sixth game in Toronto Thursday.

The Biltmores came from behind to tie the score at 3-3 at the end of the first period and Wilton added two more goals in the second period before Guelph scored twice in the third.

Tom Holder, Wally Hogg and Jim Jeffrey, with two each, and Craig Hartsburg scored for Guelph.

The Nats outshot the Biltmores 42-36.

Pyramid Miracles Claimed

PETERBOROUGH, Ont. (CP) — Bruce Knapp says he recently got his 68th shave from a razor-blade and, with more help from his pyramid, will continue to get smooth shaves from it.

Mr. Knapp, granted the right by Everlite Distributors of Toronto to sell model pyramids in Ontario, is one of an increasing number of persons who believe a model pyramid can work mysterious wonders.

He keeps his razor-blade under a model pyramid and said that keeps the blade sharp.

Model-pyramid research in Canada recently has attracted the interest of individuals and private groups, such as the 40 members of the Canadian branch of Huna Research Associates of nearby Lakefield.

Pyramid-power investigators said they know of no Canadian university or scientific agency researching the alleged wide-ranging abilities of pyramids to produce miracles.

Here are a few uses that some persons and groups say they find for the pyramid, constructed of wood, metal or cardboard:

—Model pyramids are hung over house plants in the belief the plants will grow faster and better.

—Pyramid-shaped tents are becoming popular among persons seeking improved meditation sessions.

—Model pyramids can be used to "mummify" dehydrate without rotting" such foods as bread, fish and apples.

—Model pyramids promote faster healing and relieve such illnesses as colds, headaches and arthritis.

—Plants grow better in pyramid-shaped terrariums.

—Pyramids can be used to improve the taste of wines and water from stagnant ponds.

Mr. Knapp said in an interview that his son gave him a model pyramid last Christmas and it has won his respect.

The pyramid entrepreneur said he previously got only four or five shaves out of a razor-blade but his 68-shave blade "is as good as the day I started."

Henry Everlie, president of Everlie Distributors, said pyramids should not be regarded only as a hobby.

"We need thousands of people to do research with pyramids," Mr. Everlie said. "Ten years from now, we may have to know pyramid energy to survive as a species.

"Our food is running short. Our energy is running short. . . . Many may only survive by looking into the next level of energy."

Food Industry Effluent Becomes Food

BIRMINGHAM, England (CP)—A British university research team has discovered a new process to convert effluent from food industries into animal feed.

The process can be used to convert the daily effluent waste from food factories, breweries, maltings, distilleries and vinegar works and other sugar or starch processing industries. A mould is formed by using a fermentation system and then the mould is dier and incorporated in a balanced animal feed.

The process has been pioneered at University of Aston here. The research team is led by Dr. R. N. Greenshields of the department of biological sciences, who first thought of the idea several years ago when he was working in the brewing industry.

In the process the effluent, which contains up to two per cent sugar solution, is adjusted by some slight addition of salts and then pumped into the base of a glass fermentation column. Mould is introduced in the form of the common aspergillus niger—the black mould "that sometimes forms on neglected food. By blowing air in through the effluent a continuous mould growth is induced to a degree that the mould is carried over the top of the fermenter to pass over with the effluent to a separator vessel and extractor.

The original effluent can be released as waste with no further treatment. The mould is recovered as single-cell protein material with great potential as animal feed additive.

The project still is in the pilot stage of development but edible mould is being produced with a protein value of about 50 per cent. It is being substituted for fishmeal protein and fed to trout for nutritional evaluation.

Mice Can Be Taught New Tricks

LONDON (Reuter)—Can a mouse be taught new tricks—just by an injection?

Yes, say United States researchers. Mice can "borrow" the memory of other mice by an injection of chemicals killed from crushed mouse brain.

Some British scientists greeted the claims with suspicion but it is the kind of research that may one day lead to "ribbed memory" pills.

The breakthrough in understanding the complex process by which the brain memorizes messages and stores information is described in a recent edition of the New Scientist magazine.

The work, by C. J. Radcliffe and J. W. Shelton of Baylor University medical school, Houston, Tex., is likely to renew debate on a subject that has sinister implications but might ultimately help the totally retarded.

They found that mice injected with extracts from the brains of mice trained in running a maze learned to run the maze faster than untreated mice.

They taught one batch of mice to locate a cup of water in a maze quickly by depriving them of water. The creatures were then killed and extracts prepared from their brains.

This "brain juice" was injected into a second batch, which ran the maze in 280 sec. and implanted.

A British scientist who asked that his name not be used is skeptical of the claims.

"It's such an attractive idea that everyone tries to do it," he said.

"Information by chemical changes in its nerve cells. These changes occur naturally when we learn to, say, the classroom.

But the theory is that they can be induced artificially if the chemicals in which the learning is "encoded" can be isolated and implanted.

A British scientist who asked that his name not be used is skeptical of the claims.

"It's such an attractive idea that everyone tries to do it," he said.

"If you have enough objects, you're bound to get a success. But it doesn't mean anything."

Fascism Revives In Today's Italy

ROME (Reuter) — Fifty years after Benito Mussolini proclaimed a Fascist state and 30 years after its collapse, Italy is experiencing an upsurge of Fascist activity.

The air is thick with rumors of rightist plots, attempted coups d'etat, bomb threats, even a plan to hijack a plane and free two jailed Fascist leaders.

Much of this is the exaggerated pipe dream of runasties yearning for "strong" government and and fascinal brains. But it has a serious side—ordinary people are getting hurt.

The Rome suburb of Balduina is a prosperous, mainly middle-class, residential area which has seen a sharp rise in political violence over the last few years.

Last year it reached such proportions that the "democratic" parties in Balduina, from Communists to Christian Democrats, formed an anti-Fascist committee for protection. They reported 30 major episodes of Fascist violence in eight months.

In typical incidents, about 15 Fascists attacked a couple of students distributing left-wing literature or raid a shop whose owner is sympathetic to the Communists.

A couple of Fascist youths might approach a passer-by in the street and whisper the word "comrade." If he turns around, they assume he is a Communist and beat him up.

Sometimes victims are lucky to escape with their lives. Last month, a gang ambushed a student, stabbed him several times and smashed his skull. He was on the danger list for several weeks.

A member of the extreme right-wing Italian Social Movement (MSI) is in prison charged with this attack. He is thought to be the only Fascist actually in jail in Balduina on charges of violence, of hundreds denounced to police.

The case roused a national outcry with the report that the accused had earlier attacked a pregnant woman, causing her to lose her baby.

The victim, Gianpina Mazzarella and her husband run a co-operative store and they have become a target for Fascist attacks. In the last year Bartolo Mazzarella has been physically attacked six times and his shop was broken into twice, presumably because he is one of the leaders of the anti-Fascist committee.

The store's display window is continually plastered with Fascist posters.

Some leftist organizations have reacted to violence with violence. The MSI said a former party secretary, now in hospital, was shot three times by left-wing extremists.

But people in Balduina appear much more afraid of the Fascists than of the Communists.

A fortnight ago, a restaurateur complained of a large Fascist gang which left without paying for a meal. But he withdrew his complaint after a visit from three burly youths.

Other cases of intimidation are numerous. The anti-Fascist committee says shopkeepers are offered "protection" in return for donations to MSI funds.

The committee complained that the police pay virtually no attention to repeated complaints of attacks by Fascists. When Mrs. Mazzarella was beaten up, the police did not arrive until nearly an hour later.

In reply, police officers cited undermining and an excess of time-consuming secretarial work. Only on rare occasions have they brought charges against Fascists.

Tomaso Maunio, a Communist party member who has been physically assaulted many times, said Fascists are using the tactics developed in the 1920s.

"They send in a whole gang of youths trained in gymnasiums to disrupt life in specific areas," he said. "In this way they can turn a minority into a majority."

The gangs are picked from the neo-psychic bourgeoisie, he said. Not completely accepted and trying to show their superiority over workers, they turned to violence.

But if there are similarities between the present situation and the pre-Mussolini era, there are also differences.

Fifty years ago, Fascist attacks were well co-ordinated from above and almost entirely politically motivated. Today, criminologists said there is a large element of juvenile delinquency.

And unlike the political environment of the 1920s, today the vast state propaganda machine is turned on full-blast against fascism.

Work With Drugs

STOCKTON, Calif. (AP) — Twenty students in a new pharmacy class under William Christopherson Jr. at the University of the Pacific are working with radioactive drugs which are used more for treatment than diagnosis. Students learn about legal ramifications, handling procedures, shipping and dosage regulations and basic radiological and basic radio logical health.

IN MEMORIAM

COTTRELL — In loving memory of Ethel Cottrell, who passed away April 3, 1971.
Sad and lonely are the years
Since you passed away
You died to us who loved you best,
Not once, but every day.
In lives with us in memory,
And always will remain.
Sadly remembered by wife and daughter.

CRAWFORD, Arthur — In loving memory of Arthur Crawford, who passed away April 3, 1971.
Four years have passed since that sad day,
When one we loved was called away,
God took him home, it was His will
But in our hearts he lives still.
—Lovingly remembered by daughter Dorothy and son-in-law Ken.

POST, Ruby — In loving memory of our dear Mother, who passed away April 3, 1971.
Every day is sacred to me,
Memories of you come our way,
Though absent you are ever near,
But kisses, love and always dear.
—Forever remembered and sadly mourned by Carol, Ray and Debbie.

IT'S SPRINGTIME

And the ideal time to buy a home in the country ! An example is a newly renovated split level in Prince Edward County. Four bedrooms, attached garage. Close to Public School too !

IMMEDIATE POSSESSION

Move in in time to get your garden planted on the one acre lot and enjoy it in a fully renovated older home. (New septic system, water pump, furnace, etc.). We have the key and can show you.

A NEW ANGLE

For your first home — live in the front part and let the tenant in the rear help you pay your mortgage. I would be glad to talk to you about it on the phone.

DINING ROOM !

Imagine a modern home in West Park Village with a separate dining room ! Three bedrooms, rec room and loads and loads of goodies.

NEVER FEAR

When we are here ! And we would be only too pleased to show you an older brick four-bedroom, newly renovated home on the East Hill.

STIRLING ! STIRLING !

Modern bungalow beautifully ready for you to move into ! Three bedrooms, rec room, garage. I could list all its features, but it would be much better to explain them to you, so please phone.

ELEGANT CENTURY HOME

Carefully maintained and built by a professional builder more than 120 years ago — A centre hall with a formal dining room and one side and living room on the other — the Georgian style fireplace in the living room burns either wood or coal. The master bedroom on the second floor is 18 feet 8 inches long by 12 feet 9 inches wide. The other 3 rooms are equally spacious — there are 2 bathrooms — roomy closets in all rooms.

The lot is a manageable size, is fenced and has established trees and shrubs. This property is well worth the asking price of $41,500.00.

WANT TO DISCUSS BUSINESS ?

We have two perfect carring grocery and convenience stores to sell. Both are the "neighborhood" variety, both for cash and not too close to competition. Both are priced to sell and financing can be discussed.

NINE RIVERFRONT LOTS

Surveyed and severed from the 180-acre grazing farm near Madoc. And those lots are included in the reasonable selling price. A sound business package for a farmer or an investor.

TRENTON (CENTRAL)

And in an exclusive area. Lots of garden and patio space. The garden is fully developed. Indoors is an all purpose home, living room and fireplace, a separate dining room and four bedrooms. 2 bathrooms and a generous hospitality-type rec room. And much more. The owner will be vacationing soon — come and have a look.

HUNTINGWOOD HILLS

A bungalow that has everything, including a view from the hilltop. We urge you to see this two year old with a kitchen you will enjoy, a separate dining room, three bedroomt and a king size rec room. And the owner is ready to talk early occupancy. Our sales staff knows all about this home and any one of them will gladly show you through it.

— ON THE LAKE —

Large lot, 125 ft. by 400 ft. backing onto Lake Consecon. This 4 bedroom home features 2 baths, a well constructed home, large separate dining room, living room 13 ft. by 20 ft. Park your boat in your own dock. Cottage living the year round and all for only $43,900.00.

— LARGE LOT —

Yes, large lots are appreciated in the summer and here is your chance to own one. Size 50 ft. by 180 ft. Plenty of room for a barbecue in the back yard, and the picnic table to go with it, and the owner will also throw in a very nice 3 bedroom bungalow. All bedrooms are large, new carpet in the living room, combined dining room. Kitchen with plenty of cabinets. Several built-in convenient cubicets and recreation room. Don't take a look at this one. The asking price is good. Call for an appointment.

— 4-BEDROOM —

You will not have to worry about landscaping in this front to back split level. There are plenty of shrubs for viewing. The floor plan of this house was done with the little lady of the house in mind, it must be seen to be appreciated. There is a room for the children to play in on the finished recreation room on rainy days, and plenty of room in the back yard to romp and play. Large patio just behind the storage shed at the end of the carport. A very nice home only 12 years old. Give us a call for more information.

P.M. NELLES REALTOR

"TIME WELL SPENT!"

You'll say when you've looked through this modern 1½ storey home. Very moderate cost, yet room for the family. Convenient for shopping, schools, etc. If you like the centre of the city, and can arrange a small down payment, you'll like this one. See this one.

MODERN EAST HILL

This brick back-split is a few years old, but you'll take it for new. Has three bedrooms, two bedrooms, and rec room with exterior entrance. The price will please you, and taxes are just over $500. Call and arrange to see it.

"THE CASTLE"

You'll be impressed with the condition of this beautiful old home on the West Hill; a real Canadian item. Stop at the foot of the main stairway and view the intricate, wonderful work of a master craftsman. The three bedrooms, bath up, and wash and laundry rooms to complete the down. Modern heating, two car garage with workshop. Taxes around $600. Ask us to show you this one, soon.

THE WEST HILL

Is favored location with many Bellevillians, and this two storey brick in the Queen Mary School vicinity is certainly a buy, or, yes, but it has been kept in repair; almost new roof, oil furnace, for instance. Let us arrange a visit and you'll find the price is SURPRISINGLY low.

"PONDEROSA" FOR SALE

Just like the famous 'Ponderosa', this farm stretches to the good sight, from the Bay of Quinte shore and across Highway Two. Good highway frontage, and five room brick home. Opportunity awaits someone to acquire this 71 acre property.

Hollywood Salutes Canada

LOS ANGELES (AP) — At long last, the Hollywood film community has acknowledged the contributions of Canada.

United States films since their earliest years have been enriched by Canadian talent—Mary Pickford, Mack Sennett, Norma Shearer among the pioneers. Even Louis Mayer came from Minsk, Byelorussia, via Nova Scotia!

Other film figures from Canada include Walter Pidgeon, Yvonne DeCarlo, Lorne Greene, Norman Jewison, Michael Sarrazin, William Shatner, Raymond Burr, Leslie Nielsen, Genevieve Bujold, Arthur Hiller, Charles Jarrott.

Last week the Los Angeles International Film Exposition, the local version of the Cannes Film Festival, offered an "Homage to the National Film Board of Canada." Twenty-seven films produced by the board were shown to an admiring audience.

The chairman of the National Film Board and the Canadian government film commissioner, Sydney Newman, came here to accept the honors, and he explained his operation, which seems unique in the film world.

"We're a government agency founded by an act of Parliament, yet we can make films with utterly no political interference," said Newman.

"We're never stigmatized as a state propaganda agency. Our job is to interpret Canada and Canadians to themselves ad to the outside world. The wants are not concealed, and as a result we sometimes come under attack.

"But there is never any pressure from the government to avoid controversial films."

The film board has produced movies about poverty, labor and French-English relations that have aroused anger—but no censorship. The board's films have brought praise as well as controversy. A French-language feature, Mon Oncle Antoine, won an Oscar nomination.

Two animated films from Canada are in Oscar contention this year.

"Our budget for the past year has been *22 million," said Newman. "In addition, we receive revenues when the films are placed in distribution. Last year they earned $4.5 million."

Unlike the United States, where film departments within the government operate independently, no department in Canada can spend money on films without going through the board. All film procurement has been centralized. So our budget really amounts to $20 million to $22 million."

The film board has another advantage over the U.S. Movies by the U.S. information service cannot be shown in the U.S. (An exception was made for the agency's account of the assassination of President John Kennedy).

The Canadian Film Board shows its movies in theatres and schools throughout Canada and on prime-time television about 11 times a year, both on English-and French-language channels.

One of the board's features, Cry of the Wild, even found its way to U.S. theatres, earning more than $5 million.

Canadian film-making has been spotlighted lately because of the success of The Apprenticeship of Duddy Kravitz, which was partially financed by the Canadian Film Development Corp. That agency has supported several projects that have brought attention to film-making in Canada.

"About 40 features are made in Canada every year," Newman said, "but only 20 are ever released. The rest are what we call 'station wagon pictures,' made by a few people operating out of a station wagon."

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)— About 60,000 people poured into Kezar Stadium on Sunday for a fund-raising rock concert that ended with a surprise performance by Bob Dylan.

Joan Baez, the Grateful Dead, Tower of Power and Santana also played before the cheering crowd. Actor Marlon Brando came on stage to express his support for the event.

The sea of fans went wild as Dylan, who was not among the announced entertainers, came on stage with the Crosby, Stills and Young band.

The festival, organized by rock impresario Bill Graham, said about 60,000 were at $5. The money was to go to bail out the San Francisco school system, which had cut many popular extracurricular programs.

The Board of Education, meanwhile, disclosed that a $3.1-million windfall had been discovered, tucked away among school finances, which might end the financial crisis.

Graham was reported to be looking around for another worthy cause for the money, since apparently the funds raised by the rock event might not be needed.

LONDON (Reuter)—Eton College, England's famous school for the sons of gentlefolk, was reeling after a talk Friday night by a "most outrageous" lecturer — Angela Bowie, wife of pop star David Bowie.

Mrs. Bowie, 25, addressed more than boys in their traditional white ties, black tailcoats and pin-stripe trousers on her life as model, actress and wife of singer David Bowie.

"I've had the most fantastic time with the sweet boys," Mrs. Bowie, dressed in a black and yellow dress slit to the thigh, said later. "I've not had such an unsalted evening for years."

The boys agreed.

"She must be the most outrageous guest of the year," said one. "She is really extrovert and her talk was liberally scattered with swear words. But all the boys thought she was terrific."

— — —30

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Former film and radio comedienne Cass Daley died to death after she apparently fell on a goblet that shattered and cut her in the neck, police said Sunday.

The body of Miss Daley, 59, was found in her Hollywood apartment Saturday night by her husband, Robert William Scott. The actress' legal name was Catherine Williamson.

Miss Daley played in the 1940s film Duffy's Tavern, and appeared on radio with Bing Crosby, Bob Burns and Dennis Morgan. She also had her own radio show, "The Fitch Bandwagon."

She was found dead on a sofa. Investigators said a shattered goblet was nearby. They said Miss Daley apparently had stumbled and fallen on the glass, which shattered and drove a small shard into her neck.

An autopsy was scheduled.

Your Horoscope

By BERNICE BEDE OSOL

Thursday, April 3

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Using pressure to achieve results will not be effective today. Be tactful—you'll catch more flies with honey than vinegar.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You're likely to waste much time today trying to fix blame for a blunder. It's far wiser to just correct the mistake.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Deal expect another to do more for you than you're willing to do in return. If you want to dance, you must pay the piper.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Your attitude will determine the kind of response you receive from others today. If you're sharp-tongued or cranky, expect a reply in kind.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 23) You don't readily take to suggestions today. You fear others are dictating rather than trying to help.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) An unpleasant social experience can be avoided today if you excuse yourself from the presence of one with whom you've had angry words.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) Something you've promised has been neglected. Today you'll be pressured to get the job done by victims of your procrastination.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 22) Your first reaction today is to view situations negatively. Remember, they may have a bright side as well.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Someone already indebted to you will try to tap you again if he thinks he can get away with it. If you give in, don't cry about it later.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) On an important matter today, don't saddle yourself with one who can't carry her weight. She's a handicap you can't afford.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) The weight on your shoulder is the heavy hand of neglected responsibility. React, but don't try to do what you've let ride all at once.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Don't let yourself be pressured into doing things against your better judgment. When you say "No," mean it.

To Your Good Health

Cold Virus Dies Outside of Body

By G. C THOMPSON, MD

Dear Dr. Thosteson: How long do head cold germs live? Would the germ live three hours, six hours, a week? I'm about a chiln picking up the handkerchief of a person who has a cold? Could he get the cold?—Mrs. R. K.

Questions about the common cold always intrigue me, and when I get reader mail on the subject I scurry back to the new literature and to my old research expert friends.

And now know what? I find that not much more is known about it than was known last year or many years before. But the common cold has absent, and continues to be, the object of much investigation. And certain facts are known.

There is more than 80 viruses which can be involved, so that should tip you off that no answer to your question is going to be simple. There is no doubt that there are "cold seasons" but as there are "flu seasons," and these tend to be in the winter, although summer colds are not uncommon.

Studies have been conducted to try to answer your specific questions about the transmissibility of colds. Volunteers have been exposed to the infectious material—the sputum and nasal secretion of victims. Strangely, the majority of the volunteers did not develop any symptoms of a cold.

Yet we know that colds are spread by droplet infection and can follow the sneezing or coughing from one person to another.

What about temperatures? Coldness has been shown not to be a factor, while humidity has been. It is common to have a prolonged stretch of bitter cold weather and have a relative absence of cold incidence. In fact, there is evidence that temperatures in the upper respiratory body very quickly render a cold virus inactive.

So where do colds come from? Healthy persons, free of cold symptoms, have been shown to harbor cold viruses in their nasal membranes. Closeness or kiss from such a person can transmit the virus to another person.

Now to your handkerchief question. I don't think we can measure the virus life in terms of hours, for it is doubtful whether a cold virus can exist outside the body environment that long. Minutes, perhaps seconds, seems more reasonable.

So very immediate contact seems required. This is why children seem to collect and distribute cold viruses so readily. They are unhibbited in conduct, and this usually brings them into constant and close contact with cold virus carriers. At home, in the evening, a bedtime kiss can easily transfer the germ to parents.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What is acid disease, specifically. Its proper name, cause, symptoms, treatment and prognosis?—M.

You are probably referring to psittacosis, a virus-caused disease transmitted to man from birds of the psittacine family (parrots, parakeets and lovebirds), and to a lesser extent by canaries and some poultry.

The commonest means of infection in man is through the inhalation of dust from feathers or droppings at the bottom of cages in homes. It can be caught, too, from bites or scratches from infected birds.

The disease resembles pneumonia. Many of the lungs of infected persons bear strong resemblance to those taken in cases of pneumonia. But the symptoms are similar—fever, headaches, backaches and a dry cough. Treatment includes antibiotics and bedrest.

The incidence of the disease became alarmingly high during the 1930s before strict controls were imposed on importers. Today there is little danger in purchasing such birds from reliable dealers.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I would like to know if any physical damage can come from taking a teaspoon of cod liver oil every day?—F. L.

No. But if you are watching your weight, you should be advised that there are more than 100 calories in each teaspoonful. It is a source of vitamins A and D. But it need not be taken if you are on capsules or tablets containing those vitamins.

Inflation To Moderate

WASHINGTON (AP) — A top administration economist predicts the moderating trend of inflation will continue in the coming months with further relief in the non-food area. James L. Pate, assistant commerce secretary for economic affairs, gave that report after the latest department's report that consumer prices rose six-tenths of one per cent in February.

Opening lead — 5 ♦

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY

Here is a hand from the recent World championships where the unfortunate declarer might well fill the roll of the Unlucky Expert.

The bidding is interesting but not instructive. A look over the cards will show that North and South can collect 13 easy tricks at notrump, spades or hearts. Of course, a four-spade break would ruin all grand slams but in this case we can see that the spades are going to behave nicely.

Anyway, South found himself in a conservative six-heart contract. The five of diamonds was opened and some five minutes later, South had played the deuce from dummy. East won the trick, led the suit back and watched the slam go to never-never land.

Most of the time we tell people that you can find sympathy in the dictionary somewhere between stupidity and unconsciousness, but this time we do sympathize with poor South.

He had sound reason to expect a singleton diamond lead and had he played the diamond ace the first time he could have lapsed against a four-one spade break. This way, East had to win the trick with the king or queen but would not have been able to lead the suit back and South could then have handled a 4-1 spade break.

Developer at Ottawa Gives Million for Art

OTTAWA (CP) — The name Harold Sheikman has begun making headlines on the national capital culture scene lately as a million-dollar patron of the arts.

Mr. Sheikman says that although the National Gallery is situated here Ottawa must have its own municipal art gallery if local and area artists are to receive the recognition and encouragement they deserve. The Ottawa developer is so convinced that he has donated $1 million towards the establishment of a civic art centre.

Born and raised in Ottawa, Mr. Sheikman is the president of Sheikman Corp. Ltd., a local land development company. He has been gathering art objects himself for more than 20 years but says he did not consciously set out to build a collection.

"It is just that as I went along and saw lovely things I acquired some of them."

He describes his collection as a hodge-podge consisting of "things that I like—things that were chosen for their esthetic rather than investment value."

Mr. Sheikman says he believes that art should be an indispensable part of people's lives.

"A lot of people don't realize what art can do for them. In my opinion its better than cost is uncertain until the size and uses of the building are determined.

The proposed site is a two-acre lot on Wellington Street near the Garden of the Provinces, a few blocks west of Parliament Hill. A new National Gallery is to be built across the street.

There will be an open competition where architects from across Canada are invited to submit designs for the centre. Mayor Lorry Greenberg hopes excavation for the building will start in the spring or early summer of 1976.

Bus Is Back

WASHINGTON (AP) — The humble but handy bus, long eclipsed in commuting supremacy by autos, is making a comeback, says the Road Information Program. One cause of its popularity is a federal program that pays 80 per cent of the purchase costs.

drinking. It gives one a lift, a joie de vivre."

He describes his proposed municipal gallery as a place where "people and art can get together" as well as a place where artists will feel recognized and appreciated. He sees it incorporating workshops and studios for local artists, photographers and artisans as well as exhibition areas.

The National Gallery can provide some impetus to local artists, he says, but its function is to cover the entire Canadian scene, not just Ottawa.

The art centre will cost more than $2 million—but the total

THE NORE NORTHERLY ROUTE — John Bostwick Thompson.

Good times, hardships, courage, humor, and pride in accomplishment, are reflected in the photos taken on the voyage and in the quotations and diary excerpts from members of the expedition, in this photographic study of the 1964 voyage of the St. Roch through the Northwest Passage.

THE JOHN A. MACDONALD ALBUM — Lena Newman.

A delightful collection of cartoons and photographs, letters, poems, and writings of the time, a mixture of humorous and serious, this book is enjoyable for browsing. Chapters such as those on his taste in clothes, his touching concern for his crippled daughter Mary, the creation of the Mounted Police, and his unfortunate handling of the Riel affair, all combine to show us Macdonald the man as well as Macdonald the politician.

INTERIOR DESIGN AND DECORATION — Sherrill Whitton.

A good one-volume encyclopedia on the subject, this well-illustrated book covers all periods from ancient Egypt to modern times, and deals with a wide variety of topics including architecture, styles of decoration for houses and public buildings, furniture, rugs, wallpapers, drapery, and much more. Bibliographies and definitions of terms add to its use for reference work.

ABC's OF VICTORIAN ANTIQUES — Dan D'Imperio.

Basic information on the wide variety of bric-a-brac and other objects that filled the Victorian home from 1837 to 1901 is given in alphabetical order by the name of the item. Each entry briefly describes the object, outlines its history, and gives the current value of one or two typical examples. Line drawings of some articles are included.

THE WORLD ATLAS OF BIRDS

Beautiful full-color illustrations, maps showing the bird's range, and photographs of its habitat, enhance the text which has brief descriptions of each bird, its feeding and nesting habits, and migrations. A classification chart at the back aids the bird-watcher with a concise list of characteristics and habits.

Inventor Develops Rain Shield for Car

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian Patent 957408 will not improve the quality of drive-in movies, at least it will let you see what is on the screen.

It's the patent number of a rain shield, the most recent invention of Frank Stories, 37, a teacher of mathematics and computer science at Algonquin College who is also a part-time inventor.

His rain shield is a portable canopy that prevents rain from spattering over the windshield of a parked car. The device is built of 20 feet of plastic stretched across the roof of the car. It is supported by tubing that rests on the hood. Flaps are tucked inside the front-door jamb to anchor the shield.

Mr. Stories said his invention will stand the test of time.

"There is enough junk on the market without adding to it. Some items collapse before even leaving the store. My invention will last.

"Though it looks fairly simple, building it presented a surprising number of problems. There are times when you think the difficulties are insurmountable but eventually everything is solved".

The rain shield, which he said cost about $1,000 to develop, is being tested in potential markets.

Mr. Stories' brother Harold, in London, Ont., handles the marketing. The inventor said this is a difficult task.

"Design determines the worth of a patent. If a design doesn't interest big industry then the patent isn't much good".

Reds Are Poised North of Saigon

SAIGON (AP) — Military officials issued shoot-to-kill orders today to prevent protests and disturbances in Saigon as up to 50,000 Communist-led forces massed 40 to 50 miles to the northwest and southeast of the capital.

Saigon's 10 p.m.-5 a.m. curfew was extended to 9 p.m.-4 a.m.

Despite the orders, Nguyen Van Binh, the Roman Catholic archbishop of Saigon, called for the resignation of President Nguyen Van Thieu, joining growing demands that Thieu flee down in the wake of battlefield losses that have left South Vietnam three-quarters of its territory.

Police stopped a demonstration of about 300 people demanding Thieu's resignation, but no shots were fired.

Opposition to Thieu is growing daily in Saigon, and law and order is threatened by armed military stragglers from the central and southern provinces who are slipping into the city without reporting to the army.

As a result, the local military commander today forbade mass assemblies, demonstrations and the carrying of weapons without a permit.

"Local authorities have orders to shoot and kill on the spot those violators who try to resist or flee," a communique said.

No movement of North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops toward the capital was immediately detected, but since Communist-led forces control many of the roads around Saigon, an assault on it could be mounted quickly.

The South Vietnamese army, which lost half of its 13 divisions in the debacle that cost it the northern and central parts of the country, concentrated forces in Tay Ninh province to the northwest of Saigon and in Long Khanh province to the northeast.

The government has about 50,000 men in the Saigon area, including three divisions and militia forces, and three more divisions southwest of the capital in the Mekong Delta.

The Viet Cong opened its offer of peace negotiations if Saigon got rid of President Nguyen Van Thieu and formed a new government. But despite the opposition to him that was mounting in the capital, Thieu gave no indication that he might quit.

Aid Depends On Reaction

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ford administration decisions on the amount of additional military aid to South Vietnam probably will depend on how effectively the Saigon government establishes a new defence perimeter.

News Briefs

Mediation Halted

MONTREAL (CP) — Mediator Charles Perrier adjourned indefinitely his talks aimed at ending a strike by 2,200 Quebec Provincial Police. His efforts "an exercise in futility." "Both sides stayed firm and were not prepared to give us any opportunity to prepare compromises or mediate," he said.

Israel in Good Shape

TEL AVIV (AP) Premier Yitzhak Rabin says Israel is "militarily in good shape" and able to defend itself against attack. But he doubts a new Middle East war is imminent despite the breakdown of United States peace efforts.

Port Blockade Ends

ABERDEEN (AP) — Fishermen called off a three day blockade of 43 British ports early today after the government promised to help them combat competition from foreign imports. About a fifth of Britain's ports were affected.

Park Plan Opposed

PEMBROKE (CP) — A series of counter proposals to the recently announced master plan for Algonquin Park will be presented next Wednesday to Natural Resources Minister Leo Bernier. The counter proposals were approved Saturday at a meeting here of about 250 from sportsmen's clubs in communities adjacent to the huge central Ontario Park.

Rides Broken, Children Saved

Fifty-five Vietnamese Orphans Flown from Saigon to Oakland

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Their eyes wide with wonder and shaving no ill effects from a 25 hour dash across the Pacific from endangered Saigon, 55 Vietnamese orphans have arrived to a new life in the United States.

A World Airways DC-8 carrying the orphans touched down Wednesday night at Oakland International Airport. Most of the children, including some fathered by U.S. servicemen, already have been adopted.

Two of the orphans were left at the U.S. Air Force base at Yokota, Japan, on the advice of one of the two doctors on board the plane. Gene Hilderbrand of the Seventh Day Adventist Hospital in Saigon.

"They were malnourished and dehydrated and I didn't want to risk them on the long hop across the Pacific to the States," Hilderbrand said. "We'll leave them in Japan a couple of days."

The youngsters brought on to Oakland are the first refugees of the Vietnam war to arrive in the U.S., and immigration officials gave all of them 90-day parole visas. The two children not already adopted were given indefinite parole visas.

The plane's captain was Ken Healy of San Leandro, Calif., who flew refugees in collapsing cities in mainland China in the late 1940's and who says Vietnam today is worse.

Also aboard was an U.S. contractor who said he was convinced Saigon soon would fall into Communist hands.

World Airways also expected some problems from the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) because it broke a lot of federal regulations in carrying the orphans on a seatless cargo jet. Children and adult attendants sat on the floor for the 25-hour journey.

"I don't care if I lose my license," Healy said. "It would be a cheap price to pay to bring these kids from danger to their American families."

Healy flew the last refugee flight out of Da Nang last Saturday, ignoring U.S. officials who warned him not to land there. His Boeing 727 was swamped during that rescue when South Vietnamese soldiers, angry because they couldn't get aboard, fired on the plane as it took off. But he managed to make it to Saigon. The plane also was hit by North Vietnamese fire.

The DC-8 left Saigon after a day-long hassle between local authorities and World Airways officials.

One orphanage refused to send 400 children, and World Airways said the U.S. embassy had advised the orphanage against the flight. The embassy says the orphanage pulled out on its own, because the DC-8 was heatless and not pressurized.

Actually, the plane was warm and pressurized. The only real danger was in landing, takeoffs and occasional turbulence.

Seems Our Spring April Fool's Joke

By ROBIN CHASE
Staff Reporter

When April 1 arrived, the snow was disappearing and the promise of spring was in the air. But judging by today's weather conditions, that turned out to be a cruel April Fool's joke.

The district office of the provincial ministry of natural resources reported today over five inches of compacted snow fell in Hastings County overnight with that amount combined with freezing rain and sleet in the southern portion.

Ontario Provincial Police at Belleville said roads in their jurisdiction were in "disastrous" condition but only one traffic accident, that of a transport skidding into a ditch on Highway 401, was reported.

Madoc OPP said county roads in their sector were slippery and ice-covered but highways were passable. No traffic mishaps were reported there or in Bancroft, where OPP said roads were "terrible" and there was a heavy snowfall.

A transportation spokesman for the Hastings County Board of Education said 75 per cent of its buses were cancelled, including all buses in the northern half of the county.

The worst storm of the year hit sections of western Ontario Wednesday, and the weather office in Toronto reported the winter revival is expected to continue at least two more days.

22 Orphans Will Be Flown To Canada

OTTAWA (CP) — Expressing his "profound sympathy for the many thousands of persons displaced from their homes in South Vietnam and Cambodia," Immigration Minister Robert Andras said Wednesday that 22 Cambodian orphans will be brought to Canada as soon as transportation arrangements can be made.

Mr. Andras also said in a written statement that his department will co-operate with the United Nations refugees commissioner in setting up the international community that may be necessary to help alleviate human suffering in South Vietnam.

Will Study Livestock Quotas

WASHINGTON (CP) — Agriculture Minister Eugene Whelan of Canada came out of a meeting with U.S. Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz here Wednesday and said that livestock quotas between the two countries remain unchanged.

However, Whelan said:

"We decided our officials should get together as quick as possible and work out a workable program that is satisfactory to both countries.

"I think the situation is one that we want our producers to know where they're going so that they can plan production."

Butz said that so far as the United States quotas on Canadian beef and pork are concerned—placed in retaliation to Canadian quotas on U.S. beef and sheep—they were instituted by the president and "only the president can change them."

"Working technicians" could only make recommendations to send to the president, he said, adding that the Canadian minister had more power in this regard than did the U.S. secretary.

Mall Development Plan Scaled Down

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

Dimensions of a multi-million-dollar commercial-residential development centred on Bellville's northend Quinte Mall have had to be scaled down.

Unexpected complications posed by land quality problems have forced Cambridge Leaseholds — developers of the proposed mall-centred complex of hotel, industrial, apartment and office cities — to lower its planning sights for the present, city council learned Wednesday night.

The news came from city manager Wilbur Purcell, as council debated its 1975 capital works budget, totalling more than $3.5 million.

Mr. Purcell said Cambridge intends going ahead with expansion of the present mall and construction of two apartment towers, totalling 300 living units immediately south of the mall, across Bell Blvd.

But development of an industrial park and motor hotel west of the mall has been deferred.

The unexpected stumbling block was unearthed by engineering studies, said the city manager. They showed land marked for the hotel and industrial site required "a tremendous amount of fill" to prepare it for development.

The problem — with its attendant added financial costs — was not anticipated when Cambridge announced the major expansion plan a year ago.

At that time, estimated investment in the new facilities was $15 million.

The city manager's announcement obviously took council by surprise.

"This is all news to me," observed Mayor Robin Abrey.

The unforeseen complication caused Cambridge to "lower their sights" on the total plan of expansion, the city manager said after the meeting.

However, the de cloper, while faced with a delay in part of the program, is "anxious to go ahead with mall expansion and apartment buildings," said Mr. Purcell, who has been in contact with Cambridge officials over the situation.

The ambitious scheme was announced April 1974 as the Quinte Mall Neighborhood Development.

All facilities announced at that time would have covered an additional 42 acres — the bulk of the area marked for the industrial park and shopping centre expansion.

The plan calls for adding 15.5 acres to the present shopping centre site — raising its area to 39 acres. It will almost double its store area to 440,000 square feet.

Other land breakdowns: apartments, 7.8 acres; industrial park, 15 acres; hotel, five acres.

People in Saigon Fear Own Troops

SAIGON (AP) — The sound of gunfire, exploding grenades and artillery echoed through the streets of Saigon, capital city of South Vietnam, but no one took any notice.

"It's only government propaganda," a Vietnamese restaurant servant reassured a nervous foreigner and pointed to loudspeakers tied to lamp posts in Lam Son Square.

The speakers blare continuous exhortations for the population to resist the Communists and feast with sound effects of government forces heroically defending Hue and Da Nang.

Everyone knows the army hasn't fought that Hue, Da Nang and a dozen other cities have been lost, and that the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese are pushing closer to the capital.

Although there have been some signs of fright and flight, most of Saigon's 3½ million people seem to be facing up to the inevitable.

Their greatest fear seems not to be the North Vietnamese and Viet Communist forces less than 50 miles away. It is that armed, defeated, embittered government troops will run amok in the city.

Khmer Rouge Probes Phnom Penh Outskirts

PHNOM PENH (AP) — The Khmer Rouge drove hundreds of troops into disorderly retreat eight miles northwest of Phnom Penh and made probing attacks to the outskirts of government towns, field reports said today.

The United States embassy began evacuating "non-essential" members of its staff and persons working for U.S. firms and voluntary agencies. The first plane took 52 persons, most of them South Koreans and Filipinos, to Bangkok.

The embassy said Wednesday it would send about 15 per cent of its staff of about 200 plus an unannounced number of other foreigners to the Thai capital this week.

Wood Gets Four Months Following Fatal Mishap

A RR 5, Belleville resident was sentenced to four months in jail in county court Wednesday following his conviction on charges which resulted from a fatal accident in the city last year.

Charles Oscar Wood had been charged with dangerous driving and failing to remain at the scene of an accident.

The mishap occurred March 12, 1974 when a young city girl died from injuries she received when struck by a car on Tracey St. while returning home from school. The car left the scene.

SAVE THE CHILDREN!
Accidental poisoning of children is still one of the most common medical emergencies. Doesn't it make good sense for everyone to get together and give the children a break? A few easy to take precautions in your home can be the difference.
CHILD-SAVER No. 1—Keep all drugs, poisonous articles and household products away from reach of children. Lock them up when possible.
CHILD-SAVER No. 2—Do not store any non-edible products as shelves used for storing food.
CHILD-SAVER No. 3—Keep medicines and all poisonous substances in their original containers. Never transfer them to unlabel containers.
CHILD-SAVER No. 4—When medicines are discarded, destroy them. Do not throw them away where they might be reached by children or pets.

Trenton Residents Face Higher Water Rates

TRENTON — After May 1, Trenton residents will be paying 25 per cent more per month, or 3¼ cents more per day, for their water.

The jump in the water rate was announced by the utilities commission Wednesday. It will apply to all town water users.

For the average homeowner, the increase will mean an additional monthly payment of $1.05, to $5.05 from $4.00. The minimum monthly bill will increase $3.45 from $3.75.

Industrial and commercial water users face a proportional, 25 per cent jump. Where it once cost 21 cents each 100 cubic feet for the first 10,000 cu. ft. (approximately 67,300 gallons), it will now cost 26 cents each 100 cu. ft. After the base level, rates move down the higher the consumption.

The last water rate increase came into effect Jan. 1, 1974. Commission manager Douglas Manlow said Wednesday the rate increase is needed to finance an unprecedented jump in capital expenditures over the last four years.

"In the space of seven per cent of (a) (consumer's) life of 56 years. It's (capital plant) going to grow 22 per cent," he said. For the last 25 years, he said, the commission had refrained from major capital work projects."

As examples of the commission's capital expenditures, he sited the $700,000 16-inch water main that is being laid across the river between Mt. Pelion and the Chester St. filtration plant.

The project will enable the town to feed either side of the river from its two water sources — the river and the Murray well field. It is part of $1.6 — million capital works development program undertaken by the commission since 1971. Total worth of water department plant is $6—million.

Such rapid growth has placed "a severe financial strain" on the commission and precipitated the rate increase, he said.

An estimated $71,000 will be raised by the increase this year. Most of money will come from the industrial and commercial users who consume about 85 per cent of the town's water.

Based to commission calculations, a homebuilder will pay an additional 3¼-cents daily over a month under the new rates. Average annual house use is pegged at about 4,900 gallons, or 183 gallons a day.

District at a Glance

Try Your Luck

WELLINGTON — The Wellington District Lions Club will present Monte Carlo Night on Saturday, May 17, featuring a $1,000 elimination draw. Also planned is an evening of dancing and games of chance.

Library Gets New Name

MILFORD — Milford Public Library has been re-named in memory of two of its founders, the late Ann Farwell.

The library opened in 1951, after books had been collected and catalogued by Miss Farwell and Jeanne Mishinicki. The two women served as volunteer librarians for a number of years.

The new name for the South Marysburg book centre will be The Ann Farwell Library.

Liberals Plan Dinner

BATAWA — The Prince Edward — Hastings Liberal Association will hold its annual dinner meeting and elect new officers at the Batawa Community Centre here, Friday, April 4.

Guest speaker for the 8:30 p.m. meeting is Norm Cafik, parliamentary secretary to the federal minister of consumer and corporate affairs.

Police to Discuss Law

TRENTON — The Knights of Columbus are again co-operating the town law enforcement week, April 6 — 12, and will base this year's activities on the theme of the campaign done in Trenton by vandalism and shoplifting.

Police departments from Trenton, Brighton and CFB Trenton will participate in the week's events, among them, talking to students at local schools.

High Steppers in Spotlight

PICTON — The Prince Edward High Steppers will present a recital tonight at Queen Elizabeth School in Picton.

The program, organized by this Baton group active in many parades in the Quinte area begins at 7:30 p.m.

Carnival This Sunday

PICTON — The Prince Edward Figure Skating Club will hold a skating carnival Sunday, April 6 from 2 to 4 p.m.

Guest skaters from Wellington, Belleville and Frankford will perform.

Tickets for this special event at the County Centre are available at King's Kiddytown in Picton.

Directors Named

PICTON — The 1975 board of directors for the Prince Edward County Children's Aid Society was elected Wednesday night during the organization's annual meeting.

The new directorsats includes Richard Pyrer, Ronald Donnelly, John Huizenga, William Miramontes, Carol Newham, Diney Remnik, Douglas Walmsley and John Schofield.

A president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer will be named from this group at a meeting of the Prince Edward CAS this month.

Insurance Reps At Convention

PICTON — The Bay of Quinte Mutual Insurance Company recently was represented by four of its directors at the 93rd annual Ontario Mutual Insurance Association Convention.

Delegates were ,President, Allen Ketcheson, past president Henry Leavens, and Donald Kotchapaw and William Langstaff. Also attending were local agent Lynn Taylor and secretary — manager Alexa Stirkie and stenographer Gladys Tanner.

Guest speaker during the convention was 'Rev. Doctor Finlay Stewart, past moderator of the presbyterian Church of Canada. He expanded the theme of the convention this year — mutual progress.

Director Says Society Taking New Direction

PICTON — Many frontline workers and supervisors in Children's Aid Societies are discouraged with "putting on band-aids" and are looking to preventive programs as a better answer observes Margaret Farina, assistant executive director of the Ontario Association of Children's Aid Societies.

Mrs. Farina said "these workers grow tired of year after year of "picking up the pieces" after the event.

"Now there is new promise," she remarked.

There are still pieces to be picked up but through the creative innovative programs that we see developing there is a chance to get at the problem before they develop into crises — to prevent people from falling apart — from becoming clients," she said.

Mrs. Farina added it is important, however, for workers to know their community, its pockets of need and its problems.

Spotted Fever Strikes

Milford farmer Lyle Jenkins has been fined and realizes his chances of recovery are slim but he doesn't object in the least. In the last five years he has built up a stable of Appaloosa horses because of them, he finds in raising this unusual breed.

Provincial Task Force Outlines CAS Goals

By MARG HAYLOCK
Staff Reporter

PICTON — Children's Aid Societies across Ontario have examined the Hanson Task Force Report and studied their community services and this reassessment of function "is a breath of fresh fresh air" says Margaret Farina, assistant executive director of the Ontario Association of Children's Aid Societies.

Mrs. Farina, guest speaker at the annual meeting of the Prince Edward County Children's Aid Society, noted Wednesday she initially considered the Hanson Report "terribly negative." After reading it several times she said she then decided it presented, in a government document: a concept if service many have seen as a long-term goal.

"It made that goal clearer and it brought it closer and it put the child back in the family and recognized that families need help in today's world and that communities have a responsibility to provide that help," she observed.

Mrs. Farina quoted the report, commenting that it points out that paradoxically in the child welfare system there are apparently more resources for keeping a child at risk in alternative care facilities than for keeping him at home with his natural family.

The present system is often unable to support the family sufficiently to prevent the child's removal from the home.

Mrs. Farina added the Hanson report stresses the service direction of Children's Aid Societies must be toward greater emphasis on preventive services, on the family and the community.

Communities, says the Hanson report, should have homemaker and nursing services, house repair, day care, vacation programs, parent training, household economics training debt and credit counselling and numerous other services.

Mrs. Farina says provincewide Children's Aid Societies are studying their communities and the services offered and here has been a re-identification of goals. Changes in the services societies are offering have resulted as well as changes in the how of service delivery.

Boards of directors are providing more leadership drives and urging greater community involvement.

UIC Shortens Hours With New Picton Office

TRENTON — Unemployment Insurance Commission offices in Trenton will only operate two days a week starting this week as UIC officials make an effort to provide a better service and get closer to those it serves.

Mondays and Wednesdays, UIC staff will man an office in Trenton's Front St. federal building. Hours are set at 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Previously, said Vaughan Storey, UIC District Manager Wednesday, the offices were open five days a week, but only four hours per day. However, it was found that most inquiries came Mondays and Wednesdays, thus making the five-day schedule unnecessary as well as costly.

The change in service in Trenton co-incides with this week's opening of an UIC office in Picton, Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Mr. Storey said the new office in Prince Edward County was warranted because UIC officials handle about 1,200 active claimants in the county.

"In view of that, we felt it would be warranted," he said.

In Trenton, the same level of service will be maintained, with staff time squeezed into two days. The office will serve as an information centre and neither handle claims nor adjudicate claims for benefits.

Society Changing

Children's Aid Societies across Ontario are re-identifying their goals, says Margaret Farina, assistant to H.H. Dymond, director of the Ontario Association of Children's Aid Societies. Mrs. Farina Wednesday described this shifting emphasis to members of the Prince Edward CAS.

County Horseman Has Spotted Fever

By MARG. HAYLOCK
Staff Reporter

MILFORD — Milford farmer Lyle Jenkins is a victim of spotted fever with slim hopes for recovery.

First symptom of the disease, prevalent among horse enthusiasts was the impulse to respond to a "For Sale" ad in a farm publication.

A Peterborough country and western musician Lord Brock well had offered a number of his Appaloosa and Arabian horses for sale and Mr. Jenkins answered the ad.

His decision to buy an Appaloosa, horse was made five years ago and since the acquisition of his brood mare Dixie, he has raised a number of quality colts.

Mr. Jenkins noted he had not considered the Appaloosa before reading the newspaper ad but he quickly developed interest in the breed after visiting the local stables.

The "App" appeals to Mr. Jenkins because of family closeup, even disposition and endurance.

Unlike the leopard, the Appaloosa can and does change its spots. Many of these unusual horses are foaled almost solid chestnut, bay or black with only a scattering of white on their rumps. Frequently, these colorful equine artists turn almost completely white with little of the original dark coat remaining. Such moulting is attractive and distinguishing as no two Apps ever are marked alike.

Horsemen recognize the Appaloosa as falling into one of several basic color patterns.

The Snowflake App is mottled uniformly with white hairs while the Blanket App is splashed with white predominantly on his hips and rump.

The Leopard pattern App is white with irregular dark markings of black or brown shades.

Mr. Jenkins owns several Snowflakes and is eager to raise a Leopard pattern colt from his breeding stock.

In addition to its unusual coat markings, the Appaloosa is distinguished from other breeds by the Sclera or ring of white circling his eye and by part-colored hooves. Also, the skin beneath the coat is mottled or speckled and this speckling is most readily detected around the nostrils. Mane and tail hair is commonly sparse.

Mr. Jenkins is primarily concerned with raising colts to promote the Appaloosa breed. He keeps a number of these and enjoys watching them develop and, in addition, he enjoys showing animals in horsemen interested in pleasure riding and the show ring.

His is one of the few Appaloosa breeders in Prince Edward County and looks forward to showing some of his stock at Belleville Fairgrounds horse meets and fairs.

Are We Facing Facts?

A television announcer unblushingly referred to unemployment as the other day the story of another of those freaky records.

It had to do with some youth who sat on a toilet seat for X number of hours and thereby he raised a sum of money for some worthy cause.

But spare a moment of embarrassment for both the announcer and the youth — and what's more important, increasing concern for the eccentricities of North American youth.

At a time, let it be known, that whole societies are falling apart in Asia, at a time when here at home there are inequities and hardship and conditions of poverty and sadness and rootlessness and bitterness and loneliness among our own population to be overcome.

Maybe the fellow on the toilet seat had more insight than we know, in the context say of the mystique of an island, to borrow from the musings of a colleague on another subject, the away-from-it-all syndrome. Time to think — and give effect to that concern for some beneficiary.

But are we orientated sufficiently these days to the realities of a tottering spiritual and material universe, to the realities of relative plenty (for how long?) in our own sphere and war, disease, and starvation in another? Easter has passed and in Belleville the churches were filled, but so too were the stores and the restaurants.

One family went out to dinner, and they also sent a donation to CARE at its 63 Sparks St. address in Ottawa.

Back from India with images of the kind of thing Canadians must confront at this time are writers Richard and Janet Lunn of Hillier.

They spent six weeks in the sub-continent and had this to say on their return: "What we saw was almost a warning for the whole of mankind. When you go to India, you can see the shape of the end of the world."

More than 600 million people with about 15 million more being born every year. Families living in railroad stations, whole generations brought up thus. Of course, India is not all like this; there is prosperity of a sort too, and progress in industry and social advances may be noted everywhere. Yet as the Lunns suggest, here and in other teeming lands of Asia lie the seeds of social and economic upheavals perhaps undreamed of.

Activity In Quinte Area

These early days of April represent an end and a beginning for a number of Quinte area community events.

This evening marks the presentation of the last film of the season in the Kiwanis club's travel and adventure series: Nicol Smith's film on Fiji, Western Samoa, and Tonga.

Today also marks final preparations for the Rotary-sponsored Science Fair and Hobby Show at the Armories which will be a two-day event.

Then Sunday, April 6, sees the opening of the Quinte Arts Council's Artafest '75. Entitled Ballet Antics it is billed as a Quinte Dance Centre presentation also featuring the popular CFB Trenton Sing-Out group and it will take place at Centennial secondary school.

Further activities of the Artsfest will include a Visual Arts display April 10-26, a performance by the Eastern Ontario Concert Orchestra, Barbershop and Brass in concert, and a Theatre Guild production of The Music Man.

It is varied fare, with something for everyone. It is evidence too of the lively interest in the arts in this area.

Sex And Accident Toll

If Women's Lib or its variations had never materialized hitherto, a recent "stag" in Peterborough would surely have inspired someone on the distaff side to remedy that situation.

This was no ordinary stag either. Twenty-five members — a "chuckling handful" according to one report — of the 210-member area chapter of Certified Technicians and Technologists had come to hear a public relations officer of the OPP.

The officer gave what was described as "an earthy half-hour presentation" outlining sexual and temperamental motivation behind the accident toll. It included slides and hand-sketched drawings of scantily-clad women, reflexes to "sexy short skirts" (much too distracting, apparently, to the eyes of red-blooded Canadian males, although, ironically, considered safe and comfortable for women drivers), the dire effects of a wife's 'No' the night before, or a run-in with the boss, preoccupation with masculine "power," even an admission from the officer himself that he carries a towel in the car which he insists must cover his wife's knees, so that He will not be distracted; and finally, on the screen, a hand-traced reproduction of a Playboy magazine cartoon . . . as a finale.

In fairness to the OPP man there no doubt was considerable truth in his observations on the link between the machinations of the male psyche and accidents. Moreover, he was basing his remarks on a three-year study of accidents by Northwestern University researchers. Yet if anything reflected the murky thought processes of the North American male more markedly it was this "stag" in Peterborough. Some comments: "Good stuff," said one. "Stirring it down a level, observed the OPP man.

Reaction from the women-folk to the report was swift and incisive; A letter signed by seven members of the local International Women's Year committee expressed incredulity at the presentation of "as crass and tasteless a talk." It was a speech "dominated by contempt for women . . . demeaning and full of sexual scorn."

The letter concluded: "We who are working in status of women activities realize how far we and you and the OPP have to go."

It's a reaction that permits of no answer. As was observed in this space in another context of late, in the context of nationhood and national maturity: "Let's grow up!"

Orillia Film

Not being from Orillia, it might seem churlish for us to take issue with the Council of that community in its demand for an apology from the CBC for the production of Orillia, Our Town, which was shown on national television recently.

The Council says the film left "much to be desired both from the viewer's interest together with the adverse portrayal of our city."

Well from the standpoint of an outsider, the film certainly did not leave such an impression. Doubtless, there were aspects of Orillia life that were passed over, and citizens who did not get to have their say, but wouldn't that tend to be the case whatever was shown?

It is too bad Orillians think the film bombed, but it sounds rather as if they want to have their cake and eat it. Council is now asking that the CBC produce a new film stressing more positive aspects of the city.

Over and Above Moonlighting Speechwriters

P.R. Personnel Swell Ranks of Ottawa Bureaucracy

By RICHARD JACKSON,
OTTAWA — Just goes to show you, does it not that even in federal government inner power circles where public enterprise is the most instrident, private enterprise — where there is the demand and the price is right — still thrives.

There speaks the Big Bulging Bureaucracy 600,000 strong, bursting with some 800 public relations types and in the market for another 400 or so — not counting the troops of publicists on the payrolls of the Crown Corporation — but still buying speeches written-to-order by moonlighting newsmen.

It is both a satisfaction and reprisal of the lean and hungry private enterprising newsbeard on the fat and well-fed cats living out of the public trough.

It is a commentary too, that your averags $10,000 to $15,000 a year newsman can do something that the $30,000 to $32,000 public relations man can't or won't.

It is all part of what has become the national scandal of so many overpaid and underworked public servants like federal stenos making a startling $6,930 as against a girl in a law, journal, or business office rating only an initial $4,000.

So the big-pay public relations types — many, or maybe even most of them fugitives from newspaper and radio newsrooms who could not back the pressure — and the hours — canned efforts on the glorious prose for which their federal bosses pay moonlighters as much as $1,000 a speech.

That is tops, $1,000, according to a cabinet report filed in the House of Commons.

So the question is how to board the speech-writing gravy train for those short weighted word trips?

Or, to put it another way, best to keep your independence and cut in on the easy money?

Nothing to it.

From one of the more successful practitioners, still a resident of one of the nation's larger newsrooms, in the art of moonlighting speeches for as much as $1,800 the copy — herewith the secret.

Give The Man a Minister or the Deputy or Whoever-in-the-Big-Bureaucracy is ordering the speech — the kind of thing his audience wants to hear.

The fall-safe formula is to play back to that audience its very own thoughts.

Don't try actually on record.

Especially if the audience is a delegation from a federal organization that annually makes subscriptions to the fads.

And most national groups do just that — set out their positions, their propositions, and demands to a federal department, a Minister of the Crown, or if they are big and important enough like the Canadian Chamber of Commerce or the Canadian Labor Council, to the full cabinet itself.

So the Minister or his executive assistant calls with the word that The Man wants a good 30-minute speech for such-and-such a national special interest group.

What to do?

Go to The Man's office.

Secure access to the department files and pull the folder labelled with the special interest about the special interest group for which the speech is to be tailored.

Find what its executives said when the organization last made its representations to the government. Note its point of special pleading, the areas of concern, the fields of suggested government action.

Lift the Mess. Re-sort them, rethink, and restate their thrust. Write the speech touching all these idea bases.

Do it in such a way as to make it sound as if the Minister and the government, if not exactly buying, these — as a package, recognize their intrinsic worth as an effort made in the national interest (what else!) to reach mutually acceptable solutions to the problems.

The group has problems, or it would not be meeting the Minister or the cabinet every year, pleading its own special interest case for special consideration.

So promise consideration — you commit The Man to nothing, really, and he knows this even as he reads the golden words — for "consideration" is one of those fudged buzz-words that sounds sincere and meaningful and has as much substance as a bubble.

But "consideration" has the promise of serious thinking and possible future action. Ya'll evenly on expectant ears, reads nicely to anticipatory eyes.

Speech-writing is really only bubble-blowing.

Robarts as Federal P.C. Leader?

By JOHN D. HARBRON
Foreign Affairs Analyst
Thomson News Service

TORONTO — The air here is buzz, buzz, buzz about John Robarts for the next federal PC leadership.

Some people say that he is just holding off. Others say he is looking for a bit more pressure.

Whatever the reasons they give they are all sure he will be running.

Most impressive of all is that practically everybody, whether they believe he will run or not, thinks he can win the leadership if he wants to.

On this fact there is pretty wide agreement.

If Robarts wanted to run he could with little question take the honors.

He has a solid base of strength in Ontario.

But beyond that he is strong in Quebec and the east, and even if Peter Lougheed was his main opponent he could probably pick up a fair measure of support in the west.

In fact he might even be able to give Pierre Trudeau a pasting.

Actually this is undoubtedly his strongest quality.

He is the one Conservative on the national scene today who might make mince-meat of the prime minister.

And those of his colleagues who aren't actually sure of this sense it. Robarts, they know, has stature. And a stature that the Canadian public will buy.

Having said that one has to predict that there is not one chance in 100 that the former Ontario premier will go for the leadership.

Why?

Well above all reasons one would say it is simply that he is enjoying life too much these days.

He is leading a dream life.

He has prestigious, important directorships than anyone else in the country.

He is making lots of money. And if he needs any more all he has to do is snap his fingers.

He has his weekends off, can go fishing and sailing when he wants to, he has given more than 20 years to public life, 10 of them as premier, so why really should he get back into the political rat race.

He might have the potential of being one of our great prime ministers. But personally I don't think we will see it.

The play, "Boy With A Cart" directed by Jessie Tulis and Madeline Young, was presented as a Workshop Play by the Belleville Theatre Guild on Monday evening at Queen Victoria School. The Theatre Guild is to be commended for this fine production in which Ken Graham and Mrs. Hallie Morden played the leading roles. The music for the play "Song" was composed by S. Alec Gordon.

30 YEARS AGO

Considerable business was transacted by city council in committee at a meeting on Thursday evening. The matter of installing parking meters in certain sections of the city was looked into after some members had visited Watertown N.Y. where meters have been in use for some years. J.A. Cameron of the Canadian Mi-O Meter corporation will appear before Council on Monday evening to explain in detail construction and cost of meters.

Messrs. C.M. James and V.G. Jarvis have been attending this week the Ontario Educational Association at Toronto University where publishers from many parts of Canada have exhibits of their books. It is the 90th year for The James Texts to exhibit this way their hundreds of different educational publications as well and favorably known throughout the world. Many of their publications are printed in Belleville with much artistic artistry that they are much admired by the most experienced firms in the publishing business.

40 YEARS AGO

Radio licenses are due again. Every owner of a radio receiving set is taxed $2 per year to pay for the Radio Commission which has to do with all things relating to radio broadcasting in Canada. The government also keeps a staff of "trouble shooters" who go about investigating complaints of man-made interference with radio receiving. Canada has two first-class stations, C.F.R.T. and C.F.R.B. Toronto, but both are placed on near powerful United States Stations that they are generally drowned out altogether. If the Radio commission could get these stations placed in an isolated position where reception would be as clear at night as it is in daytime, they would be doing something to justify the expense of the organization.

LONDON — Britain's hopes for self-sufficiency in energy are built on North Sea oil.

But, so far at least, the ambitious program to bring that oil from the sea bed to British homes and cars has been beset by accidents, bad weather, late delivery of equipment, skyrocketing costs and the classical clash of political philosophy as to public or private participation.

The first symbolic delivery of oil from the UK sector of the North Sea, scheduled for last May, still is awaited.

And as time passes, some Britons are beginning to wonder if the great oil crisis of 1973-75—which made North Sea oil seem doubly important to the United Kingdom—might itself be passing.

The Economist, one of the most intellectual British periodicals, recently proclaimed the existence of an oil glut on world markets, with drillers trying to produce 20 per cent more oil than consumers want to buy at current prices, and with every country promoting an "energy policy" designed to reduce its oil supply still further.

"That is a market in which to be a buyer (like Japan) could be very heaven," said The Economist, "and in which a potential seller like Britain should not bury up its hopes in the North Sea bubble."

But Harold Wilson's Labor government obviously clings to the earlier belief that North Sea oil will be a bonanza, especially for Her Majesty's Treasury.

A month ago, after prolonged study, the government announced what it called a 45-per-cent petroleum revenue tax (PRT).

From industry's side there immediately arose a protest that the PRT is going on top of the 12.5-per-cent royalty and 52-per-cent corporation tax, would result in a total of about 71 per cent of earnings from North Sea production.

Mr. Wilson's critics on the left, however, are complaining that the government is being far too generous (its tax will not take effect fully for another three years) and that it should have followed the Norwegian government's lead in skimming off 75 per cent of the take right from the beginning.

But the announcement of the tax policy did let the oil companies know where they stand—at last—and has enabled them to make definite business and plans for t'e first time.

To speed'en the whole show, the Labor government is establishing the British National Oil Corp. (BNOC—pronounced bee-knock—for short), its headquarters will be at some place in Scotland, in recognition of the strongly nationalistic Scottish view that the North Sea is their pool.

In time, BNOC is to become fully integrated, with refining and marketing operations. This will give the government a powerful position in the industry," according to government spokesmen.

Expansion of BNOC to a full extent could well be a costly and wasteful gesture. Existing British refineries will operate at only half their capacity this year, and could easily handle North Sea production at the anticipated 1980 flow.

And on the marketing side, there is no shortage of retail outlets here.

The secretary of state for energy, Eric Varley, said recently: "The last thing we want to do is drive the oil companies out of the North Sea."

But the question is whether the BNOC, as envisaged by Mr. Wilsons government can be restrained from doing just that, through their minor shareholding in a project whose difficulties could drive even the experts to despair.

Work of Citizens' Bureau

Editor,
The Intelligencer:

Your edited "Objectives" in the issue of March 21, screams of inconsistency in the current editorial chagrin at the award of $12,500 to the Citizen's Bureau, you launched into an unwarranted, vicious, and unjustified attack of assumptions and half-truths.

The "grant" would be nice to hear of a "specific" project to which it might be applied. Put your mind at rest, this specific project to which it is being applied is the continuance of the Citizen's Bureau under its humble name and references.

Contrary to what you may believe, this, in itself, is a "specific project". It does not don't believe me, ask some of the thousands of people it has helped. If you prefer, contact the federal official who approved the grant.

Yes, we stand up for the little guy, the average citizen, and for the big guy as well.

Your assumptive editorial column bowled that the Citizen's Bureau showed a lack of accountability. Nothing! Where were you sir? All through the Bureau's operation, as for each week, an itemized financial accounting, staff status report, and work summary, to C.M.C. Belleville, The U.C.S., C.M.C. Toronto, and, believe it or not, to The Intelligencer.

This was in addition to a brief and a presentation of all books and documents relating to the Bureau's operation, to City Council, sitting in regular session, all books and records counting were always available and open to any member of the public. An audit by Audit Bureau of Records, Ottawa, audited the books and found them in order as they were also six cents after spending $30,000 — not bad for amateurs.

The "grant" was paid under L.I.P. operation was $130 per week in Belleville, and $140 in Trenton. There are no $17,000 a year executive directors on our staff. For your information, the Bureau operated from September 1974 until March 1975, on a voluntary basis, with overheads being met by public donations, there were no salaries. In fact, Mr. Gerling and myself, were often out of pocket.

WILLIAM C. HOCKLEY,
Editor's Note: — The Intelligencer did not call the word "chagrin" at any grand made the Citizen's Bureau. The concept has been continually been applauded by these pages, even when it was felt actions by individuals connected with the organization were detrimental to its own objectives.

Fireplace Problems Usually in Chimney

By CHRIS ALMEY
Staff Correspondent

TRENTON — If a fireplace smokes, chances are the chimney is too small. This is according to Laird Morton of Tweed Steel Eastern Ltd. Fireplace research is his department and Tweed Steel makes steel fireplaces.

One reason chimneys might be too small, Mr. Morton said in an interview, is since the flue tile industry which makes vitrified clay liners converted to the modular metric system, builders should use a size larger than they used to and some fail to do this.

"This chart has been changed. Many builders ask for tiles that are eight and one-half inches by 13 but instead get an eight by 12, reducing the internal flue area," Mr. Morton noted.

The first size just mentioned, based on the old measurement, was 80 square inches, whereas the new measure is only 57 square inches. To have the same size opening a tile 12 by 12 under the new modular metric system should be installed, Mr. Morton said.

Previously a 13 by 13 flue tile was 130 square inches, but to get the same effect now, the chimney would need an opening of 13 by 16 to have 175 square inches.

"A fireplace properly designed and installed should smoke only under the very rarest of conditions, such as a temperature inversion," Mr. Morton explained. "Most people have no idea all fireplaces smoke a bit. None should.

"I know people who have $80,000 houses and they don't use their fireplaces. That gets me tired off. They don't use them because they smoke. The answer is 90 times out of a hundred the chimney is too small," Mr. Morton said. "This has become quite common the last three or four years."

Despite a so-called slowdown in the building industry, Mr. Morton said there are lots of houses being built around here and other places, and they cannot produce enough fireplaces to meet the demand. Their products are sold coast to coast.

If the flue is undersized, Mr. Morton said there are two cures. One is to put in a new flue of the right size or reduce the fireplace opening area to match the flue, by laying a few bricks in the bottom. Fire area should be 10 per cent of opening area, but the chimney height is a factor.

He said the company could also provide a screen with a metal baffle across the top or sides which would also reduce the opening. And then there is also tempered fire glass.

"Lack of air in a tightly sealed house is another cause of smoking fireplaces," Mr. Morton said.

He said he doesn't usually go out to look at problem fireplaces, and can often provide solutions over the phone. He said that anyone with a problem could call Tweed Steel and ask for Laird Morton.

Barn Blaze Beats Madoc Volunteers

MADOC — A fire destroyed a large two-storey frame barn late Wednesday owned by Glen Fleming of Madoc Township just north of this village on County Road 12, commonly known as the Fairgrounds Road.

Deputy-Chief Clayton Martin of Madoc Volunteer Fire Brigade said a quantity of hay and a tractor housed in the building were also destroyed. A number of cattle, usually in the barn, were in the fields at the time.

He said firemen were able to save an older frame barn situated just 30 feet from the blazing structure. By the time firemen arrived on the scene, the roof of the gutted barn had caved in, he said.

A damage estimate was unavailable and origin of the 5.30 p.m. blaze is unknown at present. One pumper and 13 firemen responded to the alarm.

Lots of Letters

Wayne Kartechner, 19, of Trenton, a senior survey technician student in a Loyalist College survey program should receive a letter of commendation for the amount of lettering he displayed during the college's open house Wednesday. Here, he demonstrates a Leroy lettering set to Vivian Koetstra, 19, of Trenton. One might say he "let ber" watch.

Fun Time

North Hastings Municipal Pound supervisor Dave Talbot always has time for some fun and games with his charges. The pound has been open since December 20 and since then 20 dogs have been placed in new homes. Pups are $2 each and grown dogs $5.

Herd Sale Sets County Record

PLAINFIELD — History was made in Hastings County last week when the sale of more than 80 head of Holstein cattle realized a total of $143,000 at Trevarlene Farms, here.

The cattle, owned by Charles and Claire Trevarton, sold at an average of $1,783.50 a head.

Top price of $10,000 was paid for Trevarton Citation Bo-Peep, which went to Meadowlake Farms, Barrie.

Canine Connoisseurs Like Bancroft Pound

By NAN WHITLAW
Staff Correspondent

BANCROFT — There's a strong suspicion in North Hastings that some dogs are running away from home just to become residents of the new Bancroft municipal pound.

The pound, which is a joint project of the northern townships of Faraday, Herschel, Wollaston, Cardiff, the Improvement District of Bancroft opened in December of 1974 and has been a "pet" project of Bancroft's by-law enforcement officer David Talbot ever since.

Mr. Talbot acts as supervisor of the pound in addition to his many other duties and visits his friendly, noisey clients at least twice each day.

"The dogs are all exercised each day," said Dave, "they're also very well fed and the kennels are completely disinfected daily."

During the conversation, Mr. Talbot stopped to let two of his canine friends out for a run and cautioned them to be sure to return in five minutes — and they did.

"Both of these dogs are here because they would never stay home," he said." I've never had them run away from here."

The twenty by twenty cement block building is well heated, can accomodate about 11 dogs, and cost a total $2,800 which has been devided on a pro-rata basis to the five municipalities concerned.

Dogs that have been abandoned or turned over to the pound are available for sale for $2. for pups and $5. for adult dogs.

The proceeds from the sales are used to maintain the pound.

Since the opening in early December, about 30 dogs have been placed in new homes.

Designer: Luggage to Maternity Wear

MONTREAL (CP) — Recently friends presented John Warden with a tawny cat to match his hair. He calls it Marmalade with a French accent on the last syllable. It shares his apartment in Old Montreal.

John considers himself a Montrealer, but he was born in Niagara Falls, Ont., in 1938.

His family still lives there. But John has become a real Montrealer. He speaks fluent French, his wife is a French-Canadian girl, and they enjoy the atmosphere of Old Montreal. His duplex apartment is above a restaurant in one of the handsome restored old grey stone houses.

He even imparts a French-Canadian flare to the John Warden lines he designs for several firms. At present he is designing for lounge and sleepwear for Molycelare, knits for Knit Symphonie, a maternity line for Shirley Kay, handbags and luggage for Canada Bell and Bags, accessories—jewelry, hats and belts Warden name scarves for Jarman, and clothes for men for an executive men's store. He recently signed a contract to design tennis and action sports wear for another firm.

He has his own ready-to-wear boutique in downtown Montreal. Eaton's has introduced John Warden boutiques in its stores to carry his Molyclaire line and The Bay has John Warden boutiques for its accessories.

John leads a hectic designing life. His apartment is only a party centre for his friends but it's probably the most commercially photographed locale in Montreal.

John has been forced to charge a fee for its use.

Last January he completely redecorated the apartment himself. It's even now more a Harper's Bazaar-Vogue fashion backdrop across the living-room frontage—.

John covered both couches in black-and-white striped satin. It's a movie set right out of the Roaring Twenties, particularly when the same satin is used as a table cloth under glass on the dining-room table.

John attended the Parsch's school of design in New York and went on to work there for a fashion house. But Andre Sault, a Montreal manufacturer persuaded him to come up from New York and design a small collection for him. Sault was the first Canadian to give a Canadian designer a break and the John Warden label went into every garment in Warden's Andre Sault collections. He did three before he opened his own boutique for men in 1966. Later he added another for women. It also introduced his trademark of a daisy.

Warden has won many awards and is a favorite Canadian designer with the American fashion press. Last year several Canadian designers showed their lines in New York and the American fashion writers voted Warden their choice as Canadian Designer of the Year.

Women's News Service Initiated

WINNIPEG (CP) — A group of women has announced the formation of a national news agency to deal with issues and problems facing women.

At a news conference here Monday, the group said the agency will be named the Feminist News Service and will "establish a vehicle for the exchange of women's issues to women across Canada."

Spokesperson Susan Fewer said the agency is necessary to balance a bias by traditional news services against women's groups and news.

"There is a need among women in Canada to have their own media, their own communications services.

The plan calls for 10 regional representatives stationed across Canada to feed information to the head office in Waterloo Ont., where it will be distributed to various women's groups, women's organizations and established news papers through periodic reports.

No fee for the news packages has been determined, but the group hopes to obtain funds through donations and canvassing in preparation for the agency's debut within three months.

Available in both English and French, the group said the agency's service will be a significant step in easing the problem of geographic language and cultural isolation.

Sex After School

TORONTO (CP) — Thirty Grade 8 children are learning about sex after school and their teacher is finding their questions as profound as any she might get from adults.

Once a week, at Oriole Park Junior School, the 11-and 12-year-olds are given instruction by Bonnie Bean, a parent and former teacher who is on the board of Planned Parenthood of Toronto.

With the co-operation of parents and authorities at the school eight weekly sessions have been arranged for the children.

Any parental concern expressed had a recurring theme, that a course of this kind might be "giving the child too much knowledge and is going to make them want to try it," said Maryanne Ryan, a member of Planned Parenthood's long-range planning committee.

The sessions have brought some interesting questions from the children, she said. At the beginning, they were told straightforwardly that "we've got this body and we've got to be happy with it."

One boy asked when he would grow tall. Girls are concerned about the development of their breasts.

"They are at an age when they're very conscious of their body image and whether it's filling out as it should," she said.

Ann Landers

'Normal Curiosity' Ruins Health

Dear Ann Landers: Please don't think I am crazy. I need some help. My problem is one of normal curiosity—anyone in my spot would do the same thing, but it's ruining my health.

I live in an apartment complex that has a courtyard. A married woman who lives across the way from me entertains a man almost every night—and I do mean every night. I have a very powerful pair of binoculars and can see everything he does.

Sometimes this man stays until 3 o'clock in the morning and I have to get up at six-thirty to go to work. It's horrible when I try to drag myself to the body of bed after so little sleep.

It might sound awful, but I've been considering selling the woman's husband an anonymous letter, tipping off. Then perhaps he would leave and I could get some rest. What do you think?—No Will Power

Dear N.W.P.: I think you ought to give those binoculars to a friend, draw the draperies before the show goes on and get some sleep before you collapse from sheer exhaustion.

Dear Ann Landers: The bumper sticker that reads: WARNING: I BRAKE FOR ANIMALS is incomplete. It should read: I BRAKE FOR ANIMALS AND KILL PEOPLE.

Scores of lives are lost every year in accidents caused by drivers who foolishly avoid hitting a dumb beast. Is it worth it? What do you say?—Love Animals, Two—But

Dear Love: An alert driver can sometimes glance in his rear-view mirror and see if anyone is behind him. If no one is, he should brake and space the animal.

If the driver spots traffic on his tail, he should keep going and pray that the cat, dog, rabbit or chipmunk makes it. A split second on the other hand, poses a serious problem if there is oncoming traffic. The driver has to choose between the cat or dog or the cow. The cow would be the obvious choice—it would involve less human carnage.

Dear Ann Landers: People complain about paying 10 cents for a stamp, yet they can't bother to make certain their letters are mailed to destination by checking the zip code to be sure it's right. Nor will they take the extra minute to write their name and return address on the envelope—just in case.

I work in the dead-letter section in the post office in St. Louis. During the holidays it made me sick to see the beautiful cards and gifts that were mailed because of illegible handwriting, incorrect zip codes and wrong addresses. If the sender could deem his address he could at least—have tried again. I wonder how many people hurt because they never received no reply to a letter that ended up in the dead-letter section of a post office.—A Witness

Dear Witness: Thank you for the reminder.

Doris Clark

Widows Want to Organize Club

Dear Doris: We are a bunch of unattached women, mostly widows, trying to form a club for both men and women. So far we have only one man. Also, we thought we would be brides club, but some of the ladies never have played bridge.

Can you suggest some solutions to our problems?

Lonely Club Organizer.

Dear Mixed: Statistically, there are more widows than there are widowers — because men die younger. Just the same, I'd make a bid for getting more men signed up. Ask your single male if he wouldn't like to involve some of his lonely, unattached friends. Just never worry about pairing off.

What your group does may well have much to do with whom you attract. Some people have no card sense. You could have a hilarious time playing other games, involving puzzles or riddles or song-title-guessing. Or putting on playlets. You name it.

I know one bumdinger of a group which concentrates on taking turns at serving one delicious dinner a month, followed by conversation or good conversation. Not gossip, but some special topic related, usually, to what is going on in the world.

Dear Doris: I am 27, going out with a guy 10 years old.

Once in a while it does me a special favor I like to reward him with a very special tender kiss, but lately I've been scared to kiss him as I always have to be the one to say it: Like, "Would you like a kiss goodnight?" or something like that.

But he might think I am strange, although he says he enjoys my kissing and wants more and yet I have to be the one all the time to ask him or make the first approach to him.

Barbie

Dear Barbie: It's all right for the girl to take the initiative in kissing once in a while. But if you have to do it frequently, better ease off. Young men like to be the aggressor — and perhaps this one does feel he is a bit too young for you.

Confidential to A Reader: Reproducing a sheet which supplies several addresses for sending Christmas cards, or other material, costs both labor, paper and other expenditures.

Reproducing a poem supplied by a reader involves a transgression of the law of the duplicating machine and, of course, the use of paper. I answer many, many letters privately and never charge.

Just ask anyone who devotes full time to any kind of business whether they can keep on at it without charging for services or materials.

I think I would be honored your letter more if you had the good manners to identify yourself in writing to me.

Vicious Circles Going Round Will Tie You Up in Knots

Do you ever stop in the middle of a conversation and listen to yourself with the noticed feeling that you've said all this before?

I mean that dreadful awareness that you're repeating a scene you've been through so many times already ("If I've told you once, I've told you 20 times . . .").

Human beings do tend to set up patterns for themselves—sometimes intentionally and sometimes unconsciously. Through routine, or need, or as a result of pressure, we find ways of thinking, talking and acting that trap us.

Not that repetition is necessarily bad. It's our very predictability that gives us our unique personalities. Because we can be relied upon to react in our usual manner, people know where they're at, and feel secure in their relationships with us.

But the other side of that coin is the kind of behavior pattern that keeps us, and those around us, bemused into destructive dilemmas.

Psychiatrist and author R. D. Laing has made a career of investigating the vicious circles that ensnare the mentally ill. And in doing so, he has discovered truths about all of us.

His most popular book is "Knots", a slim volume published in 1971 by Penguin Books. Laing takes what he knows about human behavior and condenses it into sharp, and often funny little formulae.

Like an X-ray machine, he exposes the bare bones beneath the conflicts and tensions of our complex daily lives.

What particularly interests Laing about the patterns he finds, is that they keep us going round and round without getting us anywhere. The more we repeat th.. routines, the tighter we pull the ropes that tie us. And soon the knots are so firmly fastened that it seems they can never be unravelled.

So what makes Laing's "Knots" valuable is the chance that by recognizing ourselves we can break free of self-hating little nooses and meshes that threaten our happiness.

For a start, look at this "knot", a shorthand formula for chronic dissatisfaction.

I never get what I wanted.
I always get what I did not want

What I want
I shall not get
Therefore, to get it
I must not want it
Since I only get what I don't want, . . .
I don't want what I can get because what I can get is what I don't want

I never get what I want
I never want what I get

Here's a knot that keeps a relationship tangled in distrust and despair.

JIM thinks
Jack thinks JIM is stupid
Jack does not think JIM is stupid but he cannot see why JIM thinks Jack thinks JIM is, when Jack does not.
Nor can JIM, except that Jack is lying.

And perhaps this little knot that opens the book is the easiest one to see, and the hardest one to undo.

They are playing a game. They are playing at not playing a game. If I show them I see they are, I shall break the rules and they will punish me. I must play their game, of not seeing I see the game.

AROUND TOWN with LANA ROBINSON

(. . . an advertising feature designed to keep you better informed of what's new around town.)

Read and Save

If you clip out this column item, you can save 10 per cent on any merchandise at Studio 231, 223 Front St. Studio 231 is the home of good fashion, reasonably priced, and also the home of DeKazenz's "Wig Boutique. This clipping can save you 10 per cent on smart spring fashion like coats — jumpsuits, culottes, jackets, shirts and slacks — in spring colors of beige, powder blue, yellow, navy and brown. And why not buy an Afro, wig to match? You can make that new you come true at Studio 231 today. And save money doing it! This 10 per cent offer is good FOR ONE WEEK ONLY. So get out those scissors and get yourself down to Studio 231. That's where Spring is.

A Summer or Handy-man's Home

That's how Gord Rabbit Real Estate is describing this great potential property in picturesque Northport in Prince Edward County. I know this village hamlet and it's truly lovely. This old frame house is structurally sound but needs remodelling inside. The price at which it is being offered though, makes any effort worthwhile. It is a storey and a half, with a steel roof, a bathroom, septic system and well. And it's located right across the road from a public park and only a half a minute's walk from the water. I said it had great summer home possibilities didn't I? Northport is located about half way between Picton and Belleville, so if you're interested (and anyway, there's a new house near the water in the process, Call Gord Robbin at 968-6475.

Some Great Little Pals

Believe it or not, the Tropical Garden Pet Shop at 361½ Front St. is still standing after the big weekend rush. And while they haven't any Easter pets left, they have a lot of good ideas for other little pals for your family, even if they aren't rabbits and chickens. Pals such as hampsters, gerbils, white mice and colored mice. And I'll have you know that colored mice are very rare. I'd never heard of them before and asked Mrs. Sherwood about them when I talked to her this week. Sound interesting anyway don't they?) The Tropical Garden also has a new shipment of fish in from the last time I discussed fish and aquariums with you. So if you didn't go last week, or even if you did, the Tropical Garden is a good place to go and meet some new friends.

Real Warehouse Carpet Sales

If you haven't visited Warehouse Carpet Sales, 381 Pinnacle St, before, I've got a reason that you should . . . 1000 yards of recently-received remnants from 1¼ ft. x 12 ft. to 9 x 12 ft. This 1000 yds. comes in all colors, shades, textures and makes and some excellent buys of good quality carpet are included. For example: Great Expectations, a luxurious twist by Caravelle, regularly $22 a sq. yd., now selling for $9 a yd.; some carpet regularly selling at $17.95 a sq. yd., now selling at $5 a yd. Now that's warehouse selling as it should be. But you can't take advantage of this information by just reading about it; you have to visit Warehouse Carpet Sales. It's open on Friday nights until 9 but closed on Wednesday afternoons. The phone number is 968-8525, if you don't believe what you're reading.

It's Still On

The 10 per cent discount on vinyl-coated aluminum patio doors is still on at Belleview Glass and Mirror, 354 Pinnacle St, Easter weekend has made the end of winter official in my book, despite the dirty trick of Tuesday's snow. But that was sent just to test our patience and give radio announcers a double whammy for us on April Fools' Day. Belleview Glass and Mirror doesn't feel cruel and believes in helping installing quality patio doors, as you'll see when you call them at 968-3721. And don't forget that the glass in these patio doors has been heat-tempered to increase its strength. So one of your objections to having a patio door has been removed, hasn't it? Any other questions you have on patio doors can best be answered by the experts at Belleview Glass.

Now Open Sundays

The Inn On The Bay Tavern in Picton is now operating on its spring and summer schedule and so will be open on Sundays too. Luncheon will be served from noon until 2 p.m., as on every other day of the week and reservations for dinner will be accepted for between the hours of 6 p.m. and 8 p.m. That number to call for reservations is 476-3114. And what a number that is to know! Sunday dinner is a lovely family experience and it is enhanced in the surroundings of the Inn On The Bay mansion. If you have Sunday or weekend guests, they will also find the boutique area of the Inn On The Bay interesting too, not to mention the menu. We have many special points of interest of which we can be proud, but not too many good dining rooms. The Inn On The Bay is both. Try it.

Service That's Service

Last week, I told you about the great new warranty policy of Superior TV, 193 Canniffon Rd., is now offering on all new Hitachi TV sets sold by them. To explain further, this is Superior TV's OWN warranty and it means that for five years after your purchase of a new Hitachi, you pay absolutely nothing if something should go wrong — neither labor or parts. Not only are you getting a superb TV set to start out with (Superior wouldn't offer that kind of warranty on a set they didn't stand behind, would they?), but also you're getting the warranty to match. Now that's service in which you can believe don't you think?

Harbringers of Spring

The harbringers of Spring are out . . . and they aren't all robins. Sidney Ins, 263 Moira St. W. has in a stock of garden seeds, both flowers and vegetables and also stocks of charcoal and lighter fluid. Who says you need June for a picnic? And if April Fool's Day were Thursday it was the better of us and our summer fantasies, it's all wet . . . right? Corny phrases aside, that barbecue or hibachi needn't collect cobwebs and dust any longer, even if you can't tend the fire in your bathing trunks or shorts. So get with Spring and have a barbecue. Sidney Ins is open until 11 p.m. every night if you get the urge after ordinary store hours.

You Still Can Save

You can still save on your new car purchase by buying a '74 Datsun from Vader's Car Sales on College St., just around the corner from their former North Front St. location. These brand new '74 Datsuns are the ideal car-for-the-price along with all that great Datsun low gas consumption and great road performance. Plus a lot of extra-cost items on your purchase list. Vader's can help there too, because they have a great selection of small cars right now. And even your own car is going to perform a lot better with a good Spring tune-up. For car repairs or buys, See Vaders.

The Place To Go

One of the great things about W. Wonnacott and Son Jewellers, 247 Front St., is that their advice is always free, and always good. And with the spring and summer bridal seasons coming up, you're going to need good advice about gifts, as well as a resource for those gifts. And Wonnacotts can supply both. Giving a gift in which you have put thought and care means more to you and to the recipient than just any old gift. Wonnacotts don't do business that way anytime. If you're confused they'll help you and what's more, they'll enjoy helping you. That's why they stay in business — they like their business. And if you're a bride and don't know just what to propose as an attendant gift, Wonnacotts will help you there too. It's the place to go.

Students Receive Special Attention

TRURO, N.S. (CP) — An attempt is being made in central Nova Scotia to help elementary students needing special academic attention.

Colchester Tutoring Services, using $17,810 Local Initiatives Program grant, has been working with 70 such children, 27 of them from foster homes of the Children's Aid Society.

The society which started the service with one of its workers, cost thsten $1,111.

Four young people, Nancy Holl, Gay Voth, John Murdoch and Blake Burns, are acting as tutors in what they hope is a pilot project for such a service on a larger scale.

Nancy and Blake have teaching experience, Gay has three years of social work study and Jay studied sociology at Dalhousie University.

"Four tutors couldn't begin to cover the number of referrals we could have," said Nancy. "We've gotten a terrific response from the schools."

She said administrators have co-operated in providing time and space for the tutors to work with students.

The tutors started by asking teachers and counsellors about specific problems.

"We wanted to do the things the teacher would like to do but doesn't have time for," said Nancy. The emphasis is on the emotional and personality problems that can show up in academic results.

"In most cases, we can't solve the problems. But we can help solve them. Maybe it just amounts to pointing out what the problem is."

The tutors spend one and perhaps two 50-minute periods a week with their students who range from six to 15 years of age.

"I don't think we help a person as much for academic reasons as for counselling," said Nancy. "We know that academic improvement could help them socially."

Some of the students, especially those from foster homes, have severe emotional problems getting in the way of their progress at school.

"Alcoholism, broken families and constant uprooting are problems commonly seen by many of the children.

In many cases the tutor has to spend the first couple of periods getting to know a student because he will not "open up" until getting what is troubling him off his mind.

In other cases, a student may try to hide his or her work to avoid facing problems.

Churchill Eskimo Museum Is Run by Catholic Church

CHURCHILL, Man. (CP) — A short walk from the icebound shore of Hudson Bay is the Eskimo Museum run by the Roman Catholic Church.

A snarling polar bear and a timber wolf greet visitors at the door of the northern Manitoba museum, which charges no admission and preserves the ancient relics of a changing people.

When the commissioner of the Northwest Territories offered a substantial sum of money for the museum, the Roman Catholic bishop of the diocese refused.

Brother Jacques Volant of the Oblate Order, who has been director of the museum for the church for 27 years, explained the decision:

"The intension of the Northwest Territories was to split it into four or five parts and the bishop said no. We didn't want that. It is not the money we look at, we look at what the brothers have been doing with the museum for more than 30 years. Its place is here in Churchill."

The museum has often been called the best record in the world of the Canadian Eskimo and his art. Brother Volant said the collection began with the arrival of Father Rasmi in Igloolik, N.W.T., in 1930.

"He was very isolated there, of course, and he began digging as a hobby."

As well as donations from individual missions, the museum received many gifts of art and artifacts from friends, and through a barter system with Eskimos.

"From time to time at the various little missions an Eskimo would come and say, 'Here, I thought of you,' and I have some carving here," Brother Volant explained.

"These purchases were not commercial. If you like, but rather we made an exchange. We'd ask the Eskimo what he or she was short of and give in goods what we both estimated was fair."

He said that in the early days of the missions in northern settlements much of the art work collected in this way would be given away to benefactors of the diocese.

Visitors from conventional museums in the south have remarked that the sheer volume of material in the Eskimo museum could easily take up twice the room and Brother Volant agreed.

"In 1967 people said this building was too big. I told them they were only building for today. In five years the building was full again."

Besides stuffed animals and carvings the museum holds many artifacts of the Thule and Dorset Eskimo cultures, dating back many hundreds of years.

The creativity and ingenuity of a people are reflected in many hand-carved tools and implements made of what the sea and land gave them. Hand made needles, spearheads and coaxing an arrowhole crown the glass cases of the museum.

Also shelves running around the walls rest row upon row of carvings, depicting everything from the Eskimo experience from demons and dreams to the first twin-engined aircraft to land in Pelly Bay.

Brother Volant was unable to say exactly how many people visit the museum each year. With no admission fee, the guest book is the only indication of attendance and many visitors don't bother to sign it.

He faces the future of the museum in the same genial spirit.

"Regardless of whatever new object that comes in, if it shows a new aspect of Eskimo life, I'll keep it. I'll put it in the museum's back room somewhere instead of allowing it to be sold and lost."

Wet Spring

Below normal and near-normal temperature readings are expected for most of the country in the first half of April, according to a 30-day weather outlook of the United States Weather Bureau.

Precipitation is expected to be above-normal for most of the country, with portions of Quebec receiving below-normal. This is not a specific forecast and changes may occur. (CP Newsmap)

Vanier to Attempt To Develop Core

OTTAWA (CP)—The city of Vanier is pushing a new look this year that may make or break this mile-square enclave of 21,325 people situated wholly within the bounds of the city of Ottawa.

Vanier Mayor Bernard Grandmaitre said his city needs revitalizing and that a planned $25-million redevelopment scheme for the commercial core is the best way to bring in needed tax dollars.

Vanier's population has declined almost 13 per cent since 1961. With 76 per cent of local taxes hinged to residential assessment — one of the highest percentages in Ontario—home-owners are feeling the pinch of rapidly increasing municipal costs.

Mayor Grandmaitre said that with commercial redevelopment in the city centre he hopes to reverse the residential-commercial ratio of taxes so that residents will be satisfied with only 40 per cent of local tax levies.

"That wouldn't mean a decrease in residential taxes, but at least it would mean we could set a stable rate."

However, repercussions of the development will be felt most by the very people the city has depended on for the bulk of its tax revenue — the home-owners.

With 15 apartment blocks and a wall of 18-storey office towers planned, families living in the central area of Vanier will have to move.

Council is looking for homes for at least 253 families to be displaced from the area of Montreal Road, Vanier's main street.

Finding homes for displaced families is not the major obstacle facing the city, however. In order to refashion the appearance of downtown Vanier it is necessary to find developers willing to invest in Vanier's future. To date the response has not been overwhelming.

City officials have put out feelers to 90 firms in Ontario and Quebec and as far away as Italy and California.

Says the mayor: "Right now we have a few interested developers.

. . . I hope to see one of two buildings in the core under way soon. But we can't do it overnight. It takes seven, even eight months to conclude an agreement and get approval for a project."

City officials are pressing several government departments for more federal investment in Vanier. Only six of the several hundred buildings leased by the federal works department are in Vanier and of the 110,000 acres of land owned by the National Capital Commission in the Ottawa-Hull region, 27 are in Vanier.

"This year we must make good representations to the government to lease or build office space here," said Joe mayor. "We're hoping to get our fair share."

Vanier's fight for financial survival is a desperate attempt to maintain its francophone character despite the ever-growing presence of Ottawa.

The population of Ottawa proper is more than 300,000, 12 times that of Vanier. Whereas only 21 per cent of Ottawa residents list French as their mother tongue, 67 per cent of the residents of Vanier speak French.

Amalgamation with Ottawa has long been discussed as a means of promoting efficiency but has been rejected. Proposals last year to share such services as fire and police protection with Ottawa also were set aside.

Said Mayor Grandmaitre: "At present there is no way Ottawa can provide the same services at the same cost."

Vanier's first name as a settlement was Cummings Island, later Jeanville. In 1908 it became the suburban town of Eastview, recognizing its position just east of Ottawa. The city of Vanier came into being in 1969 as part of a municipal reorganization.

GM and Social Justice Body Lock Horns in Heated Debate

TORONTO (CP)—Gerald Vandezande, executive director of the Toronto-based Committee for Justice and Liberty, says General Motors' philosophy is to make as much money as possible regardless of the needs of mankind.

The 49-year-old spokesman for the Christian civil rights movement said a conversation he had the large corporation has become "preoccupied with profits and economic abundance since their corporate constitutes the good life and human progress.

"This is not how the Lord intended life to be in the beginning when he made it good," Mr. Vandezande said. "Nor is this the way it is intended after Christ came to make all things new."

The committee is a 2,500-member ecumenical group. Mr. Vandezande said he sees General Motors as a highly visible symbol of a ruthless business ethic which has made gods of profit and progress.

Boyd Chesney Cl, assistant director of public relations for General Motors of Canada Ltd. and a United Church layman, said in an interview the free enterprise system before "the rule of Christ in the world."

Mr. Chesney said that, contrary to public belief, GM's profits "are not 20 per cent but closer to five or six per cent of sales."

He said profits were reduced in two per cent during the first nine months of 1974 because of the energy crisis and inflation.

Mr. Vandezande said his speech was meant to launch a continuing battle between the committee and GM. He said he is hoping it will be a rerun of David and Goliath.

Mr. Vandezande accused GM of planning obsolescence in automobiles, dehumanizing working conditions, wantonly consuming the world's diminishing resources, spending large amounts of money on advertising and making excessive profits.

He said the annual model changes in cars use up valuable resources and cars are designed to have short life spans.

"These resources belong to mankind and are needful for its well-being" he said. "They are not the exclusive property of any one person or corporation.

"They cannot even be owned in an absolute sense for they are given by God to man to be used responsibly."

Mr. Vandezande said GM spent $85 million during the 1960s to change its corporate identity signs to "GM-Mark of Excellence" while at the same time spending $15 to $20 million a year to produce pollution-free automobiles. But Mr. Chesney said he has not seen these figures.

Mr. Chesney also said: "There haven't been extensive model changes (if cars) in recent years. For example, the Vega has stayed very much the same for some time.

Definition of Barber Still Plagues Council

A familiar problem — and familiar face — was back before city council this week.

The issue: Barbershop closing hours.

The Face: That of Bill Kuipers, whose battle with opening restrictions in the barbershop bylaw goes back two years, an issue that went to the courts after he sought to evade closing hours by terming himself a hair stylist.

This time the issue may be near resolution — one way or another.

Council made no immediate moves, but inc: faces amendments to the barbershop bylaw. It has to define the word barber.

If it does so, warned city manager Wilbur Purcell in a report, council may have to prosecute "one or two barbers" presently operating "under the guise of hair stylists." Those have refused city licensing as barbers, although they are licensed by the province.

The amendment is necessary if council abides by a barbershop poll taken by the city manager which showed 38 per cent of respies favoring no repeal of the bylaw. In all, a total of 69 per cent of barbers canvassed had answered — including Mr. Kuipers.

Mr. Kuipers went before council to surgest since not all barbers had replied to the poll those favorited to no repeal should be reduced to 46 per cent.

He said he didn't want to go back to court since "it costs me too much and I don't want to have enemies."

He pleaded for some form of qualification for staying open longer hours — perhaps a shop license for hair stylists.

While licensed as a barber he told Ald. Jean Smith he could also be qualified as a hair stylist. However, he could not make the examinations last time since they were set in Toronto and Kingston on the same day.

City manager Wilbur Purcell said later the bylaw issue would be back before council at its next meeting.

Traffic Lights Okayed For Sidney School Site

City council after some debate this week approved installation of traffic signals at a separate school on a busy city street.

The push-button signals to increase safety for youngsters attending Our Lady of Fatima School — fronting a four-lane stretch of Sidney St. near Grieham St. — was cleared through council's traffic committee a week ago.

The committee also decided to have city manager Wilbur Purcell investigate land acquisition for a sidewalk to heighten the safety factor in the area.

Ald. Jean Smith noted Prince Charles Public School also was in the area.

Mayor Robin Jeffrey agreed with other councillors that "there was a tremendous amount" of school children crossing the four-lane street.

The signals approved by council will remain on green until pedestrians activate a stoplight change by button.

Cost of the signals is estimated at $9,500. But, city engineer Joe Angelo has cautioned it may take up to 10 months...before they are in operation." It now takes that long for delivery of the needed control mechanisms.

Housing Study Approved

Belleville is to seek a needs study for more senior citizens' housing in the city.

City council this week agreed to request the Ontario housing ministry to conduct the survey — a necessary preliminary before a request for additional rent-geared-to-income accommodation for the elderly can be considered by the provincial government.

The study suggestion — from the ministry's Ontario Housing Corporation — was prompted by a recent council request for 150 more units to house the city's senior citizens.

Belleville already has 342 senior citizens' units in three projects around the city, while two more building schemes — on East Bridge St. and Wellington Cres. — will provide another 160 apartments, local OHC officials report.

Zoning Changes Allow Apartment

Council this week passed official plan and zoning amendments sought by a developer for conversion of a 38-unit apartment building on Bridge St. West.

The application earlier approved by the Committee of Planning Advisory Committee, came from Maurice H. Rollins Construction Ltd. and involved slightly more than three lots known as the Willard Block at 57 West Bridge.

The approval carried a number of stipulations including protection against soil erosion and installation of a fire hydrant.

Meantime, council also denied on a 6-3 vote approval for similar amendments requested by Leslie R. Kline to convert a duplex to four residential units on the east side of MacDonald Ave. just south of Pine St.

Earlier, council heard a protest from Arnold Welch, 226 MacDonald Ave., against the application.

He said he would obtain a neighborhood petition against the application — already recommended for approval from the Quinte Planning Board staff — if council thought it necessary.

Roads Commission Sets 1975 Budget

The Belleville and District Suburban Roads Commission has reported on its 1974 building program — showing a budget over-run of $18,150 on a total spending of $215,350.

The report was received this week by city council — which recently suggested to Ontario cabinet ministers that urban participation in such commissions was outdated.

Major commission project for the year was completion of Wallbridge-Loyalist Rd. This included total reconstruction from Highway 14 to Sidney Township's fourth concession and asphalt surfacing south to highway 401. Total cost was $187,238.

Property acquisitions still have to be completed for an overpass on the road's Canadian National Railways level crossing — and there are hopes for a start in this year.

The commission also is still dealing with four property owners on its construction plans for linking Sidney St. into Maitland Dr., a boundary road between Sidney and Thurlow townships.

The commission estimated its 1975 budget at $129,400. Belleville's share is figured at $27,300.

The commission is made up of representatives from the city and both townships.

At a session of Ontario resources cabinet ministers in Belleville in mid-February, Belleville asked for repeal of legislation that makes urban centres share the costs of road-building in adjoining rural areas.

Development across municipal lines has made such a policy outmoded, the city complained.

New Line Arrives

Bill Vaughan at the controls of a fork lift truck, pitches in to unload a tractor trailer carrying a score of Springbrook fishing craft, Springbrook, made by Alcan Aluminum, is a new line for Vaughan's Marina and will be displayed at a boat show April 11,12 and 13. Vaughan's Marina is upgrading the show in the old bowling alley on the north side of Dundas St. East adjacent to Union Carbide of Canada Ltd.

Ad Costs Queried

Civic proclamations cost the city treasury $800 last year.

There were 29 announcements proclaiming a diversity of events from Boxing Day to Secretaries' Week, city council learned Tuesday.

So far this year, there have been 12 proclamations and publishing costs for seven received so far have totalled $156., city manager Wilbur Purcell reported.

His report followed a query at a recent city council meeting on the costs of such announcements.

Mystery Industry Wooed

The city's industrial commission has an X on its newest prospect.

At least that's the way the anonymous industry was named in city council this week.

On the commission's behalf council agreed to a 60-day option for "Client X" to conduct necessary ground tests at the company's expense.

No further details were revealed.

Labor Rep To Toronto

At least one member of the Quinte District Labor Council will travel to Toronto April 10 to participate in a "mass housing lobby," asking for provincial stimulation to the housing industry.

The labor council Tuesday was told a special bus will be chartered to take local unionists to the rally where the government will be told, "more housing means more jobs," said vice-president Gord Young.

Prices Down

There was a drop, due mainly to falling sugar prices, in the cost of monthly foodbasket, according to a Canadian Press Cross-Canada Survey. Sugar fell 48 cents from February's high of $2.82. The foodbasket — 17 basic food items in the survey — cost $16.29 in March, compared with $16.84 a month earlier. Graph shows national average prices for each item in March, and the average total since January, 1974. (CP Newsmap)

Metro's Teachers Ask $17,300 Average

TORONTO (CP) — Negotiators for Metropolitan Toronto's 12,000 elementary school teachers said Wednesday they are seeking average salary increases of 43.8 per cent in a 13-month agreement.

Negotiator Carl Anderson said the average classroom teacher would make $17,300 for the next school year under the proposal.

The teachers stated their proposals at a news conference.

William Ross, chairman of the Metro Toronto school board, said later that he will respond to the teachers' proposal at a news conference today.

Teacher negotiators also state in a newsletter, to be distributed to teachers today, that the total salary package, including fringe benefits, will increase costs of the school board by more than 59 per cent.

The 43.8-per-cent figure is based on the average proposed increases at each step on the grid of teachers' salaries.

The negotiators say average teacher salaries rose 18.3 per cent from August, 1970, to August, 1974, while the Consumer Price Index in a similar period increased 36.7 per cent. They say average weekly wages paid by Ontario firms with 20 or more employees rose 37.5 per cent.

Chief negotiator Pamela Silcox said the salary proposals "are not demands."

"We expect there will be give and take in the negotiations and we don't expect to get this."

She said teachers believe a final agreement may be worked out without strike threats.

Cabinet Postpones Discussion of Strike

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario cabinet Wednesday postponed any discussion of possible legislation to end the Ottawa teachers' strike.

Eric Winkler, chairman of the cabinet's management board, said developments and possible events in the next 36 hours led him to hope a settlement might be reached. He refused to elaborate.

Owen Shime, mediator in the talks between school board and teacher representatives, refused to confirm or deny rumors that he was about to resume talks.

Discussions aligned at ending the 32-day strike by 1,000 Ottawa high school teachers broke off last weekend. The strike affects 26,000 students.

Transit Strike Vote Tonight

By COLIN BRUCE
Staff Reporter

Belleville Transit Commission employees will vote tonight whether to take strike action to back up union wage demands.

Union negotiators began requesting $1.46 an hour increases across the board but subsequently compromised to $1 raises.

Commission negotiators have offered a 75-cent-an hour hood.

Commission chairman Marylea Burtt met with Lawrence St. Pierre of the union, to commission offices Wednesday "for a meeting of minds."

Neither side would comment in detail about the meeting.

A final negotiating meeting has been arranged for today. Neither side would disclose if they were ready to compromise their stand on wages.

In a telephone interview with The Intelligencer, Mr. St. Pierre said, "Thursday's meeting will be a make or break situation."

"If there is no meaningful negotiation, we (the union) will have no alternative but to strike if the requested raise isn't agreed to," said Mr. St. Pierre.

The negotiating teams will begin talks at 6:30 p.m.

Following these discussions, a general meeting of the union has been called for 9 p.m. to vote on any proposal.

If the proposal proves unacceptable, the men will also have to conduct a strike vote.

Though a conciliation "no board" report has been in union hands for three weeks giving legal permission for strike action, the union has yet to conduct a strike vote.

"I want to see them (staff) vote on the contract," said Mrs. Burtt.

She said four drivers will be on routes at the time of the meeting adding "union officials will have to poll their votes."

"They will not be able to leave their buses to attend the meeting," she said.

Industrial Park Main Project in Works Budget

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

City council learned Wednesday night its indebtedness is well within allowable official limits.

The reassurance came as council approved a 1975 capital works budget of $5,527,800 — with servicing of the city's northeast industrial park one of its main spending thrusts.

The budget was approved unchanged from the draft prepared for council's scrutiny by city hall administrative officials.

But since such capital works are underwritten by debenture issues, councillors wanted to know the state of the city's debt structure.

By the end of 1974, Belleville had accumulated $16 million in debenture debts still to be retired in future years, replied city manager Wilbur Purcell.

Frank Morrell, city treasurer, reported Belleville now had a debt ratio of 40-45 per cent of what is officially deemed financially feasible for its size.

The budget quota — which must now go to the Ontario Municipal Board for sanction — will be put to work next year. The debt charges it incurs won't start showing up in the mill rate until 1977.

The budget includes various projects from parks development to new fire and transit equipment and is up about $12.8M from last year.

But the largest single area of expenditure is tied to pushing roads, sewer and water services up towards the industrial park north between the Millcrest area and Highway 401.

These account for about $1,688,500 of the more than $5.5 quota.

In all, the budget calls for $272,000 on roads. Besides the initial phase of the industrial-park servicing — costing $400,000 — this includes Dundas East to Bleecker reconstruction ($100,000) and the balance of funds for the Pinnacle St. extension ($182,000).

A total of $279,800 is marked under local improvements. The projects: Roads — Victoria Ave., William St. to MacDonald Ave. ($222,000). Sanitary sewers — Maple Drive-Gilbert St., $57,800. Sidewalks — not allocated ($100,000).

Watermains — Canniton Road-Adam St. ($70,000).

Belleville Utilities Commission is allocated $170,000 for system extensions and improvements.

Other projects: Two transit buses ($27,500 — the balance covered by grants); Parks improvement ($100,000); Parking Authority ($100,000); fire pumper ($50,000); police radio system ($20,000); city centennial project ($100,000).

Stick'em Up Partner

Dressed as a keystone cop, Trenton pee wee hockey player, Dave Ferguson, 11, looks like he means business as he playfully jabs convict John Livingstone in the ribs. In the mock arrest, one thing was overlooked. Convict Livingstone — a volunteer fireman — was on the same team as the youngster during the fire and police departments benefit game for the Trenton Minor Hockey Association Wednesday. Needless to say, charges weren't pressed and the two went out on the ice before a crowd filled Trenton Community Gardens to tie the game 8-8.

Re-surfacing Not Enough For Many Older City Streets

Rehabilitation of many of Belleville's older neighborhood streets have eroded beyond than may appear, city hall officials indicated Wednesday.

The problem: The bases on many of the old residential streets have eroded beyond recovery. Only total reconstruction can solve the problem.

The optimus came in city council as Ald. Brian Knudsen tried to pry about $50,000 out of the $3.5 million 1975 capital works budget for road resurfacing.

Such a sum, he felt, would "go a long way" to adequately resurfacing problem streets "and not just filling potholes."

Mayor Robin Jeffrey said city officials had found that now when streets in the city's older neighborhoods must be repaired they have to be rebuilt down to the base.

Because of this, added city engineer Joe Angelo simple resurfacing would disappear in several years.

"I just feel it would be a waste of money to put this (expenditure) on some of these streets," he added.

Rape Suspect Surrenders To Tweed Police Constables

A 26-year-old Smiths Falls man charged with rape, who did not appear in court as scheduled during Ontario Supreme Court spring assizes here in March, has surrendered to two officers of the Tweed Police Department.

A department spokesman said today Gerald Alan Giberson turned himself over to Constables Tom Andrews and Barry Wallace at 9:30 p.m. Monday at Mallon Airport near Toronto.

He is being held in custody at the Quinte Regional Detention Centre in Napanee awaiting a decision by the Crown attorney's office here on either a special Supreme Court sitting or to hold the case over to the fall assizes.

Police said, Giberson, originally from Decatur, Ill., was persuaded to surrender by his lawyer, an Illinois state trooper. Giberson had allegedly returned to his home state shortly before his spring trial.

In addition to the rape charge, Giberson had been charged with failing to appear in court and with being unlawfully at large.

He was first charged with the rape of a 17-year-old Toronto area girl last July 20. The alleged incident occurred at about 11.30 p.m. on Colborne St. in Tweed.

Car Rolls, Driver Unhurt

BRIGHTON — Cobourg resident Harper Zacher, 46, escaped injury early today when his car skidded on snow covered Highway 2 west of here and rolled over into a roadside ditch.

Provincial police said today Zacher, sole occupant, was uninjured. Damage to the vehicle was estimated at $700.

The Educators

Modern Teaching Methods Have Role in Church Work

EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the third of a series featuring county educators. The person/ity sketches include teachers, administrators and trustees.

By RON CARSON
Staff Reporter

Roger Heidt, a 26-year-old resource technician with the Hastings County Board of Education, says it's time churches used audio-visual techniques to communicate their message.

It's not often educators in the public school system talk about church in the same breath as Roger Heidt and his wife Heather, a kindergarten teacher, have a dream. They plan to be missionaries with the Fellowship of Evangelical Baptist Churches, a fundamental branch of the Baptist Church.

A graduate of Quinte Secondary School, Roger spent three years at the Ontario Bible College in Toronto. However, he abandoned this study in favor of a communications studio techniques course at Loyalist College. Upon graduation, he joined the school board as a technician in charge of the graphic arts photography section.

In this capacity Roger does all of the still photography, both prints and slides, the darkroom processing as well as layout and design for the board's printing department at the Education Centre.

He takes about 1,000 slides a month for classroom presentations and curriculum development programs. A native of Belleville, he often accompanies a class field trip to take photographs which are used later for further classroom discussions.

He is also called upon to teach students and teachers the fundamentals of photography as well as general knowledge about graphic arts and its role in education.

"I feel that what I have learned here can be a great use to the church . . . the church must start to use and teach with visual aids . . . they can identify with young people much better than traditional methods," explained Roger, who said he wants to return to Bible College to complete his last year.

Roger said he feels his particular talents are needed by the church in the field of missionary work. "We are now considering work in Colombia, South America, as a mission post," he added.

He said developing countries are in great need of people who can teach their teachers how to use graphics as classroom aids as well as photography. He said he is interested in the new philosophy of missionary work whereby missionaries impart their knowledge to the foreign teachers.

A Plan for Education

Roger Heidt, a graphic arts photographer with the Hastings County Board of Education, spends time at the drawing board designing covers, albums and layout work for the board's printing department. The 26-year-old Loyalist graduate has sights set on missionary work.

Oil Expert Stresses Energy Conservation

By JIM SMELLE
Staff Reporter

A senior oil executive said Wednesday there is still an important need to conserve energy supplies in Canada, especially if we hope a remain self-sufficient in the future.

The message delivered to Belleville manufacturers in industry officials Wednesday by Maurice W. Crompton, Ontario public affairs advisor for Imperial Oil Ltd.

Mr. Crompton was keynote speaker for the first Salute to the Manufacturing Industry in Belleville, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Crompton spoke to about 60 people at the Four Seasons Hotel including representatives from about 30 city industries.

He said if Canada is to maintain its position of being the only industrialized country in the non-Communist world able to produce more oil than it consumes, certain measures are going to have to be taken to preserve that supply.

"First, energy is becoming an increasingly precious commodity and should be treated accordingly. Second, the major programs already underway will have to be speeded up to develop our new energy resources," said Mr. Crompton.

Mr. Crompton mentioned two areas of abundant fuel supply in Canada that will prove the key to maintaining our energy position in the world in the future.

"There is the Athabasca Tar Sands in Alberta, the largest proven oil reserve in Canada which has reserves equal to all the world's known conventional reserves.

"Another energy sources lie in the frontier areas — the Arctic and the Continental Shelf off Canada's east coast. The potential oil reserves in these regions total about eight times all the discoveries in Alberta made to date.

"But it must be discovered. Exploration and have transportation facilities installed in the next ten years if we maintain the petroleum industry is going to have to spend some $50 billion towards this. Primarily, this money will be coming from industry earnings and from outside investment, and contingent on the financial health of the industry."

"Energy self-sufficiency is still a viable objective and opportunity for Canada. If we lose this, the alternative is increasing dependence upon foreign energy supplies," said Mr. Crompton.

Industry On Display

The manufacturing industry in Belleville will be in the spotlight for the next three days at Quinte Mall.

From today until Saturday, displays from 17 small industries will be exhibited in the concourse of the mall.

The three-day event termed Salute to the Manufacturing Industry is sponsored by the city's Chamber of Commerce.

Belleville firefighters responded to the following call for assistance during a 24-hour period which ended at 8 a.m. today.

Wednesday, April 2, 7:18 p.m. — false alarm at second floor above Reitman's Store on Front St., reflection of light from fishbowl through front window caused false report.

Grant Approved

PICTON — A provincial government grant of $4,500 toward the purchase of 314 acres of land to expand the Macaulay Mountain conservation area was announced Wednesday.

News of the grant to the Prince Edward Region Conservation Authority was released from the Queen's Park office of James Taylor MLA Prince Edward-Lennox.

An office spokesman says total estimated cost of the additional property is $9,000.

The land to be acquired is part of a property parcel originally purchased from the department of national defence by the provincial government for $1 million. The area is being turned over to the PERCA at a low cost.

The Macaulay Mountain Conservation Area now includes an education and recreational shelter, a ski slope operated by a local club, snowmobile trails, hiking trails and a small pond enjoyed by youngsters as a summer swimming hole.

Candidate Sought

The Ontario Social Credit Party is seeking a candidate to contest the Hastings-Peterborough riding in the next provincial election.

A meeting has been set for April 12 to choose a contestant. Floyd Hastings of Stirling-Rawdon farmer and Socred candidate in Hastings in the last federal election, said recently.

It is the first candidacy announcement by a provincial political party in the new proposed riding. The constituency — joining 10 municipalities in Peterborough County to Hastings — is among electoral boundary changes still to be approved by the legislature.

Mr. Hawley said he will act as campaign manager for the Socred contestant.

King Finds a Fan

Tabitha Mullins had her first interview with royalty at Loyalist Open House Wednesday night, and was absolutely enhanced. She was part of a monarch in a play presented by Ted Bairstow's drama students. Frank Creamer charmed the young lady into believing that he's a king off-stage as well.

Open House Attracts Crowd Despite Storm

Loyalist College probably enjoyed its best open house ever Wednesday, says Ray Connington, open house committee chairman.

"It would seem there were at least as many people this year as last year," he said in an interview today. About 6,000 Quinte area residents attended last year's event, he added.

"We are extremely grateful and pleased that most people did brave the impending evening storm," commented Mr. Connington.

He said the indicators of increased attendance were a fuller parking lot and larger consumption of refreshments. He noted both the Pioneer and Senate buildings had good turnouts and there was a wide circulation of visitors throughout the complex. "The circulation of people was better than most years," he said.

Industrial Belleville

The manufacturing industry in Belleville was spotlighted Wednesday night as the Chamber of Commerce - sponsored Salute to the Manufacturing Industry was kicked off with a dinner at the Four Seasons. Guest speaker, Maurice Crompton, Ontario Public Affairs Advisor with Imperial Oil Ltd., left, watches as Mayor Robin Jeffrey signs book presented to him. Chamber of Commerce director, Harold Edey, looks on.

High-wheeled sulkies, the type in use on Canada's race tracks from the time of confederation to about the turn of the century, will be back for another go at Peterborough's Kawartha Downs, Saturday.

There will be six replicas of the old style bikes in action. The copies are exact in every detail except the original thick wooden spokes have been replaced by thin steel to make the sulkies lighter and faster.

In a new series of Sports Specials, CBC-TV will bring viewers international competition.

The series opens Sunday when England's Grand National Steeplechase and Canada's Fontiac Cup skiing events are featured.

Air time for the 90-minute show is 2.30 p.m.

During the next few months, the schedule calls for highlights from Montreal's dual track meet, Canadian Volleyball Championships, ski jumping, Canadian Open Badminton, Canada Cup Diving, and others.

Montreal Expos return to CBC-TV, Saturday, April 19 when they'll be visiting Pittsburgh Pirates.

April 30, the televised action comes from Philadelphia.

First home game in the series is May 7 when Chicago Cubs are at Jarry Park.

Should Toronto Maple Leafs or CBC-TV, Saturday, April 19 first round National Hockey League playoff action, the opener of the series, Tuesday night, may play second fiddle to the Academy Awards, as far as coverage on the CBC television network is concerned.

Of course, Leafs can bail us out of that predicament by improving their position and meeting say, Boston Bruins. There would be no hockey-Academy conflict then.

Olympics' New Coach Puts Accent on Youth

Late last week, the Belleville Olympics, of the Premier Soccer League, selected their new coach for the 1975 season Manuel Montes was their choice.

Montes played for the Olympics in 1974 and is aware of the problems that face him in whipping the team into a contender this year.

"We just weren't in shape last year," said the new coach. "We lost most of our games in the final 10 minutes of the second half."

The Olympics got off to an incredible start, winning five of their first six games. Then the roof fell in. The second half of the season was disastrous. They never won another game. The squad went from first place to seventh place in the eight team loop.

"Another reason for the poor finish was not enough match practice," said Montes. "One game a week just isn't enough to keep the edge on a team."

This year, the Olympics are planning to play in the Premier League and in the Bay of Quinte Soccer League.

This season though, conditioning won't be the greatest factor in a winning or a losing year. What will hurt the Olympics the most is the boom in soccer in the area.

The Greek Community in the Bay of Quinte area is planning on entering a team in the Premier Soccer League Therefore, several players from last year's Olympics will jump to the new, Trenton based squad. The Italians from around the district have entered a team in the Bay of Quinte Soccer League, so several more players have switched to that team.

Their starting goaltender, Zoltan Vigh, has moved to Toronto, Peter Hiller has left the area, and Stu Mitton has retired. Bob Kitcher is still at college so he is a question mark as is Charlie Nesterovski. Gary Donovan, the junior Olympic starting goalie isn't sure where he will play yet.

Of 19 players with last year's squad, only nine are returning for sure and two of those were regulars with the Junior Olympics and only called up on occasion.

Montes, a former junior national player in Portugal, hopes to remedy the player shortage problem by utilizing the youth of the area. He wants his team to go with mainly young players.

Generals Blanked

Vern Whalen picked up another shutout and Ray Summers had his second two-goal game in a row as Stanley Structures blanked Belleville Generals 5-0 to take a 3-0 lead in their best-of-seven Gas House Hockey League final series.

Mike Geogea, Ross Harrington and Bob Hartington each scored once and Charlie Rowbotham, Wayne Storms and Ron Fuller drew a pair of assists apiece.

The third game in the series is scheduled for Monday at 8.30 p.m. at the Memorial Arena.

Awards for Cats

The Belleville Bobcats held their final official function of the 1974-75 season Saturday night, from 8.30 p.m., at Hillcrest Community Centre, the Cats will hold their season closing dance and presentation of trophies. General Manager, Snipe Matthews will be on hand to present awards for the Most Gentlemanly Player, Most Valuable Player and Rookie of the Year.

The event is open to the public and sponsored by the Bobcat Booster Club. Admission is $1 a person.

Flames Hold Leafs in Check

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Atlanta Flames are still talking about overtaking New York Rangers for a National Hockey League playoff spot but they admit they could use some help from Philadelphia Flyers tonight.

The Flames scored a hard-fought 3-0 win Tuesday night over Toronto Maple Leafs to pulled to within two points of the Rangers in their bid for the third and final playoff berth in the Patrick Division.

"Don't count us out," said goalie Dan Bouchard, who made 45 saves, including 28 in the third period, to shut out the Leafs.

"We have a real good chance at making the playoffs." Bouchard said, but he admits "we have to have some help from Philadelphia", beating the Rangers tonight.

The Flames play host to the Rangers on Friday night and Atlanta completes the season Sunday at Philadelphia. The Rangers' last game is Sunday at home against New York Islanders.

The Islanders, one point ahead of the Rangers and three in front of Atlanta, also have a game at home Saturday against Philadelphia.

There were two other shutouts in NHL action Wednesday, with Washington Capitals beating California Seals 3-0 and Detroit Red Wings blanking Pittsburgh Penguins 5-0. Elsewhere, Los Angeles Kings beat St. Louis Blues 5-2 and Detroit Red Wings whipped Washington Capitals 5-2.

The Kansas City at Chicago game was postponed because of a snow storm.

The Flames' close checking kept Toronto disorganized for most of the first two periods while Rey Komeau scored in the first period, Tom Lysiak in the second and Eric Vail's decisive in the third.

At Montreal, goalie Ken Dryden made only eight saves in the first two periods and 22 in all for his fourth shutout of the season.

After a scoreless first period, the Canadiens opened up with five goals in the second period with Guy Lafleur's 52nd goal of the season starting them off.

The win pushed Montreal into a tie with Buffalo Sabres for the over-all leadership in points. Each has 109.

Vancouver pulled four points clear of St. Louis and five ahead of the idle Black Hawks in the unusual Smythe Division race. The Canucks now lead the division on 84 points with one game remaining. St. Louis has 80 points with two games to go and Chicago has 79 and three games.

Vancouver goalie Ken Lachott scored his second shutout in as many nights against California, Tuesday, he performed in a 7-0 Vancouver win over the Seals.

Lachott made 32 saves while the Canucks managed only 7 shots at the Seals net. Paulin Bordeleau, Leon Rochefort, and Bobby Lalonde each scored his 17th goal of the season.

Frank St. Marseille scored twice and Bob Nevin scored his 20th goal of the season to tie Los Angeles club record in the win over St. Louis.

Nevin's goal gave him 70 points for the season, tying the Kings record held by Juha Widing.

Left winger Danny Grant led Detroit with his 49th and 50th goals, of the season and became only the second Red Wing player to reach the 50 mark. Right winger Mickey Redmond scored 31 goals last season for Detroit.

The top three teams in each of the four NHL divisions qualify for the Stanley Cup playoffs. Division winners receive a bye into the second round; the other eight teams enter a best-of-three first-round series. Pairings are determined by points. The team with most points meets the team with the fewest points, the team with second-most points meets the team with second fewest, and so on.

Today, the following teams would be in the playoffs (division leaders, first-round byes):

|---|---|
| xBuffalo | 109 points |
| xMontreal | 109 points |
| xPhiladelphia | 108 points |
| Los Angeles | 102 points |
| Boston | 93 points |
| Pittsburgh | 87 points |
| NY Islanders | 86 points |
| NY Rangers | 85 points |
| xVancouver | 84 points |
| St. Louis | 80 points |
| Chicago | 78 points |
| Toronto | 77 points |

Atlanta, with 83 points, is the only other team which still could qualify for a playoff berth, should it overtake the Islanders or Rangers in the Patrick Division in this final week of the season.

Reds and Voyageurs Score

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Providence Reds and Nova Scotia Voyageurs each took victories Wednesday night as the American Hockey League opened its quarter-final playoff schedule.

The Reds, behind Bob MacMillan's two goals, downed Springfield Indians 3-1. Providence finished in first place in the Northern Division while Springfield was fourth.

At Rochester, N.Y., Ron Andruff's goal early in the third period gave the Voyageurs a 3-2 win over the Americans and a 1-0 lead in their best-of-seven series. Nova Scotia was third-place finisher in the North and Rochester was second.

Tonight, Springfield and the Reds return to action at Providence and Hershey Bears and Richmond Robins open their quarter-final series.

Friday, Nova Scotia and the Americans play their second game at Rochester, and New Haven Nighthawks and Virginia Red Wings play the first game of their quarter-final.

Larry O'Connor, Hartland Monahan and Jerry Holland scored the Reds' other goals and Dennis Abgrall, Mike Ulrich, Bob Paffhausen and Lorne Stamler replied for Springfield. Doug Gibson and Barry Merrell gave the Americans a 2-0 lead in the first period with a pair of power-play goals. But the Voyageurs stormed back in the second period, getting goals at 2:40 from Guy Delport and at 16:48 from Glenn Goldup to tie the game.

Rochester had a man advantage for four minutes in the second period when a Voyager was sent off with a pair of minor penalties. But the Americans failed to get a shot off in that amount of time.

Pistons in — Bucks Out

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Detroit Pistons have qualified for the National Basketball Association playoffs while Milwaukee Bucks have dropped out.

The Pistons beat Chicago Bulls 97-89 Wednesday night to clinch a wild-card berth in the Western Conference while eliminating the Bucks, finalists last season, from playoff contention.

Elsewhere in the NBA, Seattle SuperSonics beat Kansas City-Omaha Kings 99-96, Washington Bullets beat Houston Rockets 113-85, Boston Celtics defeated Buffalo Braves 95-82 and Phoenix Suns beat Los Angeles Lakers 108-106.

Detroit Pistons have qualified for the National Basketball Association, Kentucky beat Virginia 88-81, New York defeated Memphis 119-97, Utah defeated Indiana 119-113 and St. Louis beat San Diego 124-110.

Detroit used Bob Lanier's 26 points and a balanced attack to defeat Chicago. Curtis Rowe and Howard Porter added 18 each, with Porter coming off the bench in the first quarter to spark the Pistons' attack.

Lanier grabbed seven rebounds to become Detroit's all-time leading rebounder, surpassing Dave Cowens and Havlicek shared scoring honors for Boston with 25 points each.

Elvin Hayes scored 33 points and grabbed 14 rebounds as Washington Bullets improved their record to 58-32 and make their half-game edge over Boston in the race for the Eastern Conference title.

Bob McAdoo paced the Braves with 35 points while scoring honors for Boston with 21 points each.

KC-Omaha Utah remained two games behind Chicago in the Midwest Division.

Jets' Hopes Fading

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

When the World Hockey Association started its third season last fall with a new divisional alignment, the new Canadian Division was expected to be the strongest with at least three and perhaps four of its teams qualifying for the playoffs.

With the playoffs a week away, it appears more likely the Canadians will qualify only the minimum two teams—Quebec Nordiques who clinched the division title Wednesday night and Toronto Toros.

Winnipeg Jets, the only other Canadian squad with a mathematical chance of making it, lost 8-4 Wednesday night to Vancouver Blazers and now face elimination should they lose to the Toros in Toronto on Friday night.

The Nordiques clinched the title with a 5-3 win over Minnesota Fighting Saints while, in Wednesday's only other game, Houston Aeros defeated Cleveland 7-6.

The Western Division, led by Houston with 102 points, appears now to have the best chance of qualifying four teams. The division winner and the second-place finisher in each division qualify plus the two other teams with the highest point-totals.

San Diego Mariners and Minnesota are tied for second spot in the West with 85 points each while Phoenix Roadrunners—an expansion team—are right behind with 84. One of those teams will qualify for the playoffs as the second-place finisher in the West while the other two will likely qualify as the wild-card teams.

Winnipeg has been trying to catch up in the wild-card race but its loss Wednesday left the team with 80 points and only three games remaining.

"Mathematically our hopes are slim but while you're still in the race, you have a chance to win," said Jets coach Rudy Pilous.

While the Jets' playoff hopes fade, Bobby Hull is also running out of time to extend his season's goal total of 75.

He failed to score again Wednesday with Vancouver's Danny Lawson, Larry Irvealson and Bryan Campbell as the checking line to keep Hull off the scoreboard.

But the Blazers checking line also found time to score five goals—three by Lawson and two by Irvealson.

"We've always played a line against Bobby," said Vancouver coach Joe Crozier. "Naturally I put my best forwards against him because he is the best and we'll see who's going to score the most goals."

On Monday, Hull complained that he couldn't understand why teams throw checking lines at him when it tended to reduce the scoring effectiveness of the checkers.

In Minnesota, the Saints took a 3-0 lead and then allowed the Nordiques to rally in the last half.

Serge Bernier's 33rd goal of the season started the Quebec comeback in the second period and Marc Tardif, with his 68th of the season, scored the winning goal late in the third period.

Houston almost gave away its game as well but recovered with late goals by Don Larway and Mark Howe.

The Aeros had a 5-1 lead early in the second period but Cleveland came back to tie the score in the third period.

"We had such a lead there, then we got sloppy," said Houston coach Bill Dineen. "Our defence got caught on the two goals in the second period then got caught again when they tied it."

Playoff Picture

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The top two teams in each of the three WHA divisions qualify for the playoffs, along with two other wild-card teams with the highest point totals. Pairings for the best-of-seven quarter-final playoffs are determined on points, regardless of division standings. The team finishing with the most points in the league meets the team with fewest points; the team with second-most points meets the team with second-fewest points, and so on.

Today, the following teams would be in the playoffs — would qualify as wild-card teams):

|---|---|
| Houston | 102 points |
| Quebec | 90 points |
| New England | 89 points |
| Toronto | 84 points |
| San Diego | 85 points |
| xMinnesota | 85 points |
| xPhoenix | 84 points |
| Cleveland | 71 points |

Winnipeg, with 80 points, is the only other team which could still qualify for a playoff berth should it overtake either of the wild-card teams or Toronto Toros in this final week of the season.

Ottawa May Be Back

OTTAWA (CP) — A group of businessmen interested in bringing professional hockey back to Ottawa says they will make formal application to the World Hockey Association (WHA) for a franchise within a few days.

The group—the Founders Club—say they have been in contact with a number of WHA trustees. The application is primarily a means of soliciting from the WHA conditions for considering Ottawa as a prospect.

"Until we've got a target to shoot for, we're groping in the dark," a spokesman said at a meeting of the club Tuesday night.

Some members complained that it has been difficult to get "hard and fast answers" from the WHA as to what might be necessary, particularly in terms of money.

A seven-member board of directors has been elected from the businessmen who attended the meeting and pledged to invest in the project, the spokesman said.

Fincups Sweep Quarter-final Set

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Hamilton Fincups wrapped up their quarter-final series with St. Catharines Wednesday defeating the Hawks 7-3 and sweeping the series in four straight games.

The Fincups unseated last year's defending champions in the Ontario Hockey Association Major Junior A playoffs, winning the three previous games by scores of 10-1, 8-3 and 3-1.

Hamilton now meets Peterborough Petes, who ended their semi-final series with Oshawa Generals Tuesday, in the other eight-point round. Sterling Hamilton goaltender Greg Redquest was replaced Toronto Marlboros and Kingston Canadians tied 6-6 play-scores in the quarter-finals Friday with Ottawa 67s meeting Sudbury Wolves.

At St. Catharines, a crowd of 1,765 watched Hamilton take a 3-0 first-period lead and a 4-2 margin going into the third period.

Captain Dale McCourt and Ric Seiling led the Hamilton attack with two goals apiece. Greg Clause, Archie King and Glen Richardson got single goals.

Ken Martyn, Bill Hamilton and Gary McAdam replied for St. Catharines, which last season did not lose a playoff game, winning 12 and tieing two.

midway in the first period by Mike Clarke after he was hit with a hard shot in the mask.

Hamilton outshot the Hawks 44-22.

In the second period, Hamilton's Tony Horvath and Hawks' Willie Platt received majors and misconducts, with Horvath also drawing several obscene gestures to the fans and Hawk goaltender Phil Chevrefils swinging his stick at one of the Hamilton spectators.

In the third period, Seiling was given a game misconduct for obscene gestures.

Marlboros 6 Canadiens 6

A goal by Bruce Boudreau late in the third period gave Toronto the tie, which leaves the series tied 3-3 in points.

Kingston led 2-1 and 4-2 after the periods but the lead changed hands twice in the third period before Boudreau's goal.

Mark Napier scored two goals for Toronto and Craig Crawford, Lynn Jorgenson and Ron Wilson got the others.

Kingston goals went to Brad Rhiness, with two, Dave Hynes, Ken Linseman, Alex Forsyth and Barry Scully with one each.

Playing before 846 spectators in Brantford, Kingston outshot Toronto, which finished first in the league standings, 30-32.

Gibson Says He's Ready

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

National League hitters, be on guard; Bob Gibson says he's ready.

"Yeah, I'm ready for the season," said the veteran right hander, who will pitch the baseball opener for St. Louis Cardinals next Monday.

"I'm always ready," he said. "Sometimes the hitting isn't quite sharp. And, when I beg a few close games, they say I'm not ready."

The Cardinals' winningest pitcher, who says he's retiring after this, his 14th full season in the majors, warmed up for the opener by limiting Houston Astros to six hits in an exhibition game Wednesday. But he gave up two runs in the third inning and was charged with the 3-1 defeat.

"You pitch differently" when the season begins, the 39-year-old Gibson said.

In other games Wednesday, Kansas City Royals defeated

BOB GIBSON

Chicago White Sox 5-2, New York Yankees defeated Texas 6-2, Baltimore edged Atlanta 3-2, Philadelphia out-slugged Boston 13-10, Montreal nipped Cincinnati 6-5, Cleveland beat Oakland 11-3, Milwaukee defeated San Diego 5-1, San Francisco beat California 6-4, Chicago Cubs defeated Los Angeles' 9-3 and Pittsburgh blanked Detroit 4-0.

Pitchers Jerry Reuss and Sam McDowell limited Detroit to one hit as Pittsburgh Pirates handed the Tigers their second consecutive shutout.

Hank Aaron hit his first home run of the spring and teammates John Briggs and Gorman Thomas also homered to lead Milwaukee past San Diego.

Grand-slam home runs by veteran Ollie Brown and rookie Alan Bannister in successive innings rallied Philadelphia over Boston. Tony Conigliaro, making a comeback after being out

Foreman "Show" Gets Okay

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Athletic Commission has granted permission for former world heavyweight champ George Foreman a box fest consecutive opponents at Maple Leaf Gardens April 28.

Commissioner Merv McKenzie said Wednesday night permission has been granted for Foreman to box three five-minute rounds against each of the five men.

McKenzie said Ontario rules state a boxer could not have more than one contest or exhibition in a day but there was some doubt about the word exhibition. He said lawyers for the promoters argued that the word exhibition could be interpreted in the plural sense and the commission's lawyer agreed.

Foreman's duties were expected to be announced today in New York.

Bunny Favors Open Tourney

MUNICH, Germany (AP) — ...tours.

John F. (Bunny) Ahearne, British president of the International Ice Hockey Federation, said Wednesday he favors an "open world tournament," for national teams composed of professionals as well as amateurs.

Ahearne said he will officially propose opening the world ice hockey competition to professionals at a meeting of the International Olympic Committee (IOC) next July in Lausanne, Switzerland.

"If the Olympic Congress accepts my proposal, then open tournaments can begin," he said on the eve of the 1975 Group A championships.

However, observers doubted that the IOC would alter it strict stand on amateurism to accommodate such countries as Canada and Sweden, which want pros in their lineups.

The Soviet Union and Czechoslovakia, co-favorites in the 16-day tournament, are strongly opposed to Western teams with professionals. Eastern critics say the Soviet bloc teams are made up of full-time paid players who are whose amateur status cannot officially be disproved.

Ahearne acknowledged that the six-team Group A tournament was a failure because four entrants—the Soviet Union, Czechoslovakia, Sweden and Finland—have far outstripped other ice-hockey countries, including the remaining two entrants, the United States and Poland.

LOS ANGELES (Reuter) — Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Inc. filed a lawsuit in United States Superior Court here Friday seeking $1 million in damages against the Associated Television Network of England and the Independent Television Corp. of Maryland.

MGM alleges that the two companies are planning a television science fiction series entitled Space: 1980 and that the title is similar to MGM's award-winning film 2001: A Space Odyssey, and constitutes misappropriation of property rights.

The company said it had spent $8 million advertising the space film and that it planned to produce a television series of its own based on the movie.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Academy Award-winning director [illegible] has filed a $2.8-million suit against Warner [illegible] he says is a film for The Exorcist.

Friedkin, who won an Oscar for The French Connection, filed the suit in United States Superior Court Thursday, alleging breach of contract and fiduciary duty, fraud and usury.

The suit says the movie has grossed $60 million to date and netted $40 million. Friedkin said his contract called for a fee of $225,000 and 10 per cent of the film's net profits.

He contended the $3.8-million figure is conservative because a full accounting might put the claim higher.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet cellist Mstislav Rostropovich will become music director and conductor of the National Symphony Orchestra beginning with its 1977-78 season.

David Lloyd Kreeger, president of the National Symphony Association, announced Friday that Rostropovich will succeed Antal Dorati, who may remain with the orchestra as principal guest conductor.

"The entire board of the National Symphony, as well as the members of the orchestra, are thrilled that our negotiations came to a satisfactory conclusion," Kreeger said.

Rostropovich, 48, came to the West six months ago along with his wife, opera singer Galina Vishnevskaya, in protest over lack of artistic freedoms in the Soviet Union.

"He's coming to be a conductor, not a composer," he said. "We expect to be sailing between three and four million in two years."

While rain lashed the roof of his Silver Shadow Rolls Royce wailing in the driveway below, he contemplated a photo of his 46-foot Thames cruiser, Vesta Demilte.

"It means 'Take your clothes off' in Latin," he laughed through a crescent of black moustache and beard. "I had the nuns translate it for me."

London visitors recognize Raymond's name from the Raymond Revuebar- a lavish Soho strip club. Currently packing them in three shows a night at $10 a head is an act called The Climax, featuring a quintet of French beefcake and cheesecake unaided by the wardrobe department in a frenzy of pulsating music and exploding strobe lights.

"I'm an entertainer, not a pornographer," said the 48-year-old millionaire. "I cater to your average bloke who wants a bit of fantasy on his night out."

Besides the Revuebar and the two British girlie publications, Men Only and Club International, he holds long leases on three West End theatres including the famous Windmill, dear to British memories as the theatre that never closed and for its nudes that never moved.

Raymond rescued the run-down house from the oblivion of Swedish sex films and instated his great and good friend Fiona Richmond in a sex farce with a pre-retitled unprintable title.

Even so, most London newspapers saw fit to print the title in advertisements while their critics dismissed it as "mindless," "witless," "lacking and vulgar beyond belief"

Miss Richmond, whose generously contoured coastline is on display in the show, recently was named the other woman in a $700,000 divorce settlement made to Raymond's ex-wife, Jean, after a sensational trial.

Dan Iver of a West Country vicar, Miss Richmond writes a monthly column for Men Only describing her sexual adventures about the globe.

Moose Loose

Sixty-two-year old Tony Bubenik makes his living pretending he's a caribou, moose or deer. Bubenik has made a living out of studying the reaction of animals to antlers, and sometimes his been dangerous. Like the time he was charged by a 1,000 pound bull moose, or when a hunter thought he was the real thing. (CP Wirephoto)

British Have Their Own Hugh Hefner

LONDON (AP) — Sipping champagne from a cut-glass goblet in his penthouse with the sliding roof and the fountains that change color with the music, the British version of Hugh Hefner disdained any comparison.

"Hefner is preoccupied with sex as a philosophy. I'm occupied with it as a business," insisted nude impresario Paul Raymond, who has just invaded the United States with Club, a Playboy-type magazine that sold out its first issue.

"The press run was $60,000

Your Horoscope

By BERNICE BEDE OSOL

Friday, April 4

ARIES (March 21-April 19) A last-minute switch in tactics will deprive you of the brass ring you could have grabbed if things went as planned.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Be careful today you don't slight an old friend to make points with a new one whose worth is yet unknown.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Someone is going to give you important information to pass on. Write it down or you may not relay it accurately.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) If yours using equipment or tools today that belong to another, be sure you know how they work before you throw the switch.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Your mate is going to be irritated by your actions today when you do the exact opposite of what you agreed to.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Your most productive time is early in the day. Toward evening you tend to be more careless than usual with tasks or assignments.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) If you're going out with friends tonight, decide how much you want to spend. Undisciplined fun and games will be too expensive.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Don't spring unexpected guests in you: mate today or you're likely to find the welcome mat pulled from under your feet.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You're apt to make some changes in social plans that will inconvenience others more than you think. They'll let you know about it.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) When you draw funds for the weekend, take a little extra to be prepared for anything unexpected.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Don't depend on an influential acquaintance you've met recently. He's not prepared to do as much for you as you'd hoped.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Think before you speak today or you may unwittingly leave another with a very poor impression. You have a tendency to put your foot in your mouth.

Blood Test Shows Marijuana Users

By G. C. THOMPSON

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is there a test that tells whether or not a person has been using marijuana? I heard that there is, but my girlfriend says no.— E. F. Y.

Yes, there is such a test. In fact, it is discussed in a recent report from the Journal of the American Medical Association. Researchers report on development of a test based on the presence of certain antibodies in the bodies of smokers. These antibodies are produced in response to cannabis metabolites.

The test was discovered quite by accident in treatment of a patient with a blood disease known as autoimmune hemolytic anemia. The patient had suffered a sudden and severe attack of this disease.

Doctors asked him to list everything he had eaten, drunk, or smoked just prior to his attack. He admitted to smoking marijuana, and did the doctors a favor, once to think of it, he had previous attacks when he smoked it.

He was given a blood test to see if he had developed antibodies to marijuana. He had. Tests were run on 17 volunteers who were also users, to find antibodies to the marijuana metabolites.

Researchers say the test is so sensitive that even a whiff of smoke breathed as one passes a room in which people are smoking marijuana can trigger a positive finding. As far as I know, the test is still only in experimental use.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 28 and just had a hysterectomy. I feel weak, get cold easily, and feel lazy most of the time. The doctor told me that after my full recovery I would need hormones. Do I really need those tests?—Mrs. D. T.

Normally, a hysterectomy (removal of the uterus only) shouldn't cause more than the temporary weakness associated with any major abdominal surgery. But if the ovaries were removed at the same time, which seems to be the case with you, you would enter what is called "surgical menopause." Persistent symptoms of fatigue and changes in body temperature are common in this.

The hormones would make up for those formerly produced by the now-removed ovaries. The sudden loss of the natural hormone supply is what causes the symptoms you describe.

If these symptoms persist you should certainly take the hormones, either by injection or orally.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Can you tell me if, when a person is operated on for tumor of the bowel, that is called transverse colectomy or splenectomy?—H. M.

A transverse colectomy would be excision of a portion of the large intestine, the portion that runs from right to left at about the midpoint of the abdomen. Beginning at the appendix (in the lower right portion of the abdomen), the colon makes three sides of a square—up, across and down. The portion running across is the transverse section.

A splenectomy is removal of the spleen, and this has nothing to do with a colectomy, although the operations may be performed in the same surgery.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I would like to know if mas ever develops breast cancer?

Also, is it possible for a man to nurse a baby? I heard somewhere that in some foreign country, when a woman dies in childbirth, the husband nurses the baby. Is is true?—Mrs. F.

Cancer in the male breast is extremely rare. Men do develop lumps in their breasts, but these are almost always non-malignant.

As to your second question, nursing a baby can develop breast tissue, but they lack the hormonal machinery to produce milk.

Electronic Blackboard Is Useful

MILTON KEYNES, England (CP) — A remote blackboard which can transmit writing and drawings by telephone has proved to be picked up on an ordinary television set, has been developed by Britain's Open University.

Students will be able to look at diagrams, graphs and formulas drawn over the phone by their tutor and immediately discuss them with him what has been drawn.

The Open University, based in the southern England community, offers degree courses to those who would not normally have the chance of higher education because of full-time employment or family responsibilities. Much of the teaching is done by correspondence, supplemented by television and radio.

The university hopes the blackboard and telephone tutorials will improve contact between students and their mentors who are scattered throughout the United Kingdom.

The blackboard uses an electronically-wired pen and sketch pad, so that the movement of the pen across the paper is turned into sounds. These are transmitted and received by telephone. At the receiving end a device decodes the sounds and reproduces on a television screen.

Opening lead — 4♠

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY

A rubber bridge player would be out to lunch with today's hand. He would be delighted with his slam. After drawn trump he would concede a diamond and go one down to the next rubber after scoring 1,370 points.

A duplicate player would not risk his slam, but would undoubtedly give himself a chance to score an overtrick that would be worth an extra 'match point or two.

He would rise with the ace of spades in his hand. Then he would draw trumps with three leads while leaving the five spot in dummy and the six and four in his own hand.

Then he would lead his jack of hearts. If East ducked he would rise with dummy's ace, lead a diamond and give up on seven tricks. But if East covered South would score his extra trick.

He would start Operation Extra Trick by running spades so as to discard one diamond. Then he would overtake dummy's five of trumps with his six, cash his last trump and discard dummy's diamond.

West would never been squeezed with his ace of diamonds and long hearts and South would have scored the extra 20 points.

CP News Roundup

Hydro Workers Get More

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario Hydro and the 13,000-member Local 1000, Canadian Union of Public Employees, have negotiated an agreement giving hourly-rated employees a nine-per-cent salary increase this year and salaried employees increases ranging from six to seven per cent.

If ratified, it would make the maximum rate for tradesmen $7.78 an hour from April 1 of this year and the minimum $8.69 in 1976.

The settlement gives a group of salaried staff including clerk stenographers and keypunch operators $208.71 a week from April 1 of this year and a 8½ per-cent increase by April 1, 1976.

Want Money

SUDBURY, Ont. (CP) — Chief Inspector Nebenknupf says the Whitefish Lake Indian reserve wants the $200,000 out-of-court settlement it received last year from the International Nickel Co. of Canada Ltd. (Inco).

The money, awarded for damage caused by sulphur dioxide fumes from Inco's smelting operations, is in a trust fund in Ottawa.

Rabies Bad

CARLETON PLACE, Ont. (CP) — A recent outbreak of rabies in this area about 25 miles west of Ottawa is the worst in seven years, says an official of the health of animals branch of the federal agriculture department.

Check Health

TORONTO (CP) — Leo Bernier, Ontario natural resources minister, has told representatives of the United Steelworkers of America (USWA) that the government will conduct a medical survey of all workers laid off at the Canadian John-Manville Reeves Mine in Timmins, Ont., the USWA said Wednesday.

Loan Limit Up

WINNIPEG (CP) — Barney Danson, minister of urban affairs, announced Wednesday a rise in the size of National Housing Act (NHA) insured loans that will be approved for mortgages on new housing.

He said that in all parts of Canada, NHA loans of up to $40,000 may be obtained for both rental and home-ownership housing, and in many cases the limit is considerably higher.

Trip Flops

BRAMPTON, Ont. (CP) — After barely making the first two miles of a 500-mile attempt to get to the North Pole by motorcycle from his base camp in the North-west Territories, a 20-year-old Brampton man has been forced to abandon the trip, the camp radio operator said Wednesday.

Paul Ross of Toronto, the radio operator, said that Jim Taylor, who believed a motorcycle could succeed better than dog sleds or snowmobiles on such a trip, found snowdrifts near his camp on the tip of Ellesmere Island too deep for the vehicle.

Lewis Seeks Profit

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario NDP leader Stephen Lewis is trying to sell his house in the borough of Scarborough for $159,500—more than double what he and his wife paid for it five years ago.

They bought the old stone house near the Scarborough Bluffs for $78,000.

Ruling Upheld

TORONTO (CP) — The divisional court dismissed an appeal Wednesday by Becker Milk Co. Ltd. of decisions finding four store operators were employees, not independent businessmen, and entitled to various payments from the company.

No Compensation

ALLISTON, Ont. (CP) — The Ontario government has no plans to compensate farmers whose land is permanently zoned for agricultural use, Robert Eaton, parliamentary assistant to Agriculture Minister William Stewart, said Tuesday.

"We are committed to preserving agriculture in this province, but we are not committed to sustain any speculative potential in farm land," Mr. Eaton said.

Ban Urged on Strikes Affecting Food Industry

ALLISTON, Ont. (CP) — A ban on strikes affecting the food distribution industry has been advocated by the legislative assistant to Ontario's agriculture minister.

Robert Eaton, Conservative member of the legislature for Middlesex South, told a meeting of Alliston-area service clubs Tuesday that "farmers need a guarantee they are not going to lose their shirts" when strikes stop the delivery of food.

"Any labor contract in the food distribution system should not be allowed to run out unless a settlement is reached," he said.

"If a negotiated settlement is not reached before the deadline, strikes should be ruled out, and the matter referred to compulsory arbitration."

Alliston is about 20 miles southwest of Barrie.

Rate to Fall

WINNIPEG (CP) — The chief economist of the Royal Bank of Canada said Wednesday that the prime lending rate in Canada likely will continue to decline over the next few months, reaching a low in the range of 7½ to eight per cent.

Ralph Sultan of Montreal said the decline can be expected to continue to run parallel to the situation in the United States, where the prime lending rate has dipped sharply in the last four months.

Plan Plant

OTTAWA (CP) — Shell Canada Ltd. said Wednesday it still hopes to have a plant built by 1982 to extract synthetic crude from the Alberta oil sands.

Japanese Fling

EDINBURGH (CP) — Schoolteacher William Clement, 31, has been chosen for a two-week trip to Japan to instruct folk dancers in Scottish country dancing. The Japanese group, which has been studying Scottish dancing for years, wants to be sure everything is letter-perfect for a state visit by the Queen and Prince Philip in May.

Feels His Oats

SELBY, England (CP) — Arab stallion Silvadoris was given champagne on his 21st birthday recently, to celebrate his amazing virility. He mates with 60 mares a season—twice the average of younger stallions. "The secret is in his oats," says farmer John Williamson, of Selby, Yorkshire.

Mounties List 355 Crime Bosses

TORONTO (CP) — The Globe and Mail says that an RCMP official said organized crime in some form has reached all parts of Canada and that the RCMP has listed 355 people it feels can be classified as major organized crime figures.

The newspaper quotes Supt. Jack Routledge, head of the RCMP's national crime intelligence branch, as saying "there are certain individuals within Canadian society that do in fact have connections with widely-publicized criminals."

"In the last two to three years, we have developed intelligence which led to the conviction of 51 of these 355 subjects," The Globe and Mail quotes him as saying in a recent briefing for some senior employees of the federal government.

The newspaper says Supt. Thomas Flanagan of the Ottawa police said a Montreal criminal organization has tried to move in on illegal gambling in Ottawa and has tried to get interests in local entertainment spots.

He said the organization is supplying vending machines and such food as meat and cheese to local restaurants, the newspaper says.

Karpov Is Awarded World Chess Crown

AMSTERDAM (AP) — The International Chess Federation failed to send word he would play the Russian challenger under rules voted by the federation.

The action by FIDE (Federation internationale des Echecs) was expected. Fischer's acceptance or rejection of the rules was due in Amsterdam by midnight Tuesday, but FIDE President Max Euwe of the Netherlands extended the deadline for 24 hours on the slight chance that the eccentric American would not pass up his chance to win $3,375,000.

However, Euwe announced Wednesday that if the second deadline passed and Fischer did not accept, the title would go to Karpov.

Fischer has kept away from reporters for some time and his whereabouts are a mystery. But a chess expert close to him said Tuesday that Fischer felt his principles were at stake and he would not relent.

Cut Taxes or Sell More Shell Recommendation

OTTAWA (CP) — A major oil company suggested Wednesday that governments should either lessen royalties and taxes on the industry or abandon plans to reduce exports to the United States.

Shell Canada Ltd. said federal taxes and provincial royalties draw off funds that could be used for exploration in the North or development of the Alberta oil sands.

"A restriction of exports by formula or any other means simply imposes a third drain on industry's resources for reinvestment," the company said in a brief to the National Energy Board.

But Shell said improving prices and easing the tax and royalty levies on the companies would "work to offset the deleterious aspects of the export

Ford Has New Code On Ethics Drafted

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford has had a new ethical code drawn up for all White House employees and they have been asked to attend 90-minute briefing sessions to make sure they understand it.

The eight-page code spells out ethical concepts and legal restrictions in such areas as conflicts of interests, acceptance of gifts, political activities and contact with regulatory agencies.

After the code and a packet of federal statutes were distributed to White House employees, staffers were asked to attend one of several 90-minute briefings initiated by chief of staff Donald Rumsfeld and the White House counsel's office.

Most of the 800 White House staffers have attended one of the briefings, Jerry Jones, staff assistant to Ford, said. Another briefing will be held for the rest, about 100, he said.

Jones said that there has always been a written standard of conduct for White House staffers, but that many portions of it were vague and had to be rewritten.

"Everyone" is terribly concerned about this, given what we've gone through in the last three years," Jones said in a reference to the Watergate scandal during the administration of Richard Nixon.

Plumptre Is Worried, Board Respectable

OTTAWA (CP) — Beryl Plumptre, chairman of the food prices review board said Wednesday that she is worried because the board has become respectable.

"These months of being under attack in the media and in the House of Commons, we suddenly began to receive bouquets instead of bricks," Mrs. Plumptre said in a speech prepared for delivery to the Ottawa Board of Trade.

"This transition was certainly a pleasant change of pace," she said. "But respectability can have disadvantages."

She described the new-found respectability as "a terrible thing that happened to the board about six months ago."

"It raises the possibility . . . that our work will start to be treated with the same benign respect, and neglect, that is accorded the reports of so many government agencies and commissions."

That would be regrettable "because there remain a number of important issues relating to food production, distribution and consumption which we wish to bring to the attention of the public before our mandate expires and we close shop on Dec. 31."

Columnist Predicts Davis Will Call Election This Spring

TORONTO — The Belleville Intelligencer learned today Ontario will probably have a general election this spring.

Writing his Queen's Park column, Don O'Hearn of the The Davis government will defy Ottawa by putting in a system of off-track betting.

Previously, most observers have been looking for a vote this fall or even next spring.

Insiders now say it will be held by mid-June at the latest.

Developments this week triggered speculation.

One was the announcement of the starting date of the new Ontario lottery.

Second was the announcement by Health Minister Frank Miller of a $650,000 program aimed at problem drinkers.

They are the type of action that is looked for from a government in advance of an election.

Sinčé these announcements, sources close to the premier and the government have confirmed that a spring vote is now probable.

They add that Ontario can expect an announcement on off-track betting any day now, possibly in Monday's budget speech.

Ontario has been pressing to start those betting shops for more than two years—but the federal government has refused to date to amend the Criminal Code to make them legal.

From time to time, the province has hinted that it may go ahead on its own, challenging Ottawa's jurisdiction—but now has apparently decided to do so.

In choosing a spring date for the election, the premier appears to have much more to gain than to lose.

Both civil servants and school teachers have been trying to mount campaigns against him but would have little time for preparation before a spring election.

Also, opposition parties are really not in shape for an early vote.

By waiting through this summer, the premier could lose momentum and give his opponents opportunity to organize.

Well, Skiing Is Fine

By NAN WHITLAW
Staff Correspondent

BANCROFT — Greg Hilton has mixed emotions about the current weather turnabout.

The manager of the Mount Madawaska Ski Hill, 40 miles north of here, was set to close for the season Wednesday.

But today Mr. Hilton is encouraging skiers to take advantage of the eight inches of fresh snow that has fallen on his ski runs.

There is, Mr. Hilton admits, one problem for anyone wanting to polish their skiing form on Mount Madawaska — getting there.

The Bancroft OPP detachment reports all North Hastings roads are heavily snow-covered, and are advising against all but the most essential traffic.

This Is April?

Now that Fahrenheit has become Celsius and mile will soon become a kilometre, could it be that our April this year is really March or even January. You'd think so judging by the 10 inches of snow that is blanketing the city! Loyalist student, Peter Vanderhaden voices the thoughts of many residents wondering if perhaps the calendars are just a bit mixed up.

138 Orphans Die In Flaming Plane

SAIGON (AP) — The world's largest plane, carrying 243 Vietnamese orphans on a secret flight ordered by U.S. President Ford, crashed in flames shortly after take-off from Saigon today.

United States officials said the air force C-5A Galaxy transport was carrying 290 persons and that 166 orphans and 18 U.S. Air Force personnel survived.

Hospital officials said at least 73 persons were known dead, including 40 orphans, 25 women and eight men. They said 30 others still were trapped in the bottom of the plane.

The pilot said the crash was due to decompression problems caused by a malfunction in the rear loading door.

The headquarters of the 13th Air Force in the Philippines refused to comment on reports that the plane's departure from Manila earlier today had been delayed by mechanical trouble.

U.S. officials in Washington said it was the first fatal crash of a C-5A which the Air Force has been flying since 1970.

An embassy spokesman said the plane was carrying 243 orphans, 44 persons escorting the children, and an air force crew of 10.

He said most of the escorts were Americans, relatives of children adopted recently and attached to the embassy.

The plane, the biggest in the world, was rushed to Saigon today from Clark air force base in the Philippines to inaugurate a U.S. government airlift of 2,- 000 Vietnamese war orphans to the United States.

The plane took off from Saigon's Tan Son Nhut air base at 4:10 p.m. and was 18 miles northeast of Saigon when the pilot reported that he has having decompression problems and would return to Tan Son Nhut.

As he was coming in, the embassy said, he left wing caught fire and exploded and the plane crashed a mile and a half short of the air base at 4:45 p.m.

Helicopters from Air America, the U.S. charter airline, and the 25th Vietnamese air force picked up the survivors and rushed them to the Seventh-day Adventist hospital in Saigon.

The children aboard the first flight were reported to be six to 12 months old. Most of them came from an orphanage operated by the Friends for All Children agency, which has headquarters in Boulder, Colo.

The babies were packed into the plane—19 of them in seats that normally accommodate three adults on the upper passenger deck; strapped to the floor on the lower cargo deck, the United States.

What Happened to Rush-hour?

Noon rush-hour on Belleville's Front St. was wiped out Thursday as worst storm of the year in Southern Ontario swept into city, obscuring visibility and slowing what traffic there was to a crawl. All available public works crews worked around the clock in efforts to keep city streets unplugged. But storm swept back in this morning and by 8 a.m. the filtration plant estimated a total 10 inches of snow had fallen on the city.

High Winds, Heavy Snow Pile Drifts on Area Roads

By RON CARSON
Staff Reporter

Winds between 25 and 40 m.p.h. swirled across county roads and highways today piling snow into four-foot drifts in some areas. All OPP detachments in both Hastings and Prince Edward Counties are advising motorists to stay off highways as work crews struggled to clear roads.

Snowfalls in Hastings and Prince Edward Counties and Lennox and Addington Counties ranged from 7½ inches in Picton to 24 inches in Kaladar, Belleville received about 10 inches, Trenton 8.6 inches, Tweed about 18 inches and Marmora 11 inches.

A spokesman from CFB Trenton weather station said today the three-day storm is probably the worstever to hit this area during April. He said the previous snowfall record for April was 4.5 inches at Trenton.

Most county secondary and elementary students went back on temporary Easter holidays as a majority of buses were not running in Prince Edward and Hastings. All separate schools were closed today to both counties while the Hastings County Board of Education was offering classes today for those students who could make it.

Most meeting and activities in Belleville were cancelled today. But the annual three day Shrine Prowess Hockey tournament, which begins today, and involves 32 teams from Windsor to Ottawa, has not been cancelled. Tournament director Don Gavey said it's definitely going on.

The Trenton weatherman said the snow is expected to end today but that high winds will continue through the night. Skies should be sunny for Saturday.

The Weather

Synopsis: Heavy winds are expected to cause drifting snow through much of southern Ontario today, diminishing in some areas by nightfall. In other regions, drifting snow may continue into Saturday with temperatures about 10 degrees below seasonal norms.

Ford, Kissinger Confer

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — President Ford and State Secretary Henry Kissinger began a series of conferences today to seek a solution to problems in South Vietnam.

Testimony Sought

YELLOWKNIFE, N.W.T. (CP) — Legal action was ordered Thursday in an attempt to get testimony from reluctant witnesses for an inquest into the Dec. 20 crash of a Pinnacle Oils Ltd. Lockheed Electra which claimed 32 lives. The plane's co-pilot David Hutton and flight engineer Gary Weyman, the only survivors, live outside the North West Territories beyond the jurisdiction of the inquest and have refused to appear voluntarily. Thursday, Coroner Walter England instructed Crown lawyer Ed Brayden to ask supreme courts in British Columbia, Alberta and Saskatchewan, the provinces where the witness reside, to establish commissions to hear relevant testimony.

Five Deaths Reported in Ontario

By The Canadian Press

A violent winter storm that rampaged across Ontario and Quebec Thursday slammed into the Maritimes today with near-hurricane force winds and heavy snow.

...enough mostly clear, cold weather was forecast for Central Canada today, more than a foot of snow was expected in parts of the Maritimes.

Strong winds battered Nova Scotia and heavy snow was falling in New Brunswick with up to 10 inches already recorded in some parts of the province. Heavy snow was also reported falling in Prince Edward Island.

In Halifax, the winds topped several trees and branches littered city streets. A fully-laden gypsum carrier with 40 persons aboard was forced aground on a beach in Halifax harbor early today. Tugs were standing by and rescue officials said the crew was in no immediate danger.

Fredericton reported 12 inches of snow by early this morning and all schools in the Moncton area were closed.

At least five persons died in storm-related traffic accidents in Ontario Thursday as the storm lashed communities in Central Canada with between six and 12 inches of snow.

Winds gusting up to 50 miles an hour whipped up snowdrifts closing schools, snarling traffic and cutting electrical power.

The Welland canal was blocked when the 720-foot bulk carrier, J. W. McGillis, owned by Canada Steamship Lines Ltd., became lodged in the rocky east bank at Allenburg, Ont., in high winds.

St. Lawrence Seaway Authority officials said the ship was taking water in two tanks forward tanks and was to be taken to a wharf for a full inspection.

The Montreal area received 12 inches of snow as well as freezing rain. Many drivers were forced to abandon their cars.

In the West, Winnipeg was bright and sunny with more of the same expected today. In Saskatchewan, snow already on the ground was whipped into high drifts by winds gusting to 37 m.p.h., with temperatures near the freezing mark. Similar conditions were expected today.

Alberta reported some scattered snowflurries and overnight lows of -15 British Columbia was mainly cloudy Thursday with showers on the coast and sunny skies elsewhere.

Montreal International Airport managed to keep one run way open during the day, but Air Canada cancelled all flights.

Toronto International Airport shut down at 4:30 p.m. EST. Air Canada ran into problems because of a lack of glycol—a chemical used to prevent icing on plane wings—when trucks with additional supplies from Sarnia, Ont., were delayed by snow-clogged highways.

'President Thieu is busy preparing for the battle of Saigon'

Saigon's Prospects Seem Dim

WASHINGTON (AP) — The North Vietnamese command is pouring more than 1,000 fresh troops a day into South Vietnam in an apparent buildup for a final blow, United States intelligence sources report.

Unlike President Ford, intelligence specialists are pessimistic about South Vietnam's prospects. They also are doubtful the Cambodian capital of Phnom Penh can long withstand the assault by the Khmer Rouge.

Ford said Thursday that "at the moment, I do not anticipate the fall of South Vietnam. I am an optimist despite the sad and tragic events we see unfolding."

Ky's Backers Rounded Up

SAIGON (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu's regime reported today the second roundup of supporters of former Premier Nguyen Cao Ky on charges of plotting to overthrow Thieu.

The number of persons arrested could not be learned immediately, but they included Nguyen Thien Nhon, Ky's chief assistant.

Saigon and Viet Cong Seek Aid

Two Canadian Flights To Rescue 500 Children

By GEORGES KOLESNIKOVS
The Canadian Press

Canada has joined the worldwide rescue effort to evacuate thousands of war orphans out of embattled South Vietnam.

Three hundred families in Ontario and 200 in Nova Scotia indicated their desire to adopt the children within hours of the announcement Thursday that 500 orphans will be brought to Canada.

The Quebec government has said it will arrange adoption for about 180 orphans. Other provinces also are expected to participate.

At least two flights from Canada to South Vietnam are planned immediately with each to bring back 250 infants and young children. The first was expected to leave for Saigon today.

More flights may be arranged if more Canadians express interest in adopting children from the war-torn Southeast Asia country.

The Canadian rescue effort was initiated by groups of private citizens with the key liaison role being played by a young woman who wishes to remain unidentified.

The federal and Ontario governments agreed Thursday to provide funds for the airlift.

The Canadian action comes as similar rescue efforts are being made by the United States and other countries.

U.S. President Ford said Thursday that $2 million will be diverted from a special children's fund he fly 2,000 orphans to the U.S. West Coast in air force airplanes.

Australian Prime Minister Gough Whitlam announced today that his government has chartered a jumbo jet to evacuate about 250 Vietnamese orphans destined for adoption by Australians.

In Britain, the government Thursday donated $237 million to help refugees, especially children, while London Daily Mail said it was chartering a plane to fly 150 orphans out of South Vietnam.

More than 8,000 Britons were reported to have offered to take in Vietnamese orphans.

The Australian government said it would donate $1.8 million for refugee relief in South Vietnam.

In Geneva, the United Nations Children's Fund called for full government to contribute funds to help the suffering children in areas controlled by both Saigon and the Viet Cong.

A UN spokesman said Saigon has asked for emergency assistance for one million children while the Viet Cong sought aid for two million.

Cambodian Regime Throws in Reserves

PHNOM PENH (AP) — The Cambodian government gathered 1,000 ill-assorted troops and rushed them to an area of rice fields six miles northwest of the centre of Phnom Penh today in an attempt to blunt a Khmer Rouge drive that threatened to punch through to the city's northern outskirts.

Field reports said the government and Khmer Rouge forces were outside Phnom Penh's defence perimeter toward the airport north of the city and toward the town of Prek Phnoo to the north.

Acadian Culture Is Facing Crisis

CHURCH POINT, N.S. (CP) — Signs of a draining culture: A French-speaking priest, assigned to Acadian parishes in southwestern Nova Scotia, finds he has to give sermons in English because some of his parishioners have trouble following him in French.

French speaking teachers teach French-speaking students—in English.

A fisherman in a local tavern passes during a narrative in French. "Thank you," he says automatically to the French speaking waiter bringing another round.

In the Acadian community grouped in a series of trim villages along the shore of the Bay of Fundy, a culture preserved over more than 300 years is visibly reding.

Leaders of the community, encompassed in the municipality of Clare, say that what is happening here is a lesson to stresses on Acadian language and culture throughout the province.

Over the last few years, a sense of urgency has taken many of the municipality's 9,000 residents in a movement to rediscover and protect their heritage.

It is concern that touches more than 30,000 other French-speaking persons in Nova Scotia. Acadians, largest grouped in the three municipalities, comprise five per cent of the province's population of 800,000.

"The tragedy is," said Bryan Empson, an assistant history professor at College Sainte-Anne and a French-speaking Acadian, "that not many people know how threatened their culture is—how quickly the language is vanishing."

College Sainte-Anne is the rallying point in the battle for Acadian survival. Founded, a small bilingual university, it has been the touchstone of tradition in the area from its founding by Acadiat priests in 1890.

Since Louis Comeau took over as president in 1971, the college has been prodding Acadians into a new awareness of their past, and through an array of technical and professional courses, is offering them new areas of growth.

The institution once was on the brink of closing and Mr. Comeau does not hesitate to say what the consequences would have been.

"I'm as convinced as I'm sitting on this chair that if the college had folded—as if it had not maintained its hilingual character—the whole Acadian culture of the region would disappear in a very short time."

It is not hard to find agreement. Donald Smith, warden of surrounding Clare municipality who also is one of the administrative vice-presidents, said if the college had closed, "I'm sure many of the young people would soon have been completely assimilated into English language and customs."

A priority in buttressing the Acadian way of life, Mr. Comeau said, is to revive the current situation in the four local Acadian high schools, which he described as "not the same programs as English-language schools."

English remains, the prime language of instruction, despite the fact students and most teachers are French-speaking.

Gerard D'Entremont, a former warden of Clare and member of the local school board, said the board is reluctant to reduce the status of English in instruction. "They would immediately if with grade the courses deficient."

Contributing problems are a shortage of local qualified French teachers and a lack of French books in Clare. What books are of potential use are from France or Quebec, which Mr. Comeau said often are not compatible with texts in English-language schools in the province and sometimes of little relevance to Maritimers.

The Acadian youth, speaking French at home and English at school, currently is trapped between two cultures.

Not confident of their written or spoken French, nor of their English, the students tend to aim for higher education" he said.

The most recent statistics available show that for the four years between 1966 and 1968, only 30 per cent of Acadian boys in Clare completed high school, compared with 42 per cent of English-speaking boys in the neighboring municipality of Yarmouth. The figure for Acadian girls was 51 per cent, compared with 65 per cent in Yarmouth.

"I'm convinced language is the reason," Mr. Comeau said. "The situation is sad because these people cannot really develop their full potential. It is a fact that the young people in a way are neither French nor English."

Mr. Comeau said the figures are what convinced him to "move swiftly on the teacher education program. Because this will really have an effect."

The process of reinforcing the French or Acadian students at the college is not an easy one.

Dominique Aucoutu'rier, in her second year of lecturing in commerce and nursing from France, said one of Sir early feelings was frustration.

"When I first arrived here the Acadians kept asking me to teach them in English—not because they didn't understand me but because they are used to being taught in English." She kept teaching in French.

Mr. Comeau said the college stresses international French.

"We have a lot of tit-ed pressions. They're not long words but they're words that are not necessarily school nowadays, say in France or Europe. And there's a lot of English mixture in the language."

What the college is doing is simply correcting that kind of thing."

Jobs Awaiting Holders of BA

ANTIGONISH, N.S. (CP) — The employment outlook for students who win bachelor's degrees in education are excellent this year, says Dr. Sydney Mifflen, chairman of the education department at St. Francis Xavier University.

Dr. Mifflen based his prediction on the number of school boards that have visited the campus to talk with prospective graduates or have sent requests for meetings with students.

He said some members of the 1976-75 graduating class had already been hired by schools outside the Atlantic provinces and many others had been offered contracts.

Break in the Action

George Hees, federal MP for Prince Edward-Hastings and Jack Ellis, MP for Hastings converse with CBC Washington correspondent Ron Collister, former Progressive Conservative candidate in the last federal election, during a recess in a party caucus in Barrie. Ellis says the caucus' purpose was "to provide better liaison and communication between all ridings and both party headquarters and caucus in Ottawa."

More Resource Centres Planned for Schools

By RON CARSON
Staff Reporter

Funds for the development of learning resource centres in county schools will top last year's figure of about $125,000, says director of education Eric Runacres.

He speculated the figure may reach $175,000 of which 50 per cent will be provincial grants. The exact amount will not be known until the board hands down and approves its 1975 budget, expected later this month.

In 1974 there were 19 centres built in schools. The centres, which are specialized libraries, are used by students and teachers for research purposes.

The concept of these resource centres developed five years ago when boards of education were faced with a declining enrolment in the elementary schools. The drastic reduction in student population meant empty classrooms and in some areas empty schools.

Rather than close classrooms or close schools, said Mr. Runacres, the board decided to renovate rooms for resource centres and other long-needed facilities. Elementary school enrolment will continue to decline until 1980 when it is expected to level off.

In some cases the Hastings County Board of Education has been forced to close older, outdated schools. This week the board closed the Centenary Public School effective June 30. Mr. Runacres said he doubts whether further school closings will take place.

Mr. Runacres also said some of the empty rooms have been converted to special education centres which have been lacking in past years. Another step has been to bring two schools under the wing of one principal.

This week the Ebbtoide Board of Education announced it would close about 100 of its classrooms for an estimated savings of $865,000 to the taxpayers. The classrooms will be empty mainly because Ebbtoide's enrolment is expected to drop about 30 per cent.

Mr. Runacres said the Hastings board will not close any classrooms because of declining enrolment. He said the over-all plan to renovate empty rooms for needed resource centres will compensate for the available space.

Board officials predict that Hastings student population will decline from a high of 24,200 in 1970 to a low of 19,000 in 1984. The current figure is about 23,000 students.

The ministry of education is reluctant to let school boards sell buildings or property because there is indication the student population will increase after 1985. The board now has 70 buildings on 45 school sites.

Cowboy Boots Made Of Various Leathers

EDMONTON (CP) — When most people think of leather for boots or shoes, they think of young as 1% and claims "no steer hide, but Joe Fryatt knows better. He stocks sizes from 5½ to 14 to cover with an idea (for a boot design) we don't already have."

Mr. Peryatte thinks in terms of shark skin, elephant trunk and eater, sea turtle, python, lizard and ostrich.

Mr. Peryatte runs Westerner Rodeo Boots Ltd. along with his wife Inez, their daughter and son. Aside from western hats and belt buckles, the store deals exclusively in cowboy boots.

Exotic boots, selling for as much as 600 a pair, are a great attention getter, but lead customers say the average price of 100 to 180 a pair with 50 to 100 dollars moving out of the $40 pair on display with another 4,000 in a warehouse.

"We've got boots nobody else has," Mr. Peryatte said in an interview.

"We've got more than 300 styles in stock and from there on it's custom-made."

Mr. Peryatte, 47, who has been in the shoe business for 31 years, admits he's a bit of a gambler.

About four years ago he started importing hides and selling boots because he loves the west and because he saw a potential market judging from an upsurge in sales in the United States.

"Boots became a fad and people started wearing them. Big sign provided a built-in support and lifted the wearer a few inches above the ground.

With a store full of boots he has room for only a few pairs of each design, limiting himself to what he wears every day as far as sizes and colors are concerned.

"I'm like a fashion model"—his wife, then looking in past years. Anybody size has been to bring two schools under the wing of one principal.

This week the Ebbtoide Board of Education announced it would close about 100 of its classrooms for an estimated savings of $865,000 to the taxpayers. The classrooms will be empty mainly because Ebbtoide's enrolment is expected to drop about 30 per cent.

Mr. Runacres said the Hastings board will not close any classrooms because of declining enrolment. He said the over-all plan to renovate empty rooms for needed resource centres will compensate for the available space.

Board officials predict that Hastings student population will decline from a high of 24,200 in 1970 to a low of 19,000 in 1984. The current figure is about 23,000 students.

The ministry of education is reluctant to let school boards sell buildings or property because there is indication the student population will increase after 1985. The board now has 70 buildings on 45 school sites.

Local Teachers Reject Media Workshop Plan

The Hastings District of the Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation (OSSTF) will not hold workshops in "how to cultivate the media."

The OSSTF held a series of political workshops last December prior to municipal elections to encourage and teach teachers how to have more influence in the community.

Due to the pending provincial election the OSSTF has revitalized these workshops and is planning to sponsor 15 more across the province. The teachers who attend these seminars, are in turn expected to go back to their districts and pass the information along.

Judie Carty, president of the Hastings district OSSTF, said no workshops are being planned for this area.

The workshops urged teachers, to cultivate local techno radio moderators as well as reporters and editors. They also encouraged teachers to take an active role in various community organizations.

British Airways Has Advanced Security System

LONDON (CP) — What is said to be one of the most advanced security systems in the world has been adopted by British Airways at Heathrow Airport. It does away with the need for 95 per cent of physical checking of passengers and baggage.

Rapidex, the new three-phase system developed by the airlines in conjunction with explosives and x-rays baggage, all in one operation.

The equipment has been developed so that airports or airlines can use it for all three phases of the system.

At the heart is a metal detector-like gateway the size of an old fashioned diary. Passengers pass through it and equipment along side registers the presence of any metallic substance.

Phase 2 is an x-ray unit. Hand baggage is ferrimined by x-ray in a lead-lined compartment and the contents of the bags displayed on a television screen. Any area of the bag suspected of containing anything which he wears every day as far for closer scrutiny. Phase 3 is for closer scrutiny. Phase 3 is the complete system and for corporates an explosives gas-vapor detector.

British Airways plans to operate the equipment at several points on its worldwide network if trials being carried out at Heathrow are successful.

Murray Councillor Balks At Fire Hall Site Cost

By CERIS ALMEY
Staff Correspondent

WOOLER — Progress on the creation of Murray Township's own fire department slowed down this week with two members of council absent from the regular meeting.

The three remaining members did pass a resolution authorizing Clerk Ken Rose to enter into an agreement with Frankford to provide fire protection for almost half of the township.

However, councillor Clifford Wannamaker refused to sit as chairman as a resolution to get an offer to purchase a piece of land on the York Road west of Trenton for fire hall could be passed.

Deputy-reeve James Quinn was acting reeve, and he could not second the motion by councillor Angus McPee. The two men asked councilor Wannamaker to take the chair to enable the resolution to be passed, but he refused. He explained that the $9,500 for the 177 by 198 foot lot was too high and cheaper land could be obtained, further up the road.

Reeve Harry Lafferty was attending a convention of counties and reeves in Toronto, and councillor Bill Ellis, at Loyalist College said, was attending open house of the institution.

The town of Trenton wanted $30,000 to provide fire protection for Murray Township this year, and the Ontario Fire Marshall suggested it was beyond Trenton's ability to protect the north end of Murray. These two factors prompted Reeve Lafferty to want Murray to have some fire equipment of its own housed on the York Road.

Frankford and Murray have met privately recently, and Frankford will charge Murray $8,000 a year to provide protection north of a line running between the fourth and fifth concession. A road runs from one to the other, but this line, Frankford would respond to calls south of the line at first an hour.

Agreements with Brighton and Amelias burg have to be signed besides the one with Frankford. Councillor Quinn said Amelias burg would do south of the Murray Canal. Councillor Wannamaker said Brighton would come as far east as the fire hall west on Highway 2. To complete the picture, however, Murray requires its own fire station somewhere in the vicinity, according to the reeve at a previous meeting.

Township to Explore New Patching Method

WOOLER — If Murray Township residents don't think road potholes are being repaired, they are, but patches won't stay in place. Bob McCauley, head of the Murray public works department, told council his men have patched Telephone Rd. three times this spring.

Council instructed Clerk Ken Rose to ask a company to come to the township and demonstrate their product. Applied cold, the substance anchors itself to the bottom of potholes.

Commencing on the current type of patch being applied, Mr. McCauley said "it is just a waste of money. It costs $100 a load and it takes three or four men half a day to apply it. They can use it up quicker, depending upon the size of the potholes."

In other business, councillor Angus McPee said all members of council had a look at and were in agreement to fix a roadway up leading to a home owned by Henry and Gladys Botting in the south end of Murray.

However, clerk Rose said the house is on an unopened road allowance and if council did this it would be setting a precedent. He pointed out residents on one street in a subdivision had agreed to pay $200 each to bring such a roadway up to standards.

Mr. McCauley told council that there would have to be ditches on both sides of a roadway and gravel on the travelled portion before the ministry of transportation and communications would give the township a subsidy. If the township did this work itself it would not get the subsidy clerk Rose added.

It was also pointed out that there had to be a turnaround for snowplows on dead-end roads and the roadway had to be a minimum 66 feet wide, otherwise the subsidy would not be given. Mr. Rose said logging roads have land owned by the Bottings, who possess it on both sides of the road allowance.

"I get the notion that we are in a bit of a boundary here," councillor McPee replied. "Let's shelve this and let the whole council sit on it two weeks from now."

Showing the Way

Strathcona potter Marguerite Pinlay shows St. Peter's School student colleague construction of a clay jug at Trenton Memorial Library this week. The Napanee area woman was one of two potters who demonstrated the craft Wednesday and Thursday through funding by the Ontario Outreach program. Both hand thrown and wheel construction was displayed.

Trenton Still Waiting For Home Grant Allotment

TRENTON — Town hall officials must wait another week to 10 days for official word from Queen's Park indicating the amount of money it will receive through the Neighborhood Improvement Program (NIP).

A housing ministry official said Thursday the province is still waiting for a master agreement from Ottawa without which NIP money cannot be released to municipalities across Ontario.

Trenton has been waiting for nearly two months for word from the province. In mid-March, it was learned the town had received an allocation. But no indication was given if it was for the full $800,000 Trenton requested.

The funds will be used to upgrade older, deteriorating, and primarily residential areas in Trenton. Once funds are released, council must decide which of five already-designated areas will receive money for upgrading of homes and town services.

"Within the next week or 10 days," said the official. "I think we'll be in a position to make some sort of announcement."

However, he could not estimate how long it would take for the processing of the master agreement, once it is received from Ottawa, at the provincial level.

CAS Says Fewer Children Now Needing Agency Care

By MARG HAYLOCK
Staff Reporter

PICTON — Local director of the Prince Edward Children's Aid Society, Garth Smith, told members this week there has been "remarkable drop" in the number of children in care in 1974 in comparison with former years.

He said at the beginning of 1974 there were 51 children in care and at the end of the year, 47 children in care.

"With fewer children in care of course, we are able to concentrate on working with children in their own homes, with the family unit intact," he said.

"Whether on a brief service level or on an open case level we worked with approximately the same number of families as last year."

"People in the county are turning to the agency as a source of help without some of the fear that sometimes the public can feel towards an agency who they consider to be authoritarian in some ways," he said.

Mr. Smith suggested that this trend has resulted from the approachable attitudes of CAS workers. He noted close working relationships have been maintained with the general public and with people who can refer children in need.

Mr. Smith noted that some families fail to respond to counselling and lack the ability to care adequately for their children. Sometimes it is necessary to remove the child from the home, especially the younger child.

"We rely on the community, friends and neighbors, the school system, the police, welfare and medical profession and so on to bring families and children in need to our attention."

The director observed many teens continue to come to the CAS for help and in some cases do come into care. He stressed the CAS tries to be sure it can offer a better alternative for the teenager particularly the older ones, than for them to remain at home with CAS counselling between them and their parents.

Mr. Smith said over half of the agencies referrals continue to be self referrals — that is, referrals from a parent of the child, particularly with respect to the older child.

"This is a good sign; it is a sign that the parties are seeing that a problem does exist and this is usually the first step in the helping process."

Winter came back with a vengeance in April and one result was problems and frustrations for city drivers like Heather Tomlinson of Belleville. Every time a car was parked some began to in it, and around it as the worst storm of the year struck Thursday.

Bomb Scare Empties Trenton High School

By AL EABAS

TRENTON — An anonymous telephone caller who claimed a bomb was planted in Trenton High School forced teachers and school officials to evacuate students and send them into Thursday's driving snow storm.

The bomb threat proved to be a hoax after an exhaustive search by police, school caretakers and teachers failed to turn up a bomb.

Principal Jack Sisson said Thursday town police ordered the evacuation of students for three hours after the morning telephone call.

He said the call was first taken by a secretary and then transferred to school vice-principal John Millani. At the time, the call was considered "serious" and evacuation measures were taken.

Later in the afternoon, he labelled the call the work of a prankster.

Bomb scares have taken place before, he said and "in most cases, they're taken with a grain of salt."

The bomb was to explode at 11 a.m. Students at the school did not go back to class at 2 p.m., the time police recommended they could return, because only two periods remained in the school day.

Mr. Sisson said transportation problems due to a lack of buses to return students to school for the remainder of the shortened day forced cancellation of classes.

With buses unavailable, some students were forced to walk several miles through the snow storm to their homes.

Township Swap Land

WOOLER — Years ago surveyors gave Murray Township land on the north side of the Trent River where it runs west and runs through what is called Glens Ross and Percy Beach. Similarly, Murray Township received land on the south side of the river.

Some time ago, it was agreed that an exchange would be made. Murray Clerk Ken Rose revealed this week that the final order was passed by the Ontario Municipal Board on January 1 this year.

This week at council Murray passed a "housekeeping bylaw" to get the assessment transferred over.

In the swap, Murray will get the assessment from five properties, but lost the revenue from a 30-home subdivision, a marina, and several other properties. Part of the deal was that Murray would still own 100 acres in Seymour that it had acquired in default of tax payment.

In other business, council was advised that Murray's rate for Northumberland County would see taxpayers contributing $153,167.36, which is up some $27,000 compared with last year.

District at a Glance

Rickard Guest Speaker

PICTON — The Rotary Club will hold its annual Rural-Urban night April 22 in Cherry Valley.

Guest speaker will be Newcastle Mayor Garnet Rickard. Mayor Rickard is a past warden of the United Counties of Durham and Northumberland and past president of the Newmanville Rotary Club. He is a farmer and is active in a number of farm and municipal organizations.

Bike-a-thon Planned

TRENTON — Trenton Memorial Hospital board of directors has announced plans for its second annual bike-a-thon to be held April 19, weather permitting. The board said it hopes proceeds will reach $10,000 for the purchase of new surgical equipment. Last year's event produced about $8,000 for the acquisition of new x-ray equipment for the radiology department.

Teen Power in Action

WELLINGTON — A group of young people, consisting of young men who have beaten drug addiction and alcholism, will present a program of testimony at Wellington Presbyterian Church here April 11-13 at 7:30 p.m. Now enrolled in Teen Challenge (Niagara Region), the men will relate their involvement with narcotics and various institutions.

Conservation Area Ready

COBRINGTON — Early next month, Lower Trent Region Conservation Authority officials will open the Frank Goodrich conservation area south of here. Plans for the approximate 200-acre site on Cold Creek Creek call for retention of its current natira state and its use as a fisherman's haven and hiking area.

Ambulance Overturns

MOUNTAIN VIEW — A Picton doctor, passenger in an ambulance enroute to Belleville, received minor injuries early today when the vehicle overturned in a ditch near Mountain View.

Dr. Fred Murphy was treated at Belleville General Hospital for face cuts after the ambulance, driven by Walter Bond, of Picton, slid off Highway 14.

A woman patient sufferiar post-natal complications and the driver were unhurt.

Damage to the vehicle was estimated at $500 in the mishap which occurred at 5.15 a.m.

INFORMATION DROP-IN CENTRES BAY OF QUINTE PLANNING STUDY

The Ministry of Transportation and Communications has arranged for two Information Centres in regard to the Highway 14 — Bay of Quinte Planning Study, one on April 8, 1975 and a second on April 9, 1975.

The Bay of Quinte Planning Study will determine the improvements required to replace the existing swing bridge on Highway 14 at the Bay of Quinte crossing.

Interested residents in the Belleville vicinity are invited to view the information displays and question Ministry planners who will explain details of the study.

Although the Information Centres are informal gatherings, Ministry planners will also give brief presentations beginning at 1:00 p.m. each evening.

Information brochures outlining the study format will also be mailed to residents living in the study area. They will also be available at local municipal offices.

Dates, times and locations of the Information Centres are:

Date: Tuesday, April 8th, 1975
Place: Loyalist College

Phoney Job Offers a Problem for Ottawa

Racial Tension is Rising in Canada: 'The Immigrant's Promised Land'

By RICHARD JACKSON

OTTAWA — Having permitted a rising tide of 250,000 or more illegal immigrants to sweep into Canada, the federal government is finding itself in the same difficulty as confronted King Canute.

It may have stemmed the flood of phoney "visitors" that streamed in by charter jets from Asia and the Caribbean, but the trickle still persists.

It is more than a trickle, too, because the sheer number of blacks in the cities of Canada, particularly Toronto, and of Asians on the West Coast, especially in Vancouver and its satellite communities, is sparking what State Secretary Hugh Faulkner calls "racial tension."

During the phoney "visitors" caper, anybody could get into Canada.

They would fly in by the jet-load with a little money — but seldom enough, realistically, to cover much more than a short bus ride — with obviously ridiculous claims of wanting to holiday in the hoity-toity mountain resorts of Quebec, vacation at Niagara Falls out West, or visit Halifax, Manitoba.

And a lot of the time they would make it through immigration, go "underground" in the big cities, latch onto strictly illegally-held jobs, and blend into the immigrant ghettos.

Immigration Minister Andras long wanted to stop this nonsense, but the bleeding hearts of the Cabinet would not hear of it.

They finally listened when the public protest got loud enough to penetrate the bureaucratic inanition that send-proofs this off-the-beaten-track National Capital from the taxpayers in the real world beyond its fat cat boundaries.

But so many illegal immigrants had made it in by then and sent the good word home that Canada has become the promised land of impoverished thousands more in the Caribbean and Asia.

They can't make it now, because recent immigration restrictions require prospective immigrants to have job offer guarantees before arriving in Canada.

But be ready.

Employment agencies in Port of Spain, Trinidad, where the Canadian diplomatic mission handles all visa applications from the Eastern Caribbean, have set up a new and thriving industry.

It's the fabricating, or the forgery of the "job offer guarantee letter."

For a price — upwards, usually, of $100 — the intended immigrant can buy a letter purportedly from a Canadian employer offering a job in Canada.

Who says no?

Immigration Minister Andras' aides say so, while at the same time claiming to be aware of the racket and in a position to counter it.

Ron Button, an aide in the office of Robert Andras, is on the record as contending that the department is "alert to rackets in the Caribbean and other places as well," but concedes that, despite the precautions Immigration and Manpower cooperatively have taken, there has to be some "leakage."

What happens, he relates, is that a letter comes in from say, Joe Smalls' garage in Anytown, Ontario, offering a job to some Joe in Trinidad, Tobago, the Virgins, or any other island in the Eastern Caribbean, or India, Pakistan, or Malaysia.

It is on Joe Smalls' letterhead, even. It could be a forgery printed in Port of Spain or Rangoon — or Joe Smalls might be on the take for use of his name.

"We check it out," reports Ron Button, "and if Manpower has no Canadian who wants and can do the job, the Joe in Trinidad or wherever gets in to take it.

"But if it's a phoney, sooner or later we catch on. Joe Smalls has a three-pump, two-bay garage and in order to pay he hires 76 guys from the Caribbean. A phoney. Obviously a leak. We plug it."

Sure the "leakage" may be small, as Ron Button claims.

But it is big enough that one agency in Trinidad, advertising job offers from "Canadian employers" has a waiting list of clients ready with their $100 that could take a year to fill.

And that is only one office in the mushrooming Caribbean "job letter industry."

Robert Andras is beginning to understand Canute's problem.

Shoplifting a Problem

"You people don't understand us kids — that's why."

This was the cry from the heart of a 16-year-old girl, when asked by department store personnel why she stole a sweater.

And this, from a store executive, who perhaps has witnessed such a scene too often for comfort, and now feels impelled to speak out: "It is a sad thing to see a child being forcefully directed to a security room for possible chastising, tear-jerking and confessing, among other horrifying things as taunting his/her parents called (a must in their cases), or having the police involved if they become belligerent, closed-mouthed or repeat offenders."

And speaking out, because in a remarkable letter to this newspaper, which we quote in part and discuss, BE INVOLVED (pseudonym) addresses himself compellingly to much that is wrong in our society and in the relationships between parents and children.

BE INVOLVED is concerned about juvenile delinquency on the merchandising scene.

"Juvenile shoplifting — no, let's call it downright 'stealing,' has almost a passive, insidious tone that somehow helps to erase the 'guilt of the actual fact of stealing.'

And it is the "innocence of understanding" in these juveniles that the writer says saddens him greatly. "I cannot fully lay a label of 'guilt' on many young offenders. Although they are not usually aware of their own mot-

Cabbie's Dilemma

Trenton senior citizens — and a lot of them not so senior — are in Doug Ridley's corner.

The town taxi fleet owner has asked Trenton council for permission to disconnect the metered fares of senior citizens by ten cents. However, that means breaking a town bylaw, an offence for which Mr. Ridley has been twice warned by town police.

In our inflation-riddled era, it's quite an irony when someone breaks the law by offering lower-than-usual prices for any commodity or service.

The Three Rs and Jobs

In the wake of current educational events, it comes as little surprise that a 400-questionnaire survey by the Belleville and District Employment Committee reveals employers in the area feel students they hire are inadequate in such basics as spelling, mathematics and English.

Criticism of a lack of emphasis in the school system of "the three Rs" has crept, prompted the recent meeting of the Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation to go on record supporting a "basic core" of compulsory subjects, as opposed to the free-wheeling option system that now exists.

What is most disturbing among the survey, which was studiously and painstakingly undertaken by Belleville industrial commissioner Fred Bemis in an effort to help BOTH employers and prospective employees, is that only 28 per cent of the employers polled responded.

Although it would be more time-consuming, we agree with the Quinte and District Labor Council's Doug Sword when he said personal interviews rather than mailed questionnaires might have yielded better response.

"With education now accounting for half our municipal tax dollors, and who knows how much federal and provincial government support, it hurts to hear local manufacturers saying things like "secondary school students lack understanding of industry."

lives or the consequences."

There is the "five-finger discounting" which kids get into on a lark or a dare, with its thrill-of-the-chase element as a sort of turn-on. And they can brag to friends and fellow students and about the fun of being "almost" caught.

But then one day, maybe more than once, there is the moment of truth in the office.

Yet there is compassion as the writer addresses himself to what he calls this "difficult problem."

"Parents," he says, "either don't know or don't care who their children are chumming with. Worse is that parents don't care enough where their youngsters kids are or what they are 'really' up to.

"Broken, quarrelsome, debt-ridden homes all too often are behind subconscious yearnings for help or a false belief of freedom from an unhappy life if caught. There probably is a real need to be wanted, to be understood, to be given attention, to belong, to be loved."

And he speaks of other basic yearnings of the young who "see the beauty of a necklace, tube of lipstick, sweater, record or candy, that they know they cannot have by any other means than to steal it.

As for the 16-year-old in the store office: "She was never so right . . . We stupidly go on from generation to generation letting our children and even telling our kids to fend for themselves. We leave all the rearing to the professionals from teachers to the police, not understanding or caring when it comes time to get involved with our kids."

And this: "We shut them out too often."

BE INVOLVED warns that society must "become more involved in the criminal dangers that potentially face our younger children."

The letter expresses the right sentiments at the right time. It's a time to care more about the needs of the young; and particularly within the context of parents and children and the integrity of the family structure.

ANY LIGHT AT THE END OF THE TUNNEL

'Friends' but Political Enemies

From the Ottawa Bureau Of Thomson News Service

OTTAWA — If one were to ask either Jean Chretien (PC—Prince Edward-Hastings) or Prime Minister Trudeau, they would be almost sure to admit they are really the best of friends.

But when the daily House of Commons question period begins, the uniformed observer could get the impression they are the bitterest of enemies.

Before the House adjourned for the traditional Easter recess, the two squared off again with the Liberal leader the PM of showing little regard for the welfare of Canadians.

"Is it any wonder that the prime minister has found it necessary to have both of his luminaries bullet-proofed?" he asked.

"I do have high regard for the prosperity of the Canadian people and for the welfare of the honorable member," the PM replied. "For that reason I suggest that he remove his head from the buttonhole of his shirt that he put on this morning."

The Opposition continued to hammer away at the Hamilton harbor scandal until the day of adjournment and Lands Commissioner (PC—Hamilton West) Alan Treadgold, who would table a letter the government received from Hamilton Controller Jim Campbell.

Mr. Campbell's letter was marked "confidential", explained the PM.

"After it arrived, Pierre," George Hees shouted across the floor.

Lloyd Francis (L—Ottawa West) may have been wondering what evil deeds were committed behind the doors of hospitals in our environment.

"Is the solvent used in hospitals to dilute radioactive wastes before pouring them down the sink highly toxic?" the MP asked on the Commons order paper.

"No. Tap water is the solvent normally used," was the laconic reply from Maurice Foster, parliamentary secretary to Energy Minister Donald Macdonald.

Belleville Public School Board at a special meeting Monday night released the final salary schedule for teachers. In general it entailed an upward revision of $100 in the minimum salary per year and a $200 increase in the maximum schedule. Three requests for fringe benefits were turned down. They were subsidization of Blue Cross and Physician Services Inc. payments, accumulation of sick pay to 200 days from a present schedule of 80 days, and a more generous retirement gratuity.

St. Michael's Spring Festival of Sacred held this week in St. Michael's Academy Hall, it is the two-night affair with dinner and entertainment being offered as well as games of chance and a dance each night to the music of The Serenaders. Dance numbers are being presented by Miss Barbara Dimeet and Miss Madeline Walden, along with members of their dancing classes. All organizations of the parish are taking part in the activities and it is expected that it will be one of the most successful Spring Festivals St. Michael's has ever had.

Albert College is to function as a boys' and men's school when it opens in September 1925. W.B. Deacon, at a special session of the Board of Trustees, said that $339,000 had been spent on the building and that $200,000 more was needed to complete the work and equip the college for use. By a unanimous vote it was decided to complete the new buildings and have them ready for occupancy in the fall of 1926. The resolution to restrict enrolment to boys and men will make available for the students the best rooms and would free other student accommodation for their use.

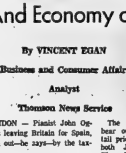
Paradoxes of the Life And Economy of Britain

By VINCENT EGAN

Business and Consumer Affairs Analyst

Thomson News Service



LONDON — Pianist John Ogdon is leaving Britain for Spain, driven out—he says—by the taxman.

At the same time, tenor saxophonist Bud Freeman, one of the giants of big band quilt New York to make London his future home.

Musicians may not be the best judges of a country's economic performance. But the fact that two such celebrities could arrive at diametrically opposed conclusions helps to illustrate the paradoxical character of the British economy.

In fact, it's almost impossible to discuss Britain's current economic position for more than a moment without using the phrase, "on the other hand."

One key paradox: Production declined in fourth-quarter 1974 and unemployment rose to nearly 800,000 or 3.5 per cent of the labor force—a high rate by British standards. (Canada's jobless at last count totalled 839,000 or 8.6 per cent—seasonally unadjusted—of the labor force.)

Yet average British wages in October-December were rising at an annual rate of 47.5 per cent.

For the full year 1974, wages advanced by a record of 28.4 per cent.

Retail prices rose by 19.1 per cent (one has to fight the temptation to say "only 19.1" per cent) last year.

That means that the typical British wage earner is getting less well ahead of inflation—and the statistics of real wages and earnings deposits strongly suggest that money is pouring in faster than ever before—but prices are spending it.

But most forecasters are expecting the gap between the rates of wage increases and inflation to narrow somewhat this year, because of the numerous cost increases that are already in the pipeline, and the phasing out of certain important government subsidies to nationalized industries (officials referred to as a return to economic pricing).

The early returns for 1975 bear out that expectation. Retail prices rose 13.8 per cent in both January and February. The Paris-based Organization for Economic Co-operation and Development says that Britain will have the highest inflation rate of any industrial country in 1975.

Even Denis Healey, chancellor of the exchequer, can find nothing better to say of 1975's prospects than that it could be a turning point—and that it was reasonable to hope that recovery could begin some time in 1976.

Faced with a combination of soaring inflation, enormous unemployment, declining productivity, Britain's industrial efficiency and international competitiveness, and to provide, maintain or protect jobs.

Mr. Wilson calls it "the biggest leap forward in economic policy and thinking since the 1940's" — the left-leaning London newspaper, The Tribune, hails it as "the people's bill."

But at least some British industrialists see it as the death-knell of free enterprise. They fear that decision-making will be entrusted to the bureaucrats, of big business and of the civil servants who are beyond the reach of Parliament.

The National Enterprise Board will have the power to direct substantial investment resources into chosen areas.

If it uses that power simply to prop up decaying industries it could lead to the creation of numbers of workers, if will further weaken the shaky structure of British industry.

But if it provides badly needed capital to strengthen promising growth sectors, then it could be a valuable shot-in-the arm.

Public Service Disputes And Their Settlement

By DON O'HEARN

Queen's Park Bureau

Thomson News Service

TORONTO — NDP leader Stephen Lewis has come up with the first new idea in some time dealing with labor relations and government employees.

Mr. Lewis has proposed that there would be a government-appointed board which would recommend settlements terms for disputes in essential public services.

Most importantly he would have the board comprise people of stature from outside labor.

The latter is significant for he would have the board engage in intensive research.

And research is both expensive and time consuming, a weaknesses in our labor relations today.

Seldom, if ever do we in the public see accurate figures on what constitutes the making in industries which are similar to those strikes in the public particularly in the teaching profession.

Rather, we get inflated, if not semi-fictitious, presentations in what would be close to other industries.

The idea of man separates but Canadian Labor Relations Board apparently was in at least partial agreement with Mr. Lewis' suggestion.

But neither he nor the NDP leader are doing the public a service when they encourage strikes among some public servants, most notably teachers.

A few years ago there was a trend in labor, quite a strong one, to get away from the strike as the standard approach to settlement.

Men prominent in the field of labor leadership were saying quite frankly that the strike as a weapon should and new solutions had to be found.

And when two of the three political leaders in the province publicly endorse strikes such a position can hardly make much headway.

Four More Join Ranks Of Bancroft Flyers

BANCROFT — At the annual meeting of the Bancroft Flying Club held this week four more flying course graduates joined the ranks of local pilots.

According to the 1974 president of the club, Stan Ferguson, "There are 1,300 people in Bancroft and there is a strong suspicion that 1,200 of them are private pilots."

The Bancroft Flying Club was organized in the early sixties and the property for the airport and two runways on Highway 500 West was purchased at the same time.

In the president's report, Mr. Ferguson told members that in 1974 major improvements had been made to both the 1800—finish and 2,400-foot runways, new pumps installed and a flying school had operated on a continuous basis.

All the manned 18 people are taking flying instruction.

Awards presented at the meeting went to new pilots Tim Taft, Ross Card, Dwayne Pitts and Al Dabbslestein.

A special award was presented to club member Findlay Clarke who flew solo from Bancroft to Vancouver.

Each week, six of the Coe Hill volunteer firemen, under chief Dan McCaw, arrive at the new fire hall to do a complete check of all equipment, Wenaston Township ship residents are proud of the new hall, dedicated to the memory of Dr. J.S. Hardings and his daughter, Mattie, who gave "a lifetime of service to the Coe Hill area."

Township Proud Of Firefighters

By NAN WHITLAW
Staff Correspondent

COE HILL — When residents of this small village, 20 miles southwest of Bancroft, start talking about fire insurance rates, it's hard for them to hide their delighted grins when they tell you 43 to 51 per cent savings on premiums as a result of the new Wollaston Township volunteer fire department.

The formally-organized department, which got its start and community spirit as a result of ratepayers' meeting, is made up of 34 local men who are well versed in the operation of the brigade's five fighting equipment.

Each evening each week six of the men arrive at the new fire hall and do a complete check of hoses, trucks, air packs, pumps and other essential gear.

Fire chief Dan McCaw started the project in 1970 with a petition which was signed by the majority of the local residents.

"After that I got railroaded in as chief," said Mr. McCaw as he explained that in his estimation any community in Ontario can have a volunteer fire department that would be of great benefit not only in the field of saving lives and property but also in the realm of fire insurance.

Wollaston Township has always been aware of the need for some form of fire protection.

"As far as I know the first fire equipment was purchased in the 30's by Charlie Rollins (the father of Hastings MPP Clarke Rollins)," said Mr. McCaw.

"It was two wagon wheels with a 50-gallon drum filled with soda and acid," said Mr. McCaw.

"In the 40's they bought a portable pump which we still use and in 1955 the township bought an army truck with a 450 gallon tank." said the chief.

Now the Wollaston department has a new red fire truck worth $27,000, a fire hall that could not be replaced for $30,000, a tank truck with a portable pump and Scott airpacs.

"If I guess we've got about a $75,000 project here," said fireman Jim Graham, "and it should be paid off by next year."

All of the financing of the department and the new hall has been done through fund raising events with the exception of the new truck which is now purchased by the municipal council.

All the residents of the proposed fire protection in Wollaston township are not yet satisfied but the department feel they are on the right track.

Some Like Weather Up North

BANCROFT — Skiers, snowmobilers, and schoolchildren were the only ones delighted to see the ten to 14 inches of snow that was dumped on the North Hastings area in the last two days.

Although ministry of transportation and communication crews were working constantly during the storm, all highways in the district are heavily snow-covered and icy. Some secondary roads were only being opened for traffic today.

Township roads and Bancroft streets were plowed, but gusts of wind up to 50 miles an hour caused heavy drifting.

The Bancroft OPP detachment was advising motorists that only essential road travel should be attempted.

According to Const. Tom Cybulski, the only mishap that occurred in North Hastings was a minor accident at the height of Thursday's storm.

Stirling Businessmen Agree, Industry Desirable for Town

By CHRIS ALMEY
Staff Correspondent

STIRLING — It has been said by some Stirling taxpayers over the last few months that Stirling needs more industry. One obstacle, some say, is that there is no land owned by the village for this purpose and the village should purchase land.

Others feel that the Stirling and District Business Association should purchase this land, so that if there was more industry in Stirling, the tax burden would be spread around more, and taxes would not have to increase at a higher rate.

Six Stirling businessmen were asked the following two questions — Do you think the village or the businessmen should purchase land and have it serviced to attract industry? Do you think Stirling should have more industry? Their response:

DOUG PATTERSON

"I am not advocating that we go out and buy umpteen acres tomorrow, but it would be desirous that the two groups get together and discuss it and would hopefully investigate the pros and cons", Doug Patterson, 49, proprietor of Patterson Men's Wear said.

It is pretty hard to come out and say that the town itself should bear the burden, but I do subscribe to the idea that industrial assessment would ease the burden on the residential taxpayer," Mr. Patterson added.

"I don't think we can afford one big industry. We need a couple of small ones with growth potential — that lets the industry and the town grow together," Mr. Patterson said.

DAVE GLIDDON

"Let's face it: As far as I am concerned we are not going to add a lot more industry to town," insurance agent Dave Gliddon, 36, said.

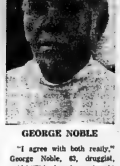
"We are fighting quite a thing — an industrial park on the 401. That is just like a magnet. A lot figure it is a good place to go because the other fellow is going ther," Mr. Gliddon said.

"A great deal many more people are employed in business in the village than the shoe factory. The last eight months the business community has seemed to gt a spurt. It has seemed to get a spurt. It is trying to appeal to the public more. Commerce is getting acutely aware of changing times, and is getting revitalized," Mr. Gliddon commented.

EUGENE BURRELL

"I tend to feel that businessmen should develop a land bank system," Eugene Burrell, 44, proposed. He is the proprietor of Burrell Jewellers. "We should have it serviced and readily available."

"I am not sure how it is done, but I like the system that was used in Belleville to develop the downtown core. The businesses were assessed an extra levy ob their tax and placed in a fund which is administered by representatives of the businessmen and council", Mr. Burrell commented. "I don't just lend myself to homeowners having to assume all this although it would benefit them ultimately," Mr. Burrell said.



GEORGE NOBLE

"I agree with both really," George Noble, 63, druggist, said. "This has been thought of for years. We have all been trying to promote it in the past, it wasn't really the land. We need a big empty warehouse building.

"These businesses want something big to put their machinery in and have some tax relief," Mr. Noble added.

"Council is trying to keep taxes in line. To burden council with a purchase of land when it is involved right now with sewage and so forth in the background — how far can you go? They are thinking of their money and our money too", Mr. Noble said.

JOHN RAY

"I know they tried to buy land once but the price was right out of this world. The town would have a better chance if they expropriated. There is no doubt about it. We need it. But how do we go about it?" John Ray, 33, pondered. "As far as I am concerned the town should buy serviced land."

"There have been quite a few industries look the area over. We have got to have something to draw them. It has also been said there is not enough labor in the area", Mr. Ray noted.

"There is too much agricultural land being put under asphalt now. They have to be careful where they put industry." Mr. Ray, who is partner in Stirling Machine Shop, said.

BOB HATTON

"I don't think we could accomodate a big industry," Bob Hatton, 58, proprietor of Hatton Hardware said, "I would feel the town should purchase the land and make it available".

"Our taxes are so high here now I don't feel we could afford to go in on any purchase of land. The storeroom above this store was assessed at the residential rate, now it is assessed at the commercial rate which will raise our taxes again. It makes it pretty tough," Mr. Hatton noted.

Mr. Hatton observed that Stirling "has missed industries in the past." He said that "a lot goes under the counter" and that is why some industries go to other municipalities.

Cross-country Credit

Bancroft's first transcontinental flyer, Findlay Clarke, left, was presented with a special award during the Bancroft Flying Club's annual meeting. Mr. Clarke flew his piper cub, from Bancroft to Vancouver during the summer of 1974. The award was presented by Willy Schulz, the Flying Farmer from Elmira.

The 4-Step Program

So-GreeN

When our customers ask us how they can get a beautiful, trouble-free lawn, Thrasher's Farm & Garden Centre recommends the So-Green Four-Step Program. When used as recommended we guarantee results.

1 MARCH/APRIL

To get your lawn off to a fast, healthy start in the early Spring, apply So-Green Premium 21-7-7 now. You use only 1/3 the amount compared to 7-7-7 fertilisers, saving you time and money, while achieving the same results. This product contains time release nitrogen for long lasting results.

If you were troubled with Crabgrass last year use So-Green Crabgrass Killer plus 10-5-10 fertilizer and do two jobs with one application.

Premium 21-7-7
20 lbs feeds 10,000 square feet
35 lbs. feeds 2,000 square feet
105 lbs. feeds 7,500 square feet

Crabgrass Killer 10-5-10
40 lbs. treats 1,000 square feet
70 lbs. treats 2,500 square feet
5 lbs. treats 650 square feet

2 APRIL/MAY JUNE

For your second feeding use new So-Green Super All Purpose 14-7-7 with Milorganite and Iron. The Milorganite ensures a long lasting Organic feeding and the Iron guarantees a deep green lawn. This fertiliser contains all the nutrients essential to plant life. It will not burn your lawn.

If you were plagued with ants and other soil insects last year, use So-Green Bug Killer 10-5-10. We guarantee it.

Super All Purpose 14-7-7
35½ lbs. feeds 2,500 square feet

Bug Killer 10-5-10
20 lbs. feeds 2,500 square feet

3 SEPTEMBER OCTOBER NOVEMBER

A most important time to feed your lawn to help it survive the winter ahead. Fall Season Lawn Food 3-5-10 is a formula designed for just this purpose. It contains Milorganite, to keep your lawn green throughout the Fall season.

If you failed to eliminate your weeds earlier, ensure they're gone by next Spring by applying So-Green Fall Season Weed Control. It is formulated to winterize and fertilize your lawn while controlling persistent weeds. Don' forget: use So-Green Guaranteed Grass Seed for your Spring and Fall seeding.

4 MAY/JUNE JULY/AUGUST

A vital time to feed your lawn with So-Green High Organic containing 60% Milorganite. The organic nature of this product prevents your lawn from turning brown during the summer and 20 trace elements will give you a deep, dark green lawn. High Organic will not burn your grass.

If weeds are still a problem, use So-Green Weed Killer with 10-5-10 fertilizer. It kills dandelions, plantain and other broadleaf weeds while feeding your lawn.

High Organic 10-6-4
50 lbs. feeds 5,000 square feet
25 lbs. feeds 2,500 square feet

Weed Killer 10-5-10
80 lbs. treats 4,000 square feet
40 lbs. treats 4,000 square feet
10 lbs. treats 1,000 square feet
5 lbs. treats 500 square feet

Mr. and Mrs. Ceburn Adams

Anniversary Celebrated

AMELIASBURG — A couple formerly from the third concession of Ameliasburg now living in Toronto celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary Sunday at the home of their niece Ruth Peck, RR 1, Carrying Place.

Mr. and Mrs. Ceburn Adams, 43 Robinson Avenue, Scarborough, were married in the Redeemville parsonage by the Rev. T. L. Seymour, Monday, March 30, 1925.

Sunday the couple recalled there were snow squalls and short periods of sunshine almost identical to the weather here on Easter Sunday.

Best man Douglas Williamson drove them to the railroad station at Belleville in a model T Ford to catch a train for Montreal for their honeymoon.

He was among the 60 guests, some from as far as Brockport, New York, who attended the afternoon and evening receptions and luncheon held in their honor.

The couple's daughter Vivian, son Keith and grandson Neil were also present along with Mr. Adams' two sisters, Alta Brown of Picton and Olive White of Belleville.

Many telegrams, flowers and beautiful gifts were received by them for this special occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Longhurst

Longhurst — Redner

Debra Ann Redner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald James Redner, Carrying Place, and Darrell Allen Longhurst, son of Mr. and Mrs. Randal Longhurst, Foxboro, were wed March 15 at Christ Anglican Church.

Rev. J.R. Utley officiated at the ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and mother. She wore a long white satin gown with high neckline and long full sleeves. Her long veil was held by a crown head piece trimmed with lace. She carried a cascade of red roses.

Shirley La Palm was maid of honor is an aqua floral gown with caped sleeves. A white hat accented her ensemble and she carried orange carnations.

Janice Longhurst, the groom's sister, and Sharon Nash also attended the bride in ensembles similar to the maid of honor.

Grooms man was Stewart Hilchon, assisted by ushers Neal Longhurst, the groom's brother, and Ian Hamilton.

A dinner and dance was held at the Elks Hall, Belleville.

After a short wedding trip the couple took up residence at 220 West Moira St.

Engagement

The forthcoming marriage is announced of Gail Lorraine Naylor and Robert M. Rayeroft. Gail is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth William Naylor, Belleville; Robert is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Rayeroft, Belleville. The marriage will take place Saturday, May 3, at 4 p.m. in Victoria Avenue Baptist Church.

Golden Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence E. Thompson of 217 Bridge St. East celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary early in March at two family occasions.

March 1 they attended a family dinner in Scarborough, where they stayed with their daughter and son-in-law Lois and Ted Sprackett and their granddaughter Kelly. Two other grandsons, Dan and John Sprackett also attended.

A larger family gathering took place March 2 in Markham, at the home of the Thompson's niece and her husband, Betty and Norm Bennett. Several nieces and nephews and other family members were present for the afternoon.

During the afternoon, Mr. Bennett read a poem he composed about the Thompsons' courtship and marriage. Musical entertainment was provided by Ted and John Sprackett, Sue Bartsch and Holly Bennett, as well as a family choir led by Gord McGregor.

An anniversary cake was cut and served with the tea, which was poured by Cathie Sahlaing.

Congratulatory messages were received from Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau, Governor - General Jules Leger, Premier William Davis, Jack Ellis, MP, Clarke Rollins, MPP and Richard Potter, MPP, Mayor Robin Jeffrey and many relatives and friends.

Gladys and "Thompy" Thompson were married March 3, 1925, in Toronto. Mrs. Thompson is the daughter of the late John and Margaret Morton of St. Ola, and Mr. Thompson is the son of the late Henry and Charlotte Thompson of New Liskeard.

After his professional hockey career ended in 1928, Mr. Thompson joined Sun Life in Cobourg and later in Barrie. In 1935 the Thompsons moved to St. Ola, where Mr. Thompson was clerk-treasurer-tax collector for 16 years, and a field worker for the Ontario Department of Welfare for another 16 years. Mrs. Thompson was principal of Gilmour Public School for 18 years.

Melton — Reid

Lola Lee Reid, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Al Reid, Belleville, was united in marriage to Paul Richard Melton, son of Dr. and Mrs. Richard R. Melton, Guthrie, Ontario, in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Huntsville. Following the candlelight ceremony conducted by Rev. Bylaard, a dinner was held at Grandview Farm Lodge, Huntsville.

Tackling the problem lawn sensibly

John Bradshaw

Most lawns run into trouble now and again; despite the care you lavish on them.

Ants or grubs move in; crabgrass rears its ugly head; broadleaf weeds, such as dandelions pop up everywhere.

Faced with these problems, do as I do. I find the best treatment for the lawn with crabgrass, insect and weed problems is CIL Lawn Doctor®, which not only controls grubs, ants, wireworms, but prevents crabgrass, kills broadleaf weeds and also feeds your lawn a rich, long lasting, non-burning lawn food.

It's just about all you need for a problem lawn. Apply CIL Lawn Doctor early when weeds are in leaf but before the lilac flower buds open. Follow the directions carefully, and you'll get good results. What's more you won't need to feed the lawn again until August: an extra bonus.

At the modest farmhouse where she holds surgery in suburban Willowdale, she is a no-nonsense general practitioner and you'd better have something wrong with you when you before you call. She has only sent two pneumonia patients to hospital in 18 years.

Proud mother of six, top-notch cook, admired if slightly feared by her patients, Bette Stephenson of Willowdale is a far cry from the female projected publicly by the CMA head, who has been called the while witch with tongue of fire."

She has been beaten around some because she has something to say she says it, whether she's telling Health Minister Marc Lalonde or So-licitor-General Otto Lang for what she regards as his attempts to impose his personal beliefs on the way Canada's abortion law should be administered.

It's not that Dr. Bette Stephenson is an abortionist. She explained it in an interview, but that she feels the question of abortion should be a matter between patient and doctor and not one for politicians to be meddling with in this day and age.

As a matter of fact, a good many years ago, Dr. Stephenson could have been hit with more than a few harsh words for what she was doing to help women who didn't know how to take care of themselves. At the time, a old-fashioned kitchen where she can shuck off the antiseptic gown and get down to work at the stove.

person could go to jail for handing out birth-control advice.

Dr. Stephenson and some colleagues at a clinic in Hospital here enlisted the help of a kindly old manufacturer of rubber appliances and got an unlimited free supply of colored rubber shapes, which she put to patients to help keep them straight what was then known as "trouble."

Three days, Dr. Stephenson is a really busy M.D.—she likes food and has trouble holding her weight down—with a set of warm dark eyes that can either sparkle as she talks about "the Gospel according to St. Mare" or virtual a patient that she's going to hold his hand because he has a case of the sniffles.

She still lives in the rambling farmhouse where she was brought up, with her husband, Dr. Allan Pengelly, who practises family medicine with her. The newer part of their home is only 10 years old. The older section was built in 1810 by a family that owned travelling acreage in Willowdale, then out in the boonies, north of Toronto.

Now, she has the best of two worlds, just a block off busy Yonge Street but shut in by trees and hedges and with lots of room for the family, poodle Sally and a big

Last summer, one of her children was getting married and she threw a big lawn party for scores of neighbors and friends. She flew to Ottawa to make a speech, got back in time to do all the cookery for the party and then flew off to Vancouver for another speech.

Others of her family say there'll be no more wedding receptions as the farmhouse patron Mom does the cooking.

Family stuff aside, Dr. Stephenson on the medical side fell into basic practice and into medical politics pretty much by accident.

After her graduation in medicine, she intended to be a radiologist but just at that time a Willowdale doctor who wanted to take two months off asked her to fill in for him. Then he fell off a ladder and broke a hand bone, so she spent six months more as his fill-in.

"By that time," she said, "I'd didn't want to go back to radiology because I was having too much fun."

She the CMA in more or eventually become head of it was the same accidental pattern, as she tells it, by moving up from one minor elective job to another in the endless arcous doctors' organizations there. In those years, someone suggested she stand for the board of directors of the CMA, an unheard-of idea for a woman in the early 1960s.

"I got blackballed the first year," she laughed. "The nominating committee didn't think it was such a bell of a good idea to have a woman on the board. They thought it would be a terrible shock to the system and think about it was when I got there in 1967."

Does the find general acceptance now as female president of the staid CMA

"Oh, yeh, though some of the privileges involved are probably not as progressive as others in terms of human relationships."

Dr. Stephenson said she has put a lot of satisfaction from her one-year term as president one facet of which is that she hopes she will have done something to decrease an emotional difference that's been teaching doctors and those in general practice like herself.

"I think the members of the profession now are more concerned with the idea that we are all members of the same profession," she said, looking over her outspoken years in working her way up through the CMA. "There hadn't been that kind of cohesiveness in terms of philosophy between the different branches of the profession before we started to look at it carefully."

One thing she'd like to see is less use of "free" facilities such as the Ontario Health Insurance Plan both by patients and by doctors.

"There's really a misuing of the medical service such as we don't become overlooked or something like that," she said. "Some physicians are not strong enough to resist this and, as a result, we get overuse of some of the more expensive parts of the health service. The doctors get pressures on them and, once they get into that production line, it's hard to get out.

"The only way not to get into it is to do the job you're supposed to do and practise medicine the way you were taught to do, taking enough time to try to solve the problems without using all the available facilities and answers.

"You don't have to do a serum rhubarb on everybody, for God's sake," said Dr. Bette, a serum rhubarb is medical shot for allergies a patient along to a laboratory and then get the works in blood tests.

"That's just a horrendous waste of time. Running people through a computer is expensive and doesn't prove a thing. This broad-screening stuff is just nuts."

That's why they don't get at Dr. Bette's farmhouse, where the practice will continue the unchanged tenor after her term as CMA president expires in June.

What will she do to work off the excess energies after that?

Well, she has enough demands for speaking engagements to keep her going for a couple of years.

And then she's thinking of what to do about the problem of the 1,000 doctors who have been graduated by

Kind Guard Suspended So Quits

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP) — A Joyceville prison farm guard resigned Wednesday after he was suspended for taking a prisoner into Kingston without permission to visit a woman friend with a heart condition.

Douglas McCallum, 52, a guard for 12 years, was suspended after he was found in a downtown bar with the 73-year-old prisoner, Louis Gallo, a prison spokesman said.

Mr. McCallum said he drove Gallo to see the 70-year-old woman who had asked to see the prisoner, because her heart condition had worsened. After the visit, they stopped in the bar.

Because the Joyceville farm annex is a minimum-security prison, Mr. McCallum said, he felt the rules could be bent. "I don't know but I might do it again if I were in the same position."

Will Study Tolls

OTTAWA (CP) — The National Energy Board confirmed Thursday it plans to hold hearings later this year on transportation tolls charged by Interprovincial Pipeline Ltd.

Study CIA Role

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (Reuter) — President Ford said Thursday the Rockefeller Commission on the Central Intelligence Agency will examine aspects of the 1963 assassination of president John Kennedy. At a news conference, Ford said the Warren Commission reported finding no evidence of foreign or domestic conspiracy. Recent magazine articles have suggested the CIA might have been involved in Kennedy's murder.

Reserves Fail

QUEBEC (CP) — The reserves of the Quebec Pension Plann QPP will be exhausted by 1994, says a report recently tabled in the Quebec national assembly.

The report, prepared by the Quebec Deposit and Investment Fund, the QPP's investment arm, warned that by 1990 it might be forced to liquidate its assets to pay QPP benefits unless the government acts.

Spending to Rise

OTTAWA (CP) — Capital spending is expected to rise 14 per cent during 1975 from last year to reach about $27 billion, compared with $23.5 billion in 1974, Statistics Canada says.

Payments Record

OTTAWA (CP) — Unemployment insurance benefits paid out in 1974 hit a record $2.119 billion, Statistics Canada reports in its annual review of the Unemployment Insurance Act. In 1973, benefits were $2.004 billion, about six per cent lower.

Snowbound

NOBLETON, Ont. (CP) — The Ontario Humane Society instructed the organizers of the Canadian Wagon Train to place their horses in a temporary barn Thursday until inspectors are satisfied the horses are properly shod and able to take part in the journey.

The wagon train was snowbound at a campsite three miles south of here—six miles into its 2,000-mile trek to northern Alberta.

The Duck Dies

TORONTO (CP) — A nephew of Imre (The Duck) Oleynik, the man accused by police of the 1972 bludgeoning death of Christine Demeter, says his uncle died last Monday in a hospital in Hungary.

George Olivolgi, 19, son of Oleynik's sister, said in a telephone interview Thursday that the family was told Oleynik died in hospital of a brain hemorrhage.

Time Asks Aid

OTTAWA (CP) — Time magazine is appealing to its Canadian readers to help save the domestic edition of the publication.

In this week's Time Canada edition, company president Stephen S. LaRue of Toronto asks readers to launch a letter-writing campaign over proposed federal legislation to abolish tax deductions for advertisers in Time and Reader's Digest.

Cuba Promises Canada Business

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian trade officials and businessmen received assurances in Cuba recently that U.S. businessmen will not erode Canada's favorable trading position no matter what policy changes occur in Washington.

Trade Minister Alastair Gillespie, government officials, businessmen and reporters came away from Cuba with the assurances last month after talks with government officials including Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

Mr. Gillespie led a 28-man trade delegation to Havana and left content that there is a large potential market for Canadian goods in increasingly-prosperous Cuba and that at least for the time being there need be no concern about U.S. competition.

Mr. Gillespie and his party also visited Venezuela where there is another large potential market. But there Canada faces stiff competition from the U.S. and others wanting to trade with the oil-rich country.

Mr. Gillespie says a potential market in Cuba for sales of between $400 million and $500 million in the next three or four years for Canadian businessmen.

Government officials said any change in Cuban relations with the U.S. would be on American—not Cuban—initiative and they knew would take time. Trade matters would only come after the political atmosphere was cleared.

They also said that because of the improved Cuban economic situation, Cuba has money to spend and is an excellent credit risk.

Canadians said there is a fund of goodwill for Canadians in Cuba because they have refused to participate in the U.S. trade embargo.

Canada is Cuba's third largest trading partner, but a long way behind the Soviet Union and Japan. Last year's export amounted to $144.7 million compared with imports of $76.4 million—$58 million of which was raw sugar.

In 1973 exports were $81.7 million and imports $16.8 million, a reflection of increased sugar prices and quantities.

While Mr. Gillespie was in Cuba it was announced that a $100-million line of credit has been made available for Cuban purchases in Canada. Canada last year made loans totalling about $41 million to assist in purchases of locomotives and ships.

Car Firms Keep Mum On Defects

OTTAWA (CP)—Thousands of car owners are paying to repair basic production defects after normal new-car warranties expire, unaware that major auto companies operate programs to pay some of these costs through their dealers, a Montreal consumer protection group says.

The Automobile Protection Association (APA) calls the auto industry practice "a secret extension of the normal warranty," and wants the government to require companies to disclose publicity say repairs they are prepared to make after a warranty has expired.

The companies term these repairs — authorized orally or by bulletins to dealers—as "gratuitous payments" or part of a "goodwill program." They do not consider them extensions of the usual warranty of 12,000 miles or 12 months, says APA.

With rare exceptions, owners are not directly notified that they can get repairs free or on a part-payment basis with their dealer for specific jobs, even though the basic warranty has expired, says APA.

Oil Consumers Face Price Hike

OTTAWA (CP) — Consumers may have to shell out up to an additional $2 billion annually for all products following the national energy conference next week.

Prime Minister Trudeau and the 10 provincial premiers all down Wednesday to negotiate a new domestic price for crude oil that could result in an increase of up to 4$ per cent.

Gasoline and heating fuel prices could go up as much as nine cents a gallon in the wake of higher crude oil costs.

Neither Ottawa nor the producing provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan will say what target price they have in mind as they prepare for the meeting.

But the figure mentioned most often by industry and government officials is $3 a barrel, a 31 per cent increase over the present frozen domestic price of $4.50.

Reports from Edmonton Thursday quoted informed sources as saying Alberta probably will seek an even higher price, $3 a barrel more than current [illegible] increase of 4$ per cent.

On the other side are the consuming provinces, with Nova Scotia taking the hardest position so far, Premier Gerald Regan says no increase above $6.50 should be allowed.

Ontario Premier William Davis said his province will not accept "any significant increase" in energy prices and Prince Edward Island says it will argue for gradual price increases.

Other provinces have yet to reveal their positions on the price issue.

In between the two extremes will be the federal government, which sees its role at the conference as a mediator trying to find a compromise price between the proposals of the producing and consuming provinces.

The meeting opens Wednesday morning under the glare of television lights in a former downtown railway station rebuilt as a government conference centre.

Millhaven Guards Wreck Alarm System

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP) — The Whig-Standard says that correctional staff members at Millhaven institution have caused about $75,000 damage to prison electronic control systems.

The newspaper says a letter from an Ottawa firm which originally installed the equipment says the destruction was caused by vandalism.

Prison director John Dowsett said in an interview that "it's extremely difficult for me to comment on this kind of thing."

"I won't deny some damage occurred."

However, he told The Whig-Standard the damage occurred soon after the prison opened in 1971, when most of the present staff was not there.

Mr. Dowsett said he had "no reports of such damages" since taking over his post of director in July, 1974.

Edward Woods of Boyd Electric Co. Ltd. of Kingston told the Whig-Standard he put in new signals in the control towers last fall and "everything was working when I was there."

Mr. Dowsett said "lack of

No Protection

OTTAWA (CP) — The provinces cannot be counted on to protect consumers' interests at hearings of federal government regulatory bodies, the Canadian transport commission was told Thursday.

Andrew J. Roman, general counsel for the Consumers' Association of Canada (CAC), said it is a myth that consumers can look to provincial governments for support when federal bodies like the commission consider railway, airline and other rate increase applications.

Difficult Journey

HAMILTON (CP) — Three training, errors in judgment snowplows were needed to clear the way for an ambulance carrying a new-born baby suffering from breathing problems to Hamilton for emergency treatment early Thursday.

The ambulance picked up the baby shortly after midnight at the Bruce County hospital in Walkerton, 35 miles southwest of Owen Sound, to transport her to a McMaster University clinic.

Shortly after leaving Walkerton, the vehicle hit a snowdrift, knocking out its electrical system.

Driver Jim Burden and attendant Ed Smith, both of Hamilton, got the generator working again but the ambulance was stuck in the snow.

Radio calls for help at first went unanswered but finally a snowplow escort was arranged. The snowplows led the ambulance in relays to Guelph, where three provincial police cruisers took over escort duties. The ambulance arrived at the clinic at 3:30 a.m. and frustration with flights cancelled and delays in planes" left guards upset and this contributed to the damage.

Only minor control systems have been affected, he said.

GM Sales Increase While Others Fall

BRAMPTON, Ont. (CP) — American Motors Canada Ltd. said Thursday that car sales in March were 2,646, down 15.1 per cent from the 3,122 sold in March last year.

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Chrysler Canada Ltd. reported Thursday sales of 13,255 cars in March, a drop of 15 per cent from 18,782 in March, 1974.

OAKVILLE, Ont. (CP) — Ford Motor Co. of Canada Ltd. reported Thursday that car sales in March were 13,477, down 13.5 per cent from the 15,313 sold in March, 1974.

OSHAWA, Ont. (CP) — General Motors of Canada Ltd. reported Thursday sales of 62,300 passenger cars and trucks in March, 13.8 per cent higher than in the same month last year.

Car sales of 30,850 units were 2,000 or 10.9 per cent ahead of last years 27,841 units.

Indian Crafts Centre

Marcelle Large, 28-year-old native of Saddle lake reserve, displays wall hanging made in an arts and crafts workshop established in Edmonton by the department of Indian Affairs. Ceramics, silk-screenings and parkas were a few of the items being produced by native students who had completed a two-year program was in existence. Today the centre is almost deserted, with pottery cluttered in one room and wall hangings piled in another — all signs of a grant that ran out. (CP Photo)

Indian Crafts Program Success

EDMONTON (CP) — A few months ago an arts and crafts workshop established here by the department of Indian affairs hummed with the activity of native craftsmen.

Ceramics, silk-screenings and exquisitely sewn parkas were a few of the items being produced by native students who had completed a two-week government training program.

Today the centre is almost deserted, with pottery cluttered in one room and wall-hangings piled up in another—all signs of a grant that ran out.

"For many of us, it was our first chance to express ourselves artistically," said Marcelle Large, a 29-year-old native of the Saddle Lake reserve, about 120 miles northeast of here.

Under the program, sponsored for two years by the Indian affairs department, natives from surrounding reserves were paid to receive instruction and pursue the craft of their choice. Their products were marketed exclusively by the department's central marketing agency, until the grant ran out for the second time last fall.

Mrs. Large is optimistic that the program will resume with renewed federal funds, although submissions made so far by the students have drawn little response.

"There's a great demand for authentic native crafts, especially for the tourist trade," she said.

When Mrs. Large set up a booth at a local craft fair last fall she sold $300 worth of wall-hangings in a single day and "cleaned out my entire stock."

The silk-screeners in the group formed the Saddle Lake Printers Association after orders for their wall-hangings "started coming in by the thousands."

"When we received our first cheque, we decided to pool our earnings and form a company."

With savings from their fund the printers were able to maintain their operation for a few months after the grant ran out, but eventually found their earnings weren't sufficient to support families.

Their wall-hangings, composed mainly of striking Cree and Ojibwayan designs against pastel backgrounds, range in price from $7 to $18, depending on size. Each design is original and each hanging hand-made.

Substantial sales were generated when the federal agency published a crafts catalogue, with department stores and specialty Canadiana shops major outlets. Mrs. Large said the association groused about $12,000, although the sales that stores frequently marked up prices several times higher.

In the two years the program was in existence about 24 native students attended orientation classes in ceramics, sewing, batik or silk-screening, picking up the basics they needed to produce marketable goods.

"None of us had any prior artistic training," Mrs. Large said.

"But before long, we were producing our own designs, and many of the articles being made were of exceptional quality."

Although the printers disbanded when federal funds were discontinued, Mrs. Large continues to stockpile wall-hangings in hope the association will begin marketing again.

She also intends to search for local markets, an area she feels the group may not have explored fully when the federal agency assumed marketing responsibility.

Regardless of whether more federal funding is provided, she said, the program has too much potential to be allowed to die so easily.

"It's a valuable way of instilling pride in native culture."

Coal Seen Key To Energy Needs

CALGARY (CP)—Coal must play a key role in meeting Canada's energy requirements over the next 25 years, says Garnet Page, managing director of the Coal Association of Canada.

As supplies of oil and natural gas begin to decline, alternative energy sources—such as nuclear power and oil sands—still require extensive research, massive investments and solutions to environmental problems.

But in order to meet energy demands, Canada's coal industry will have to be mobilized to increase production by 700 per cent over the next quarter-century, said Mr. Page.

Ed Panchyshyn, distinguished lecturer for the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy, is even more ambitious. He says the industry must bring new coal production on at the rate of 10 million tons annually—to 285 million tons a year from Canada's current annual production of about 21 million tons—by the dawn of the century.

This is the amount needed if the country is to achieve its goal of obtaining 17 per cent of its energy requirements from coal, said Mr. Panchyshyn.

He estimated that only about six billion of the 44 billion tons of coal held in Alberta, Saskatchewan and British Columbia would be needed in the next 50 years.

But both mining executives agreed that federal and provincial policies will have to be altered and public attitudes changed if the coal industry is to realize its potential.

A major barrier to development is the "hysterical" reaction of conservationists to surface mining, said Mr. Panchyshyn.

Surface mining is the most efficient and safest method of extracting Western Canadian coal, and a maximum of one per cent of the total area of the Rocky mountains and foothills would be disturbed, he added.

"If new and unreasonable restrictions on careful and responsible surface mining are enacted, I venture to suggest that Canada could be in very real trouble," said Mr. Page.

"The mining industry today is aware of the need for good corporate citizenship. We know about land reclamation and we are working with governments to solve all problems."

The coal association director said uncertainty about government policy is another "great enemy of economic growth" and Alberta's moratorium on coal development in the foothills had slowed down the industry.

Aside from opposition by conservationists and bureaucratic uncertainties, the coal industry was faced with severe problems of manpower.

Mr. Page said coal mining as a vocation has fallen into disrepute, and between now and 1982 the industry will have to find 7,000 to 8,000 new workers for Alberta mines alone.

As a remedy, his association is working with the University of British Columbia and the University of Alberta to develop courses that will graduate specialists in mining exploration and coal preparation.

Cat's Clause

LONDON (CP) — A clause in the sale of the Furness Withy ship Sagamore provides that the new Italian owners must try to keep Princess Truman Tao-Tai happy in her old age. The Siamese cat joined the ship in 1959 and will continue to have the run of the captain's cabin, her home during more than 1.5 million miles of sea travel about the ship.

Introducing the Sony with the small behind.

Trimmer. Slimmer. And 4" less in depth.

Simulated picture

SONY MODEL KV-1722

As you can see, our new Model KV-1722 has a much slimmer front. It's also much trimmer behind — 4 inches less depth than conventional sets of this screen size.

The KV-1722 has our new, 114° deflection, wide-angle picture tube. It delivers the brightest, sharpest colour picture ever seen on a Sony — and virtually eliminates distortion for people viewing the set from the side seats. But you don't have to take our word for it. An independent consumers research study rates our KV-1722 as follows:

|---|---|
| Sharpness | — excellent |
| Brightness | — very good |
| Colour accuracy | — superior |
| Operation of controls | — superior |
| Weak signal performance | — superior |

As in all Sony TV's, it's 100% solid state. So reliable that it's totally guaranteed for two years — picture tube, all parts, all labour.

Visit your nearest Sony dealer, see this new 17" portable with the slimmer, trimmer back and sharper, brighter front. The suggested retail price is $729.95.

Hastings Teachers Remaining Silent on Wage Demands

By RON CARSON
Staff Reporter

Hastings elementary school teachers will be asking for more money than last year's increase of about 13.1 per cent but federation leaders will not say how much more.

"We will keep a close watch on the Toronto situation," said Dave Wilson, chairman of the Hastings County Economic Policy Committee (EPC) representing about 600 women and men elementary teachers in the county.

Mr. Wilson, a teacher at Foxboro Senior Public School, was referring to the announcement this week that Metro Toronto's 12,000 elementary school teachers will ask for salary increases of 25 per cent. This would give most of them a $5,000 raise in September.

Mr. Wilson, who represents the collective bargaining unit for both the Federation of Women Teachers Association of Ontario (FWTAO) and the Ontario Public School Men Teachers Federation (OPSMTF), said he could not speculate at this time about the final increase.

If Metro Toronto's teachers get their demands the average salary would be about $17,300. The average secondary school salary in the province last year was about $15,300.

Mr. Wilson said negotiating meetings now are being set up for later this month.

"We expect negotiations to proceed in a co-operative manner," said Mr. Wilson, "and also they have tended to be problem-solving negotiations in the past." In 1973, county teachers received about eight per cent in salary increases. Last year, the increase was about 13.1 per cent.

Metro teachers are seeking a cost-of-living clause as well as a request for the board to pay the full cost of hospital and medical plans and provide a dental insurance plan. Metro teachers are also negotiating for a lower number of students per class.

Buses Grind to Halt As Talks Break Down

By COLIN BRUCE
Staff Reporter

Belleville bus service ground to a halt at noon today as transit commission workers walked off their jobs demanding higher pay.

In a final negotiating round at the commission offices Thursday, commission chairman Marylew Burtt refused to meet the union's wage demand of a one-dollar-an-hour increase over one year.

In a union meeting which followed, 15 of 21 members of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Transport and General Workers voted to strike in support of their demands.

The transit commission's last offer was a 75-cent-an-hour increase to the 21 employees, effective immediately and a further 10-cent-an-hour raise to take effect in June.

The increases would mean drivers now earning $4.46 an hour, would make $5.30 by June and mechanics currently earning $4.75 an hour would get $5.80.

Commission negotiators also released a drug plan, overtime modifications and four weeks of vacation after 12 years.

Mrs. Burtt, after hearing of the strike vote, said, "the commission will enter no more negotiations until the men come back to work."

"There's no promise they'll get as much in the next negotiation as we offered in this first set of talks," she said.

"I thought we made a generous, honest offer," she said.

"Why should the commission have to backtrack under."

The commission chairman said there will "definitely be no negotiations this week."

Employees have two weeks pay coming to them, payable next Thursday.

Mrs. Burtt said she will "investigate whether the commission has to make out the pay slips and whether the entire shop could be closed down until the men return to work."

"Some or no one we're striking unless the commission rethinks its wage offer," said Lawrence St. Pierre, chief union negotiator.

"We're just coming out of a three-year stretch under one contract and 45 cents of the offer we have is just to catch up to inflation," said Mr. St. Pierre.

Mayor Robin Jeffery, concerned over the strike action, told The Intelligencer today, she will investigate "what powers if any council has to intervene in the labor action."

"We're not taking any action until we have had time to meet with our lawyers and ponder the situation," said the mayor.

Prior to a meeting with the city manager early today Mayor Jeffrey said, "we have no authority to halt the strike — the men have followed the legal — natural course of action."

City buses were called off routes at 11.15 a.m. — a measure to ensure all workers would be in the safety of terminal garages by strike time, said Mrs. Burtt.

The union "offered me an ultimatum" that unless buses were called in at that time, they might be stranded on city streets when noon rolled around, she said.

Police Recover Stolen Van

City police are still investigating the theft of a van here late Wednesday which was recovered after almost two hours, off Marshall Rd. in Sidney Township.

Deputy-Chief Harold Reid said Thursday the 1973 GMC van, owned by Highland Construction of 227 North Front St., was reported stolen by an employee from Elgin St. at 9 p.m.

The van was recovered in a field on Concession One with the only damage being a dented rear bumper.

Fun—For Some

The worst storm of the year to hit Belleville and Southern Ontario was fun for some . . . youngsters like nine-year-old Maria Moura, Ann Street. Shaping giant-size snowballs was easy . . . there was plenty of the stuff around.

Math Meeting Scheduled

The Quinte-St. Lawrence Mathematical Association will hold a general meeting at Mc-Arthur Hall, faculty of education at Queen's University Wednesday 4-8 p.m. Subjects will include resource materials for intermediate grades, investigative problems, a Queen's math exam, enrichment courses and math contests for elementary schools.

Show Still On

The Rotary Annual Science Fair and Hobby Show is on at the Belleville county Jubilee E. It is part of the health unit's presentation for preschool classes. Instructor will be Dr. C.R. Lesh, the medical officer of health, who will show films, answer questions and engage in discussion with the participants.

Shutterbugs Meet

The next meeting of the Belleville Camera Club will be held April 8 at the Senior Citizens' Recreation Centre on Pinnacle St. at 8 p.m. Entry by the north door and proceed upstairs. All photo buffs are welcome to attend.

Back to Class

A class for expectant fathers will be held Monday, 7:30 p.m. in the Hastings and Prince Edward Counties Health Unit at the Bridge St. E. It is part of the health unit's presentation for pre-school classes. Instructor will be Dr. C.R. Lesh, the medical officer of health, who will show films, answer questions and engage in discussion with the participants.

Meeting Cancelled

Bad weather conditions forced postponement of the regular monthly Loyalist College Board of governors meeting Thursday evening. Instead, a committee meeting was scheduled for those members of the immediate Belleville area who were able to attend. A board spokesman said it is unknown at present if a makeup meeting will be held before the regular May meeting.

Students to Try Hand at Municipal Politics

By ROBIN CHASE
Staff Reporter

Nine Quinte area school and college students have the opportunity this month to view the municipal political scene from the inside as they participate in the Rotary — sponsored Mayors of the Week project.

Each week the students will follow Mayor Robin Jeffery's city council meetings, meeting each of the municipal department heads, having an interview with each one to learn department duties, visiting the city police department, Hastings County Museum, the fire department, Public Utilities Commission and touring the city hall tower.

All students will attend a Rotary Club meeting at noon, April 28, at Sun Valley Motor Inn, to outline their experiences.

The two students this week are Randy Wardell of Loyalist College and Gail Thompson of Albert College.

The other will be Mike Meagher of Moira and Harold Shield of Bayside Secondary School for April 7-11, Leona Courneya of Nicholson College and Ian Acton of Belleville Collegiate and Vocational Institute from April 14-18 and Sandy Goldsmith of Centennial Secondary School Lorraine McDonald of the Ontario Business College and Peter Wade of Quinte Secondary School for the week April 21-25.

Mr. Wardell, a 20-year-old Waterford, Ont., resident enrolled in a communication studio technique (CST) program, summed up the feelings of the group.

"I sort of like to get into political things. It'll be good experience," he commented.

"I'll get to meet a lot of important people. It's good to get to know these people."

A CST representative on the college student administrative council and former secondary school student councillor, Mr. Wardell added, "sometime I wouldn't mind being on a city council."

Strikers Prepare

Lawrence St. Pierre (left), chief union negotiator for Belleville Transit Commission employees, ponders over possible strike sign design with local union chief Hugh Kerr. The 23-member union voted 70 per cent in favor of strike action following last minute negotiations Thursday. Management made a final offer of an 85-cent increase after June, 15 cents below the union's dollar an hour demand.

Heavy Snow Disrupts Rail Bus, Mail Service

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

Public services inevitably were hard-hit as Belleville reeled in the worst storm of the year still pounding Southern Ontario today.

Trains, taxis, mail and other services were running behind schedule as gusting snow continued right into the city and district.

City cabs were swamped with demand as workers left automobiles in plugged driveways. Many walked — it took too long to get a taxi.

"We're just flooded — lawyers, doctors, everybody is calling," said a despatcher at Central Taxi.

By this morning, the company's 30-cab fleet was running up to 90 minutes behind calls, he said.

Although all letter carriers were on the streets, the volume of mail was slim.

A city post office spokesman said at 9.30 a.m. that mail trucks — usually due about 8 a.m. with the bulk of the day's mail from Toronto — had not arrived.

Mail received late Thursday and the small amount still carried by train, was being delivered.

Commerce and other sectors of community activity were being given priority for delivery.

Mailmen on home deliveries would "make as good attempt as they" can to get through snow-laden streets but "it's pretty rough going," the spokesman said.

By Thursday night, buses through the city were running two hours late, reported the Belleville office of Voyageur-Colonial.

A Canadian National Railways spokesman said the overnight train to Montreal — which arrives in the city at 1.50 a.m. — was an hour behind schedule.

Several freights — both local and Montreal-Toronto through freights — had been cancelled, reported the CN despatcher's office.

"If you don't have to go out you might as well stay home today," advised the local transportation and communications ministry office, after highways crews had been struggling with the storm for 36 hours.

The ministry depot at Marysville — responsible for patrolling Highways 401 and 2 from Trenton to Napanee — reported a major problem with drifting and strong winds. The combination repeatedly defeated efforts to keep roads plowed, sanded and salted.

Tire Blows, Car Hits Pole

PICTON — A Picton motorist escaped injury Thursday morning when his car blew a rear tire at the intersection of Mary and York streets and careened into a hydro pole.

Police said George Barsley, 24, 363 Main St., lost control of his vehicle on slippery streets after the blowout, and the car snapped the pole.

Damage to the car was estimated at $500 and damage to the pole at $100.

The accident occurred at 9.45 a.m.

Business as Usual Despite Poor Weather

City merchants are banking on hearty shoppers today as most stores remained open despite the storm. However, many stores closed down Thursday night.

A spokesman from the Quinte Mall said all stores in the mall will remain open all day and this evening. He said traffic through the mall Wednesday night and Friday has been heavy.

In the west end of the city a Towers spokesman said the store will be closed all day Friday. Most downtown Belleville stores will remain open today as city crews begin to clear the main streets. More than 10 inches of snow has fallen on Belleville since the storm began Wednesday night.

A spokesman from the Belleville Plaza said he expects shoppers to brave the fracas to be open today. However, he said that retail operators expected light business.

The storm, probably a record-breaker for April, began about 9 p.m. Wednesday night and police in the city all day Thursday. Weather forecasters predicted the storm will subside tonight followed by sunshine Saturday.

Alarm Box

Belleville firefighters responded to the following calls for assistance in the 8-hour period ending at 8 a.m. Friday.

Thursday, April 3, 7:16 a.m. — Constellation Carpet Ltd., Dundas St. E., chemical fire of sodium chloride in metal containers, quickly extinguished.

Thursday, April 3, 2:12 p.m. — Bank of Montreal at Quinte Mall, short to computer unit, no damage.

Roads Top Worry

The worst storm of the year saw every available public works employee called in to man clearance crews to keep Belleville streets open.

Works superintendent John Conlain said the men worked from 5.30 a.m. Thursday to 2.30 a.m. today when the situation seemed under control. They were then sent home for a rest.

"They needed it," said Mr. Conlain.

In the interim the storm began again, driven by gusting winds. However, said the superintendent, there were no complaints received from city residents throughout the storm.

There was one problem for the department. In parts of the city it already had removed snowclearing from open areas. This created drifting conditions in some streets.

"I consider ourselves pretty lucky compared to what I hear about other parts of the province," said Mr. Conlain.

Only Key Staff Man Base Posts

TRENTON — Between 60 and 70 per cent of CFB Trenton's 2,500 employees — both civilian and military — were given the day off today, the result of a two-day snow storm that dumped about seven inches of snow on Trenton.

The estimate was made by Col. Jack Henry who issued an essential weather release earlier today.

He said only essential personnel, as defined by various unit commanders, will be required to work.

Explaining, he said "many people live off the base, some 30 hours a day." Staff in the fire station in the hangar area, duty operations desk, and air movements office will fill their regular jobs.

The base commander said much of the civilian staff will not come in today. Parking for cars, the only way to get to the base, is "impossible."

Air traffic has been drastically curtailed. Since the storm hit the Quinte area, only two planes have left the base — both at about 9 a.m. Thursday.

At the aircraft maintenance development unit (AMDU) some 50 employees of Field Aviation Co. Ltd. contractor workers on the base, were told not to come to work today.

Pileup On No. 2

The Belleville detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police say they have investigated about a dozen minor accidents from about midnight to 11 a.m. today and are warning motorists to stay off the roads during the snowstorm unless absolutely necessary to travel.

The most serious, said an OPP spokesman, was one occurring about 8 a.m. today on Highway 2 just west of the Main Gate at CFB Trenton.

Police said one three-car accident resulted in two or three additional mishaps. The OPP spokesman said total of about six or seven vehicles were involved, nothing serious. Cause was attributed to traffic congestion or that area at that particular time in the morning.

In other areas of the county, a superintendent in Sidney Township said traffic could be improved if motorists stranded on roads would see to it that their vehicles are removed as quickly as possible.

Highway 401, was reported icy and snow covered and extreme caution is urged.

Lloyd Dennis Guest Speaker

Lloyd Dennis, Leeds and Grenville director of education and co-author of the widely discussed Hall-Dennis Report on education, will speak to area public and separate school board members, principals and administrators here Monday, April 7.

Mr. Dennis will discuss main features of the Faure Report, Learning to Be, being prepared for the Ontario Conference of Education to be held at York University in May.

Damage Minor

PICTON — Town police today reported two accidents on Main St. during Thursday's surprise storm that dumped over seven inches of snow on Picton streets.

Two Prince Edward County drivers escaped injury in a two-car collision on Main St. shortly before 4 p.m.

The accident occurred when a car driven by Alexander Blakely, 23, of RR 1, Cherry Valley was in collision with a vehicle operated by Merton Lloyd Hill of RR 1, Picton who was backing from, a parking slot. Damage to the cars was estimated at $400.

A second accident was reported at the intersection of Main and Lake streets Thursday afternoon when cars driven by Tommy Monroe, 42, of RR 5, Picton and William Bagg, 81, of RR 1, Picton collided.

Damage to both vehicles totalled $300. No injuries were reported.

The Observers

Mayor Jeffery and Ald. Arthur Keegan talks over municipal affairs with two young people named to observe city hall business as part of Mayors-of-the-Week educational program. This week brought the first of several young people who participate in the annual program. Involved with the complexities of local government are Gail Thompson (right) 16, of Albert College, and Andy Wardell, 20, of Loyalist College.

Whalers Ready

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

New England Whalers demonstrated Thursday that they are ready for the World Hockey Association playoffs while San Diego Mariners finally clinched a playoff berth.

The Whalers showed their playoff form in a 4-1 win over Quebec Nordiques while San Diego defeated Baltimore Blades 9-2.

"We're playing playoff hockey right now," said acting coach Jack Kelley of the Whalers who clinched the Eastern Division title last month. "These last few games are just as important as playoff games and we're going all out to win them."

The Whalers toured their third straight victory under Kelley, the team's general manager, since he took over the coaching job from ailing Tom Ryan.

The win moved the Whalers into second place behind Houston Aeros in the over-all point standings, which determine playoff pairings and home ice advantage.

New England is 43-35-5 for 91 points, while Quebec slipped into third place with a 42-35-6 record and 90 points. The Whalers have two regular season games left, while the Nordiques have one.

"Playoff hockey is positional hockey," Kelley said. "If you get a lead you try and protect it. We built a three-goal advantage in the middle of the second period and were content to play it tight. We never let Quebec back in the game."

Veterans Don Blackburn and Wayne Carleton did most of the damage for the Whalers. Blackburn scored two goals and added an assist and Carleton scored one goal and three assists. Tom Webster tallied the other New England goal.

Tom Webster opened the other New England goal while Francois Lacombe got Quebec's only goal in the final period.

At San Diego, the Mariners took over sole possession of second place in the Western Division with 87 points, two ahead of Minnesota Fighting Saints and three ahead of Phoenix Roadrunners.

Norm Ferguson and Ron Plumb each scored two goals while Andre Lacroix had a goal and four assists to take over the league scoring lead with 38 goals and 100 assists. Lacroix now is two points ahead of Bobby Hull of Winnipeg Jets who has 75 goals and 61 assists.

Hull and the Jets visit Toronto Toros with the Jets needing a victory to stay alive in their drive for a playoff spot. Other games have Vancouver at Edmonton, Phoenix at Minnesota and New England at Chicago.

Sabres Regain Points Lead

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The National Hockey League heads into the final weekend of its regular schedule tonight with a number of playoff positions still undecided.

Thursday's results did little to clarify the picture.

Buffalo Sabres defeated Boston Bruins 4-2 to regain the over-all points leadership in the league but the Sabres could still be overtaken in that department by Montreal Canadiens or Philadelphia Flyers who have two games remaining while Buffalo has only one.

The Sabres have 111 points and Montreal and Philadelphia have 109 each.

The team finishing with most points has the home-ice advantage throughout the playoffs.

Chicago Black Hawks defeated Kansas City Scouts 6-4 to move into a second-place tie with St. Louis Blues in the Smythe Division race. The Hawks and Blues have 80 points, four behind the leading Vancouver Canucks who could clinch the division title tonight when they play host to Minnesota North Stars.

Meanwhile, in Thursday's only other game, New York Rangers improved their playoff chances with a 1-1 tie at Philadelphia. Tonight the Rangers visit Atlanta Flames who must win if they hope to overtake the Rangers or New York Islanders for a playoff spot in the Patrick Division.

The tie pulled the Rangers even with the Islanders, each with 88 points, three ahead of Atlanta.

Rick Martin scored two goals—his 50th and 51st of the power plays to lead Buffalo against the Bruins. Rick Dudley added his 31st of the season and Fred Stanfield his 18th.

Phil Esposito opened the scoring for Boston with his 61st of the season and Don Marcotte scored his 30th in the third period.

Martin became the fourth player to reach the 50-goal mark this season. The others are Esposito, Danny Grant of Detroit Red Wings and Guy Lafleur of Montreal Canadiens.

At Chicago, J. P. Bordeleau also scored two second-period goals and assisted on another by defenceman Phil Russell to lead the Hawks. Stan Mikita, Jim Pappin and Grant Mulvey added single goals for the Hawks: Simon Nolet scored twice for Kansas City.

Jean Ratelle scored for the Rangers after only 15 seconds of the game at Philadelphia but Bobby Clarke tied the score for the Flyers later in the first period.

Playoff Pictures

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The top three teams in each of the four NHL divisions qualify for the Stanley Cup playoffs. Division winners receive a bye into the second round; the other eight teams enter a best-of-three first-round series. Pairings are determined by points. The team with most points meets the team with the fewest points, the team with second-most points meets the team with second fewest, and so on.

Today, the following teams would be in the playoffs (x—division leaders, z—first-round bye):

xBuffalo Sabres 111 points
xMontreal Canadiens 109 points
xPhiladelphia Flyers 109 points
Los Angeles Kings 102 points
Boston Bruins 93 points
Pittsburgh Penguins 87 points
New York Islanders 86 points
New York Rangers 86 points
xVancouver Canucks 84 points
St. Louis Boues 80 points
Chicago Black Hawks 80 points
Toronto Maple Leafs 77 points
Atlanta, with 83 points, is the only other team which still could qualify for a playoff berth, should it overtake the Islanders or Rangers in the Patrick Division in this final week of the season.

In WHA

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The top two teams in each of the three WHA divisions qualify for the playoffs, along with two other wild-card teams with the highest point totals. Pairings for the best-of-seven quarter-final playoffs are determined on points, regardless of division standings. The team finishing with the most points in the league meets the team with fewest points; the team with second-most points meets the team with second-fewest points, and so on.

Today, the following teams would be in the playoffs (x—division leaders):

|---|---|
| Houston | 102 points |
| New England | 91 points |
| Quebec | 90 points |
| San Diego | 87 points |
| Toronto | 86 points |
| xMinnesota | 85 points |
| xPhoenix | 84 points |
| Cleveland | 74 points |

Winnipeg, with 80 points, is the only other team which could still qualify for a playoff berth, should it overtake either of the wild-card teams.

COVER STORY

It's everything you ever wanted in a decorator finish. Benjamin Moore's Aquavelvet is a low-sheen interior latex enamel that covers most surfaces with just one coat. So you spend less time painting and more time admiring the results.

Aquavelvet is good value. It's specially formulated to spread evenly over large areas to give you a good looking decor at reasonable cost.

Aquavelvet dries fast. You can paint in the morning and have a beautiful room in the afternoon, with a velvety surface that's easy to keep clean.

When you think about it, the Aquavelvet story turns out to be more than a cover story. It's a clean story you can spread around, with a beautiful, decorative finish.

To get the full story, talk to a painting expert, your Benjamin Moore paint dealer.

Ali vs. Ron Lyle — Live

NEW YORK (AP) — Heavyweight champion Muhammad Ali will appear in the nation's living rooms in May, but fans probably will have to go to the theatre to watch him perform in September.

"The fight is on, the money is up," Herbert Muhammad, Ali's manager, said Thursday in Chicago about an Ali title defence against Ron Lyle in Las Vegas May 16, which will be shown live on home television by ABC.

"The terms are agreeable and we will sign a contract," said Irwin Rosse, Lyle's manager of record, who added that he had talked with Lyle's business partner, Bill Daniels.

Ali will get $1 million and Lyle $100,000.

The first home telecast of a heavyweight title fight since Joe Frazier stopped Ron Stander May 25, 1972, will be promoted by Don King Productions, Inc., and Video Techniques, Inc., co-promoters of Ali's title winning performance against George Foreman in Africa last Oct. 30 and his defence against Chuck Wepner March 24 at Cleveland.

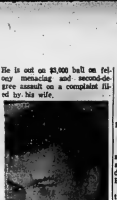
King also said Thursday that he expects to make the Ali-Lyle fight, the second half of a home television doubleheader with middleweight champion Carlos Monzon or lightweight champion Robert Duran.

Then, under questioning, King said he expects the next big fight to be in Egypt in September. Ali would probably meet Foreman or possibly Joe Frazier in a closed-circuit television match in Cairo.

For Lyle, the shot at the title comes after a series of setbacks.

The 33-year-old ex-convict from Denver was all but signed to fight Ali in Madison Square Garden on March 24, but the bout fell through and Ali ended up with Wepner. The Garden still hoped to make an Ali-Lyle fight for June but Lyle then was outpointed by unheralded Jimmy Young.

Then Lyle was arrested on a charge of shooting at his wife.



He is out on $5,000 bail on felony menacing and second-degree assault on a complaint filed by his wife.

Bad News for Foes — Ellis Sharp

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Dock Ellis has picked up this spring where he left off last fall and that may be just what the doctor ordered for Pittsburgh Pirates.

Ellis allowed three hits and two unearned runs over the first seven innings Thursday as the Pirates' 5-3 exhibition triumph over Chicago White Sox. In 36 innings this spring he has allowed only one earned tally.

Last July 10 Ellis' record was 28 with a 4.24 earned run average. Starting with a 3-1 triumph over Houston on July 15, he won eight consecutive games and nine of 10. During that 9-1 stretch he pitched seven complete games and went into the ninth inning of two others. His ERA was 1.91.

But his season came to an end Sept. 11 when a line drive off the bat of Philadelphia's Willie Montanez fractured his right wrist.

The Pirates defeated the White Sox when Willie Stargell, who earlier belted a solo homer, singled home the winning run in the eighth inning following Richie Hebner's triple.

Elsewhere on the exhibition trail it was Oakland A's 10, Los Angeles Dodgers 9; San Diego Padres 2, Cleveland Indians 0; Baltimore Orioles 6, Kansas City Royals 4; Cincinnati Reds 3, Detroit Tigers 1; New York Yankees 7, New York Mets 2; St. Louis Cardinals 10, Houston Astros 1; Minnesota Twins 3, Boston Red Sox 1; Montreal Expos 4, Philadelphia Phillies 3; Chicago Cubs 6, Milwaukee Brewers 4; Atlanta Braves 3, Richmond of the International League 2. California Angels and San Francisco Giants were rained out.

Bert Campaneris led off the bottom of the ninth with his second home run of the game and Clendell Washington singled home the winning run as the A's rallied to edge the Dodgers. The game between the 1974 World Series rivals drew a crowd of 4,884, largest for the A's in their seventeen days of training camp.

DOCK ELLIS

San Diego left-handers Randy Jones, Dave Tomlin and Rich Folkers combined to pitch a one-hitter against Cleveland. The lone hit was Rico Carty's single with one out in the fifth inning off Jones, who went the first seven.

Baltimore's Lee May drove in three runs with a homer and double against Kansas City. Cincinnati's sore-shouldered Gary Nolan breezed through his final tune-up, scattering five hits in seven innings against the Tigers. It was Nolan's most impressive outing of the spring.

Larry Gura pitched seven scoreless innings to outduel Tom Seaver, and Alex Johnson, Walt Williams and Lou Piniella drove in two runs apiece, leading the Yankees past the Mets before a record crowd of 8,439 in Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

St. Louis reached Houston's Larry Dierker for seven runs in the fourth inning—five unearned—in walloping the Astros. Glenn Borgmann's seventh-inning single enabled Minnesota to beat Boston behind Bert Blyleven, who fanned 10 in seven innings.

Philadelphias Eddie Watt surrendered a bases-loaded walk to Larry Bittner in the eighth inning, capping a three-run rally that lifted Montreal over the Phillies. Jerry Morales' tie-breaking eighth-inning homer paced the Cubs over the Brewers. Dusty Baker's two-run homer in the third inning helped the Braves down their Richmond farm team.

Introducing the new Ontario Lottery

"For a buck a throw, she sure sounds like she's a ring-dang-do of a lottery".

CHARLIE FAROLHARSON
FROM PARRY SOUND

You were never more right, Charlie. We're going to call it Wintario. And, with a new draw every two weeks for a grand prize of $100,000 tax free and up to 1350 other big cash prizes, it's going to make a whole lot of people all over Ontario very happy.

Price of the tickets? Just $1.00. And they'll be almost everywhere. Places like cigar stores, newsstands, gas stations, milk stores, grocery stores, restaurants–that's right, almost anywhere.

But that's just the beginning. Through the Ministry of Culture and Recreation, the millions of dollars raised by the lottery will help support a wide range of activities and facilities right here in Ontario. Things we can all enjoy. So you see, Charlie, with Wintario we're all going to win.

"Support yer sports and yer physical fittings, you say? About the only thing that runs 'round here is my Allis Chalmers".

Well Charlie, it's the same with most of us. So Wintario will help support big sporting events like the Ontario Summer Games. And small events like building a new ball diamond in your town. And coaching clinics so our kids get the best instruction. There'll be something for everyone, everywhere in Ontario.

And more, Charlie. Wintario will help support hundreds of historical projects across Ontario. Places like Ste. Marie Among the Hurons, Nancy Island Museum and Old Fort William. And preserving our past through the work of the Ontario Heritage Foundation, for example.

And more, Charlie. Lottery dollars will provide huge assistance for groups like the Ontario Arts Council. For visual arts programs like the McMichael Collection in Kleinburg, big art galleries like the Ontario Art Gallery and small local galleries. For grants to local painters, potters and sculptors to continue producing and growing. And for musicians of all ages all over the province, all the way from small town Barbershoppers to big city symphonies. Plus, money to support playhouse theatres, drama societies, modern and ethnic dance troupes. Charlie, they're all important.

"No question, you gotta preserve yer hysterical sights and yer monumental statuatory".

"Say now, reminds me, we'll be needing a new buffoon for the Parry Sound Sympathy Orchestra".

You've got the right idea, Charlie. Now, be sure you get a ticket. First draw is May 15th and tickets go on sale in April. One way or another, we know you're going to win. With Wintario, we all win.

Shrine Tournament Goes On as Scheduled

It all comes together at 6 p.m. tonight at the Memorial Arena. Belleville fans can get another look at some of the best hockey entertainment anywhere when the Belleville Pepsi-Cola Shrine Tournament officially opens.

Representatives of the Shrine Club are expecting crowds to exceed last year's record attendance mark since some of the top young players in the province will be battling for the Grand Championship and several individual awards.

In all, 16 teams will go at it tonight and tomorrow, with the best playing off for the title on Sunday. Twenty-three games will be played over the three days for competition. Four games are scheduled at the Dick Ellis and four at the Memorial tonight and the remaining 15 at the Memorial.

Defending A and grand champion Oshawa won't be back this year, unless the club is called in as a late replacement.

The club was originally scheduled to be here but was replaced by a strong Burlington squad when it appeared as if Ontario Minor Hockey association playoff commitments might conflict with tourney dates.

Peterborough, A finalist last year, is rated a pre-tourney favorite again this time around.

The Peterborough squad lost only one game during its OMHA regular season schedule but bowed out in group playoff action to Oshawa.

Kingston looks like another strong entry. B finalist in 1974, the club is back to try and improve on that standing.

Nepean, though they've never taken a title at the Belleville event, have always been highly competitive.

Cornwall, led by goaltender Robbie Lalonde, is an unknown commodity since they did not participate in a league this season. However, they did win 75 per cent of their tournament and exhibition games.

Other teams taking a run at the Grand Championship are Toronto Bines, Brampton, Ottawa Knights, Trenton, Niagara Falls, Whitby, St. Catharines, London, Windsor, Kingston Centre 70 and of course Belleville's own Rollins Peewees.

No Change In Plans

As of 8 o'clock this morning, the annual Belleville Shrine Peewee Hockey Tournament was definitely going ahead as planned this weekend, according to co-director, Don Gavey.

"I've been on the 'phone since 8 a.m. and teams like St. Catharines and Niagara Falls had already left for Belleville," explained Gavey.

"The teams from Cornwall, Ottawa and Nepean may have problems getting here but there is no way we can postpone the tournament," he said.

The tourney official said if weather conditions caused the late arrival of some teams, rescheduling of games may be necessary but he was not expecting problems.

First-round games are on tap tonight beginning at 6 p.m.

Finals Go to Overtime

Championship and consolation playoff finals went to sudden death overtime in keenly contested Quinte Minor Hockey Association peewee minor action play this week.

King Edward scored a two-goal deficit to force overtime in their championship match with Y's Men's Club and pulled out the title early in the extra period when Tim Marshall connected, to make it 4-3.

Other marksmen for the champs were Alan Derry with a pair, and Rob Walters. Y's Men's Club got a pair from Jim Gray and one by Mike Shandraw. Penguins' Al Thompkins and Y's Men's Adam Weymuk put in solid efforts in goal.

Penguins also took first place honors during the regular season.

In the consolation final with Police Association, Bellewood Lumber trailed 5-1 in the third period but battled to get even terms and won with a little more than five minutes played in the overtime when Bruce Harper clicked for his second goal of the game.

Scott Granville had the period two goals for the winners.

Police Association goals were supplied by Gene Bastin with two and Dave Barrilage.

During the sudden death period, Bastin very nearly pulled it out for Police when he was awarded a penalty shot, Bellewood goalie Jeff Parks made the important save.

Lucas and Ray Spark Reid's

A five point night by Jim Lucas and a four point effort from Al Ray propelled Reid's Dairy to a 5-3 win over Cornerstone Builders in the opening game of the best 3-of-five Quinte Hockey League final series. Thursday night at the Memorial Arena.

Lucas scored twice, including the winner, and drew three assists. Ray potted three goals and assisted on another.

Ray Johnston scored twice for Cornerstone, which finishes first in regular season action, and Norm Pope added the third.

The second game in the series will be played Thursday at 8:30 p.m. at the Memorial Arena.

Final Series Stalled

The Ontario Minor Hockey Association Peewee D final series is one of a number of sports activities that has had to be rescheduled because of the impossible travel conditions.

Scheduled for a date in Cayuga, Thursday night, the Wellington Legaley Coach Lions team made it as far as Oshawa before being forced to turn back.

Both wouldn't believe the conditions we ran into," reported a spokesman for the Wellington team.

The OMHA is expected to announce new dates for the series.

Wellington leads the title series 1-0.

YOUR BRAND-NEW CAR HAS ALREADY STARTED TO RUST.

You may not be able to see it, but it's there. Because new cars aren't equipped to resist the corrosive effects of salt, moisture, and pollutants. So it may not be very long before your new car is turned into an eyesore by rust. And until now, there wasn't much you could do about it.

Because until now, there wasn't a rustproofing system available that could work effectively on a car that had already started to rust.

Now there is one. And only one. It belongs to Tuff-Kote. And it's the only rustproofer system in the world that really works — not only on brand new cars — but on cars that are anywhere from 3 months to 3 years old. What's more, it's guaranteed in writing.

So if you didn't give your car the total protection of Tuff-Koting when you first bought it, bring it to your Tuff-Kote dealer. He's the only one who can help you now.

Among the entries are Albert College, Belleville Collegiate Institute, Bayside, Centennial Secondary School, East Northumberland Secondary School, Ce nire Hastings Secondary School, Moira Secondary School, North Addington, Educational Centre, Napanee and Picton Secondary School.

Prince Edward Collegiate Institute, Quinte Secondary School, Sir James Whitney and Trenton High School.

CARROLL CUT

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Pitcher Tom Carroll and first baseman Dave Revering are two of the Cincinnati Reds' spring training roster cuts.

The Reds' club announced Thursday their re duction to the minor leagues left the Reds with the major league limit of 25 players. Carroll spent most of the 1974 season with the Reds.

Pitching Staff Strengthened

When the Belleville McDonalds first came on to the baseball scene in the city, general manager Doug Adams knew he would have to latch on to a pitcher who could handle the calibre of ball in the Ontario Fastball League.

The two club owners, Adams and Dale Duvall, breathed a sigh of relief when Bob Ethier signed with their team. Ethier was a proven commodity. He had carried Howard and Robert Printing to an Ontario championship and a Quinte Fastball League title. He was a one man show.

Then complications set in. With nine players on the McDonald's roster Ethier decided he wasn't going to pitch for the OFL entry. The McDonalds lost the mainstay of their pitching staff.

Adams kept right on signing players, all the time looking for a third hurler.

"When Ethier left the team we had only two pitchers (Scott Reid, Ted Waite)," said Adams, "and we desperately needed a third."

Adams phoned all over the province and finally came up with Jack Leeman's name. The general manager phoned the Kingston resident and made arrangements for him to attend the team workouts.

"It is my feeling that we have more than compensated for our loss of Ethier," said Adams. "Jack has the experience and the ability and, more than that, he has the confidence in himself and us from which we can build a winning club."

A six-footer, the stalky 180-pound right hander has been throwing for Verona for the last six years. Two seasons ago he pitched them to an Ontario intermediate championship.

Leeman, 29-year-old, signed with the McDonald's on Wednesday after working out with them twice. Last year he finished with a 4.62 record averaging 10-13 strikeouts a game. He is also consistent at the plate. In 1974 he batted .33 with three homer runs.

The McDonald's also added 30-year-old Trenton resident Jim Clement on Wednesday. Clement spent the last three years playing centre field for Augor Men's Wear in the Quinte Fastball League.

The six-foot, 10-pound outfielder is well known for his speed in covering his area of fielding ground and running ability on the base.

Though not really known for carrying a big stick, Clements finished with a .412 average last season.

The two bring the number of players signed to 14. Along with Waite, Reid and Leeman on the mound, the McDonald's also have Paul Gouldelow, Wayne McTaggart, Dwight Rathwell, Brian Garlepy, Duvall, Marvee Stacey, Glen Sheldon, Ken Genereaux, Steve Lisg, Jack Jury and Clement.

All the players will be on hand tonight at the Parkdale Community Centre for the first annual Meet the McDonald's night. The dance gets under way at 8.30. Season's tickets also go on sale at the night's event. The tickets are $20 and include the cost of 27 regular season home games and all pre-season exhibition games. Admission to the dance is $3.

ARE YOU GETTING SOMETHING OFF THE PRICE BECAUSE THEY'VE TAKEN SOMETHING OFF THE CAR?

Now that rebates are over, some car manufacturers have found another way to offer you less of a price.

They give you less of a car.

They've taken away some of the things that used to be standard equipment and made them options. Some manufacturers have taken away little things like sports mirrors. Others have taken away big things like steel-belted radial tires.

In either case, if you put back the goodies they took away, the price is right back where it started.

At Fiat, we give you a low price without any gimmickry. The things that make the car perform better, as well as the things that make you feel better, are yours at no extra cost.

And the Fiat 128 isn't just economical when you buy it, it's economical when you drive it.

Which means that instead of saving once, you'll save again and again and again.

FIAT
It's where the automobile is going

At a time when other manufacturers are taking off standard equipment we still give you all this.

A Hockey Rarity—Robins Win Playoff Game

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Richmond Robins won their second game in three seasons of post-season play when they beat Hershey Bears 5-3 in the first game of their American Hockey League quarter-final series Thursday night.

The Robins, who have made the playoffs three out of four years since joining the league, have won only one game in two previous years of playoff hockey.

Richmond will try to improve on its playoff success Saturday night when the team travels to Hershey for the second game in the best-of-seven series.

In the only other playoff game Thursday night, Springfield Indians shut out Providence Reds 5-0 to even up their best-of-seven quarter-final at one game each.

Richmond's Jean Payette and Randy Wyrozub broke a 2-2 tie with second-period goals to topple the Bears, who finished in third spot behind Richmond in the Southern Division.

Steve Coates, Serge LaJeunesse and Norm Barnes scored the other Richmond goals. Jacques Cossette, Billy Inglis and Larry Bignell scored for Hershey.

Whitby Goalie Takes MVP Award

CAMBRIDGE, Ont. (CP) — Goaltender Bruce Durno of Whitby McDonalds has won the Dave Pinkney Trophy as the most valuable player in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A league, it was announced today.

Durno shaded Paul Regan of Sabrie Flyers, the scoring champion, in the voting among the six coaches in the league who weren't allowed to vote for their own players. Durno was the top pick of two coaches and tied 10 points.

Regan was also a first choice and recorded a second and third for nine points.

Goalie Grant Cole and right winger Bob Baird of Barrie and Whitby playing coach Dave Nicholishen also drew first place votes in the balloting in which 14 players were recognized.

Durno succeeds another goalie, Ernie Miller of Barrie, as winner of the Pinkney Trophy. Miller turned pro this year, playing with Salt Lake in the Central League.

Durno posted a 4.27 average and one shutout in 23 games with the third-place Whitby club.

Long and Short of It

Chris Rutledge, 17, with four years' experience in the Belleville Minor Soccer Association program, has some tips for one of the smaller members of the group, Doug Burley, 7, who is set to start his second season. Minor lacrosse in this area will be the topic of a discussion on Cablevue 4, Monday and Tuesday nights at 8:30 p.m.

Host Len Smith will quiz panel members Don Runciman, president of the BMLA, Ray Payne, director of referees, and Ted Soule. One of the features of the program will be a film entitled Fastest Game on Two Feet. BMLA registrations are now being taken.

ABSOLUTELY NOTHING TO DO . . .
(but move in).

This trim little beauty on a lovely treed lot is waiting for you. If 2 bedrooms, large kitchen, hardwood floors, utility room and absolutely maintenance free aluminum clad exterior is what you want in a home you've just solved the problem. Details are at your fingertips, call 968-6671 and this weekend could be the start of carefree living!

GOOD BUILDING LOTS
ARE HARD TO FIND . . .

Let us help solve the problem. Planning something a little different in a home? Remember it can only be as good as the ground it sits on. Wooded and with a view, nicely sloping landscape, and away from many neighbors are a few of the features of these lots located within 15 minutes drive north of Belleville. Directions won't do, let us walk with you.

Your Horoscope

By BERNICE BEDE OSOL

Saturday, April 5

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Your ideas have the power to sway others today. You're especially effective in dealing with large groups or organizations.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Things now happening that you're aware of will aid your career. Later, you'll learn and understand the reason for the secrecy.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Your competence comes to the fore if your creative instincts are challenged. It's a good day to use your brainpower.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Some very unusual conditions are in existence today. They could result in bringing about substantial profit for you.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Your thoughtful actions in behalf of a friend will do much to shore up a close relationship that was beginning to totter a bit.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You can do your budget a big favor if you tackle some of the things around the house you've ordinarily pay to have done.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) Make it a point to do and act your best in public today. Impressions made on new acquaintances will be long-lasting.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You've been in the mood to do home redecorating. Plan wisely. You can get things moving now. Costs will be minimal.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Presentation is of paramount importance now if you hope to sell your ideas. Use your most imaginative, convincing approach.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 20) You'll be able to spot bargains others pass by if you use your insight when at the marketplace. Heed inside information.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You're going to be instrumental in bringing two friends together on a project of mutual interest to them. Youll share in the benefits.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Something you and close associates hope to accomplish will succeed if you keep it from others' scrutiny till it's ready to break.

Keeping Epilepsy Secret Dangerous

By G. C. THOFTESON, MD

Dear Dr. Thoftes on: My daughter, age 16, has epilepsy. It is not the grand mal type, but she does get seizures now and then (unknown to others). She doesn't want anyone to know about it because she says they are not educated regarding this.

Is it wise to keep this a secret? Should that be her decision? Would keeping it a secret be psychologically damaging?—B. M.

I don't think you' daughter should keep it a secret. Doing so could be psychologically, and perhaps even physically, damaging to her. Psychologically because attempting to go it alone, so to speak, could place great emotional pressures on her, pressures that come with living with any secret. Physically, because the emotional stresses could actually precipitate attacks. In the end, one effic might build on the other, and she could be the worse for it.

It is more easily said than done, especially for a young girl, but, if possible, she should try to develop a healthy attitude toward her problem, even though society's attitudes toward such illness is anything but healthy.

I would rather see your daughter begin by informing one or two of her close friends or chums about her problem and of what can be expected in an attack. Her gym or swimming instructor most certainly should be told. Making a clean breast of it in this small way should ease some of the emotional strain she is undergoing daily in school and perhaps help her condition measurably.

Another thing, there are attractive little medicines available, which she can wear inconspicuously beneath her clothing and will inform strangers that the wearer has epilepsy. Some drugstores carry these, but they can also be obtained from Medic Alert Foundation. The address is P.O. Box 1009, Turlock, California, 95380.

The foundation also has tags to identify medical needs in events of other, similar settlements.

I hope your daughter is receiving proper medical care for her epilepsy. A recent study revealed that four out of five epileptics in this country are not. Living with this problem is not easy, and it will require a great deal of patience and understanding on your daughter's part. It is a medical problem in which society's attitudes almost invariably impose greater handicaps on the victim than does the disease itself.

Dear Dr. Thoftes on: My doctor says I was going through a false pregnancy. I've been sick the last few mornings. My breasts are enlarging, and around the nipple area there is a darkened color.

But there is no milk in my breasts, and I get a period every other month, is this what they call a false pregnancy? I am scared, and my doctor hasn't said what he is going to do about this. With the false pregnancy, I am about four and a half months along.—Mrs. R.

This is a situation peculiar to women who have an intense desire to become pregnant. It is called "pseudopregnis."

Enlargement of the abdomen and breasts occurs, and there may even be twinges that mimic fetal movement. These are usually due to contractions of the abdominal muscles. The breasts may persist or are irregular as in your case, and the breasts contain no milk. However, the uterus doesn't enlarge, and other pregnancy symptoms are not present.

There is really not much to be done, except to reassure the woman about her situation and what is happening to her body. In due time the symptoms will disappear with no lasting effects, although in some instances, the women persist in a feeling they are going to give birth, right up until the expected date passes fruitlessly.

Dear Dr. Thoftes on: When a woman has a bladder infection, why would the urine be sometimes bloody? Also, why the great pain after urinating, and the call to urinate every two or three minutes with only a drop or two being expelled each time? Almost unbearable pain went along with mine.

What causes the pain? Do the kidneys swell up or something?—D. D.

As infection anywhere in the urinary tract will, if not treated promptly, lead to an inflammation of tissues. The pain you have is one of the symptoms of the infection site.

The pain applies to the burning sensation during urination and afterward as result of the acid content of the urine or of tiny blood clots irritating damaged tissue. The paucity of the stream can be caused by ulceration and/or intake as well as frequency of urination.

The symptoms you describe have been experienced by me and, having been through all this, I can attest to the fact that it can be a perfect nuisance and a quite uncomfortable one, too.

Opening lead—2♣.

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY

In today's hand takes from the qualifying rounds of the world's championship. North and South reached a spade slam after East and West had each put in a nuisance bid. West opened his partner's suit and South wasn't at all happy with the dummy. Still, beggars can't be choosers so after silencing the club he led three rounds of diamonds in order to get rid of his losing club. West ruffed in with the jack of trumps and things were looking up for South.

They looked up even better after South ruffed a club, dropped West's king of spades, picked up trumps and spread his hand.

At another table North arrived at six diamonds, East opened his partner's heart suit and north had no trouble with that slam.

The hand has a most unusual feature. West had opened his own heart suit against the spade slam he would have gotten in with the lead of spades and given his partner a heart ruff. Then against the diamond slam, if East had opened his own club suit, there would have been no way for declarer to avoid the loss of a spade and a club trick.

There may be a moral here: Don't lead your partner's suit!

Narcotic Check Close in India

By RAM SUNDAR
CP Correspondent

BOMBAY (CP) — New York banker Joseph Farrar recently found it "terribly annoying" to travel from the south Indian city of Madras to neighboring Sri Lanka (formerly Ceylon).

Police and customs officials questioned him at several places. On arrival at Colombo, his luggage was carefully examined.

"It was just taken for granted that I must be transporting narcotics," Farrar said, "apparently, I looked like a hippie."

Indian and Sri Lanka police are making a special effort to stop smuggling of narcotics like opium and hashish from India into Sri Lanka. Unofficial reports say there has been a marked increase in the traffic in two years.

Foreigners, particularly hippies and Western tourists, are suspected of playing a key role in the smuggling.

A lot of opium is grown in India for medical purposes. Opium and other narcotics are also smuggled into Indian from Burma, Thailand and Vietnam.

Sri Lanka police said a lot of this opium is being smuggled into Colombo and other towns across the narrow stretch of sea between Sri Lanka and India's southern coast.

From Colombo, the narcotics are sent to various countries in the West. London, New York, Paris and other big cities are believed to be supplied by the "clearing house" in Colombo.

A report published in the Madras Hindu, one of the most respected Indian newspapers, quoted Detective Superintendent Sundera Lingam of Sri Lanka as saying his country might become a new trading post for the traffic of drugs in southeast Asia.

Customs police officials said narcotics supplies to Colombo are also coming from Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia through Japanese and other cargo liners and tankers.

Nearly 200 freighters call at Colombo every month.

An Indian customs official said American and European sailors are "very much in the picture — as much as sailors from Asian nations."

No Move to End Dockers' Strike

MONTREAL (CP) — Officials of the International Longshoremen's Association and the Maritime Employers' Association said Thursday no moves have been made to resolve a strike by longshoremen since negotiations broke down earlier this week.

"If nobody moves it will be a long strike," said Fernand Boudreau, union secretary-treasurer. He said no new meetings or reassessment of the union position were imminent and the membership "supports us fully."

A spokesman for the National Harbors Board said Thursday several ships in Montreal and Quebec City were unloaded by handlers who were not members of the striking union. Ships requiring loading have been barred list by the strike, he said.

The 2,200 dock workers in Montreal, Trois-Rivieres and Quebec City have been on strike since Monday. The strike began over job security proposals which the union called "a step back into slavery."

Morgentaler Decision 'Terrifying Precedent'

MONTREAL (CP) — The Supreme Court of Canada's failure to order a retrial for abortionist Dr. Henry Morgentaler has created a "terrifying legal precedent," the Canadian Association for the Repeal of the Abortion Law said Thursday.

In upholding a guilty verdict rendered by the Quebec Court of Appeal, the Supreme Court of Canada has denied the right of the accused to be judged by a jury of his peers, the association said in a statement.

Morgentaler was acquitted by a jury in Quebec Superior Court in 1972 of performing an illegal abortion. The verdict was reversed last year by the Court of Appeal.

Mireille Lafortune, director of the association, said the decision to overturn a jury acquittal without ordering a new trial "constitutes a dictatorial gesture."

Morgentaler began serving an 18 month jail sentence here last week.

It is ironic during International Women's Year that a tribunal of nine men should decide the question of abortion for all Canadian women, the statement said.

Boycott Proposed

NEW YORK (CP) — A coalition of American women will be asked this weekend to boycott Canadian products if vacationer until Dr. Henry Morgentaler of Montreal is released from jail and abortion laws in Canada are "decriminalized."

Merle Goldberg, a founder and executive director of the National Women's Health Coalition, said she expects that adoption of the boycott resolution will be a formality.

The resolution will be presented this weekend to more than 2,000 women delegates representing hundreds of women's groups at the annual Conference on Women and Health being held at the Harvard University medical facilities in Boston.

Would Consider Plea for Leave

OTTAWA (CP) — The case of Dr. Henry Morgentaler will be considered "on its merits" if he applies for temporary prison leave to accept a United States humanist award, the Quebec justice department said Thursday.

"We try to be as humane as possible but we must abide by the rules," said Dr. Maurice Gauthier, director-general of corrections.

Two Trustee Bodies Are Seen as Essential

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario School Trustees Council (OSC) wants to play a dominant role in trustee affairs in excess of its mandate, Chris Asseff, executive director of the Ontario Separate School Trustees' Association (OSSA), said Thursday.

In spite of OSSTA protests, he told the group's annual meeting, the Ontario government likely is dealing exclusively with the OSTC in matters concerning legislation and policy.

"To put it bluntly, we do not believe that there should be one big trustee organization in Ontario, any more than we believe that there should be one big public school system and so other," he said.

Members of the OSTC, formed in 1948 to deal with issues of common concern to all trustee organizations in Ontario, include the Ontario Public School Trustees' Association, the Northern Ontario Public and Secondary School Trustees' Association, L'association Franco-Ontarienne des conseils scolaires de l'Ontario and the OSSTA, the Roman Catholic Trustees' organization.

In his address, E. J. Brisbois, OSSTA president, said there has been a temptation to delegate authority to a single trustee organization because of "the ominous shadow of a single, powerful teachers' federation."

He said that co-operation between trustees and teachers will lead to a method of dealing "with this annual and abrasive series of encounters."

Right Wave Length

The Rotary Club Science Fair and Hobby Show is in full swing today until 8 p.m. at the Belleville Armory. Here, two students from Albert College, Steve Willment, left, and Ralph Kraft, demonstrate the principle of certain types of sound waves in their display dealing with the characteristics of sound.

Science and Hobby Fair Staged at Armory Here

By JIM SMELLIE
Staff Reporter

The Rotary Club's Annual Science Fair and Hobby Show, running until 8 p.m. tonight at the Armory isn't just for those with scientific minds.

It's also for those who enjoy Greek ethnic dancing karate demonstrations and dog obedience displays. And much more.

The scientific exhibitions through are there in full force, 140 of them put together by close to 500 Quinte area students and ranging in topics from egg candling to a model of a tornado.

There are displays relating to one of the five categories, life sciences, physical sciences, earth sciences, environmental sciences and engineering.

Some students were busy from 6 a.m. Friday setting up their displays for the noon opening that day. Other displays were set-up Saturday.

The winners of the best exhibits in the fair were chosen Saturday morning. The science fair is open to students from Grade 7 to 13 in Belleville and Quinte area public and high schools including Albert College.

Besides the scientific exhibits about 20 hobbyists had displays and demonstration for the visitors.

Hobbies of all sorts from bottle collecting to model airplanes to taxidermy were featured. Demonstrations were given in embroidery, dog handling and flower arranging.

And while some of the displays were static, standing on their own without any need for demonstration, some displays were quite lively. A mouse named Snoopy and one named Linus were part of an experiment by Danny Templeman and Scott Tripp of Prince Charles School to explain human behavior by looking at the actions of the mice in a maze.

Hein Hemmersbach of Foxboro Senior School displayed a model of a water-powered sawmill constructed of wood, that took him about 2½ weeks to build.

The grand prize winner of the science fair wins an all-expense paid trip to compete in the Canada-wide Science Fair in Jonquiere, Que.

U.S. Navy Force Assembles For Evacuation from Saigon

SAIGON (AP) — A United States Navy force including four aircraft carriers began assembling in the Western Pacific today for possible evacuation of Americans and South Vietnamese from Saigon.

Official sources said the ships had no orders to move into Vietnam waters but the threat in Saigon was being assessed by the hour.

The aircraft carriers Enterprise, Coral Sea, Midway and Hancock all have attack bombers aboard.

A fifth ship, the helicopter carrier Okinawa, is standing by in the Gulf of Thailand off Cambodia for evacuation of Americans from Phnom Penh. It has hundreds of marines aboard.

Meanwhile, the U.S. embassy discounted the possibility of sabotage in the crash Friday of an air force jet carrying Vietnamese war orphans to the United States.

About 200 of the 318 persons aboard were feared killed when the C-5A Galaxy crashed in a rice paddy 1½ miles from Saigon's Tan Son Nhut airport shortly after takeoff.

It was the second-worst aircraft disaster on record.

An embassy spokesman said "everything points to mechanical failure. The pilot's report said the aft (rear) pressure doors blew and went through the aft loading doors. They hit the tail and put the elevators out of action.

"As he was making his approach to Tan Son Nhut for an emergency landing, he realized he was descending too fast. But he could not use the elevators so he applied power. But he didn't make it."

Pentagon sources said they suspected sabotage because the C-5A is built so that controls should not be affected if the doors blow out.

What caused the doors to blow was not clear.

Those believed revealed in the crash of a Turkish Airlines DC-10 near Paris in March, 1974, killing the 346 persons aboard in the worst aviation disaster.

Relief and adoption agencies said 600 orphan children were scheduled to fly to the United States today.

One Plane Leaves Saigon
Airlift of Orphans To Canada Stalled

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Plans for a massive evacuation of Vietnamese orphans to Canada stalled Friday when a federal provincial meeting to decide whether Air Canada should be allowed to conduct the airlift failed to materialize.

Air Canada was reportedly considering sending aircraft to Hong Kong, but needed government approval to fly to Saigon.

Reports from government officials today said the aircraft involved were still on the ground.

A Canadian Forces plane scheduled to evacuate 100 orphans along with a number of Canadian citizens left Saigon "after a very short period" early today, a defence department spokesman said. However, it was not known how many persons were aboard.

A spokesman for the external affairs department said the plane was sent as part of "arrangements made for the protection of Canadians and in response to humanitarian appeals."

Forty seven children, including 34 infants previously removed from Cambodia, left Saigon for Canada Friday.

Evacuation operations were being co-ordinated by the Canadian Embassy in Saigon, with first consideration being given to Canadian citizens. The embassy had suggested earlier that all Canadians in South Vietnam leave as quickly as possible by commercial aircraft.

Additional flights have not been ruled out, but the final decision would be made by Ottawa in relation to the concerns of the Canadian Forces mission, affairs department said.

The external affairs department said it was in "constant touch" with Ottawa other agencies attempting to organize mercy flights, but no details were available.

Meanwhile, hundreds of Ontario residents informed the Ontario ministry and Children's Aid Societies across the province they would be willing to provide homes for orphaned children.

Dorothy Harrison, adoption co-ordinator for the CAS of Metro Toronto, said the society received about 1,000 telephone calls Friday from Torontonians.

Elsewhere in Canada, Sandy Cameron, acting social services minister of Nova Scotia, said that more than 200 Nova Scotians had expressed interest in adopting Vietnamese children. .

An official of a Montreal-based group placing Vietnamese children with North American families said she had been inundated with requests to adopt children, but "if you call half these people back in two weeks they will change their minds."

In Ottawa, a spokesman for the local CAS said there had been at least 50 calls in the last two days from couples wanting to adopt these children.

Saskatchewan Health Minister Walter Smishek told the legislature in Regina that his government has agreed to co-operate in the adoption of Vietnamese and Cambodian war orphans.

Hela Hunley, Alberta minister of health and social development, said the government was willing to "assume responsibility for orphans arriving in the province from South Vietnam and Cambodia."

A spokesman for the Vancouver resources board said persons in any British Columbia wanting to adopt Vietnamese orphans were told Friday that there is already a waiting list of 68 families ready to receive such children.

However, officials in Ottawa expressed concern that the "explosion of emotion", over the plight of Indochina war orphans might raise false hopes.

"It is gratifying that Canadians are concerned, but they have to look at the reality of the situation," an immigration spokesman said.

Orphans cannot be evacuated without the permission of the South Vietnam and Cambodian governments "and we have to be certain they are orphans before we bring them out."

It is believed that the South Vietnamese government has granted exit visas for about 300 orphans bound for Canada, "but at this stage it is not all that clear," he said.

In Toronto, Dr. Vivian Abbott, a psychiatric consultant with the Delhicrest Children's Centre for emotionally disturbed children, said she was concerned about reports that the adoption process may be abbreviated.

"I'd rather see it done through normal channels. I can see real care is taken in choosing the adoptive families."

The orphans were not or dinary children with ordinary problems, she said.

"They have been through tremendous trauma already. It's not going to be easy for us to make it up to them. I don't like to see us going into a thing like this too fast."

Hospital Charges Levelled

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

A former Belleville General Hospital social worker Friday called for an investigation into what he termed "mismanagement" at the hospital in the care of elderly patients.

Robert Sanders levelled a number of charges at Friday's regular meeting of the hospital board of governors.

Mr. Sanders, 31, was dismissed last October from the hospital staff. He later protested that his firing was linked to his re-unionist as New Democratic Party candidate and statements he made during the 1974 federal election campaign in Hastings riding.

His prepared statement was cut short by board vice-chairman John Legate when Mr. Sanders said he did not have written permission from former hospital staff members he quoted as claiming they had come planned about problems at the hospital.

In one unread portion of his statement, Mr. Sanders accused The Intelligencer of "co-operating" with hospital administration to "deceive" area residents.

Mr. Legate suggested that Mr. Sanders sign all copies of his statement and file them with the board.

Later, Philip Rickard, hospital executive director, said the institution annually is given independent inspection by the Canadian Council on Hospital Accreditation. He said the council rates Belleville General as one of the best hospitals in administration and staffing.

Another Winter Storm from U.S. to Move into Canada Today

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A fierce snow and windstorm that battered Central Canada on Thursday continued to pound its way eastward through Quebec and the Maritimes on Friday, leaving in its wake at least nine persons dead and a heavy blanket of snow from the Manitoba border to New Brunswick.

Snow and blowing snow up to 21 inches deep continued to clog roads in Quebec and Ontario, while widespread wind damage was reported in the Maritimes.

Meanwhile, the weather office was predicting more, bad weather. Another storm centred in Montana was expected to move into Manitoba early today, bringing more wind and snow. It was forecast to abate somewhat before reaching beleaguered Ontario.

Meanwhile, snow was still falling late Friday in parts of Ontario and Quebec where at least eight storm-related deaths have been reported.

A Quebec department spokesman in Montreal said Friday it would take at least 48 hours to clear city streets of up to 14 inches of snow accumulated during the two-day blizzard.

Ontario continued to reel under harsh weather conditions Friday. Snowclearing in many areas was hampered by localized snowstorms and by high winds near the Lake Huron-Georgian Bay shoreline.

Today's weather forecast calls for snowflurries, colder weather and some heavier snowsqualls for much of Lake Erie, Lake Huron, southern Georgian Bay, western Lake Ontario, Peterborough and London.

An official of the Ontario Motor League, who warned motorists Friday not to drive anywhere in southern Ontario until the weather clears, said the worst conditions were in the areas of Stratford, Barrie, Shelburne and Mount Forest. Shelburne is about 50 miles southeast of Owen Sound and Mount Forest about 45 miles south of Owen Sound.

The ministry of transportation and communications reported many highways still closed, including highway 400 north of highway 7, highway 11 north of Toronto to Barrie was near blocked and other stretches of major highways were restricted to one lane traffic.

The ministry said visibility in most areas except for the Windsor-Chatham areas was poor to zero.

A spokesman for Gray Coach Lines Ltd. in Toronto said operations were curtailed Friday night. Buses between Toronto and North Bay, Sudbury and Barrie were cancelled. He said buses were operating only to Peterborough and Kitchener in the east of Toronto and Oshawa in the west.

Political Fund Poor Proposition

By RON CARSON
Staff Reporter

If Ontario's secondary school teachers can afford to give $600 each for political action then their pleas for large salary increases, above the inflation rate, are not to be taken seriously.

The 34,000-member Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation (OSSTF) had its ranks sign $600 promissory notes in case of a political campaign in the coming provincial election.

The average secondary school teacher's salary is just over $15,000. The $600 represents about four per cent of the total. Four per cent of anyone's income is a sizable chunk and one which most could not afford.

If a moderate — size company, with annual sales of $15 million, was to donate four per cent of its earnings ($600,000) a royal commission plus a political witchhunt would be underway over campaign contributions.

Already, the Ontario Teachers' Federation (OTF), the parent body of the five Ontario teacher groups, has pledged $100,000 to this loosely linked but massive political machine. With the promissory notes the money is on paper.

To date the federations have not said at whom this political activity is aimed but it doesn't require much imagination to see that a campaign of this size could help bring down the Davis government.

The political activity is obviously a threat directed at the Tories should they introduce legislation prohibiting teacher strikes and imposing compulsory arbitration.

The last major political campaign fought by teachers took place in British Columbia in 1972 when they helped defeat, the government of W.A.C. Bennett. The teachers felt the Socred government was spending enough money on education. Bennett also succeeded in limit teachers' raises to 6.5 per cent if his government was re-elected.

The teachers in B.C. gained some public support because there was an educational issue involved as well as the salary disputes.

Recently, the OSSTF endorsed a resolution for the establishment of compulsory subjects for secondary school students. Their concern is for the quality of education now received by Ontario students.

Apparently, the OSSTF's concern stops short of political activity geared to changing the attitudes of the ministry of education. But, political activity seems warranted over increased salaries and the right to strike.

While the purpose of the OSSTF is to protect teachers and their causes it is doubtful the original founders wished the federation to strip the quality of professionalism from teachers.

If a teacher as an individual, wishes to participate in the provincial election then it is his or her right. But, if the federation insists on toplping a government just for the right to strike and for higher wages then it does not deserve the support or respect of the public.

Sewage Cost Queried

Bellevilie General Hospital is to seek legal advice on exemptions from the city's sewage disposal charges.

The hospital board decided on the move Friday, but not before Mayor Robin Jeffrey commented she hoped BGH wouldn't press the issue.

Charges are for treatment at the sewage disposal plant run by the province.

City treasurer Frank Morrell said the BGH bill — a regular on-bill per agreement city property owners — amounts to about $7,600.

The city of the province about $500,000 a year for operation of the plant, he said.

Patients Urged To Recruit Blood Donors

A city councillor has proposed Bellevilie General Hospital institute a volunteer blood donor program.

Ald. Stu Meeks Friday gave a notice of motion to the hospital board he will suggest a volunteer project in which patients receiving blood would seek out donors among friends and relatives.

The project would place patients under no obligation but was aimed at offering a current stimulation in which the Bellevilie area is receiving much more blood han it donates to the central distributing Red Cross blood bank in the province.

Tall Order

Constable Cecil Farrington has represented "tall order" on the Picton Police force for approximately 13 years.

The popular constable has resigned his job because of ill health and will leave work this month.

Ill Health Forces End Of Picton Police Career

PICTON — The Streets of San Francisco may boast detective Mike Stone but the town of Picton for 15 years has had "Big Cec."

Constable Cecil Farrington, whose career in police work began in 1957, this week is leaving the job because of ill health.

The veteran officer has been the "cop on the corner" to hundreds of Picton residents and is widely known for his good nature.

Constable Farrington stands six for six inches and weighs over 300 pounds but has relied on the "gentle bat firm " approach throughout his career.

He served on the town police, force from 1957 to 1970, then resigned for a three-year period when he was employed as a guard at the Picton lock-up. He returned to police work in 1974, resigning this year because of ill health.

Chronic Respiratory Cases Aided by New Program

For the last 21 months Bellevilie General Hospital has been running a preventive program for persons with chronic respiratory disease.

Although adequate statistics are not available, the rapy program — centred on the Queen's Self Care Unit — evidently "is meeting its objectives," Dr. Reginald Anderson, BGH medical director told the hospital board Friday.

The project was launched following a study on the impact of these suffering obstructive lung disease on the hospital's bed utilization.

The study showed a need to prevent such "unfortunate" sufferers from deteriorating between hospital treatments.

Apart from "the misery, endured by these patients" their health breakdown accounted for a "really formidable" number of stays in hospital, reported Dr. Anderson.

During 1974 patients accounted for 1,100 individual sessions.

Among those assisted; People with asthma who are taught breathing control and relaxation; those with bronchitis, emplysema and chronic asthma, who learn to increase exercise tolerances and physical fitness.

Poster Contest Stresses Early Job Planning

To stimulate summer employment for students, Canada Manpower Centre (CMC) has launched a poster contest in county secondary schools with total prits of $280.

Students said the purpose of Peter Fleming, of CMC for Student, said the purpose of the contest is to encourage students to start thinking about summer employment and remind employers to plan for summer jobb.

The contest is open to students in the seven high schools of the county and there will be seven $25 prizes for first place and seven $15 prizes for second place. The contest will close April 30.

The funds for the prizes are being donated by the Bellevilie and District Employment Committee in co-operation with CMC for Students. This committee strives to solve employment problems in the area.

Mr. Fleming said all posters must contain the words "Canada Manpower Centre for Students." The format of the poster is open. Mr. Fleming said additional information as to where the posters are to be sent will be available soon.

WE ARE OFTEN ASKED
JOHN R. BUSH
R. DOUGLAS RUSHNELL
QUESTION:
Should friends always go to the cemetery?
ANSWER:
It is not always possible for all friends to go to the cemetery particularly in the case of business acquaintances who have taken time off from work to attend the service in the Church or Funeral Chapel — However attendance is important at Christian Burial Service and the family does appreciate the presence of all those who do attend with them at the final interment in the cemetery.
QUESTION:
Why are caskets sometimes left closed?
ANSWER:
Sometimes at the specific request of the deceased or family, in other incidents circumstances make it difficult to recapture the remembered physical likeness.

Heritage Found Both In Past and Present

By MARG HAYLOCK
Staff Reporter

PICTON — In Prince Edward, frequently dubbed The County, with emphasis on "The" tradition dies hard.

Concern for local indentity was clearly demonstrated when a proposal for one-tier government was introduced in 1974. Many Prince Edward residents questioned the threat a county government could pose to the familiar boundaries of the old municipalities.

Prince Edward's countryside is peppered with intriguing road signs such as "Gilead, "Christian Street" and "Jericho". Each has been retained with its story by a heritage-conscious county fostering its link with the past.

Today, a new trend is showing as public buildings and parks are named for Prince Edward residents who have made recent contributions to their community.

This week it was announced the Milford Public Library will be re-named in memory of South Marysburg Township resident Ann Farwell who died this winter following a lengthy illness.

Miss Farwell was a co-founder of this small book centre and volunteered to take her turn as librarian for 'a number of years.

In 1974, Prince Edward County council voted to name its new home for the aged in memory of Picton's late mayor Harvey J. McFarland.

This decision was forwarded after consideration of the late mayor's concern for senior citizens. For a number of years he presided each resident of the county home with a Christmas gift and shared in their holiday celebrations.

When town foreman Angus Leiferp died about six years ago, Picton councillors agreed Delhi Park should be renamed in his memory. He had been active in planning for this recreation facility and supervised work projects there.

A brief dedication service was held as the Angus Leiferp Delhi Athletic Field was opened.

The Prince Edward County Board of Education this winter sanctioned a change in name for Wellington Consolidated School.

It now is known as Snider Elementary School in tribute to the late Milton Snider, a Wellington educator who served as its principal for a number of years.

As Prince Edward County residents are honored through the naming of public buildings, libraries and parks, local identity grows even stronger.

A number of Prince Edward's pioneer residents such as the Reverend William Macauley still are recalled — but, in addition, there are new names.

The county is looking not just to the past but also to the present for its heritage.

Cheese producers from the area gathered this week for the annual spring conference of the Central Ontario Cheesemakers' Association at the Sun Valley Motor Hotel. Speakers and panelists included, back row: Dr. K.A. McEwen, chairman, Ontario Milk Commission, Toronto; Carl E. Harrison, President; Darigold Products, Oakville; W. ## Utility Increase Not Unexpected

By AL ZABAS
Staff Reporter

So why should a 25-per-cent jump in water costs in Trenton be unusual? It's not really.

It falls in line with an increase in electricity rates, in gasoline costs, in the price of nearly everything we eat, smell or touch. With the cost of living index at 12 per cent in 1974, and a lower increase, but still an increase, expected this year, it's not particularly unusual.

However, a remarkable solution to the jump has been provided.

During a brief press conference this week, utilities commission manager Douglas Manley suggested a novel way of not having the debit in the pocket: On alternate days, four pennies and then three pennies should be dropped into a Mason jar set aside for the purpose.

Thereby, he reasoned, each day one would put up 3½cents — exactly the amount needed daily to offset the $1.28 rise in the monthly bill of an average household.

Interesting, yes? But for me, too reasonable. Another approach to the problem crept to mind. Surely it's time to revive the old slogan of the dollar conscious and uninhibited: 'Save water. Shower with a friend.'

Behind the increase is the need to pay for the $1.5-million capital works program of the past four years. Part of that program is the interconnection of the east and west banks of the Trent River by watermain. In part, this will help end the foul taste of water in the east.

Isn't it nice to know the town is spending money to improve your tastes? You easterners (luckily, I live out west) won't mind paying for that, will you?

Still on the subject of the dollar, that all consuming passion of ours, I'd like to say: Well done to the owner of Doug's Taxi. He wants council to change one of its bylaws to permit him to charge senior citizens in Trenton less than his meters read.

His initiative may mean the hard earned dollar of those over 65 on fixed incomes will go a little further. And with cash so scarce for the town now looking increasingly more remote, any help senior citizens get in alleviating their transportation costs is for the better.

It seems a simple matter to change the town law that now makes the taxi fleet owner a criminal, something he freely admits, because he discounts 10 cents from senior citizens' fares.

Building Structure Important

It's all well and good for a farmer to adopt new building ideas but if he attempts to transplant a design from the south to the snowbelt without structural changes, he could be in for trouble. An agricultural engineer with the Ontario ministry of agriculture and food, H.E. Bellman warns farmer not to "race" lailed into a sense of security that buildings in use in Ontario's southwest are good for all areas of the province."

"We've had lighter-than-normal snowfall in the past few years, but there's no evidence to show that this will continue," he points out.

When designing and locating any type of agricultural structure, the farmer should remember that the carrying capacity of all rafters must handle the heaviest snow loads in his area.

Farm Advisory Board Oversees Fertilizer Use

"Farmers who are only carrying out normal farm procedures have nothing to fear from officials of the ministry of the environment", said Ontario environment minister Bill Newman.

Recently, some farmers have expressed concern over their practice of spreading manure over fields and the possible resulting odor. Environment Ontario officials point out that this concern is essentially needless worry. Normal manure spreading and subsequent cultivation is both necessary and beneficial for farm operation. Area residents are asked to show consideration toward this practice.

However, a small percentage of farmers do not follow normal farm procedure and this could lead to a valid complaint by a neighboring resident. Ministry officials will investigate and advise the farmer to correct the situation. In most instances the farmer will follow the advice of the official and the situation is quickly remedied.

For farmers who refuse to accept the advice of the official, an independent body called the Farm Pollution Advisory Committee will be called in. The committee of four farmers — Otis Crone and Harold Eshaek of Hagerville, Donald Seidner of Smithville and John K. Peart of Caledonia — was apointed jointly by the Ontario Ministries of Environment and Agriculture and Food in March 1973 to provide an objective assessment of farm environmental situations. These farmers will visit the site and make recommendations.

If the committee's recommendations are not followed, the ministry of the environment has an alternative but to begin legal action.

"Having this action the farmer still has right to appeal his case to the regional director or the Environmental Hearing Board.

If the farmer in question does not appeal or remedy the situation the ministry may initiate court action under the Environmental Protection Act.

Ministry officials report that few farmers are willing to carry their case further than the Farm Pollution Advisory Committee.

"If their peers find them at fault the farmer is usually more than willing to correct the situation," said a ministry official.

Questions about Cremation?

The idea of cremation has been very slow at becoming acceptable to Canadians so that during 1973 less than 4% of all who died were cremated.

Cremation is the ALTERNATIVE to burial in the earth and does not preclude the ordinary Christian Funeral Practices of visiting at the Funeral Home, religious service in the Chapel or Church and the cortege to the cemetery where the crematorium is located.

On occasion funeral directors are asked to provide cremation or burial without religious services or cortege. These wishes are respected.

Whatever your preferences, members of the Ontario Funeral Service Association believe that it is YOUR RESPONSIBILITY to make them known to those you will leave behind.

The Ontario Funeral Service Association respectfully recommends that you meet with a funeral director where these matters can be discussed in confidence and without obligation.

Channel Islands a Top Centre For International Financial Dealings

By VINCENT EGAN

Business and Consumer Affairs Analyst

Thomson News Service

Among the many "offshore financial centres" (or tax havens) of the world, Britain's Channel Islands are unique.

Part of Britain yet with distinctly different tax laws, part of the European Economic Community yet with a very special status, the Channel Islands are attracting so many financial institutions that they have had to bar the door.

Fortunes flow back and forth between the islands and the large traditional money markets such as London and Frankfurt with the speed of a Telex message.

But on any given day, in the banks of Jersey alone—largest of the Channel Island group—it is estimated that there is more than $2.4 billion in currency deposits.

Canada's Royal Trust Co., which has been doing business in the islands for 20 years, has some $65 million in deposits at its headquarters in Jersey, and another $25 million at its newer branch in Guernsey, second-largest island.

The Montreal-based company's operations in the Channel Islands are mainly in the personal-trust field, managing director Gordon Cambie told me.

Much of the money it handles is in the form of short-term securities, maturing in less than one year.

Je sey lies about 15 miles off the Brittany coast of France. To the north lies picturesque Guernsey, and just off its shores are the tiny island of Sark (still under the feudal system, administered by a seigneur who prohibits cars but allows tractors) and the even tiny Herm.

Further still to the north, and eight miles from France's Cape de la Hague, is the third largest island of the group, Aldernay.

The islands are unique in a variety of ways—the seigneurial forms of law and administration that still linger not only in Sark but to a certain extent on the other islands as well, the strong French influence that is noticeable in place names and in local dialects that are said to be close to the French spoken in Quebec, the distinction of being the only British territory to have been occupied by Nazi Germany during the Second World War.

But the Channel Islands' most important distinction, to the investor, is surely in their unique position as a low-tax area, only an hour's flying time from the most important financial capital of the world—London.

The Channel Islands are certainly not alone in the ranks of "offshore financial centres" (as the money-men call such jurisdictions).

The Bahamas, Bermuda, Cayman Islands, Hong Kong, Netherlands Antilles, New Hebrides, Isle of Man, Liberia, Panama, Luxembourg and Switzerland are all in the same group—except, of course, that the last four are not islands.

But some, such as Switzerland and Luxembourg, tend to be "wholesale" financial markets, with little appeal to individual investors.

Others are remote from the major financial capitals, have inhospitable climates, lack sophisticated professional services, or are politically uncertain.

Increasingly, over the past 10 or 15 years, the Channel Islands have been exploiting their unique combination of attributes, to build up financial services as a balance to their growing but sometimes fickle primary industry—tourism.

Since then, capital has been flowing in from places all over the world that investors consider (whether rightly or wrongly) to be politically unstable.

A typical arrangement might work like this:

A British or European investor forms a holding company in Grand Cayman, to be free of U.K. foreign-exchange controls. To be directors of the company, the investor appoints trustees residing in Jersey or Guernsey. They would carry out the investor's wishes, investing his assets in any part of the world.

Income tax rules on Jersey are a flat 30 per cent, for individuals and corporations alike. But believe you pack up and move there, consider this:

Jersey requires proof that any newcomer will pay income tax of at least $25,000 a year—which means that the newcomer's income must be at least $125,000.

This has been no impediment to a number of wealthy celebrities who have made Jersey their home—such as golfer Tony Jacklin, holiday-camp operator Billy Butlin, and orchestra leader Ray Noble.

If Jersey has the edge in finance, Guernsey has the greater appeal for the pleasure-bound visitor.

A smaller, less hurried and crowded, more scenic and distinctive island, Guernsey has nevertheless lazzed beyond its bigger neighbor in attracting hordes of tourists.

But it is beginning to attract financial companies — Royal Trust opened its branch there two years ago—as well as perceptive immigrants. (Canadian composer-conductor-arranger, Robert Farnon, who produced and directed the wartime Canadian Army Show, lives there.)

Guernsey does not set a high minimum tax liability, as Jersey does. But it maintains two separate income markets—low-priced for local people, and high-priced ($100,000 and up) for outsiders.

Over the centuries, the Channel Islands have been a sanctuary for well-heeled refugees from political and religious persecution. (The aging Victor Hugo took refuge first in Jersey, then sensibly moved on to Guernsey for the last several years of his long life.)

Today, the wealthy are finding in them a sanctuary from the powerful grasp of the taxman.

Tax Haven — Beauty Too

St. Aubin's Harbor, a compact marine shelter with pretty cottages and narrow streets. Four miles west of St. Helier, capital of Jersey in the Channel Islands that have become one of the world's major offshore financial centres, St. Aubin is in the heart of this island paradise.

Animal Care Essential

Canada still bears many of the marks of a frontier society, a phenomenon reflected by our actions and attitudes.

There are some community problems and responsibilities regarding which we either bury our collective heads or hope that they will go away.

Consider the task of animal care, as carried out by the Ontario Humane Society. This involves everything from the checking of horses, as on that wagon expedition to Alberta, and some have been found unfit for the journey, to probably its most pressing work of looking after dogs and cats.

Far too often the life of a dog in Canada is, yes, a "dog's life," a piece of vernacular that has more truth than we know where canines are concerned. In Belleville the Humane Society has been waging a money-losing battle, in a community where the attitude, common everywhere, ranges from disinterest to one that would deal with the problem in terms of extermination.

In the Yukon for instance they shoot dogs, don't they? That's animal control, frontier-style, by the Mounties, as witnessed by Ontario Humane Society executive director Tom Hughes.

But this is Belleville, by dis-

Blood Clinic

The gift of life wasn't in abundance at the March Red Cross blood donor clinic in the city.

Only 103 pints were collected, a far cry from January's record-setting 1,000 donations.

Unfortunately the latest clinic was scheduled on the day before the Easter weekend holiday, a factor which undoubtedly had an adverse effect on its success.

With city residents' donations currently running at less than a third of our own hospital's requirements, it is to be hoped that the next clinic — Thursday, May 29 — will meet with greater response.

The Everest Legend

For one who called herself a common garden variety sort of wife — the "cabbage kind, not the long-suffering pioneer type," Louise Hilary accomplished much that was in the true spirit of adventure.

Also Lady Hilary and her 18-year-old youngest daughter, Belinda, were killed in a plane crash in Nepal earlier this week. They were en route to join Lady's husband and father, Sir Edmund Hillary, the conqueror of Everest.

In recent years, Sir Edmund has spent much time supervising construction of schools and hospitals by the Sherpa guides that accompany climbers.

The Hillarys were a close-knit family and Lady Hillary will be remembered for her book, Keep Calm If You Can, an account published in 1964 of a 20-month family trip through U.S. national forests at the request of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, and into the Pacific Northwest and Alaska, testing camping equipment and making a film.

Daughter Belinda was only 3½ then, an older sister 6 and brother 7½; and there are several pictures of her, including one of her in the arms of Tenzing Norgay, the sherpa guide who accompanied Hillary to the summit of Everest.

Now the family has been bereaved, but the Hillary name and the Everest legend remain.

Communist Forces Have More of The Mostest

Clearly more has to be said about what now is a totally unexpected North Vietnamese advance into the southern part of the Republic of South Vietnam left by Premier Thieu.

And although it is the Viet Cong white and blue flag flying over Da Nang, the so-recently unpregnable American military base in northern South Vietnam, everyone knows it is the very powerful North Vietnamese regular army which conquered it and really lays claim to the city.

It now is estimated the army of the People's Republic of North Vietnam long since recouped from the end-of-the-war B-52 saturation bombings and during two years of peace, has rebuilt itself in armor and automatic weapon firepower to a degree unknown before.

The famous but nevertheless mysterious crack 320 regiment of North Vietnam is believed to be headquartered in Da Nang resting after serving as the spearhead of the incredibly sudden assault on that city.

On the other side, South Vietnamese units, bolstered before the truce with new squadrons of American jet and piston-driven fighter bombers and with a reinstituted rank-and-file army in disarray, their officers fled on the transports with the civilian refugees, undisciplined troops left looting, killing and also trying to escape.

The first answer as to what happened is that the crack regiments of North Vietnam, probably every one of them backed up by Russian armor for the first time, were too much for 18 South Vietnamese regiments, short on armor and automatic weapons, waiting for new deliveries from the Americans which did not come.

Charges of lack of courage on the South Vietnamese side are not as justified as they used to be.

The deserting or disillusioned South Vietnamese soldier is not deserting to the Communist forces from the north, but just giving up in disgust.

One must remember the fact that Vietnam is a nation that has been fighting for its very existence, or at least its independence, for almost 2,000 years.

The Vietnamese are a people who have developed a fierce pride in their ability to fight and to endure.

These are reasons why southern troops are not going over to the north and why the Viet Cong and North Vietnam's all-conquering army are not exactly building triumphal arches in Da Nang this week.

The proof of all this is how wrong, how incredibly wrong, were American military leaders, one after the other, in think they could bomb the North Vietnamese "back into the stone age."

It is 21 years, an entire generation in time, spanning the life of many American GIs who fought in South East Asia, since the genius of General Giap produced the total French debacle at Dien Bien Phu and with it another chunk of Europe's old metropolitan politics.

The same aftermath hit the United States in the mid-and late-60s and now has subsided.

There is a terrible yet undeniable "fatigue element" in U.S. public life these days in turn off the war, look at no more TV news shots of depressing columns of skinny, dejected Vietnamese refugees.

Hence acts in an era when we say there has not been another world war, we face the bitter residue of the so-called "local war" mode just as bitter because they are civil wars which we in the West have tragically encouraged.

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FILES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

Stewart-Warner Company has been holding a sales and service school this week at Tobey's Variety Gardens. Many heating equipment dealers from both Ontario and Quebec were in attendance. The school was followed by open house to inspect the heating equipment Stewart-Warner now is manufacturing Belleville. Outstanding feature of the show was the display of low-pressure oil burners designed to handle the lower grade and lower-priced fuel oil. This oil burner is distributed in Eastern Ontario by the Stoira Heating Limited.

Belleville Chamber of Commerce endorsed a motion that directors of the organization appoint a committee to secure a combined resolution requesting the Department of Regional Planning and Development of Ontario to make a survey of the Moira River valley. Asst. Lorne McDougall attended a River Valley development of Southern Ontario meeting and he pointed out highlights from that meeting which showed advantages to be gained from soil conservation, water control and reforestation projects.

Walter H. Reeves of this city, and one of the best known judges of dogs of all breeds on the American continent, is facing a busy season in the show-ring of Canada and the U.S. as his services are constantly being required. He will leave shortly for Vancouver where he will judge all breeds at one of the biggest shows on the west coast.

Whether prisoners will be afforded the solace of tobacco during certain periods of their incarceration under a new ruling permitted through order-in-council amending jail regulations by the Department of Prisons, will depend upon the inmate himself, following a visit expected to be made in the near future, it was stated by Governor G.H. French of the jail today.

Operations will start shortly at the new athletic park, Chairman T.P.J. Power stated today. One of the problems the board is facing at the present time is the erection of fences about the 22 acres in the park. That portion of the grounds within the city limits will have a substantial fence, decorative in character, while the Sidney portion will have a highboard fence. Among the immediate operations will be the preparation of the baseball ground.

TORONTO — There is getting to be what almost comprises a second wing of government in Ontario.

This wing is completely unofficial but it tends to be very noisy and it does have some impact.

This wing is completely unofficial made up of the numerous citizen groups that have been springing up and which have been wielding a growing impact on government.

With a great many of these groups I believe we give them more attention than they deserve.

Not that some of them don't deserve recognition.

But in most cases they don't merit the extent of the recognition they are getting.

There are many of these groups but the best example of what I have in mind is probably Pollution Probe, set up at the Canadian Environmental Law Association, which seems to have pretty well taken over from Probe.

Few will argue that Pollution Probe has served some useful purposes.

Principally it has, focussed strong attention on the state of the environment and incidentally gets a good share of credit for the improvements that have been made.

But from that point it breaks down.

For Pollution Probe was, and insofar as it remains, a crusade and crusades just lack too much practicality to be really useful as continuing bodies.

They see only one side, and if that side isn't heard, set, whether practical or not, they tend to sulk.

Prime examples are current campaigns of Environment Minister Bill Newman to discourage containers and environmental assessment.

The Environmental Law Association would have all non-returnable bottles, etc. banned right away and they would have the Association set apply immediately to private industry.

For a variety of reasons—one of them being that 1,200 people would be put out of work at once in the can industry alone—it isn't practical to approach such programs except on a staged basis.

Editor,
The Intelligencer?

In response to your editorial on professor-inspired Media Subversion and the theory of life and freedom in South Vietnam, you have received some pregnant letters from "Kingston Onlooker" whose voluminous approach to slung by the truth of your observations.

Unfortunately, "Onlooker's" writing is so obscure and tortuous, that it is impossible to divine his real meaning other than to vaguely suggest that he would change or improve our system in a way which he is reluctant to suggest at this time.

How about letting us in on your secret "Onlooker" We might find it interesting!

'Company of the Cross' Offers New Life Style

By ALAN ARBUCKLE

GENESEE, Alta. (CP) — For $1 a day and the necessities of life, those who work for the Company of The Cross offer alternatives to a society they believe needs their bias. The link is Christian and the alternatives so far lie in the fields of education and communication.

Keith Bennett, a 36-year-old father of three who spends his working day in a plaid lumberjack, heads the company in Alberta where it operates St. John's School for Boys and publishes the weekly Edmonton Report.

The magazine, which has been in circulation for about a year, started as a job-printing operation at the school. One of the instructors, Ted Byfield, thought a news magazine should be produced to offer an alternative to the conventional Edmonton media and spread the Christian faith through reports on the community.

Like the magazine staff of about 25, the 14-member staff at the school are members of the Company of the Cross order and are paid $1 a day for their labors. They also get the $10-a-month clothing allowance, insurance benefits, housing, food and such things as medical and dental costs. Members with families get a separate accommodation, single members can't even depend on getting a room to themselves.

The company is associated with the Anglican Church and accepts full members after a two-year initiation period. The three basic rules of the order are sacrificial, meaning a fair attension to religious duties, economic, which dowts the income of members; and social, outlining codes of behavior one member must follow in dealing with the others.

While the company's latest venture is magazine-making, Mr. Bennett said the next one could be a crack at broadcasting "if the right people and the money can be found—the boys' school remains the mainstay of the operation.

The Alberta school is the company's second. The first began Calgary at Selkirk, Man., in 1961 when two Winnipeg men decided they could teach boys to think, not only in an academic sense but about their religion and could give them something of a tradition of physical work which would show them they could meet challenges they normally would have considered impossible.

The schools, Mr. Bennett said, give the boys, ranging in age from 12 to 18, an education, a chance for adventure and an introduction to the harsh realities of life. He said the experience of dealing with human realities gives the boys a chance to mature in a way not possible in a conventional school system based on memory work and minimal experimentation.

Once a boy's parents have paid the $1,200 first-year tuition (it drops as a boy gets enough training to be able to contribute) and left to the school, he joins about 100 other kids on the rented 650-acre site on the North Saskatchewan River and immediately sets out on a 10-day back-packing expedition in the Rockies.

The 150-mile trip during the usually rainy Alberta fall provides a good shake-down for the newcomer, Mr. Bennett said.

Then it's straight into classes with regular Saturday snowshoe expeditions of 40 miles or so for first-year students. Other boys go on dog-sledding trips over various kinds of terrain and camp out Friday and Saturday nights, leading to a 10-day excursion in February. The academic program ends in May and the school year June canoeing as much as 1,500 miles from the Alberta school to the Manitoba campus.

In all cases, Mr. Bennett said, instructors are expected to do as much as the boys and no one has the option of staying in the dormitory.

To keep the boys responding to the school's demands, strict discipline is necessary and Mr. Bennett said instructors carry wooden sticks with which they administer "spankings" that ensure polite, honest and fair-minded graduates.

The school has no uniform but the boys buy their clothes from the school and rugged blue jeans, warm shirts and school sweaters abound on students and teachers alike.

Between 1967 and 1970 the school was feuding with the provincial department of education but since then the two have agreed to disagree about the need for certified teachers and course content and the province merely treats St. John's boys as out-of-province students, Mr. Bennett said.

The school accepts boys of all denominations and it's not too important whether an incoming student declares himself a Christian but he is required to attend religious classes where teachers seek to jar him into thinking about morality and God and his instructors themselves are expected to set an example with their own behavior, the headmaster said.

Mr. Bennett interviews all boys and their parents before an applicant is accepted. The idea is to explain what what can be expected at St. John's and to establish whether a boy will stick with the program and meet its challenges.

The school doesn't want boys who don't want to come to it, boys with a record of crime or boys with physical or emotional handicaps which will prevent them from keeping up standards the school demands, he said.

Tuition fees provide the operating expenses and St. John's in Alberta depends on donations to pay debts and undertake capital projects, he said. The school gets no money from the Anglican Church and wants none from the province, feeling it will mean interference in its program.

Problems and Opportunities Faced Today Are Not New

By Dr. Gordon C. Smyth

Each generation cherishes the illusion that its problems and opportunities are radically new. Every age produces persons who decide that all old thoughts and methods must therefore be abandoned.

Thus does each generation seek to crystallize its "unique" position in the flow of history. This every age condemns itself to repeat the follies and to miss the insights of the past, simply because it is too proud and too arrogant to "read the minutes of the last meeting".

Our generation thinks it has all the counselling, forgetful of the fact that Moses, a fugitive from justice, set up a counseling clinic in Israel centuries ago.

Our generation imagines it is the first to advise religious people to get where the social action is, forgetful of Hosea's tragic marriage and unmindful of Ezekiel who spoke of sitting where the wretched sat.

In the sixteenth century John Calvin spent laborious hours with a vast amount of correspondence on what some would consider petty matters, but we think the multitude of details consuming our time is new with us.

There is much newness in this age of science, but most of it is external and material. And much that we like to think is new is not new, merely the old, unrealized.

For example, our problem of international justice is different from the same problem in the time of Thucydides only in extent and force.

What is new, really new? Selfishness, lust, greed, cruelty; love, friendship, and self-sacrifice — are these new? Are sin, remorse, shame, and recrucifixion new? Are the desires of men and women for peace, for brotherhood, for "a house not made by human hands, eternal and in heaven" — are these desires new?

"The strength of the Bible," wrote Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, "has always been its appeal to the deep and abiding realm of man's basic experiences, for set of that realm the Bible came."

Well! This just could be a welcome, brand new insight for you.

Homosexuals Seek Place in Churches

By GEORGE CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — A closely, often emotional conflict is welling in the churches over an organized push by homosexuals to gain fuller acceptance in religious life, including admission to the ministry.

The Good News Movement, a conservative group in the United Methodist Church, described it as a "gathering storm, part of a country-wide effort to eliminate the stigma against homosexuality."

In its major denominations, both Protestant and Roman Catholic, "open" gaymen have formed in recent years, insisting that persons of their sexual orientation be accorded equal status in church roles.

Most major church bodies have launched special studies as a result. Several church matters have deplored discrimination against homosexuals.

However, in line with the traditional Judeo-Christian position, the churches generally have barred acknowledged homosexuals from ordination and frowned on homosexual practice.

It counts term "the structure of God's creation," said the Lutheran Church of America. "A grave transposition of the goals of human sexuality" and "consequential contrary to the will of God," say guidelines recently issued by Roman Catholic bishops.

On the other hand, a United Methodist attorney, the council on youth ministry, uttered a barrage of criticism with a recent statement that homosexuality is not of itself sy- nonymous with immorality and should not be a barrier to the ministry.

That viewpoint is a "grave new twist to the church," said the Good News group. Thousands would leave Methodism if it accepted acknowledged homosexuals as ministers.

The youth council urged thorough study of the subject in a spirit of "mutual respect" and added:

"We suggest that dealing openly and honestly with these issues in a magnitude never before attempted is absolutely basic to overcoming a variety of oppressions and discriminations condoned by the United Methodist Church."

A meeting in Chicago of the National Council of Churches, a cooperative organization of most major denominations, "gay" forces pressed for a declaration supporting full civil rights in employment for avowed homosexuals.

However, an expected effort to gain council membership was deferred by a network of independent congregations that now arises especially to serve homosexuals. The Universal Fellowship of Metropolitan Community Churches.

It has about 22,000 members but encounters harsh, sometimes violent opposition, including arson-started fires that last year destroyed five of its churches.

So far, only one traditional denomination, the United Church of Christ, has ordained an acknowledged homosexual and this happened because of its system allowing local associations to set criteria for ordination.

The San Francisco association in 1972 ordained Rev. William Johnson, who now directs the San Francisco-based Council on Religion and the Homosexual.

Dr. Ja- in organization seeking equal status for homosexuals is Human Resources, reported units in 21 cities. It maintained that clergy can express their sexuality in a manner that is consistent with Christ's teaching.

Rev. Richard McCormick, a Catholic moral theologian at Georgetown University, made a distinction between those who overtly practise their homosexuality and those who restrain an inclination for it.

The condition itself is not always freely chosen, he said. But the church should admit to the priesthood those who are homosexual only by inclination and refrain from sexual activity.

Candy Month Means Calories

Do we really need a candy month? A few weeks ago I told you about candy month and the fact that candy manufacturers thought candy for breakfast is a great idea.

I was upset and apparently other people were too.

The Ontario Milk Marketing Board says "Canadians are already overweight. We currently consume 100 pounds of sugar each annually in addition to 19 pounds of candy. It has been well-documented that candy causes tooth cavities that even brushing after every meal won't prevent. And noted doctors relate sugar to an infinite number of diseases diabetes, hypoglycemia, kidney stones, intestinal cancer, hormone disorders and heart disease.

The Ontario Milk Marketing Board, in its Nutrition Notes, goes on to criticize sugared cereals, quoting Consumer Reports which found only three of the 44 leading breakfast foods able to support life. It suggests that fortified cereals are not nutritionally useful: according to Nutrition Notes "the nutrients are not in a form that the human body can use." The good stuff is in the milk, it says.

All of this, I'm told, is a pitch — legitimate, I think — by the milk writers to get more people drinking milk and leaving behind sweet and non-nutritious foods and drinks.

The message is: milk is better for you; drink it.

And I'm sure we all would — if we could afford it.

* * *

Before dairy farmers begin getting a bit cross with me, here's the point of the jibe: somewhere between them and us there's a lot of money being made on milk. Ontario's minister of agriculture and food, William Stewart, says this:

Milk, a basic food necessary to good health and nutrition, has undergone several price increases in recent months. The increases have been caused by factors at every level from producer to processor to distributor to retailer. And, of course, the federal government has withdrawn its consumer milk subsidy.

Recent milk price increases at the producer level, incidentally, have been reviewed by the Milk Commission of Ontario and upheld. And the Consumers' Association of Canada has supported these increases. The argument: What happens to milk when it leaves the farm? The Milk Commission is going to find out. It will review dairy pricing practices and margins between processors, distributors and retailers of milk, look at how these factors vary from company to company, look at how these practices vary in different regions of the province and compare retail margins with those in other provinces.

Belleville residents will have a special interest in the Milk Commission's activities: Robin Jeffrey was appointed consumer representative to the commission in November.

Keith Priest, horticulturalist with the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food suggests that even modern, heated basements can be suitably converted for vegetable storage. All you need is insulation and partitioning which allow you to control the temperature and humidity of your root cellar. Pick a corner of the basement, with a window, for a storage area.

Thirty-five to 40 square feet of area should be plenty: an area six by six or five by eight, for example.

Two walls to enclose the corner should be constructed of 2 x 4 inch studs with insulation between sheathing on either side. If the insulation you choose includes a vapor barrier, it should face the outside of the stud walls. Don't forget to insulate the ceiling!

If your basement does not have a concrete floor, pour one for this area. The door into the root cellar should be well-insulated and tight fitting.

Screening and covering the window, and a thermometer will complete the storage centre.

To control temperature, simply open and shut the window. To control humidity, just splash water on the cement floor to keep it damp.

Angela Forster, PSI Student

Since 1973, Angela Forster has been a member of the faculty of Applied Metaphysics. And since then, she says, her life has taken on new meaning.

One of a small group of students in Belleville, Mrs. Forster is studying techniques of mind expansion taught by instructors from the PSI Centre near Madoc. She meets weekly with a few other students of various ages and backgrounds.

"I'm a sceptical person," says Mrs. Forster, "but I'm curious too, and not afraid to ask questions.

"The people I saw at the Open House at Queen Elizabeth- Public School two years ago projected such vitality. I hoped might rub off. So I decided to find out more about them."

Mrs. Forster has taken two 10-week courses at $50 each so far, and is happy about her "new" self.

What the proponents of applied metaphysics teach are the methods of achieving a balance between the physical and metaphysical aspects of human nature. Their term for the latter aspect is "psi", referring to what others might call the soul or spirit of man.

By developing the infinite potential of the psi, students achieve better self-awareness, greater mental and emotional sensitivity, and a more comprehensive understanding of their place in the universe, according to institute instructors.

What all this means to students like Angela Forster is that now she is learning to eliminate anxiety and fear, and is more relaxed and content than ever before.

"I'm learning to focus my energies on things that can be done instead of worrying about things I can't change," she says.

The Institute of Applied Metaphysics was until recently called the Bartonian Metaphysical Society, and had a small centre on the footbridge here in Belleville. Now its member are increasing the facilities at the Madoc Manor, so that students like Mrs. Forster can take "total immersion" courses there.

Although she is enthusiastic about how her life has improved, Mrs. Forster says that PSI Centre students aren't missionaries using "hard sell".

"If you're already satisfied with your life, why change?" she says. "But for me, it's been tremendous."

Social Notes Information

Brides-to-be who wish to announce both their engagements and their weddings in The Intelligencer should note the following information.

Engagement notices, with or without photographs, should be taken to the main desk, classified ads department, Monday to Friday between 8.30 a.m. and 5 p.m., or between 9 a.m. and noon on Saturday. These notices should be submitted at least one week before the desired date of publication.

There is a $3 charge for the engagement notice, and a $4.75 charge for an accompanying photograph.

Wedding notices, with or without photos, should be brought upstairs to the Women's Department, between 8.30 a.m. and 5 p.m. After that time they can be left in an envelope marked for that purpose at the women's desk.

Engagement

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Sweetman, 26 Cannifton Road, Belleville, are pleased to announce the engagement of their only daughter Constance Beth to David Brian Murray, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Murray of Mountain View. The marriage will take place Sunday morning, May 18, at 7 at St. Margaret's on the Hill.

Psychiatrists Welcome Women's Liberation

By MARSHA DUBROW

NEW YORK (Reuter) — Psychiatrists participating in a country-wide poll overwhelmingly believe that achieving the goals of women's liberation would be beneficial to society.

Some 71 per cent of the psychiatrists polled agreed the present status of women as passive and nurturant "is not a natural state, but a social stereotype." Some 26 per cent disagreed and the rest offered no opinion.

One of every six United States psychiatrists was polled twice in the survey by the Roche Laboratories, a division of the Hoffmann-La Roche Pharmaceutical Co.

Some 73 per cent of the doctors conceded that "most psychiatrists have tended to put the 'normal healthy male' role and the 'normal healthy female' role."

And 68 per cent said they believe psychiatrists, knowingly or unknowingly, attempt to influence their patients to adjust to the doctors' own stereotypes.

The psychiatrists surveyed believed that "if the goals of the women's liberation movement were achieved, the effects on society would be: better—28.3 per cent, detrimental—20.2 per cent, neither—11.8 per cent."

One of the doctors, whose comments were published with the report, said: "The women's liberation movement only threatens those men who have unclear sexual identities. Women's assertiveness will certainly not endanger men who have clear sexual identities and well-defined egos."

The report said other comments on the effect of a liberated society ranged from "desirable" to "disastrous."

Psychiatrists generally thought to be a conservative mainstay of society, said the tendency of the courts to award child custody to the mother should be discontinued and that paternity leave from their jobs should be granted for new fathers.

"Children are not prizes or rewards in a divorce," one doctor commented. "Their custody belongs to whichever parent could and would provide the child with the most appropriate and meaningful environment."

However, another doctor said, "If I had custody after a divorce, I'd have to find a woman to take care of my children."

Fifty-seven per cent of the doctors approved of adoptions by single women, but 73 per cent disapproved of female homosexual couples adopting a child.

One doctor commented, "a child needs male and female parental figures to stimulate its own gender identification and maturation."

But another psychiatrist said that adoption by a homosexual couple, if a heterosexual couple could not be found, might be preferable to an orphanage or a with an on-and-4-year-dream temporary foster home.

Ann Landers

Tired of Darning Socks, She Needs Ann's Advice

Dear Ann Landers: I am a newlywed who is too embarrassed to discuss my problem with anyone who knows me. I hope you will reply and not mention the town I live in.

Problem: My husband is too nasty are so long and sharp that I spend hours darning his wet socks. He wears them only twice or three times and the material has stretched.

At night he scratches my legs to pieces. I tried to wear pantyhose to bed but he ruined so many pairs by snagging them that I quit. Will you please tell me how to get my guy to trim his dagger nails? He says they don't bother him and that I should get off his back.—Clawed In Tennessee

Dear Clawed: You can catch more flies with honey than with vinegar. Buy a light pedicure set and offer to take care of your husband's toenails per manicure. He will find the safety razor, foot massage and nail clipping very soothing. Goodby bleeding ankles and torn socks!

Dear Ann Landers: My grandchildren range from eight to eight years of age. This last holiday was such a hassle I'm still not over it. I bought the three children the same gift in slight differences, such as color and size. They fought the whole day because all three wanted the same gift.

I told my daughter-in-law her children should be taught that a gift is a gift and they should be grateful for whatever they receive. She informed me in blunt terms, and I quote: "If you can't select a different gift for each child, based on age, and personality, then please give them all the same thing and prevent a lot of fighting."

Please help us ignorant, misguided grandparents everywhere. Tell us if gifts presented on the same occasion should be identical or identical?—Bewildered In Memphis

Dear Bea: Generally speaking, the age, sex and interest of each child should be considered when selecting a gift. Your grandchildren, however, seem extremely competitive—so, unless you can get some time free for a lovely what-for, this should not pose a new friend.

Holy Land Travelogue

Last month I joined a tour to the Holy Land organised by the United Church of Canada. Twenty people were going from our own church, and they coaxed me to spite of my overloaded desk. I resisted very little, since I have wanted to go there for some time, and especially after reading Mrs. Ruth Montgomery's book, "Jesus Rediscovered".

Somebody said, "Why on earth do they call it the Holy Land?" — and I started by asking myself the same question, considering the wars and rumors of wars which involve it constantly.

But it is Holy Land — to more than one religion. Jerusalem is the centre of Jewry and for thousands of years has been the religious capital of Israel. It is also a Holy City to the Muslims, who have an ornate and colorful mosque there. To the Christians, I think, it is holiest of all.

It was a 10-day trip and I should have been more like 14 weeks, there was so much to see. For me there were high spots that carried a strong impact.

Israel is full of hillsides and Bethlehem is no exception. Many stables and many humble dwellings were created by literally digging out the earth and rocks from the side of a hill.

Animals were kept in stables, and the Bethlehem Inn was built onto the cave structure where the animals lived. We were shown a part of the mosaic on the inn floor, two feet below the floor of which we stood. Jesus was born in one part of the stable-cave; Mary carried him over to the manger where the ox and the animals would give warmth to the tiny baby.

We spent four days in Jerusalem. I only anyone not to be touched by the hand of the fortress where the same man was later tried and flogged, mocked by soldiers and crowned with a crown of thorns. It is now known—walled and stone-floored room, there was uncovered a section of the area where Christ's feet trod as he began his ascent to Calvary. For a few minutes our little group sat on benches on both sides of the path — safe within the fortress — and sang, in a subdued tone, a hymn created by President Valery Giscard d'Estaing.

She said the hourly salary difference for men and women factory workers in France is only about four per cent in the men's favor, as pay was greater in a richer country like Germany because female and a tradition of strong unions going back to the 1930s while centralized federal system permitted greater salary variations.

Mme. Giroud added that the statistics are on a great report for pride in industry, women were always given the job because they were paid less than them the least money.

"And at higher levels there's a great difference in salaries."

The National Institute for Demographic Studies reported that from 1967 to 1975 salaries were 15 per cent greater than inflation for the first age group, 30 per cent greater for the 30-to-34 group, 45 per cent for the 40-to-44's group and 61 per cent in the group over 50.

Beyond the factory level, there were marked salary differences, even essentially the same jobs.

Another ministry statistics from the last available year, 1975, showed that male engineers had an average yearly salary equivalent to $10,800, while female engineers were earning $8,400. The difference was twice as great among men and women in administrative positions.

In theory, French law gives women the right to equal pay. But in practice, it is difficult to equalities, Mme. Giroud said there is not currently a single case before a court involving a woman suing to have her salary brought up to men's level.

"Mostly I don't care now," said Nathalie de Granville, an executive secretary for a group of management consultants. "I don't know I'm locked where I am just as I know that I'm better than three-quarters of the guys here."

Labor Ministry figures show that the disparity in the number of French men and women who run businesses is not great, with about 1.2 million men to 770,000 women. But the ministry acknowledged that most of the women are small

The Experts Say

Cacti Culture Makes Good Hobby

BURNABY, B.C. (CP) — Grace Holleran, who edits a publication on cacti and succulents which is distributed throughout Canada and the United States, considers the job a hobby, not a business.

"There have been a lot of dumb-bunny articles written about cacti lately and they have a lot of myths that aren't really true," she said. "I'm not out to destroy the myths, just to point out that the secret of desert survival is cutting into a cactus for a drink.

"You don't go around cutting into every blinking cactus in find watery. For one thing, the liquid would be too thick and bitter to drink. You could suck on a piece of cactus to keep your mouth moist, but that's about all."

Another misconception is that cacti only grow in deserts, which leads people to plant them in sand.

"Some of them come from tropical South American forests," she said. "Even the cactus which grows in the desert is not growing in shifting sand, as the novice might think. It grows in soil that is hard and gravelly."

Mrs. Holleran also doesn't like the popular advice not to water cactus more than once or twice a month, then applying fertilizer.

"A cactus should be planted in fertile, porous soil and soaked whenever it then people dries out and the container should have good drainage at the bottom.

"In the fall and winter, the plants should be in a dormant state and not need much water, but if they are kept in the house, they will need watering even during the bloom."

She recommends using commercial potting soil, which is green in soil that is hard cracked, with decayed manure and bone meal as fertilizer.

Mrs. Holleran said people with limited space, such as a balcony, can grow cactus and have something in bloom all the time.

She said cacti and succulents are related closely, with cacti being part of the broader family of succulents.

Her advice for someone starting to grow cacti is to find out where the species originated and what the climate was like, so the plant can be treated accordingly.

Most of the popular unnamed plants you get in some stores, it's difficult. Even when they're named, sometimes the sticks get moved around and the buyer is getting inaccurate information.

Mrs. Holleran is from someone who knows the plant and will pass the name on for it."

If prospective growers are considering buying plants from the local supermarket, she advises making sure the plants are fresh and haven't been set in dark corners or under shelves.

For the adventurous who want to try growin' on a larger scale, Mrs. Holleran suggests a plant stands equipped with fluorescent lights, which can be placed anywhere in the home. She said cacti respond well to artificial light placed about a foot from the plants.

U of T Women

Do Earn Less

TORONTO (CP) — More than three times as many women as men earn less than $10,000 in the groups of clerks, programmers, laboratory technicians and administrative assistants employed by the University of Toronto, says a preliminary report of the study group on the status of non-academic women at the university.

The report, released in a recent issue of the university's Toronto Bulletin, says that in 10 groups earning less than $10,000, there are 352 women and 93 men. In seven groups earning more than $10,000, there are 61 women and 104 men, the report says.

It says in the laboratory technician 4 category, no woman is above the mid-point of salary range but 18 per cent of the men are above it.

"A comparison of educational qualifications or of years of experience does not justify this disparity," the report says.

It says greater emphasis must be given to the concept of remuneration on the basis of value of work performed, rather than nature of work, when assigning positions to salary ranges.

In some professions and occupations dominated by women, the we k does seem to be observed when compared with those dominated by men which require similar degrees of training, the report says.

Nurses May Bring Reform To Trade Union Movement

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's 150,000 registered nurses could play a major role in the future development of the trade union movement, Sylvia Gelber, director of the federal women's bureau, said Thursday.

"In the last six years, the nurses have progressed from looking upon themselves as a professional group" to a highly sophisticated trade union, she said.

The more than 100,000 nurses have learned the value of trade unionism and thus may be the "best people to bring some new views" to the Canadian labor movement.

The women's bureau is an agency of the labor department and collects information on the position of women in the work force.

Miss Gelber told the annual meeting of the Canadian Nurses' Association that there are deficiencies in the collective bargaining system and they affect nurses "probably more than most unions."

Nurses are responsible for the health care and maintenance systems "without which none of us can survive." But in a labor dispute, they are not allowed to withhold their services.

Miss Gelber said the nurses' bargaining power is based on their monopoly on the delivery of health care and the fact that they are "indispensable."

Miss Gelber said the nurses' experience will bring different ideas "not because they are wiser but because they are women."

The nurses may also represent "the first step in a greater move by professionals into trade unions."

More Doctors Needed To Care for Newborns

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada needs five times as many medical specialists as it has now to care for premature babies, says Dr. Alan Murdock, chief of the newborn care unit for newborn babies at the Children's Hospital of Eastern Ontario.

While the Ontario government moved recently to discourage foreign doctors immigrating to the province, the neo-natal field is short of specialists, he said. The main problem is that few students go into neo-natal medicine.

For most newborn babies, breathing in oxygen or drinking milk are as easy as thinking an eye.

But for the premature infant, weighing as little as 1½ pounds, even the most basic functions are a struggle. As the newborn ward of the Children's Hospital the most modern equipment available is used to help 16 tiny bodies at a time.

Oxygen is fed mechanically into their incubators to assist breathing when they stop suddenly their throats. More tubes help clear clogged bronchial passages. A mass of monitors observes their pulse, heartbeat, respiratory rate and patterns, body temperature and blood pressure.

The babies are watched every minute of every day there is a doctor or nurse on duty until by specialists in neo-natology—newborn medicine—and by 75 nurses for sudden changes in their condition.

"One in four of these sick children dies," said Dr. Murdock, but he makes the work tiring and discouraging for the doctors and nurses who become to know their little patients so well.

"I get angry if we lose a baby I feel we shouldn't have lost it's tough—hard on the nerves.

The pressure is increased by the shortage of physicians in the field. The e are only 39 trained neo-natologists across Canada.

"We're 140 neo-natologist short in Canada now, according to some estimates," said Dr. Murdock. "Most of us feel we need more help."

Whether the need for specialists is filled depends on the provincial organize their health services.

In a report published jointly by the Medical Obstetricians and Gynecologists and the Canadian Pediatric Society the number of required neo-natal specialists considered necessary is based on the number of births in each area. That figure now stands at once for every 2,500 deliveries.

At the Ottawa area alone there a e about 13,000 babies born every year. One in 10 of these is estimated to be a high-risk birth.

Dr. Murdock said it will take 25 years to reach the recommended goals of specialists. "We are not very successful encouraging medical students to specialize in neo-natal medicine," he said. Only one or two a year are graduating across Canada.

Their training includes six to eight years in medical school, plus two years in pediatrics and a minimum of two years in special neo-natal training. There are several centres across Canada where this training is given, adequate to meet the demand, he said.

Intensive care for the premature infant is expensive. It costs $650 to $800 a day or an estimated $13,000 to $4,000 for each baby's care.

"We have to ask ourselves: 'Can we afford that standard of care?'

Hospitals were being forced by tight budgets to decide just how much they can afford to suck newborn. They were forced to lower the priority on basic scientific research and basic medical training in neonatology, because of cuts in government financing.

With dropping birthrate, people are questioning the worth of expensive equipment and training in the field Dr. Murdock said he hopes firm recommendations will come within a year from a health and welfare task force study about such funding and training.

"It's too early to make said accusation that we are over doing taken care of," he said. The study should produce a model program of facilities to make field more altractive to doctors, since most hospital financing says that districts is the most difficult area to recruit.

It is also one of the most rewarding. About 90 per cent of the babies at the Ottawa neo-natal unit will grow up to be running boozers or food stores.

Mme. Giroud, publisher of the weekly news magazine Les Nouvelles Litteraires and into the government, said that with the presence of four women at cabinet-level posts in the Giscard government there has been genuine progress in the status of women over the last six months.

"To begin with, men-women relations are rather better. Women like men and women like each other. There's not the noticeable separation that you have in the Anglo-Saxon tradition. I also feel there is an effort now being made by men, particularly younger men."

This Switchboard Operator Loses Job Over Politics

SUDBURY, Ont. (CP) — Margaret Dowdall, president of the Sudbury Progressive Conservative Party Association, says senior governments frown on civil servants participating in their female employees.

Mrs. Dowdall, a widowed mother of two, was elected last April and late last year was told she was fired as a switchboard operator by the local ministry of environment.

She said she was told her position was contrary to existing civil service policy.

Mrs. Dowdall said she would give up her party position if offered a more responsible job and was refused.

Her employment contract expired Dec. 31 and was not renewed.

In December, Mrs. Dowdall went to another government department in Sudbury and was told she would not be accepted unless she resigned as a school trustee.

Mrs. Dowdall said she believes she was treated harshly in the first case and is not always treated the demands in the second.

South wasn't proud of his three notrump call, but he had that allergy about being shut out by a preemptive bid. In any event the game was rubber bridge, the hour late and South wanted to get home.

If West had opened a heart, South would almost surely have found himself left with an unfinished rubber, but West opened his fourth best club and South counted quickly to nine tricks.

He went right up with dummy's ace of clubs. He needed two ehtries to dummy and he could not afford a heart shift.

He led a spade at trick two. East ducked and South was in with the king. He led out high diamonds. The queen might drop but South didn't really care. He needed just four diamond tricks and they were certain.

West took his queen of diamonds and shifted to a heart but his bus had left the station. South won with dummy's king, led dummy's last spade toward his own hand and departed for a well-earned night's sleep with nine tricks.

Lazy Eye Result Of Faulty Muscle

By G. C. THOMPSON, MD

Dear Dr. Thompson: Our three-year-old granddaughter has a "lazy eye," is this a crossed eye, or strabismus? Her family doctor, after keeping watch over her for a year and a half, has now decided on surgery. They have tried glasses.

The parents are afraid of surgery, how can we be sure it is necessary? They are anxious to do the right thing. Maybe you can help us understand it all better.—Mrs. F. L.

The important thing now is that the parents are doing something about your granddaughter's condition. One of the tragic misunderstandings about crossed eye is that it will right itself without treatment. It will not.

Now, as to your granddaughter's case. You have a minor misunderstanding of the terminology. "Lazy eye" can result from strabismus, or crossed eye. The problem begins when the eye muscles (six in each eye) cannot co-ordinate their activity. The result is that one eye acts more or less independently of the other.

Careful examination is required to determine just which muscles in which eye are causing the problem. It is to adjust this muscle imbalance that methods such as covering of the "good eye" to make the "lazy eye" work harder are used.

Two to five per cent of all children develop a lazy eye. Fortunately, about 95 per cent of them can be treated successfully. But if treatment is not begun soon enough, vision in the defective eye will deteriorate rapidly. The longer the wait for definite diagnosis, the smaller the chance for successful corrective treatment. By early I mean as soon as possible, at least before the child is four.

The parents seem to be right on schedule in your granddaughter's case.

Conservative measures usually correct things. The patch therapy is one of the most common treatments, but the patch must be worn at all times during the day. Even a brief period of not wearing it may cancel out the good done in hours of use.

Corrective lenses often bring results. Was the eye-patch therapy tried in your granddaughter's case?

If conservative measures show no results, then surgery remains as the only alternative. The operation, not a difficult one for an experienced eye surgeon, involves correction of one or more of the faulty muscles.

Before surgery, a careful study is made to determine which of the muscles are too weak, or which too strong. Corrective surgery of this kind is successful in about 90 per cent of the cases.

The important point for you and for the parents to remember in making your decision is that crossed eye cannot be corrected later in life. Immediate attention is needed, whether therapeutic or surgical.

Dear Dr. Thompson: Could you please state when the reprocussious would be for a hypoglycemia patient who was involved in an accident and received glucose intravenously as an emergency measure prior to arrival at the hospital. This, of course, would pertain to someone who has the disease but does not carry such information on his person, or who might have the disease and not know it.—F.Y.

In the hypothetical circumstances you mention, glucose would probably be given in a rapid solution to avoid shock or dehydration—a rather routine emergency precaution.

It would have no deleterious effect, whether the victim had hyperglycemia or didn't. There would be no lasting repercussion.

Highway A Hazard

A six-vehicle pileup Friday on Highway 2 near CFB Trenton has caused about $4,5000 damage to the vehicles involved.

No one was seriously injured in the mishap, although three people received cuts and bruises. They were Arthur Tracy, driver of one car, Thelma Tracy, both of Bayview Trailer Park in Trenton and a Thunder Bay resident, Donald Cardinal.

The driver of the other five vehicles were Gregory McDonough, of Toronto, Byron Manton of Trenton, Richard Owen, of Weston, Michael Forbes of Trenton and Napanee resident, Diana Bartlett.

The Belleville detachement of the Ontario Provincial Police said the accident occurred about 11:10 a.m. under slippery road and blowing snow conditions. All vehicles were westbound on Highway 2, the OPP spokesman said.

The mishap occurred just three hours after a three-vehicle pile-up in the same area, a half-mile west of the six-car accident.

Cold Spell Expected to Continue

Northerly winds of 15 to 30 m.p.h. continue to keep temperatures below normal in the aftermath of a three-day storm that crippled the city Thursday and Friday.

City work crews were called out early Thursday and for the first time since the storm began were called off of the streets Friday night about 11 p.m. A city spokesman said crews will be back at work today clearing drifting snow on city streets.

The storm, which began Wednesday about 9 p.m., dropped more than 12 inches of snow on Belleville. Trenton received about eight inches and Bancroft about 14 inches. The storm was accompanied by high winds which caused severe drifting in most areas of the county.

The storm, described as the worst Ontario has seen in the month of April, tapered off Friday. City traffic was further complicated when city buses went on strike at noon.

A spokesman from CFB Trenton weather station said Trenton recieved a record eight inches of snow in a 24-hour period for the month of April. The spokesman said the storm was made more severe because people did not expect it.

Belleville OPP report Highway 401 is snow covered with ice patches. Drifting snow is causing poor visibility and police are advising caution on all highways.

Weathermen are predicting Saturday will be mostly cloudy with a few flurries. Sunday promises to be mainly sunny and cold.

Pickets Halt Buses

Members of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Transport and General Workers brought Belleville Transit Commission buses to a halt Friday, striking in support of one-dollar-an-hour wage demands of Local 1587 bus drivers. Negotiations broke down Thursday when the commission considered 85 cents the maximum raise allowable. Since the strike was called Friday noon, the commission has laid off one junior office secretary.

No Talks Scheduled To End Transit Strike

By COLIN BRUCE
Staff Reporter

The city transit strike moved into its second day today leaving passengers pondering other ways of getting about the city.

Since talks broke down Thursday night, there has been no negotiation between transit commission employees and management.

Marylea Burtt, commission chairman, said, "she will not negotiate until the men have returned to work."

In a move to cut costs during the strike, Mrs. Burtt said the commission has laid off one of three office employees at the commission's Coleman St. office and garage.

"We're slowing the operation down," said Mrs. Burtt. "There's really nothing for the staff to do."

Mrs. Burtt said the commission is also investigating its obligation to pay employees two weeks pay owing to the men.

"I'm checking into whether we have to pay the men for the last two weeks before they come back from the strike," she said.

The last bargaining session, the two sides were 15 cents apart on wages — a key issue in the strike.

Drivers are asking for a one dollar-an-hour increase in a one-year contract while the transit commission has offered a 75-cent-an-hour increase immediately and a further 15 cents-an hour in June.

Both sides have remained adamant they will not compromise any further.

Employees were also demanding modifications to present over time regulations, four weeks holiday after 13 years and a drug plan.

All were rejected by the commission, said Lawrence St. Pierre, chief union negotiator.

Free Land Sought

Belleville General Hospital will ask city council to consider free surrender of two sections of city-owned property required to complete acquisitions for its new parking lot.

The city is asking $2,500 for sale of a section of Bayview Park and $7,000 for part of the Bay Dr. street alowance. Both land parcels are required for the planned 220-car lot on BGH's eastern frontier

A report before the board Friday noted BGH originally had donated the land to the city.

First Visit

Toni Westerhof, a Grade 10 student at Centennial Secondary School, saw her great-grandmother for the first time during the 18-day Mediterranean cruise sponsored by the Hastings County Board of Education.

Family Ties Strengthened Following Student Cruise

By RON CARSON
Staff Reporter

Toni Westerhof, a Grade 10 student at Centennial Secondary School, met her 86-year-old great — grandmother for the first time. The two parted 18 hours later with tears.

The meeting took place at Roden, Holland, a small community about a three-hour drive from Amsterdam. It was one of the highlights of the 18-day Mediterranean cruise in which Toni, along with 170 students, visited some of the oldest and strife-torn countries in the world.

The students left Ottawa March 8 and arrived in Amsterdam for a three-day visit before flying to Yugoslavia where they launched their Mediterranean cruise.

Toni, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Westerhof, RR 2, Belleville, spent a day with her fellow students then met the Canadian aunt and uncle, who were also visiting Amsterdam at the same time. They travelled to the great-grandmother's home at Roden.

"The first thing she wanted to know was whether I liked Holland," said Toni, who was also making her first visit to Holland, where both her mother and father were born. They stayed almost a day.

Toni's uncle translated for the great-grandmother, who was seeing her first Canadian-born grandchild. Toni has two brothers and two sisters. The language problem proved small as the family reminiscing tried to give Toni a flavor of the country and family history.

"Seppa 'great-grandmother' gave me an antique doll that has been in the family for many years," explained Toni, who took several pictures of her great-grandmother during the visit. "Even though we hadn't known each other long we cried when it was time for me to go," she added.

Toni returned to Amsterdam and joined the other students on the journey. "Because of the visit I also saw a great deal of the countryside in Holland," explained 16-year-old Toni.

The students flew to Yugoslavia for a two-day stay before the cruise began. Once started, they visited Israel, Lebanon and Egypt. They later travelled to Greece and Turkey. They returned to Holland before flying back to Canada March 27.

The cruise was organized by the Hastings County Board of Education under the direction of Lloyd Jones.

Young Praises Hospital Effort

A volunteer environmentalist and persistent critic of Belleville General Hospital Friday was again before the institutions board of governors.

But this time Clarence Young had nothing but praise for the hospital.

"I'm afraid I'm going to lose my image," quipped Mr. Young as he went before the board to congratulate the administration on clearing up drainage problems which — he had claimed — were plaguing the nearby Bay of Quinte shoreline.

"I think you deserve a lot of credit," said Mr. Young.

His words won him a round of applause from board members.

OMB Hearing Rejects Nursing Home Plan

By MARG HAYLOCK
Staff Reporter

PICTON — The Ontario Municipal Board, at a hearing in Picton this week, rejected plans for a proposed addition to the Ontario St. nursing home operated by Kent Fallis.

The hearing was conducted following a neighborhood appeal against the local committee of adjustment's decision to allow the expansion.

The $250,000 addition had been approved for Kentwood Nursing Homes Ltd. Mr. Fallis would have been permitted to build on land adjacent to the facility he now owns.

The nursing home has 31 patients referred from the Kingston Psychiatric Hospital and the proposed addition would have provided accommodations for 17 more.

A town bylaw permits development of 35 per cent of land for coverage. Mr. Fallis told the hearing the proposed expansion would bring density to 41.25 per cent of the property.

Neighbors living close to the nursing home objected to the expansion.

Picton lawyer William Lane, acting for the neighbors, observed town council made the original error when the nursing home was permitted in the first place.

He described it as a non-conforming use of the property and stressed the variance of land being sought in the new addition would be major, not minor.

Bed Stay Declines

Lenght of hospital stay shortened in February compared to the same month last year at Belleville General Hospital.

Average length of stay for patients was 8.76 days, medical director Dr. Reginald Anderson, said at the hospital board Friday.

This compared with 9.94 for February last year and 10.33 days which was the yearly average in 1974.

BGH Budget Increased

Belleville General Hospital has received slightly more than it asked from the Ontario health ministry for its 1975 budget.

The ministry has approved an operating budget of $12,864,854. This is about $15,500 more than BGH had requested late last year in its budget submissions.

Bulk of the budget is assigned to salaries and wages for the hospital — which employs about 1,000. These are estimated to cost 89.8 million, said BGH financial controller John Campbell.

Out-patient costs are budgeted at $1,251,000, while $676,800 are assigned for the hospital's Red Cross Unit.

Medical and surgical supplies are estimated at $465,900 and drugs at $200,700.

City Cabs Booming

Belleville's two taxi companies are running full-tilt today as a result of the day-old transit strike and the aftermath of a three-day storm.

A spokesman for both companies, Checker Radio Taxi and Central Taxi leasing and Sales (Belleville) Ltd., said a fleet of between 35 and 40 cabs are working today to handle the calls. He said 30 cabs would handle a normal day.

He said the taxis have been running only 10 to 15 minutes behind schedule. Most of the calls have been shoppers for the Quinte Mall and the downtown area.

The spokesman said the biggest demand came Friday but that business is starting to return to normal late Saturday. The city's bus service ground to halt noon Friday as 23 employees of the transit commission walked off their jobs demanding higher pay.

Most City Residents See Need for Transit Fare Increase

By COLIN BRUCE
Staff Reporter

Belleville's Transit commission has become a street corner topic of conversation with fares increasing and the Friday walkout of drivers and mechanics.

Last week, the commission announced, all fares, with the exception of children's rates, would increase by five cents and that passengers would be required to have the exact change with them before getting on the bus.

Marylea Burtt, chairman of the commission, explained that the city's transit system was suffering increasing annual operating losses and that fare increase are necessary to stem these losses.

Union negotiations broke down this week with the 25 member union local striking for higher wages.

Following are comments from city residents illustrating their feelings concerning the exact fare and fare increases.

DEL LORIMER

Del Lorimer, a resident of 345 Herchimer, says he's not convinced the commission is losing money and that the fare shouldn't be increased.

"I think exact fare is foolish," said Mr. Lorimer.

"If the city is going to run it busservice, drivers making change for the customers should be part of that service," he said.

PAT McKAY

"Everything else is going up and ticket isn't really that bad," said Pat McKay.

"Most people have the change in their pocket so exact fare shouldn't be much of a problem."

"If they don't have the change it's easy enough to go into a store and get the change before the bus arrives," she said.

RICK SEXSMITH

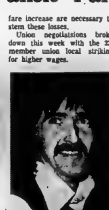
"A fare increase at this time is valid . . . and in keeping with increasin costs in other sectors of the community," said Rick Sexsmith.

"Exact fare should not be a regulation," he said. "Any business must provide the service to the customer of making change and the bus should be no different."

ROSEMARY CORBY

Loyalist College graduate Rosemary Cory says 20 cents is "okay and well worth it."

"I think drivers should make change for passengers," she said. "It's not always possible to have the right change in your pocket when you get on the bus."



BILL FYKE

The rate increase will boost revenues and that's good, said Bill Fyke, a resident of Palmer Rd.

"I don't mind having to have the right change and I think others will get used to it."

BONNIE MARTIN

An employee of the Quinte Mall, Miss Bonnie Martin must take the bus to and from work. Miss Martin "live cents isn't much.

Hospital Classes Debated

Evolution of a Queen's University — linked teaching project for medical students in Belleville is still up for discussion.

The scheme, aimed at giving medical students more on-the-bed knowledge of community medicine outside a university environment, has been discussed between Queen's and Belleville General Hospital for about a year.

University principals earlier this year prompted counter suggestions from BGH medical staff.

Philip Rickard, BGh executive director, told the hospital board Friday that yet another meeting a special liason committee — involving Queen's and hospital spokesmen — now is set for May 28.

Jets Hit End of Road

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Winnipeg Jets, like a tired fish on a hook, gave up their struggle Friday night and were allowed themselves to be hauled out of the World Hockey Association playoff picture.

In the final stanzas, the Jets were faced with having to win every one of their games to regain hope of making the playoffs and that ended Friday when they dropped a 7-4 loss to Toronto.

"We had to win this one, then win this one, then win this one—it just got to be too much," said a tired Bobby Hull who again failed to score in his bid to overhaul Phil Esposito's pre scoring record of 76 goals in a season.

"We got put behind the eight ball. If we hadn't had such a bad month in January it might have been different. It killed us. Everyone went into a bit of a lull."

In other WHA games Friday, Phoenix Roadrunners beat Minnesota Fighting Saints 5-3, Chicago Cougars defeated New England Whalers 5-3 and Edmonton Oilers beat Vancouver Blazers 9-3.

The loss to the Toros meant that the Jets, with two games remaining — tonight at Quebec and Sunday at home to San Diego—could no longer catch Minnesota or Phoenix for the wild-card playoff berths.

And Hull, who has gone scoreless since getting his 75th goal a week ago, has just the two games left in which to pass the record set four years ago in the National Hockey League by Esposito.

Hull admitted he has been under some pressure to break the scoring record.

"Whether you try to play it cool or not, there is excess pressure, on you to break the record and it puts pressure not only on yourself but also on your linemates and teammates."

The Toros had no specific player shadowing Hull Friday night but they kept him in close check regardless and he was on the ice for six of the Toros' seven goals.

Peter Marin scored twice for the Toros and Gavin Kirk had four assists, including one on Frank Mahovlich's 37th goal of the season. Tom Simpson closed out the Toros scoring with his 42nd of the season.

The presence of Hull helped draw a record crowd of 18,316 to Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens.

"It really picks up a hockey team when you have a crowd of over 16,000 cheering for you," said coach Bobby Leiter after his Toros had outshot Winnipeg 33-28.

New England edged Chicago 4-3 but couldn't put one behind Cougars goalie Dave Dryden until midway in the final period by which time Chicago already had scored its three goals.

The only goal Dryden gave up was to Tom Webster—his 30th of the season.

The largest crowd ever for a regular-season WHA game—17,-313—showed up at St. Paul, Minn., where goals by Jim Harkamp and Don Borgesson accounted for the Phoen... .

At Edmonton, the Oilers scored three goals in the second period for a 4-1 lead and never on to beat the Blazers. Doug Sarvis clinched the Edmon... win with a goal late in the third period.

Cinderella Story for Canucks

VANCOUVER (CP) — Vancouver Canucks are likely to wake up in the morning and pinch themselves to make sure it isn't all a dream.

What most people thought to be impossible came true Friday as Vancouver, for four years the contender only for last place, became the divisional champion.

Canucks defeated Minnesota North Stars 4-1, but got a lot more than two points from the victory. They are the champions of the National Hockey League's Conn Smythe Division and they're in the Stanley Cup playoffs for the first time.

In fact, their division championship gives them a bye into the second round of the playoffs.

"I just don't believe it; this is the greatest bunch of guys you could ever hope to play with," said Bobby Lalonde, the diminutive forward who has been here through some of the Canucks' lean years.

"I think we started to realize we could win our division around Christmas. Everybody conceded it to Chicago but these guys just didn't give up."

The scene in the Vancouver dressing room was hardly surprising. Champagne was flowing, people were getting thrown into showers and some of the interviews were ribald as the players got carried away during live radio broadcasts.

"I think we turned the whole thing around in Chicago when Ken Lockett came off the bench and won a game for us," forward Chris Oddleifson said.

Oddleifson was speaking of that one of the many times the games the Canucks were in as they bounced in and out of first place in the last half of the season.

Lockett, an unknown player early in the year, spent much of the season on the bench watching Gary Smith do the majority of the Canucks' goaltending, but when the team needed Lockett he came through.

The back-to-back netminder played in the Canucks' final four regular season games, replacing Smith who had groin problems.

Lockett's first outing in that stretch was a solid performance in a 3-3 tie against the Kings in Los Angeles. Then he came out to shut out California Golden Seals in back-to-back 7-0 and 3-0 games.

Friday, he faced only 10 shots, an NHL league record, and although he was beaten once, didn't seem to mind all that much.

Asked if he would like more work than just to abide a game, Lockett said: "No way. That's just fine with me. If we can play that kind of hockey and hold them down like that we'll win the Stanley Cup."

Phil Maloney, the Vancouver general-manager coach, dripping from a forced run through the shower, agreed that Lockett's performance in Chicago a little more than a month ago had a lot to do with the championship.

That's when we started to believe it," he said. "We knew then that we had a shot at the championship.

"We just kept trying to win our own games. We didn't worry about what anybody else was doing."

Garry Monahan, one of the players Maloney brought here after the season had started, summed up the feelings of the ecstatic Canucks.

"What more can you say," he said.

Canadiens Enter Playoffs Without Veteran Captain

MONTREAL (CP) — If Montreal Canadiens win the Stanley Cup this season, it appears likely they will do so without veteran centre and captain Henri Richard.

Richard, 39, in his 20th season with the National Hockey League team, has been out of action since mid-November because of a fractured left ankle.

A member of 11 Cup winners since he joined the Canadiens for the 1955-1956 season, Richard today faces an uncertain future because of the injury.

He had x-rays taken Thursday and was told by Dr. Ted Percy to stay off skates for another 10 days.

Richard was full of optimism last Tuesday after going through his first full-scale scrimmage with the team since November. Richard had been optimistic enough to predict he would return to the lineup for Wednesday night's game here against Pittsburgh Penguins.

But Richard's ankle was swollen again Wednesday, and he was ordered to report to the doctor again. While Richard has refused to admit it, the possibility exists that he will not be back this season.

"I was ready to play against Pittsburgh—I wanted to play," Richard said. "But the ankle puffed up . . . I don't know."

The problem has nothing to do with the healing of the ankle bone. The fracture has healed, but apparently Richard suffered ligament damage at the same time.

Today Richard is talking in terms of returning in time for the Stanley Cup final series. He refuses to speculate as to next season.

"I have to start by trying to finish this season and after that I'll think about next season."

Rangers Clinch Playoff Spot

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

No sooner had New York Rangers clinched a spot in the National Hockey League playoffs than they were talking confidently of their chances of winning the Stanley Cup.

"We're good enough to beat anybody, at any time, anywhere, under any conditions," said Dewey Sanderson, who scored the winning goal which gave the Rangers a 3-2 victory over Atlanta Flames Friday night.

The triumph put both the Rangers and New York Islanders into the playoffs and eliminated Atlanta, which had been struggling to catch the two New York clubs.

In the night's other NHL game, Vancouver Canucks clinched the Smythe Division title by beating Minnesota North Stars 4-1. It's the first season the Canucks have qualified for the playoffs.

The Flames had led going into the third period but New York scored two quick goals, and Sanderson scored the winner with 4:35 left in the game after taking a pass from Walt Tkaczuk, who outmuscled a Flame defender in the corner.

New York coach Emile Francis was not making any bold predictions.

"I don't know what this club can do," Francis said. "This is the first time we've had them all back from their injuries. It's only in the last week or 10 days that everyone's been back. This is the healthiest we've been since Nov. 15."

Over in the Flames dressing room, the players were subdued and disappointed.

"I've not much to say," coach Fred Creighton told reporters. "They were the winners. And we were the loser, it was as simple as that. We started off well, then made some mistakes and paid for them."

Tom Lysiak put the Flames on the scoreboard at 9:48 of the first period when he bulled his way past two Rangers and beat Ranger goaltender Gilles Villemure. Rey Comeau knocked in a rebound later in the period to give Atlanta a 2-0 lead.

Francis said he had his players before the third period that they needed a goal early and Jean Ratelle responded with a power-play score after only 25 seconds of play. Rick Middleton tied the game less than two minutes later as Ratelle's slap shot past Atlanta's Phil Myre.

Ken Hodge and Bill Fairbairn, after four years of finishing at or near the bottom of the standings, celebrated with champagne after winning a division title that assures them a berth in the playoffs.

Weather Holds Back Two Clubs

Belleville Teams Lose First Round Matches

Despite the inclement and unprecedented weather, only two teams were unable to make their draws in the first round of the Belleville Peewee Shrine Hockey Tournament, Friday night.

Only Whitby and Cornwall were unable to get to the Friendly City for their scheduled contests. Whitby, however, will be on tap for the second round today. Cornwall is still feeling the effects of the storm and had to withdraw completely.

"We were lucky we only had a couple of teams who couldn't make it," said tournament convenor, Don Gavey. "I was already to cancel the entire thing, but after a few phone calls I found that all the teams wanted to play despite the weather."

Whitby was dropped from the fifth opening round game to the seventh to replace Cornwall. They automatically start into "B" action today. Their contest against London yesterday was defaulted 1-0. Belleville Dixie Lee Minor Peewees replaced Whitby in the fifth game of the first round.

The Dixie Lee's joined Rollins Lumber Major Peewees in representing the city. It is the first time ever that two Belleville clubs have been in the tournament.

Unfortunately, neither team fared well in their first games. Dixie Lee lost to Kingston 7-0 and Rollins dropped a 7-1 decision to a strong Burlington entry.

Belleville really didn't stand a chance against the strong, well-balanced attack of Burlington. Even though the score was a little lop-sided, the game wasn't. Burlington took control of the first period, but the two teams split control of the final two frames.

It took the locals nearly a period and a half to get into the swing of the contest. By that time Burlington was in front 4-0. Contrary to the score, Rollins got standout goaltending from Hugh Northey. The gutsy little goalie was faced with breakaway situations on numerous occasions and three times held his ground to rob the oncoming opposition players.

Once, in the first period, he stopped Burlington's Scot Ward cold when the rusher broke in on him. Ward skated from the Belleville end shaking his head. Again in the third period Northey stopped Ward point blank.

Nevertheless, the aggressive forward from Burlington popped a pair of markers and drew one assist to help lead his team to victory. Mike Prado also had two goals and two assists with singles going to Brian Leslie, Dave Benson and Bryant Benton.

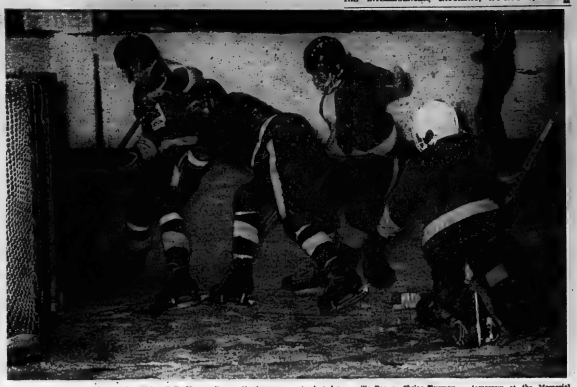
Jamie Robertson replied for Belleville with Tony Parks and Tom Quesnel picking up the assists.

Burlington, a replacement squad for Oshawa which is still in Ontario Minor Hockey Association playoffs, advances to the "A" round and both Belleville Rollins and Dixie Lee's go to "B".

In other first round action, pre-tournament favorite Peterborough beat Toronto Blues 4-3, Brampton edged Ottawa Knights 4-3, Trenton upset Niagara Falls 4-2, St. Catharines squeezed past Nepean 3-2 and Kingston Centre 70 surprised everyone with a 3-2 win over Windsor.

In "A" action today, Peterborough meets Brampton, Burlington plays Trenton, Kingston faces St. Catharines and London squares off against Kingston Centre 70. On the "B" side, Toronto goes against Ottawa, Belleville takes on Niagara Falls, Belleville Dixie Lee plays Nepean and Whitby is at Windsor.

Action begins at 7:30 a.m. this morning with tonight's final game scheduled for 9:15 p.m. Sunday, the "B" championship is played at 1.30 p.m. and the "A" game at 3 p.m. The Grand Championship game is Sunday at 5:30 p.m.



Despite the back bending efforts of goalie Hugh Northey and the checking efforts of defenceman Steve Slaughter (left) and Joe Guthrie (right) Burlington's Dave Benson still managed to put the puck through for a goal. It was the second of the game for his team and proved to be the winner as Belleville Rollins Major Peewees dropped their first round contest 7-1. The goal scorekeeping is played at 1.30 p.m. and the "A" game at 3 p.m. The Grand Championship game is Sunday at 5:30 p.m. Northey was a standout for the local squad. The Belleville Peewee Shrine Tourney continues all day today and tomorrow at the Memorial Arena.

Winning Logo Design Has Belleville Flavor

From Toronto Bureau of The Intelligencer

TORONTO — A Belleville native has designed a symbol for the Canada Summer and Winter games which the government chose from 180 submissions in a province-wide competition.

Mrs. Vicki Lagodzki, 24, received $500 this week from Culture and Recreation Minister Robert Welch. Her winning logo involves a symbolic figure of youth reaching for two circles which form the initials OG — Ontario Games.

The design was chosen from entries of amateur and professional designers and will be used on flags, brochures and posters for the games which were held last year in Sudbury and Thunder Bay. London has been selected to stage this year's Summer Games.

Mrs. Lagodzki moved from Belleville to Ottawa where she attended secondary school. After studying fashion design at Sheridan College in Oakville, she returned to work for the federal industry, trade and commerce department.

ST. CATHARINES, Ont. (CP) — Leighton (Hap) Emms, this year, I guarantee we won't be here."

owner of St. Catharines Black Hawks of the Ontario Hockey Association Major Junior series, said Friday his team will fold unless it receives more support.

Emms said he will think seriously about either selling or moving the franchise if the present trend towards low attendance continues. He said he hated by Hamilton Fincups in will give it another year and "if OHA quarter-final playoffs.

Emms said total attendance dropped more than 12,000 during the 1974-75 season over the total for the previous season.

He said the team also needs more support from city council and the parks and recreation board.

Capozzi Bids for Lions

VANCOUVER (CP) — A seven-member group called Lions '75 offered Thursday to buy the British Columbia Lions' football club for $600,000.

Herb Capozzi, former general-manager of the club and a Vancouver businessman, made the only bid received by the club before a 5p.m. PST deadline stipulated when members decided to consider bids for sale earlier this year. Capozzi is the major shareholder of Lions '75.

The bid will be presented to a special meeting of the club's members April 14 and, if accepted by two-thirds of the members present at the meeting, it will be forwarded to the Canadian Football League. Seven of the league's nine clubs including all five in the Western Conference, must accept the sale in order to make it valid.

Capozzi said his bid will remain open until May 15, and will be ex-tended if he is satisfied the club is exercising all reasonable efforts to obtain sale approval.

He said getting the club's members to accept the bid would probably be more difficult to get than the league's approval.

Members of the Capozzi group are: Jim Pattison, a Vancouver businessman; Wendy McDonald, president of B.C. Bearing Engineers Ltd.; Peter Webster, executive director of the B.C. Sports Hall of Fame; Jimmy Vernon, a hotel business executive; Sid Welsh, chairman of Premier Cablevision Ltd.; and Denny Veitch, former general-manager of the Lions.

It is the first time in the club's history that the membership will consider a bid to buy the club and change its public-ownership status.

Capozzi's group offered to pay the sale price to the B.C. Lions' Society in six $100,000 payments—one accompanying the bid, one upon acceptance, and one each Jan. 1 for four years. The money would be deposited in a Trust fund for promotion and development of amateur football in B.C.

The group of private owners would annually deposit into the trust fund 10 per cent of any profits before taxes up to $50,000 and 20 per cent of profits over $50,000.

The group would guarantee $400,000 in working capital and would immediately establish a committee to work towards improvement of stadium facilities and eventual expansion, and upgrading to a 50,000-seat, double decker stadium.

If after five years the club has not improved its performance to finish second or better in the league in at least one year, the society has the option of re-purchase for $500,000.

Golfers Overcome Inclement Weather

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Tom Weiskopf reminded everyone that the golf tournament is not over yet.

But, it appeared it might as well be.

"I don't know about catching Tom," Lee Trevino said, "but second money ain't bad."

Weiskopf, again exhibiting the deft touch and controlled power that won him seven tournaments in four counties in 1973, pulled away in a five stroke advantage—within one shot of the largest halfway lead of the year—in Friday's second round of the $225,000 Greater Greensboro Open golf tournament.

And he needed only a round of par 71 to do it.

"In this weather, that's a dynamite round," Johnny Miller said.

The weather was fierce. The temperature was about seven degrees as the Celsius scale. The wind—though diminished from the gale force blasts that reached dangerous levels on Thursday's play—was about 30 miles an hour with higher gusts.

The difficulty of the playing conditions—severe, but not as severe as the day before—made Weiskopf appreciate his score all the more.

"The more I think of it, the more I think that was the greatest round I've ever played."

The two rounds gave him a seven-under-par total of 135 for two trips over the 6,840-yard Sedgefield Country Club course and left most of the rest of the group at 143. South African Gary Player, the Masters and British Open title-holder, also had a 70 but remained well back at 148. Arnold Palmer shot 73 and just made the cut for the last two rounds.

George Knudson of Toronto shot another 75 for 150, the qualifying mark for the last two rounds.

Minsky the cut-throughout Horseman of Winnipeg with 75-152, Ben Kern of Toronto, at 159, and Don Huldbreen of Brandon, Man., at 160.

RCGA Pulls Punches, Golf Gets 'Blackest Eye'

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—The Royal Canadian Golf Association has pulled the 1976 Canadian Open out of Windsor's Essex Golf and Country Club, leaving angry civic and golf club officials wondering what happened.

The RCGA awarded the Open to Essex last year but announced Friday it was pulling out, citing poor economic conditions in the Windsor area.

"It looks like golf has finally yielded to politics, just as many other sports," said Dave Moore, general manager of the Essex club.

"Maybe there's been pressure from someone who wanted the Open worse than we did. It's never been done before in the history of the event.

The contracts hadn't been signed but there had been an announcement, a press release and a verbal commitment. It was like a gentleman's word.

"It's taken golf from the level of the Royal and Ancient Golf Club of St. Andrew's down to the level of boxing. It's the blackest eye golf could have."

Windsor Mayor Bert Weeks said the RCGA's claim that the area could not support the Open is "totally invalid".

He said the slump in the auto industry has not affected the Windsor's area's economy significantly and the potential audience from east Detroit area is larger than any other Canadian location.

Weeks called for a meeting of all groups involved in the decision to pull out of Essex to try and find out why the RCGA changed its plans.

The 1976 Canadian Open now appears headed for Toronto.

"The executive committee now feels the tournament should be in the Metropolitan Toronto area," said Bruce Forbes, RCGA executive director.

Likely sites are the National Golf Club or the Board of Trade course at Woodbridge just north of Toronto.

Dick Grimm, RCGA past president, said these two courses would be given first consideration in determining a new site, but he denied any alternative sites had been considered before the decision to pull out of Essex.

"Being selfish human beings, we are concerned with obtaining as much revenue as we can," said Grimm.

"Lately, we have been concerned about the area (Windsor). The situation down there just hasn't gotten any better in the last few months. We felt it just couldn't give us or the host club itself enough revenue."

The RCGA has not yet sold television rights for the 1976 tournament and the CBC is already heavily committed to the Olympics in Montreal next year.

Forbes said the RCGA is prepared "to go without television next year if necessary but he said this was not a factor in the decision to leave Windsor otherwise.

The 1976 Open was originally scheduled for the rebuilt Glen Abbey course at Oakville, Ont., which eventually is to become the permanent home for the national tournament. But, poor growing conditions last year led officials to decide whether Glen Abbey would be ready for next year.

Forbes said Friday that Glen Abbey still would not be ready for next year "so we'll be looking elsewhere."

Everton Regains Lead

LONDON (CP) — Everton regained the lead in English soccer's First Division with a 2-0 victory Saturday over Ipswich and Derby County.

Bob Latchford headed Everton in front in the 38th minute and only the superb goaltending of Barrie Mick Finn prevented them from adding to the lead.

Despite the continued pressure from Everton's offense, Ipswich forced the draw as Peter Noble scored the equalizer 13 minutes from the end.

Deaf Ear Helps Celtics

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Only 15 seconds were left in the game when Boston coach Tom Heinsohn pleaded for his Celtics to take a time out.

But, John Havlicek, who had the ball, didn't hear him.

Hoofever, instead of resulting in disaster, it turned into an important victory for the Celtics.

Eventually, with four seconds remaining, Dave Cowens took a pass from Havlicek and his a jump shot, from the foul line and the Celtics outlasted Washington Bullets 95-94 Friday night.

The triumph lifted the Celtics' record to 59-22, the best in the National Basketball Association, with only tonight's game at Philadelphia remaining for them in the regular season. Washington dropped its 58-23 with two games to play—at home against Atlanta tonight and against New Orleans Sunday.

If both teams finish the season with the same record, the Celtics would gain an automatic round bye in the playoffs and the home court advantage in any playoff series because of their better record within the Eastern Conference.

Elsewhere in the NBA, Milwaukee defeated New York 108-101, Chicago beat New Orleans 111-97, Buffalo defeated Philadelphia 108-97, Golden State beat Phoenix 128-99, Portland trounced Kansas City-Omaha 116-110 and Seattle beat Los Angeles 111-105.

In the only American Association game, Kentucky beat New York 108-99 in a two-game series.

Kareem Abdul-Jabbar scored 34 points as the Bucks took the first game 107-94 and Jerry Lucas added 24 points for the Knicks in the second game 101-94.

Elsewhere in the NBA, Milwaukee rallied from a nine-point deficit in the final period to defeat New York 108-99 in a two-game series.

Norm Van Lier pumped in 22 points as Chicago clinched the Central championship—its first division title in nine years of competition. Chet Walker added 24 points for the Bulls while Pete Maravich had 34 for New Orleans.

Bob McAdoo, the league's most Valuable Player and leading scorer, had 37 points for Buffalo. Gar Heard had 18 rebounds and Randy Smith 11 assists as the Braves took the lead in the first quarter and never gave it up.

Only 12 points to lead a fourth-quarter Milwaukee rally that put a sizable dent in Buffalo's playoff hopes. The Knicks must beat Buffalo Sunday and Cleveland must lose to Kansas City-Omaha if the nicks are to make the playoffs. Any other combination of events will give Cleveland the final playoff spot.

Montreal Faces St. Louis Ace In Monday's Season Opener

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Bob Gibson, trying to make his final season one which produces a pennant for St. Louis Cardinals, pitches Monday night in the opener against Dave McNally and Montreal Expos.

The 39-year-old Gibson, coming off a sub-par 1974 season during which he was hampered by previous knee surgery, has his 10th opening game assignment in a row for the National League baseball team.

"Were counting on him heavily," manager Red Schoendienst said. "For us to do anything, we have to have good pitching and be able to play well behind it.

"Gibson's been throwing well, and he pitched more innings in spring training than he did last year. The big thing with him is his knee's been stronger," Schoendienst said in reference to the 221 ERA Gibson compiled in 32 innings of spring training.

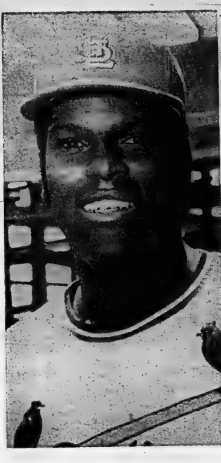
Shortstop Ed Brinkman and rookie first baseman Keith Hernandez are newcomers to the Cardinal infield. McNally plus Gary Carter, Tony Scott and Larry Parrish represent changes in the Montreal lineup, and centre fielder Pepe Mangual has played in only 64 major league games.

"If we were ever going to improve our club it was going to have to be with new players," Mauch said. "But we had to wait until we had enough players to do it. The young players we have are just too good to stay in the minors."

Carter, also the club's backup catcher, will be in right field next to Mangual. Scott, a fill-in for ailing Rich Coggins, will be in left. The 31-year-old Parrish will be at third in an infield which has Tim Foli at shortstop, Larry Lintz at second and Mike Jorgensen at first.

A predominantly left-handed hitting Cardinal lineup featuring Lou Brock, Ted Sizemore and Bake McBride in the top three spots will face the 33-year-old McNally, a southpaw the Expos acquired from the American League Baltimore Orioles. That leaves switch-hitter Reggie Smith at cleanup.

"We got McBride higher in the order to get more speed and stay away from the double play," Schoendienst said. "If he and Brock get on base, we'll be tough."



Bob Gibson – Pennant Hopes

Reds Meet Dodgers In First Official Game

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cincinnati Reds, hoping to recapture the National League title, get a crack at Los Angeles Dodgers right off the ball Monday in the opener of the 1975 baseball season.

The Reds, the team that traditionally opens the major league season, play host to the defending league champions at Riverfront Stadium before an expected sellout crowd of 52,000, including baseball commissioner Bowie Kuhn.

The Reds won National League pennants in 1970 and 1972 and took the Series title in 1975 before the Dodgers dethroned them last year. The sellout crowd at Riverfront will mark the 10th time that those bitter rivals have played to a capacity crowd and reflects the mutual enthusiastic advance ticket sale in baseball history. Half of the 24 major league teams have reported increases in their season's ticket sales.

The game between the West's power teams precedes by hours three more opening games Monday night. In the National League, Montreal Expos will visit St. Louis Cardinals and Houston Astros will play host to Atlanta Braves, California Angels will entertain Kansas City Royals in the American League.

After watching the Dodgers' Don Sutton face the Reds' Don Gullett in Cincinnati, Kuhn will fly to St. Louis for the Expos-Cardinals game. Bob Gibson is scheduled to pitch for St. Louis in that one against Dave McNally, making his National League debut with Montreal.

Houston, celebrating its 10th season in the 'stirodome, sends Larry Dierker against Atlanta's Phil Niekro. The California-Kansas City game features two 20-game winners, Nolan Ryan for the Angels and Steve Busby for the Royals.

Kuhn will be almost as busy as the teams as the week progresses. After the night game in St. Louis, the commissioner will fly to Cleveland to attend Frank Robinsons debut Tuesday as the major leagues first black manager. Jackie Robinson's widow, Rachael, will throw out the first ball before Cleveland's Gaylord Perry matches pitches with Doc Medich of New York Yankees in the American League game.

Nine other games will be played Tuesday, including seven openers.

Milwaukee Brewers, featuring home run king Hank Aaron, will start Jim Slaton against Luis Tiant of Boston Red Sox. Vida Blue hopes to get the Oakland A's off on the right track toward a fourth straight American League championship, pitching against Wilbur Wood of Chicago White Sox.

Joe Coleman of Detroit faces Jim Palmer of Baltimore and Minnesota will throw Bert Blyleven against Texas' Ferguson Jenkins in the other American League openers.

In the National League, it's Philadelphia at New York Mets, Pittsburgh Pirates at Chicago Cubs and San Francisco Giants at San Diego Padres. Steve Carlton goes for the Phillies against the Mets' Tom Seaver; the Pirates will start Dock Ellis against Chicago's Rick Reuschel and San Francisco will pay Jim Barr against San Diego's Randy Johnson.

Four Players Get the Axe

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Four players were separated from major league baseball teams Friday—but only one wanted to go.

Ron Bryant of San Francisco Giants announced his retirement while three others were cut—pitchers Claude Osteen of St. Louis Cardinals and Baker Moore of Montreal Expos and infielder Bobby Valentine of California Angels.

The 27-year-old Bryant, a 24 game winner in 1972 who dropped off to a disastrous 3-12 mark last season, told a news conference that he was retiring for personal reasons, family and business.

Bryant has an interest in a restaurant in Flagstaff, Ariz., and is considering going into the ranching business in that area.

Osteen, a 17-year veteran with a 189-179 lifetime record, was placed on waivers by the Cardinals.

Moore, another left-hander, was sent outright to Montreal's Memphis farm club in the International League. Moore, 34, has been troubled by arm problems and had not pitched this spring until last Thursday, when he worked two scoreless innings against Minnesota.

Valentine, at one time considered a mainstay of the Angels, was sent to Charleston of the International League.

In pre-season action on the field, Minnesota beat Montreal Expos 7-4, Cincinnati beat Boston 14-6 in 16 innings, Pittsburgh edged New York Yankees 5-4 in 10 innings, Philadelphia thrashed a second Pittsburgh team 4-0, Cleveland beat Oakland 4-3, Milwaukee defeated Chicago Cubs 13-8, Tulsa of the American Association edged St. Louis 1-0, San Francisco needed 11 innings to get by Santa Clara University 1-0, Baltimore beat Atlanta 6-1, New York Mets beat Detroit 9-1, Houston defeated Texas 8-7 and Los Angeles beat California 9-3.

Gorman Thomas had three hits, including a grand slam home run, and Mike Hegan and John Briggs also homered for Milwaukee.

Twins Beat Expos

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Eric Soderholm and Larry Hisle hit home runs Friday, leading Minnesota Twins to a 7-4 exhibition baseball victory over Montreal Expos.

Soderholm drove in four runs with a double in the first inning and his two-run homer in the seventh. Hisle had a run-scoring single in the first and a solo homer leading off the third.

The Expos scored twice in the second on Pepe Mangual's double and added single runs in the fourth on a base-loaded walk to Jerry White and in the eighth on Pete Mackanin's single.

The Twins reached Montreal starter Wendie Fryman for five of their runs. Fryman worked five innings, allowing seven hits and walking five. Relief Ray Corbin pitched three-hit ball in 4 1/3 innings of relief for Minnesota.

PITCHER RETIRES

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Ron Bryant, veteran San Francisco Giants pitcher who won 24 games in 1973, announced his retirement Friday from the National League baseball team. The 27-year-old left-hander told a news conference he was retiring because of personal reasons, family and business.

IN MEMORIAM

BLAIR — In loving memory of a dear brother-in-law and uncle Bert Blair, who passed away April 5, 1973.
Forever long our lives may last,
Whatever lands we view,
Whatever joy or grief be ours,
We will always think of you.
—Always remembered by brother-in-law Charles Fisher, niece and nephew.

MYERS — In loving memory of a dear husband, father, grandfather and great-grandfather, Albert Wesley Myers, who passed away April 5, 1972.
Remembrance is a golden chain.
Death tries to break but all in vain.
The golden links are clasped so fast
In the precious memory of your heart.
The years may wipe out many things
But this they wipe out never.
The moment of those happy days
When we were all together.
—Always remembered by his wife Edith and family.

CARTER — In loving memory of a dear son and brother Brian Thomas Carter who passed away April 6, 1971.
No farewells were spoken,
No time to say goodbye,
You were gone before we knew,
And only God knows why.
Our hearts still ache with sadness,
And secret tears still flow,
What it meant to lose you,
No one will ever know.
—Always remembered and sadly missed by Mum, Dad and sister Pauline.

CARDS OF THANKS

My sincere thanks to Dr. Paine and Dr. Jones for their kindness while I was a patient at Belleville General Hospital. Also to the staff of the nurses and staff in Orthopaedic ward. Thanks to Nancy, Rose and Ed in the City Ambulance for their attendants. Thanks to Bert, Mary and Jean for their visits and to my many friends, neighbors and relatives for their cards, gifts, flowers, visits and phone calls. Once again a sincere thank you to all.

REAL ESTATE FOR SALE

FRASER & O'NEIL LIMITED REALTOR

IMMACULATE
This new 3-storey home is meant for a large family. There are 4 spacious bedrooms, recreation room and a gorgeous kitchen.
GOLD RUSH ?
Alas not, but you can still beat the Uranium rush in Bancroft and buy this charming 4-bedroom home of striking appearance. It is magnificently located on deep river lot and close to liquor and beer stores.
TOWN HOUSE
Some people call it condominium and other call it a brownstone but regardless of what is said this property is beautifully appointed with many extras. First Mortgage is 9% but increased financing can be arranged.
DON'T LIFT A FINGER
It just is not necessary. This 3-bedroom brick home is located on a quiet street but yet close to both public and high schools. Tastefully decorated and of first class construction. Don't lift a finger except to dial 962-3418 for more details. It is the icing on the cake.
PLAN AHEAD
Why not take your love to those 100 acres and breathe the fresh spring air. Then think of summer camping — fall hunting — winter wonderland — PLAN AHEAD and CALL NOW.
AWAY FROM THE HUSTLE AND BUSTLE
And to the quiet of the country. Four bedrooms, attached garage. Only 8 years old, this split level is priced to sell at less than $30,000.00.
ARE YOU STILL PAYING RENT ?
$3,250.00 Down to one mortgage with payments of $275.00 per month. SO STOP WASTING YOUR RENTAL DOLLARS.
EAST HILL EXECUTIVE
Your present home too small ? Then let us show you this home in the east end. Many features such as large recreation room, office or fourth bedroom downstairs, large kitchen. Prestige location !

Voodoo on the Island of Haiti

Recently I attended my first voodoo ceremony.

It was some experience! Not simply the ceremony itself, which was wild, exotic and colorful, but the singular and dramatic circumstances surrounding it.

You see, Port-au-Prince, the capital of Haiti, voodoo's homeland was at the time engulfed by a raging fire. The city was spared massive destruction by a shower of rain which the news described as "miraculous".

The showers came immediately (and I do mean immediately) after the voodoo rites which invoked the rain god!

Thus my introduction to voodoo was a specially memorable one.

On Thursday February 27, 1975, during a Caribbean cruise, our boat, Bolero, put in at Port-au-Prince. My wife was eager to do some shopping; I was eager to do some voodooing. Haiti is the cradle of voodoo, that strange blend of African faith and quasi-Christian vermbo which for most people conjures up an image of somebody sticking pins in little dolls of their enemies.

Such practices do exist (I hosrrid a couple of the voodoo dolls to ensure a new reasect from my acquaintances) but they are part of "black" voodoo. Anything, say the Haitians, can be cot to good or evil use and this includes voodoo. But, the savior goes, he who uses black voodoo invokes on others eventually will suffer its horrors against himself.

White voodoo is the use of rites and ceremonies to do good — to heal the sick, to break a drought, to bring financial success to a friend.

Anyway a group of us from the ship had arranged to attend that night what was billed as a voodoo ceremony. Whether it would be the real thing or a phony tourist spectacle we didn't know. But my attitude was that even phony voodoo was better than none. And who knows? It might turn out to be an impressive experience.

It did.

That night, while some of us were standing on the ship's deck talking about the impending voodoo rites, there was a tremendous explosion in Port-au-Prince and flames

This was primitive, maybe, but so evil.

Then, one of the men became entranced "possessed", the voodoo followers say — "by the loa" or god; in this case the water god. The possessed man looked like a zombie — cataleptic, whiter of his eyes turned upward, profoundly hypnotized.

Since he represented the god now, he was presented with a white dove as an offering and promptly accepted it by biting its head off.

Then the high priestess sprinkled the bird's blood on the altar. The high priest kneeled and kissed the altar.

A strange, mystic spectacle, half-sublime, half-savage. But it was only a prelude.

Within three minutes, it had started to rain. A heavy shower fell for about 20 minutes, then the sky cleared and once more the quivering stars came out.

The next day, Friday, February 28, the News Bulletin published aboard the cruise ship Bolero headlined this item:

"PORT-AU-PRINCE: A huge fire raged out of control for two hours last night in the northern section of the city. The fire, of unknown origin, started early in the evening, destroying a two-block radius of a residential section. The flames were 50 feet high but a miraculous rain shower controlled the blaze.

"Haiti has had no rain for the past two months."

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The nostalgia for Hollywood's past has resulted in a new generation.

The Great Waldo Pepper portrays Robert Redford as a barnstorming pilot who comes to Hollywood during the 1930 era of great aerial films. Now Peter Bogdanovich is planning Starlight Parade with Ryan O'Neal and Dorti Reynolds as a pair of pioneering film makers in pre First World War times.

Universal has announced two projects about stars of the Gold'n Era—Gable and Lombard and W. C. Fields. The latter will be directed by Arthur Hiller and based on the memoirs by the comedian's onetime mistress, Carlotta Monti.

STRATFORD, Ont. (CP) — Maggie Smith, one of the most accalimed actresses of the decade, will join the 1976 Stratford Festival acting company, artistic director Robin Phillips announced Wednesday.

Miss Smith won an Oscar for her role in the film version of The Prime of Jean Brodie, starred with Sir Laurence Olivier in productions by the National Theatre of Great Britain, and acted in National Theatre's production of Hedda Gabler, directed by Ingmar Bergman.

She now is on Broadway in a much-heralded engagement of Sir Noel Coward's comedy, Private Lives.

When Private Lives was touring North America, Miss Smith came to Toronto earlier this winter and visited Stratford for the first time While here, she showed interest in taking part in the festival.

"We are delighted to be able to announce that Miss Smith is joining the company next year," said Mr. Phillips.

"She is not only an international star, whose presence can't help but add lustre to any theatre season anywhere in the world but more important, she is an actress of the highest calibre with whom we will be proud to work," he said.

Although no final decision has been made about possible roles or plays Miss Smith will take part in, it is expected she will appear in more than one production.

TORONTO (CP) — The Canadian opera, Louis Riel, will be presented at Washington's Kennedy Centre following the 1975 season at O'Keefe Centre here.

Herman Geiger-Torel, general director of the Canadian Opera Company, said the Washington appearance of Harry Somers' opera will be sponsored by the department of external affairs and organized by the Touring Office of the Canada Council.

The opera will be part of the Canadian Festival at Kennedy Centre, Oct. 13-26.

Louis Riel had its premiere by the COC in 1967 and was revived by the company in 1968.

Its Washington appearance will be the first outside of Canada.

Canadian baritone Bernard Turgeon will appear in the title role as he did for the original production.

Your Horoscope

By BERNICE BEDE OSOL

Sunday, April 6

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You'll be a little pushed out of shape when your impulsive, generous gesture is not fully appreciated. Don't give in order to get.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Another will try to use you today to make himself look good in front of an audience. Let him know you're not a patsy.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Something you'll say unthinkingly will wound a sensitive friend. Apologize promptly so it doesn't leave a scar.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Be careful not to impose too selfishly upon the kindness of one who has already gone out of his way for you.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Don't ask advice from a close companion today unless you're prepared for a candid reply. What you'd hear would likely displease you.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Particular attention to common sense health practices today. Be moderate physically, and partaking of the good things of life.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Cupid will hit you with a few heart arrows today, if you're too possessive or demanding of your loved one.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Don't rule the roost with too heavy a hand today. Friction can be avoided if you aren't too impatient or intemperamental.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You're likely to do more talking and thinking about what should be done at this time instead of doing it. Get off your duff. Act.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Yesterday you were a wise and prudent shopper. Not so today. Be careful. You could buy a pig in a poke.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Be understanding and tolerant of one weaker than yourself today. Encouraging words and a pat on the back will be deeply appreciated.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Don't be too flirtatious or coy today. It could backfire if someone new were just patting on a bit too much pressure.

By BERNICE BEDE OSOL

Monday April 7

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Be alert for opportunity from an unexpected quarter today. Prompt action and a quick decision will be called for.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) One you're very friendly with will awaken your interest regarding a new project with unusual fringe benefits.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) The next few days will offer some unique possibilities to advance your status where work or career is concerned.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) By adding just a slight twist you can use something you've learned from past experience to solve a present problem.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) In business dealings today don't take things at face value alone. With a little imagination you may be able to gain a bonus.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You'll do your best thinking under pressure today. This will give you an advantage in competition didn't allow for.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Your financial and career prospects are very promising now. Clever ideas and work well-done will pay larger-than-usual rewards.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Something of importance in the personal scene can be advanced now through several of your social contacts. Ask their help.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) The next few days' conditions will be more to your liking regarding a matter you want finalized. Stay on top of it till completion.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) A decision of yours will be helpfully influenced by the advice you'll receive from a friend with a vivid imagination.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Some unusual conditions are at work that will have an effect upon your finances. A small windfall may come your way.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Don't be hesitant about discarding ineffectives and plan for a bright new one. Nothing ventured, nothing gained.

Gas Price Difficult To Settle

By HOWARD COLLINS

OTTAWA (CP) — Federal officials expect the toughest bargaining at next week's national energy conference to be over the pricing of natural gas.

Although they don't underestimate the obstacles of reaching agreement on a new price for crude oil, they feel it will be "relatively less sticky than set ting a price for gas."

One of the major problems is that gas is underpriced compared with other fuels, an energy department spokesman said.

New contracts for gas set the price at 40 cents a thousand cubic feet, while the average price, including the old contracts, is 44.5 cents.

Energy officials estimate that with oil selling at $6.50 a barrel, the price for an equal amount of gas in heating value today should be $1.30 a thousand cubic feet.

Energy Minister Donald Macdonald has said several times that natural gas prices should go up to commodity value with oil.

But he says he favors a gradual increase over a period of at least three years to lessen the impact on the economy.

An immediate increase to the commodity value would add about $61 million to the cost of the 1.3 trillion cubic feet of natural gas consumed annually, most of it in Ontario.

It also would add $114 to the annual bill of an average consumer using natural gas to heat his home, the Canadian Gas Association estimates average residential consumption at 100 thousand cubic feet a year.

Extortionist Siezed

NEW YORK (AP) — A man described as a would-be bank extortionist set off an explosive device Friday as police and the FBI closed in on him in front of Macy's department store.

One FBI agent suffered minor facial burns in the capture of the man in Herald Square, one of the world's busiest crossroads. A bomb squad official said the device consisted of a mass of wires and detonators, but that there were no high explosives.

The FBI identified the man as Edward Williams, about 30, of Paterson, N.J.

Many Jobs Open

NEW YORK (AP) — Unemployment in the United States in March fell to 5.1 per cent, the highest since 1941, it was announced Friday. But John Sabo dreds of thousands of them—remain unfilled.

Based on U.S. employment service estimates, more than 700,000 jobs were open in January, the latest month for which it has such figures and a month when the unemployment rate was 5.3 per cent. At that rate 7.5 million persons in the U.S. were out of work.

Welcomes Snow

TORONTO (CP) — While most southern Ontario residents curse this week's snowstorm, John Zsidar is jumping with joy.

"It's heavenly," said Mr. Zsidar.

As Metropolitan Toronto's biggest private snow-removal operator, Mr. Zsidar finds snow nothing to complain about. With $1 million invested in a company that was shaky because of a winter of light snow, Mr. Zsidar, 48, said he and his hard manager became nervous.

"Right now business is excellent and I hope it snows some more."

Want Free Sale

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) — Some Soviet-made federal contraceptives should be removed from the prescription list and sold across the counter in drug stores, Dr. Walter Sabbah, chief of obstetrics at the Women's College Hospital in Toronto, told the Sault Ste. Marie Star on Friday.

Seek Release

By DAVE BLAIKIE

OTTAWA (CP) — A committee of the United States and Canadian persons is pressuring the government to intervene in the case of Dr. Henry Morgentaler, jailed last week for performing an illegal abortion.

The group, headed by Paul Kurtz of Buffalo, N.Y., sent a telegram Friday to Prime Minister Trudeau urging that steps be taken to release the 53-year-old physician from jail in Montreal where he began an 18-month sentence last week.

The petition also calls for repeal of Canadian abortion laws and a ban on further charges against Dr. Morgentaler, who has admitted performing thousands of abortions at a Montreal clinic.

Oppose Change

TORONTO (CP) — C. O. Sick, chairman of the Metropolitan Toronto board of police commissioners, and Police Chief Harold Adamson have both rejected a proposal to have more elected representatives on the five-member police commission.

A Metro council committee is considering reorganization of the commission to include the Metro chairman, four elected representatives and four appointed persons.

The commission now has one elected representative from Metro council, the Metro chairman and three Ontario government appointees.

Back Mobile Homes

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario is investigating ways to ease the housing shortage and beat soaring house prices by opening the door for more mobile homes in the province, Michael Warren, deputy housing minister, said Friday.

The government hopes to bring in legislation to protect owners of mobile homes, who at present, he said, have "literally no rights at all."

Fear Late Spring

SUDBURY, Ont. (CP) — Despite a relatively mild winter, farmers in this northern area now are concerned about the possibility of a late spring, says Aurel Brunet, district representative of the provincial ministry of agriculture.

The large snowfall of the last few days and accompanying cooler weather are reasons for the farmers' concern, he said in an interview Friday.

Speed Adoptions

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario families wishing to adopt orphans from South Vietnam must go through the usual adoption channels, a spokesman for the ministry of community and social services said Friday.

Interested families are advised to contact one of the province's 50 Children's Aid Society branches, which handle all adoptions in Ontario.

The spokesman said the adoption process usually takes about nine months to complete. However, it will be "drastically speeded up" for the Vietnamese orphans.

Train Derailed

DUNDALK, Ont. (CP) — CP Rail workmen continued efforts Friday to right an 11-car freight train after Thursday's collision with a farm tractor at a level crossing 2½ miles north of here.

CNR Head Wants To Split Railway

MONTREAL (CP) — Robert Bandeen, the new, young president of Canadian National Railways, says he wants a major overhaul of the giant railway, splitting it into smaller companies as an economic shot in the arm.

Dr. Bandeen, who has been president less than a year, said in an interview this week the publicly-owned corporation is already talking to the government about reorganizing the railway. A plan has not yet been submitted.

If the changes are made, the taxpayers as a shareholder in CN will see his investment in the corporation increase in value, said the 49-year-old economist.

CN would remain as a small holding company and the corporation president would retain over all responsibility to Parliament on operations for the various subsidiaries.

Dr. Bandeen's proposal reflects his view that the railway organization needs to be brought up to date to fit CN's changing role.

The railway itself is no longer best designed to pick up goods at the factory door and deliver them on the doorstep of the purchaser, he said.

Railways, now are a kind of supermarket of transportation offering services like piggyback, container and bulk commodity transport.

CN had moved into trucking because it saw trucks were more efficient in certain circumstances. The corporation wanted to offer the customer everything he needed.

"We are a conglomerate," he said candidly. CN has trucking, hotel, real estate and telecommunications arms.

CN, which has about 80,000 employees, is too big to be run efficiently and economically as one monolithic organization, the CN president said. As chief executive officer he could not keep in close touch with all developments in every branch of the railway.

Grain and Oilseed Plantings to Increase

OTTAWA (CP) — Farmers generally are heeding the Wheat Board's call for higher grain and oilseed acreages this year, but figures released Friday by Statistics Canada show overall acreages down slightly from last year.

Otto Lang, minister responsible for the board, called five weeks ago for substantial increases in acreages of most of the crops handled by the board.

The Statistics Canada figures show farmers intend to plant 25.16 million acres of wheat, below the 26 million recommended by Mr. Lang.

The 1973 wheat projection includes 3.45 million acres of Durum, well above the requested 1.5 million and above the three million acres last year.

The statistics are based on a survey of farmers' plans as March 15. The federal agency warned that the plans may change when farmers have had more time to assess the market outlook and conditions before seeding and during planting.

Perhaps the most noticeable gap between Mr. Lang's expectation and the farmers' intention is in barley. The minister had suggested 12.5 million acres' but the farmers intend to plant only 11.3 million, a difference of 1.17 million acres. This is 6 per cent below the 1973-75 total and two per cent below the 1969-72 average.

Ottawa Is Silent On Blakeney Offer

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Saskatchewan's offer to forgo an immediate oil price increase if a government energy security fund is set up drew nothing but silence from the federal government Friday.

Premier Allan Blakeney outlined his province's plan in a statement issued in Regina, saying up to $2 billion could be provided annually for energy development if it is accepted at the national energy conference next week.

A spokesman for Energy Minister Donald MacDonald said the minister would have no comment until he received a text of the premier's proposal and had time to review it.

Under the plan, any increase in the price of oil beyond the current $6.50 a barrel would go into the fund. The federal government would determine the extent and timing of such increases in order to lessen the impact on the economy while still providing development funds.

Premier Blakeney planned to fly to Toronto today for meetings Sunday with Premier William Davis of Ontario to discuss the plan.

He also plans to meet Monday in Saint John with Premier Richard Hatfield of New Brunswick.

Opposition Liberals in the Saskatchewan legislature reacted quickly to Premier Blakeney's proposal, branding the proposal a shout that amounts to making Saskatchewan residents pay for oil exploration elsewhere in Canada.

Under opposition questioning, Mineral Resources Minister Elwood Cowley agreed that the proposal might be interpreted as being a "very substantial contribution"—up to $1.5 billion

But, he added, the oil-producing provinces to the country.

But, he added, the oil-producing provinces would get a substantial benefit from part of the proposal calling for the federal government to return to the fund.

Alberta and Saskatchewan also would have part ownership of the fund.

Budget Has Little For Municipalities

TORONTO (CP) — There will be more money for housing and roads in the Monday budget of Ontario Treasurer Darcy McKeough.

But there is little prospect of any great tax relief for municipalities looking for ways to keep down mill rates.

In general, when the 45-year-old MPP from Chatham-Kent reads his budget at 3:30 p.m. Monday, it is expected to reflect spending restraints and some relief for low-and fixed income groups.

And while the likelihood of any increase in personal income tax is remote, there is also little likelihood of any great tax relief for the average taxpayer.

Mr. McKeough's messages to the province's towns and cities Monday will be clear.

All governments must practise spending restraints in these inflationary times—local councils and school boards included.

Allmand Opposed To Death Penalty

OTTAWA (CP) — Solicitor-General Warren Allmand says he is more convinced than ever that capital punishment isn't the answer to murder.

"The problem is serious but the proposed solution is not likely to help," he said in a statement. "We should really be focusing on the causes of violent crime and the most effective ways to deal with such crime."

The statement follows the sentencing this week of two men for the murders of two Moncton, N.B., policemen about last year while investigating a kidnapping. They are among

2 or more EACH 30.16 AFTER DISCOUNT FOR CASH
33,000-Mile Treadwear-Rated

Here's why we say 2+2+2 Multi-Cord is the best bias-belt made: 2 body plies of Du Pont 66 Nylon ensure twice the 'Run-Soft, Safe Warning Time' possible only with Nylon (See Nevada Test results posted in our stores); 2 body plies of non flat-spotting Polyester for smooth-riding comfort; 2 belts of Kevlar (Fibre B) to hold tread firm from squirm and achieve almost double the mileage of many other tires.

Kevlar—the amazing new Aramid cord developed by Du Pont expressly for tires—provides longer mileage and a softer-than-steel ride. Won't kink like steel, or fail like glass under abnormal compression. Five times stronger than steel, its relative lightness means less unsprung weight per wheel, resulting in fewer front-end repairs. The culmination of years of research!

Multi-Cord 2+2: Drop Polyester from our 2+2+2 tire, use giant Nylon cords instead and this simplified construction retains most performance features of its big brother 2+2+2—at considerably lower cost. 33,000-Mile Treadwear-Rated!

Shaped like a Radial. A popular tire for high-speed highways!

The Whippet II is made with twin-ply Du Pont 66 Nylon body cord—50% stronger than that used in regular 4-ply tires, for a cooler running high speed tire. Its tread-pattern is formed of many separate elements for faster starts and safer stops. A quality-tire!

61 Orphans Reach Vancouver

Saigon May Refuse To Allow Flights

VANCOUVER (CP) — Sixty-one Cambodian and Vietnamese orphans arrived here Sunday from war-torn South Vietnam but many more may not be as fortunate.

Australian government sources in Canberra said today that Saigon authorities have decided not to grant any more exit visas to refugee children.

Australia's second flight to Vietnam to bring back orphans was cancelled just as a Qantas 707, loaded with 27 tons of relief supplies, was due to take off from Sydney.

Ten of the children who arrived on flight to Canada Sunday were evacuated from a United States military transport that crashed near Saigon Friday. Most of the orphans will be with their new families today.

Senator Ray Perrault, who represented the department of immigration at Vancouver International Airport, said before the Canberra announcement that Ottawa is re-assessing its position and will make a statement, probably early in the week.

He said Canadian officials in Saigon were evaluating the cases of orphans there and would be referring some for adoption in Canada in cases where there was a "valid need for adoption."

He said the terms of a valid need are best determined by Canadian officials in Saigon.

Herbert Brostein, a spokesman for Families for Children, a Montreal-based group organized by parents who want to adopt the refugee children, said before the Canberra announcement that "there is talk of 1,500 children coming to Canada."

"Our organization, as well as others in Canada, has been besieged with phone calls from people who want to adopt a child."

All 61 children have been adopted or are in the process of being adopted. Four of the seven children staying in B.C. will live in the Vancouver area, two are going to Victoria families and one is going to Fort St. John, B.C.

One child was flown to Los Angeles to meet his new father, a

Citizens Bureau Likely To Return to Belleville

By AL ZABAS
Staff Reporter

TRENTON — The Citizens Bureau, now in its 18th month of operation in Trenton, will likely be moving back to Belleville, into offices near downtown, later this month.

Ron Bates, chairman of the bureau's three-member relocation committee, said Saturday, the move, made possible by a $12,000 federal government grant will be made after a one month search for new quarters for the consumer help group.

He termed the new location — either on or near Coleman St., — tentative, and still subject to final approval by the bureau's full board.

The Citizens Bureau, originally created by a Local Initiatives Program (LIP) grant in 1972 in Belleville, relocated in Trenton in January, 1974, after receiving another LIP grant.

The latest $12,000 grant from the Consumer and Corporate Affairs ministry, comes after a series of financial problems. Frequently, over the past three years, the Bureau was forced to limit operations and work with voluntary staff.

"Our intention, more or less, is to move to Belleville but also function in Trenton," Mr. Bates said.

In the search for Belleville offices, the chairman approached the United Community Services and requested space for rent.

Mr. Bates said he met with a refusal and was told there wouldn't be room enough for the bureau at the UCS William St. offices.

Gordon Mullin, director of the UCS in Belleville said today, "The matter of using space at our William St. offices came up during one of our meetings and the board felt it would be overcrowded if we tried to put them in.

"We just don't have space available for another office," said Mr. Mullin.

Such a reason, said Mr. Bates, he couldn't understand, because with only two staff members, the bureau "needs a very, very small area".The request for space was made of the UCS because the bureau had previously been located there, the UCS offices were known, and it was felt the UCS would offer affordable rent.

The committee chairman said he was "not happy" with the UCS refusal to rent space to the bureau, but declined to comment on what he felt were reasons his request was refused. He would not elaborate further.

Board chairman Allen Baldwin, when asked to comment, said Saturday he is "not saying anything until all the following is and the committees recommendations and finances have reported".

Mr. Baldwin said he was unfamiliar with the work of the board committee and that "it is up to the full board of directors to make a decision". It is expected sometime this week.

He would not say whether the bureau had received the grant or federal terms defining bureau operation.

Earlier this year, Mr. Baldwin said the bureau was "thinking of operating in both centres but one (either Trenton or Belleville would be a branch, bureau working one or two days a week".

Second Mercy Flight in Doubt

Trenton Crew in Hong Kong Could Make Saigon Flight

By AL ZABAS
Staff Reporter

TRENTON — An armed forces aircraft and crew from CFB Trenton are on standby duty in Hong Kong today awaiting a possible second Canadian airlift of Vietnamese from Saigon Tuesday.

An external affairs department spokesman in Ottawa said Sunday, the aircraft, a 426 Hercules, is scheduled to fly to Saigon Tuesday. However, the airlift is subject to cancellation by the charge d'affaires in the Canadian embassy in Saigon.

The spokesman said the flight hinges on the number to come out." with the bulk of potential passengers being immigrants who have been nominated or sponsored by Canadian citizens.

The aircraft, piloted by Flt. Lt. Murray Dann, is the second of three planes from the base on training flights over the Pacific Ocean. Each plane makes a stopover in Hong Kong.

A spokesman at CFB Trenton said Saturday the first aircraft landed in Hong Kong last Thursday and was told there is no room in the mercy flight by the external affairs department.

It returned to Hong Kong Saturday after a three-hour flight from Japan with 41 orphaned children and their 16 escorts.

The orphans were subsequently flown out of Hong Kong on a commercial CP Air flight and landed in Vancouver Sunday.

The Canadian Hercules planes now in Hong Kong is in the middle of a 15-week training flight. Routinely, it stops in Hong Kong and lays over two days before going on to Japan. Layovers have now been extended to three days.

The plane will stay in Hong Kong till midweek one day after the third and final plane from CFB Trenton lands to take up standby duty.

According to a defence department spokesman in Toronto, the last plane of the three is scheduled to leave for Japan April 11.

Somebody figured it out: We have 35 thousand laws to enforce the Ten Commandments.

Quota Reached, Evacuation Ends

SAIGON (AP) — Operation Baby Lift, the controversial evacuation of orphans from war-torn South Vietnam, ended on a large-scale basis today and a Saigon official said that from now on the children will leave in smaller groups.

Diplomatic and government officials said the airlift had reached the quota approved earlier by the South Vietnamese government.

They said all the evacuated children had entered the adoption process and the airlift only speeded up the paper work and their departure.

Welfare Minister Dr. Phan Quang Dan was at the airport to say goodbye to the last 205 orphans who left the ground two planes for the United States.

"The quota of children has ended," he said. "From now on, the orphans will leave in smaller groups each time."

The exact number of children, ranging in age from one week to nine years, was not immediately available. But it was believed more than 1,700 orphans left Saigon during the last five days.

The official government approval for the airlift provided for 1,400 children to go to the United States, Hundreds of oth ers went to Australia, Britain and Canada.

Children Being Used Says Airlift Official

VANCOUVER (CP) — An organizer of Sunday's orphan airlift into Vancouver termed the sudden race by the West to help destitute Southeast Asian children "like getting meat in a meat market."

"We started this work six years ago and it was not fashionable then to save orphans," said Naomi Brostein of Montreal who returned from Saigon with the 61 children.

"It wasn't even fashionable two months ago. Now it appears that since I've been away it's become fashionable."

Mrs. Brostein, who is a co-director with her husband, Herb, of Families for Children which organized the flight, left the children 3½ weeks ago to help 43 orphans in Phnom Penh.

Where were all those planes when we needed them before?" she asked.

"It's like getting meat in a meat market. This principle wants 200 babies. That province wants 300. Australia is trying to outdo the U.S.; the U.S. is trying to outdo somebody else.

"The feeling in Saigon, and this is mine also, is that the children are being used for a big show."

Mekong Delta War Is Resumed

SAIGON (AP) — Communist-led forces shelled at least 10 district capitals in the rice-rich Mekong Delta today and also hit the area near South Vietnam's largest fuel depot six miles southeast of Saigon.

The North Vietnamese and Viet Cong engaged government troops in five provinces of the delta, and launched rocket and mortar attacks that wounded about 50 civilians, field reports said.

Sources said 95 Communist troops and 14 government soldiers were killed in the fighting. Most of the shelling in the delta, where one-third of South Vietnam's 20 million people live, was in Dinh Tuong province about 35 miles south of Saigon.

The delta has been relatively quiet during the two-week communist offensive during which the Saigon government gave up the northern three-quarters of the country, most of it without a fight.

Chiang Kai-shek Dies at Age 87

TAIPEI (AP) — President Chiang Kai-shek of Taiwan will be buried April 16 in the little mountain village of Tsihu, a favorite retreat of the 87-year-old generalissimo, official sources said today.

The officials said a Christian ceremony would precede the burial. But the state funeral will be postponed indefinitely in the hope that someday it can be held on mainland China that Chiang lost in 1949 to Mao Tse-tung's Communists.

Peking is believed to have suggested recently that after Chiang's death, Taiwan could become an autonomous province of China with the Generalissimo's elder son, Premier Chiang Ching-kuo, as governor and only gradual changes in the way of life and the economy of the island to be made during his lifetime.

Vice-President Yen Chia-kan, 79, was sworn in as president Sunday. But the power remains with Premier Chiang, who has been running the country since July 1972.

New Attacks Launched

PHNOM PENH (AP) — The Khmer Rouge made new attacks on Phnom Penh's northern defences today. Field reports said another isolated government enclave was in danger of falling. Insurgents moved into Kompong Speu, 30 miles southwest of the capital, after a shelling attack that wounded 30 persons.

Farmers Seek Protection

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian Federation of Agriculture (CFA) today called for amended federal policies to ensure farmers more protection against economic fluctuations.

Avalanches Kill 28

BERNE (Reuter) — At least 28 persons are known to have died when the worst avalanches in years swept down on villages in Switzerland and Austria on Sunday, and there are fears the toll will rise.

Kingston Play Best

PETERBOROUGH, Ont. (CP) — Kingston Domino Theatre has won the 1975 Eastern Ontario Drama League festival with its production of Paul Zindel's play, And Miss Reardon Drinks A Little. The company will represent eastern Ontario in the provincial final in Hamilton next month.

Orbit Not Achieved

MOSCOW (AP) — Two cosmonauts who brought their Soyuz spacecraft back to earth after it failed to go into orbit are feeling well, the Soviet news agency Tass said today. Tass blamed the failure of the flight Saturday on the third stage rocket which went off course. A United States expert said it was the first case of a booster failure in manned space flight.

Fish Attack Swimmers

MIAMI BEACH (AP) — Thousands of bluefish in a feeding frenzy attacked swimmers off South Miami Beach on Saturday. Officials said three surfers were injured. "The water was gray with them. There were thousands in huge schools in a feeding frenzy," said lifeguard Jesse Alper.

Full Slate of Events For Bancroft Centre

BANCROFT — A few dedicated hardy skaters turned up at the North Hastings Community Centre Sunday to enjoy a last skate before the ice went out of the area.

The centre, which is completing its third winter of operation has been the home of the Bancroft figure skating club, the North Hastings Minor Hockey Association and the Bancroft Junior D Jets this year.

The building, on Faraday Heights in the village, will not sit idle until next fall, however.

Jim Bruce, manager of the Centre, says as soon as the ice is out, plans will be put in action to get the public roller skating going.

From May 5-9, the North Hastings Community centre will be the scene of action for the third annual Lions Club Science Song and Talent fair.

During the gala May/out week-end being held May 16-18, the centre will see some partying during the Kinless 75.

Tree-planting Program To Lessen Spring Runoff

By AL ZARAS
Staff Reporter. .....

CASTLETON — Lower Trent Region Conservation Authority officials will be planting between 40,000 and 45,000 young red pine and white spruce on 50 acres of land in Cramahe Township this year in a pilot reforestation program.

Its $2,500 total cost will be covered by the authority. Farmers on whose land the trees will be planted, have only to maintain and protect the stands for a 25-year period.

General technologist Jim Kelleher, who has been working since late 1974 on the projects, says the tree planting should have several beneficial effects on land in north-central Cramahe and Cold and Salt Creeks.

All trees will be planted at the creeks' headwaters in five separate 10-acre lots.

The whole purpose of the program is to decrease the rate of run-off in spring," says Mr. Kelleher. This will create a more uniform creek flow year round.

Such uniformity of flow he says, will stabilize the two creeks and either maintain or improve them as trout streams.

Siltation of the creeks will be decreased and erosion will be cut back.

But such results, says Mr. Kelleher, will not become apparent for some 10 years when the trees will have grown enough to provide some drainage and water control.

It's understood to be a long term project and that five area farmers, three of whom are north of Castleton, have agreed to abide by an agreement to protect the trees, now with the authority's lawyer, will shortly be signed by the farmers for protection of the trees over a 25-year period.

Mr. Kelleher expects the planting to begin in Cramahe in late April or early May.

Guest Soloist

One of two soloists at Tuesday's presentation of Brahms' Requiem by Canadian, William Perry. He will be joined by soprano, Hazelaine Reid. The two will perform with a chorus and orchestra as Bridge St. United Church Choir presents the production in their church, April 8 at 8:15 p.m. under the direction of Robert H. Reid.

Staff Study Queries Recent Hospital Report

The time is now for Belleville General Hospital to start planning against a shortage in bed space.

The caution is sounded in an administration report circulated Friday to BGH's board of governors.

A shortage of 70 beds forecast by 1979 for the 440-bed hospital, indicates "serious problems" ahead in medical areas increasingly in demand — including psychiatry, obstetrics and chronic care for the aged.

The problem is compounded by a shortage of nursing home beds for the elderly. With four more psychiatrists due on staff this year, the pressure will mount on psychiatric facilities.

Therefore, it's appropriate to begin planning now to correct the predicted deficit — which could be even higher by 1979 — if BGH "is to meet the needs of the area."

The assessment is an administrative analysis of conclusions reached by Peter Gordon, who late last year presented a report commissioned by the Ontario health ministry — on area medical facilities centred on BGH.

The critique queries a number of the Gordon findings which called for new alternatives to hospital services to ease pressure on present facilities.

Conclusions throughout the Gordon report, claims the staff analysis, are "inconsistances "based on little substance" and are always inconsistent with data." There, "constructive comment" is difficult.

Plomer Guest Speaker At ANAF Vimy Banquet

Guest speaker at the annual Vimy Banquet at the ANAF Tartan Lounge, Wednesday night will be Commodore James Plomer, OBE, DSC and Bar and Associate Colonel of Merit.

Commodore Plomer, a resident of Belleville and County since 1962, first enlisted in the RCNVR in 1932, volunteered to go on loan with the Royal Navy in 1940. He served as commanding officer of various vessels before returning to Canada in 1944 to teach anti-submarine warfare.

Commodore Plomer transferred to the Royal Canadian Navy a few weeks before VE Day and was commander of HMCS Cayuga during the Korean War. His medical officer was the famous Great Imposter, Ferdinand Waldo Demara.

Prior to his retirement, Commodore Plomer served as deputy chief of personnel in Ottawa, Senior Canadian Officer Undergoing Course at Halifax and Comptroller at National Defence Headquarters in Ottawa.

A Prince Edward County school teacher for 10 years, Commodore Plomer is completing a biography of Sir Henry Thornton who made the Canadian National Railways a going concern.

Mayor Says City's Hands Tied in Transit Dispute

By COLIN BRUCE
Staff Reporter

Belleville mayor Robin Jeffrey says there is no responsibility of council intervention in the transit strike which has handcuffed city commuters since last Friday.

The 22 members of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Transport and General Workers voted 70 per cent in favor of strike action Thursday in support of wage demands.

At the close of bargaining Thursday, the union demanded an across-the-board increase of $1 an hour in a one year contract. The commission's counter offer stands at an immediate 75-cent raise followed by a 10-cent increase in June.

Earlier, the mayor said she hoped there was some possibility that council could participate in the negotiation.

She told The Intelligencer today "there's no way we can interfere".

The transit commission bylaw allows council authority only in discussions of routes fares and capital budgets, said Mayor Jeffrey.

"The only answer is ending the strike is the willingness of both sides to sit down and talk some more," she said.

Commission spokesman today said there has been no change in the status of the strike since last Friday and that no meetings have been arranged.

No union comment was available.

Lawrence St. Pierre, Peterborough, chief union negotiator is expected in Belleville this evening. It is not known if he intends reopening talks with the commission.

Commission chairman Marvyles Burtt, said "I have heard nothing at all since last Friday."

Three Students Win Trip in Science Fair

Three prize - winners of the Rotary Club's Annual Science Fair chosen Saturday will travel all-expenses paid to compete in the Canada-wide Science Fair in Jonquiere, Quebec, later this year.

One of this year's winners was Dale Fann, one of three grand prize winners in last year's local science fair, who went on to compete in the national fair in Calgary. The exhibit of the Frontenac Bay-side Sedcodary School student was on aerodynamics and featured a model of a rocket engine.

The other winners were Scott Tripp and Danny Templeton, both 13, and students at Prince Charles School in Trenton. Their exhibit dealt with environment and learning and attempted to show how living in a controlled environment can affect learning. Under science fair regulations, only one participant of a grand prize-winning display can travel to the national science fair, no matter how many participants took part in the display.

Third winner was Edward Mah, 16, a student from Centre Hastings Secondary School in Madoc. His display was on S-R Basic of Learning.

The three winners were chosen toward the end of this year's Science Fair at about 8 p.m. Saturday at the Armory. A good crowd attended both days of the competition science fair and hobby show, despite the heavy snow.

Window Smashed

Damage was estimated at $225 when unknown vandals smashed a front plate glass window at Cole's Jewelry on Front St. at about 1:25 a.m. Sunday.

Deputy-Chief Harold Reid of city police said the window has valued at $200 and $35 damage resulted to four glass articles on a display counter. NOnething was reported stolen.

He said the window appeared to have been kicked in.

Theatre Guild Play Captures Three Awards

By JIM SMELIE
Staff Reporter

The Belleville Theatre Guild's presentation of The Knight of the Burning Pestle made a creditable showing at the Eastern Ontario Drama League Competition held in Peterborough last week, winning three awards.

The winners of the five-day competition which saw theatre groups from five Eastern Ontario communities such as Kingston and Ottawa competing were announced Saturday night.

The Belleville group won for best costumes, best sets and outstanding technical contribution.

The costumes and sets were designed by Tony Lasting while a fine job of making them was done by Adele Cook with Jim Westheuser.

The Belleville group performed their play on Wednesday night. The over-all winners of the competition was the Domino Players from Kingston presenting And Miss Reardon Drinks a Little which goes on to compete in Hamilton next.

Receives Awards

Two drivers with Maire-Schuster Ltd. in Belleville, were awarded professional-safe driving pins Saturday night by the Transportation Safety Association of Ontario (TSA). From left to right, Bob Newell, TSA area representative, Alec Rushlow, 32 years accident free driving, Dick Campbell, 34 years accident free driving, and Dennis Hill, a TSA representative from Toronto.

Three winners of the Rotary Club Science Fair chosen this weekend go on to the national competition in Jonquiere, Que. later this year. They are from left, Dale Fann, shown demonstrating his display; Edward Mah; Scott Tripp and Danny Templeton (only one o go to Quebec) and reserve winner, Mark Wilson who travels to Quebec if one of the three winners cannot attend.

Hearing Today

TRENTON — A ball hearing was to be held today in Belleville for Joe Cannon, Jr., 37, of 133 Spring St., who was arrested and charged with three counts of pointing a firearm and possession of a firearm dangerous to public safety after an incident in a downtown Trenton store Friday.

Town police says man was brandishing a rifle at the rear of the R. A. Beamish Stores Co. Ltd. store on Dundas St. when three police officers talked him into relinquishing his weapon.

Cannon was detained in the Quinte Regional Detention Centre north of Napanee during the weekend.

Juvenile Sought

City police are seeking a juvenile wanted in connection with a break-in at a city woman's apartment late Saturday.

Deputy-Chief Harold Reid said today the suspect is described as 13 or 14 years of age, with shoulder-length blonde hair wearing a blue denim jacket and jeans.

Four dolls, a bracelet and a quantity of food were stolen from the apartment of Fern Nisbet at 56 Dundas St. Police reported the incident at about 11 p.m. Saturday, he said.

Car Rolls, Driver Unhurt

A Belleville motorist escaped with bruises after the vehicle in which he was travelling on a county road near Marysville Sunday left the road and rolled over.

Provincial police in Belleville said Kenneth Miller of Gordon St., Belleville, was travelling on County Rd. 24 in Marysville west of the Deseronto Rd. about 12:30 p.m. Sunday when the mishap occurred.

Families Offer Homes To Viet Nam Orphans

More than 20 area families have offered to adopt Viet Nam orphans, Mary Baile, adoption supervisor for the Hastings County family and Children's Services said today.

By Friday afternoon after news reports of the evacuation of orphans by the Canadian government, 46 families had enquired at the Children's Aid Society about adoption. By early today another half dozen families telephoned the Frost St. offices, she said.

"We have certainly had a lot of response," Mrs. Baile said.

"People are seeing children in need and they are responding in a human way — as parents and as people who care," she said.

Mrs. Baile added that there is such a shortage of infants and toddlers available for adoption in the province and in the county that the events in Viet Nam have offered would-be parents new hope.

Only a handful of the more than 50 families who have telephoned Mrs. Baile's department have already adopted children of another race. The vast majority of the remaining families are unfamiliar to the Children's Aid, she said.

"This is an emotional response," Mrs. Baile said. "People must remember that many of these children are ill, some have been injured. We have no background information and we don't know what their capabilities are. And we must remember there will be culture shock."

The director of the Children's Services Bureau for the province has requested county agencies to supply a list of approved home to him, Mrs. Baile, said, but added that at this point she is unsure whether any children will be placed in this area or whether the department will be asked to investigate more homes.

Deer Killed

AMELIASBURG — A one-man deer season opened unexpectedly Saturday night for Wellington motorist Ronald VanIlaarlem, 21, of 130 Belleville Rd.

Mr. Van Haarlem was driving on County Rd. 2 about one mile from the hamlet of Ameliasburg when a deer bounded into his path and was struck and killed by his car. Damage to the vehicle was estimated at $130; the driver escaped injury.

Pole, Fence Damaged

TWEED — Total property damage was estimated at $300 and no one was injured in a one-car accident early Saturday on Highway 37, one-half mile north of this village.

Ontario Provincial Police at Madoc said today Eugene Carl Ramo, 22, of RR2, Cloyne was southbound in his 1975 Maverick when he lost control of the vehicle on slippery pavement, slid sideways for about 65 feet, hit a pole, went through a fence and stopped in a field.

Investigating Constable Glen Fowler estimated damage to the car at $250 and to the fence at 150 in the 9 a.m. mishap.

Alarm Box

Belleville firefighters responded to the following calls for assistance during a 24-hour period which ended at 8 a.m. today:

Sunday, April 6, 8:50 a.m. Smoke alarm at Ontario Housing Corp. senior citizens building on Turnbull St.

Sunday, April 6, 6:27 p.m. — even malfunction in electric stove in apartment at 314 East Bridge St., no damage.

Student to Dancer

This dancer with Quinte Dance Centre goes through her paces Sunday night — but it was practice for real as the school gave a demonstration of the progression of a learning dancer. About 40 dancers, from Quinte Dance Centre, under the direction of Brian Scott, took part in the Ballet Antics, sponsored by the Quinte Arts Council as part of its Artfest '75.

Parents To Meet

AMELIASBURG — An emergency meeting of "concerned parents" has been called here tonight at Keste Public School to discuss personnel matters, according to Douglas Caley, chairman of the Prince Edward County School Board.

Parents, contacted by The Intelligencer, were reluctant to talk about the meeting, which is closed to the public. Trustees and director of education John McNeil will not be attendin due to prior commbe attending due to prior commitments.

Mr. Caley said the committee has been advised by the board it is prepared to accept a delegation concerning the personnel matter. It is expected that a majority of the 500 parents may attend the meeting tonight at 8 p.m.

A resident of Ameliasburg Township, who wished to remain anonymous, said a petition was circulated last Saturday among parents of Keste students pertaining to the meeting tonight.

Y And The Community

We sympathize with supporters of the Belleville YMCA. They're damned if they do and they're damned if they don't.

One minute, the "Y" is under fire for what Quinte District Labor Council vice-president Jan Reilly likes to call "double-dipping" — receiving a grant in lieu of taxes from city coffers as well as a portion of the United Way campaign proceeds.

This accusation so incensed the labor council, for a while, they asked organized labor in the area to boycott the 1974 United Way drive. Finally, saner minds prevailed and it was realized that such a move would hurt the other 12 member United Community Service agencies.)

Now that it has become public that city alderman Ben Corke and other "Friends of the Y" have devoted themselves to quietly raising some $87,000 towards erasing the "Y's" $100,000 mortgage, Mr. Reilly is even more indignant.

"The YMCA should receive no more funds from the United Way until this money is spent", he tells his labor council colleagues.

Mr. Reilly seems to make no distinction between the money city businessmen so generously — and anonymously — donated to try and rid the "Y" of its outstanding capital debt, and the day-to-day cost required to operate the many programs the organization offers.

We're not going to outline here the assortment of activities the "Y" offers, or list the names of the hundreds of volunteers, or identify the dozens of children who benefit from free membership. Mr. Reilly and his fellow critics can pick up a brochure at 433 Victoria Avenue.

But if the "Friends of the Y" succeed in their goal of burning the building's mortgage by the end of April, it may breathe new life into the organization to the extent that they might one day be totally self-sufficient.

Even then, someone would likely find something about which to complain.

Refugee Aid is Vital

In the wake of what is one of the greatest human tragedies in history — the plight of the refugees of Vietnam — we have the president of a private airline who's tried to get some out charging local authorities with incompetence.

World Airways chief Ed Daly said bungling by both U.S. and South Vietnamese officials hampered his attempts to fly out the refugees, not to mention the indecisiveness of South Vietnamese soldiers who forced their way aboard the planes.

There is an immediate need by the international community to try and help those in genuine need, such as the women and children and older folk, but there appears to be no concerted effort in this direction.

An offer by Canada of a 707 to help in such transportation would have been appropriate, and indeed there has been talk of one or more planes going to Saigon. There are difficulties though such as the fact that some children may only have become separated from parents. Immigration Minister Andras moreover, speaks in terms of going through the routine process of sponsorship by relatives already here although of course, with events moving so rapidly, this could be too late.

However, as the events of the weekend have indicated, quite a number of children have been flown to Canada and the United States.

The agony of Vietnam meanwhile is typified by the cover picture of a news magazine, showing an anti-war woman, a grandmother perhaps, stumbling across empty countryside carrying a shrapnel-pocked baby girl — alive, but for how long?

A Study in Contrasts

Two contrasting news items in a recent issue of The Globe and Mail illustrate the heights and the depths of human behavior — from youthful heroism on the one hand to unbridled indiscipline and brutality on the other.

The first story, from Saint John, N.B., tells of four of ten brothers aged 7, 8, 9 and 10 who saved a 70-year-old man from drowning at the bottom of an 80-foot cliff below the Reversing Falls bridge.

Setback

The Western world — and the United States in particular — has come a long way in a short time.

And the distance travelled has been by way of reverse.

The Communists have broken the peace accords achieved under the Nixon administration; they are now carving up Southeast Asia, and as The Yorkshire Post of Britain has put it, they have in the process handed the United States the whole series of kicks in the teeth."

The Communists are getting their way with their tough, disciplined soldiery.

The Americans for their part are not long released from the long travail in Southeast Asia, and understandably are tolerating no further intervention. The government it supported is on the point of collapse and the Communists are ready to fill the vacuum.

What a legacy of policies gone awry . . . and what sinister prospects for all of Southeast Asia.

Credibility of Henry Kissinger Undermined

Soviet Union's Arms Support Breaks Spirit of Detente

By JOHN D. HARBRON
Foreign Affairs Analyst
Thomson News Service

The confusion of Americans over the collapse of South Vietnam, and the shock that their client state might come under Communist domination entirely, also has international ramifications which the world is only beginning to assess.

The obvious one of a Communist-dominated Indochinese peninsula, the nightmare of the domino theory of one South East Asian nation after another tumbling to Communism, is probably wrong true. But there is another ramification, perhaps more ominous.

My comments refer to an even wider, and in the light of South Vietnam's sudden defeat by very superior North Vietnamese forces, even more dangerous position which the U.S. has taken in the world.

I am referring to the Soviet-American detente arrived at with much personal comment between the former President Richard Nixon and Brezhnev and sustained during his recent Washington visit by President Ford, again with Brezhnev.

Detente means many things, but chiefly some kind of deal between the two super-nuclear powers on their arms control. And arms control is exactly what the Soviet Union has not been practising during the last two years in Europe.

In spite of this new display of Soviet military strength used in the South East Asian conflict when they are committed to arms detente, Secretary of State Henry Kissinger has come out in support of bold detents with the U.S.S.R. and support for small nations friendly to the U.S. facing aggression.

How can he possibly do this given what is currently happening with such Nasts in South Vietnam? Where is his credibility?

With the fully-armored North Vietnamese divisions sweeping into South Vietnam are equipped mainly with Soviet tanks, and the foot soldiers mainly with Soviet automatic weapons.

The rockets pounding into Cambodia's capital city of Phnom Penh are Russian. The armored tactics used by the North Vietnamese for the first time in 19 years of war against South Vietnamese and the American unit they withdrew in 1973 are Russian ones of merging infantry and tanks in the mass assault.

When then has not been practising detente? The Soviet Union.

Why did the chief North Vietnamese negotiator Lee Duc To, who worked with Kissinger on the 1973 truce in South East Asia, refuse to accept a Nobel Peace Prize for his work?

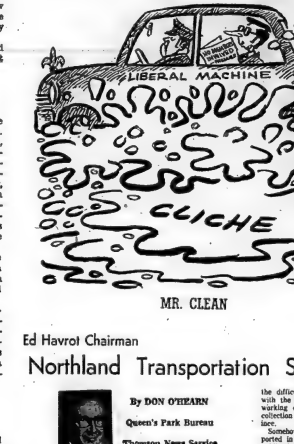
Was it because he knew even then that the truce was borrowing time needed by Hanoi for the final overwhelming armament of North Vietnam but made impossible by the chronic American bombing of 1970-73?

And were the instructions to Le Duc To and the North Vietnamese leaders in Hanoi, Soviet instructions, calling for the last big push perhaps by 1975?

And why has not Dr. Kissinger reacted to information the North Vietnamese were arming about which he surely must have been advised by the large U.S. intelligence-gathering establishment?

The Soviet Union remains as it has been since the Second World War, the nation in the world capable of the most perfidy and of a cynicism in international dealings still Stalinist in intent.

As for Dr. Kissinger, he has paid a great disservice to a nation going through a terrible trauma about the Vietnam disaster. Should he be permitted to survive in his high post?



Ed Havrot Chairman

Northland Transportation Scene

By DON O'HEARN
Queen's Park Bureau
Thomson News Service

TORONTO — A correction: Writing about Ed Havrot, PC member for Temiskaming and new chairman of the Ontario Northland Transportation Commission (ONTC) said he wasn't too strong in his riding and that the appointment might be to build him up in advance of an election.

This apparently was wrong.

Word from the riding (And not from Havrot is that he had a good personal grip on it.

Also he should make a good chairman of ONTC.

One reason there have been some doubt about this is that the member runs a bakery. And baking doesn't seem a particularly good training for the chairman of a railroad.

The baking business, however, is just incidental.

Havrot actually is an accountant. Taking over the bakery was just incidental.

And few would disagree with an accountant as chairman of a railroad.

But this time of somebody else's error.

This one concerns Treasurer Darcy McKeough and a group that should know better.

MacKeough made a speech to the Ontario Chamber of Commerce.

He talked about taxes, made some mention of Quebec, which, of course, collects its own taxes, and described some of the difficulties Ontario had had with the federal government in working out details of the tax collection it does for our province.

Somehow or other this got reported in the chamber's official publication Exchange as a declaration that within two or three years Ontario would "certainly" be collecting its own taxes.

This is one of the most uncertain "certainties" to cross the eyes of man.

There is absolutely no chance, barring some epochal revolt in our whole tax system, that we will be collecting our own taxes and the Treasurer knows that Ottawa collects for us.

In the first place, it is estimated that such a switch would be costly in administrative machinery.

And then among other factors there is the fact that while the government here is not unsure that the government that sends out the tax bills gets the total blame for them from most people.

Invisible Earnings Help Keep the British Afloat

By VINCENT EGAN
Business and Consumer Affairs Analyst
Thomson News Service

LONDON — Britons often complain of the never-ending stream of tourists who crowd into their beloved pubs and theatres, and slow traffic with their over-sized buses.

But it is the spending of those tourists that enables many of those pubs and theatres to stay in business, that creates thousands of jobs in the service industries, and that helps to whittle down the staggering U.K. trade deficit.

That deficit on "visible" (merchandise) trade rose to a record £3 billion in 1974, from about £.7 billion in 1972.

But it was offset to the extent of £3.5 billion last year and by £2 billion the previous year by "invisible" foreign earnings. Tourism ranks high as an earner of invisibles, along with investment receipts and payments for financial services.

The tourist-earning growth is of British earnings from tourism, however, is becoming less dramatic than it was during the great travel boom of the 1960s.

Gross expenditure by visitors to Britain reached £2 billion in 1974, an increase over 1973 of 20 per cent. When last year's inflation rate of 21 per cent is taken into account, real earnings on tourism were almost unchanged.

The explanation, in a nutshell, is that fewer Americans are coming to the U.K.

An estimated 1.3 million U.S. visitors came here in 1974, that's 17.5 per cent fewer than 1973's total of 1,576,000. And they spent two per cent less, despite inflation.

With recession, high unemployment and inflation continuing unchecked in many of the United States, the British Tourist Authority (BTA) expects further 3.4-per-cent decline in the number of U.S. visitors, to 1,230,000, and a modest, inflation-fed 13-per-cent increase in their spending, to a total of $430 million.

Canada — particularly Ontario — is a smaller but more dependable source of U.K. tourist earnings. Canadian visitors last year increased by 2.5 per cent, to a total of 500,000, and are expected to number 520,000 in 1975. -

Spending by those Canadians increased 25 per cent to $150 million in 1974, and BTA thinks it will rise another 25 per cent this year.

One reason for the steadier trend is the well-established pattern of visits by Canadians to British friends and relatives.

More and more North Americans ridden by rising costs are package tours such as the popular London Show Tour. Under such plans, the visitors pay an all-inclusive price (which, may be approximately the same as airfare alone on a scheduled transatlantic flight) and receives not only the flight but vouchers for hotel, airport-hotel transfers, theatre tickets, gambling-casino membership, one day's car rental, perhaps even free cocktails and meals.

The considerable savings are hazed on the principle of wholesale buying—a principle that the British people themselves exploit fully in taking their own holidays.

The British package-tour trade—that is, the industry that caters to them—is 17% cheaper just gone through a major shake-out.

Three large companies, which had one-quarter of the market, collapsed after pushing their prices too steeply and then finding themselves unable to meet the sudden increase in fuel and other operating costs after the Yom Kippur War of October, 1973.

The surviving British holiday wholesalers are stronger than ever, and their booking capacity has been reduced while their capital savings and disposable incomes are sharply last year.

The exodus of holiday-shy free-spending Britons is becoming a threat to the status of the U.K. as the only northern European country to earn more from foreign tourists than its own people spend sq tourists abroad.

LOOKING BACKWARD

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FILES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

April 7, 1955.

Sir Winston Churchill has resigned. "Winnie" is not the word. A man retires when he withdraws from business. Churchill's business is life. He will not retire while breath is left in his aging, pudgy, gallant body. If there has been in Churchill, the poet's hard, grey Englishness would still have been prepared to bleed and sweat and cry, to fight on the beaches, on the landing fields, in the streets and in the hills. But they would never have been able to say so. They needed a man, and that man found them, and together they found and bled and wept and fought — and came at last to victory. He was a dreamer with his shirt sleeves rolled up, his tools in order, and his mind dedicated to the task ahead. He met life's challenges with spirit and with joy, and while he took his duties seriously, he never took himself too seriously. Sir Winston is one of history's most gallant knights . . .

The above is extracted from the editorial which appeared in The Intelligencer the day after Sir Winston Churchill resigned as Prime Minister of Great Britain.)

30 YEARS AGO

April 7, 1945.

The summary of a large number of industrial workers, shop and plant employees and residents in general, who underwent X-ray examinations a few weeks ago can be taken as definite proof that the war against tuberculosis is being waged with considerable success here. Of well over 2,000 people, only one was found to be a victim of active tuberculosis and was forwarded to an institution for treatment. Originally, the clinic sponsored by the Department of Health was intended only for workers in war plants and other industry. So well, however, was the idea received that government officials decided to extend the service, gratis, to workers in small plants, businesses, shops and offices. Dr. G.G. Brearley is director in charge of the Travelling Chest Clinic, Department of Health, for the city and district.

Pioneer Industries Study

Editor,
The Intelligencer:

At the present time I am engaged in historical research on the topic of pioneer industry in Ontario during the 19th century with particular interest in early breweries and brewers in the province. Perhaps a number of your readers would know of family paper or business records relating to the following breweries or brewers operating in your area in the 1870's or

Severn, William (Belleville)
Roy, James A. (Belleville)

I would appreciate them contacting me at the following address: 23 Hillcrest Crescent, Maple, Ontario.

DR. JAMES M. CAMERON,
Associate Professor.

That Dental Appointment

Editor,
The Intelligencer:

I do not wish at this time to go into all the details of the incident which prompted me to write this letter. However, I would like to point out to the citizens of Belleville this bit of hard-learned information.

If you happen to, for some reason or other, to have to call some dentist in Belleville other than your family dentist — take care. Even if you just need information and your dentist is not available — make sure you do not give your real name. If you do, this will almost guarantee that you will not get your regular dentist again. Do not underestimate the power of the telephone and female staff members — they'll get you very time.

Thank you for this opportunity to pass on this valuable tidbit of information to the population of Belleville.

Dr. Doolittle Theme Of County Ice Carnival

By MARG HAYLOCK
Staff Reporter

PICTON — Fantasy Land, a two-hour trip to the world of Dr. Doolittle and his animals, Sunday, was presented by the Prince Edward Skating Club at the County Centre.

The ice carnival, featuring guest solo skaters from Frankford, Wellington, Belleville and Matawa, packed the arena with spectators.

Highlights of the show included a solo by Donna Kings of Picton, a dance number by Miss King and Wayne Backer, a novelty number titled Invitation to a Bullfight by Mark Mulima, Darin Barber and Doug Thoms and a demonstration of power skating.

Solos also were performed by Shanne Smith of the Frankford Figure Skating Club, Shael Knott, Quinte club and Andrea Channell, Wellington club.

Colorful group numbers each by Dr. Doolittle and his animals and Caterpillar proved popular with the crowd.

Scene-stealer was three-year-old Suzanne-Marie Bechard of Picton who made her debut as a butterfly in a solo number.

The carnival was staged to earn money to pay debts owed by the Prince Edward Figure Skating Club.

About 150 youngsters participate in the skating classes but their fees do not cover the cost of ice time.

Approximately 80 children starred in Sunday's presentation.

Instructors for the club are Lana Latchford who runs the learn-to-skate program and Shirley Schoorstra, teacher for advanced skaters.

Hockey players who studied power skating were taught this year by Howard Seeley.

Bee Eyes Flower

The Tweed and District Figure Skating Club presented a carnival on ice Sunday afternoon at Tweed. Eighty club members took part, all dressed in elaborate costumes. Here Bee Jeffery Masterson, 5, meets Flower Colleen Gray, 4. Dianne Stewart of the Brighton Figure Skating Club was the guest skater.

Cancer Blitz Under Way

By NAN WHITLAW
Staff Correspondent

Bancroft — The Bancroft unit of the Canadian Cancer Society launched its local campaign for funds on Saturday, April 5 with the traditional Daffodil Tea for North Hastings Residents.

The tea room, which was decorated with fresh daffodil blooms helped patrons believe the rumor that spring is just around the corner even though the snow was a foot deep outside the door.

The local campaign is headed by Anna Wilson, who has also organized a blitz night for the volunteer canvassers.

In addition to their fund-raising efforts, local unit members are involved in a public education program and in patient care and services.

In charge of the patient services is Beth Martin who, along with volunteers provides transportation, gifts and homecare for cancer patients in an area that stretches from Wilbiney and Madawaska to McArthurs Mills, Coe Hill and Cardiff.

Mrs. Martin said she is enthusiastic about the patient services program, adding, "even more funds than are collected in this area are given to us by the Ontario division for patient care."

The North Hasting campaign for cancer society funds now is officially underway and volunteers will be calling at homes throughout the area during the next month.

Campaign Begins

North Hastings residents attended the Daffodil Tea given by the Bancroft Unit of the Canadian Cancer Society Saturday. The Tea is the traditional launch for the campaign for funds in the local area.

Picton to Appoint Reeve To Replace Ailing Official

PICTON — Town council tonight is expected to appoint a new reeve of Picton from its members during the regular April meeting.

At a special council session held last month the resignation of reeve Ross Cronkwright was read by mayor Donald King.

Reeve Cronkwright has been ill for several weeks and submitted his resignation saying he did not feel his health would permit him to continue with his duties.

When a reeve is appointed from council there will be a vacant councillor's seat created by the shuffle.

This vacancy may be filled by former councillor John Kinney, who sought re-election last December but was defeated, or any other member of the community council chooses to appoint.

Of those who ran for council and were defeated, Mr. Kinney won the most votes.

He served a two-year term on town council prior to his defeat in the hotly contested 1974 elections.

District at a Glance

Taylor Guest Speaker

PICTON — James Taylor, MPP Prince Edward-Lennox will address the Picton Rotary Club Tuesday at Prince Edward Hotel.

Band to Parade

PICTON — The Danforth Salvation Army Citadel Band will visit Prince Edward County on April 26 and 27, parading down Main Street in Wellington as its two day tour begins.

It is expected the band's major concert will be presented in the auditorium of the H. J. McFarland Home for the Aged.

Stephens Named Chief

John Stephens has been recently appointed Chief Fire Warden for the Township of Huntingdon.

His appointment came at council's most recent meeting at the end of March, which was held in the township hall.

Mr. Stephens resides at RR 3, Madoc.

Progress Noted

PICTON — A progress letter, outlining activities in a number of areas of local concern, has been circulated to constituents by James Taylor, MPP Prince Edward-Lennox.

The letter includes mention of amendments to the agricultural act for the provision of overtainment grants to fairboards, plan provided by Prince Edward Heights, and information on the Lennox Generating Station.

Car Hits Bridge

WAUPOOS — A Picton man escaped injury early Saturday when the station wagon he was driving left Waupoos Rd., striking a bridge.

Richard Demille, 18, of 347 Main Street, was eastbound on County Rd. 8 when he lost control of the stationwagon on icy pavement. The vehicle left the road, then hit a bridge.

Damage to the station wagon was estimated at $500.

No charges were laid in connection with the accident.

Minor Softball First Goal Of Newest Kinsmen Club

By CHRIS LEMEY
Staff Correspondent

TWEED — The Quinte area witnessed the birth of a new service club Friday night — the Kinsmen Club of Tweed-Hungerford. Club Secretary Leonard O'Leary said that the club has a young nucleus, that there are 30 members who are under 25.

MP Jack Ellis was on hand to watch Claude Leclair sworn in as president. The charter chairman was Kin Joe Dutkewicz of the Kinsmen Club of Belleville. Secretary O'Leary said "Kin Dutkewicz was the expansion chairman. He brought us from a phone call to where we are tonight."

How will the club get started? "It was a shot in the dark," the secretary said. "We know there are things that can be done. Our major project will be minor softball. We know we can do this. The majority of members are young with families. With support of committees like this club we can get into it seriously."

Chairman for the charter evening was Belleville Kinsmen Club president Bob Thomas. He also initiated The New Members. Ken Murchie, deputy governor from Gananoque installed the Tweed-Hungerford Kinsmen Club officers. Governor of district 6, John Jenkinson of Brockville presented the charter.

Vice-president of the new club is Jerry Hughes while Dave Butcher is treasurer. The three directors are Robert Bancroft, Orval Erwin and John Fleming.

Charter night took place in St. Carlsagh's School in Tweed.

The Tweed Hungerford Kinsmen will hold a dinner meeting every second and fourth Wednesday at 7 p.m. in the Stoco Hotel.

Quinte Cuisine

Joan Smith calls this her recipe with a little of everything in it. It should cook at a low heat for a long time for best results, she advises. Joan and husband Brian, both public school teachers, live on Harvest Crescent where their home reflects interest in several hobbies — Brian is a photographer and radio fan, Joan is interested in macrame and weaving.

Chili Con Carne

one lb. hamburger large can tomato sauce one bay leaf
one minced garlic clove
one medium onion chopped two celery stalks, chopped
two carrots finely diced
½ green pepper, diced cinnamon allspice chili powder
thyme oregano paprika
salt and pepper sweet basil
one tbsp. minced parsley
one can pork and beans
one can kidney beans
red wine

Saute hamburger in large skillet. Add tomato sauce and bay leaf. Add garlic, onion, celery and carrots with green pepper. Add spices and herbs to taste — Joan recommends a shake of each — and beans. Cook at least one hour over low heat.

Do you know any good cooks? The Intelligencer is looking for cooks in the area willing to share their recipes with our readers. If you're a good cook, or if you know one, write The Women's Department, The Intelligencer. Be sure to include his or her address and phone number.

Better Listening Topic for Secretaries' Seminar

Wilf Wilkinson

"People today just don't listen."

Iris Downing, seminar chairwoman for the National Secretaries Association, Bay of Quinte Chapter, says that's the reason she chose "Please! Listen" as the topic for the group's fifth annual seminar held Saturday at Centennial Secondary School.

The seminar, which was opened by Mayor Robin Jeffrey, included small discussion groups for the 100 persons who attended followed by a speech by Wilf Wilkinson, the National Secretaries Association's Boss of the Year.

Before his address, Marjory Cross Barbara Haynes Marie Reed and Lena Dearborn summed up the discussion groups' findings.

Mrs. Cross a past president of the association, said people have six bad listening habits.

"Our minds won't wait for the speaker's words; we think we know already what the speaker is going to say; we're looking at the speaker, not listening; busy listeners let part of their attention wander; we miss the main idea and emotions make us deaf."

Mrs. Cross suggested a formula for better listening: "Tune in, shutting everything else out; Question what the speaker is saying; listen so you really hear what is being said and review in your mind what was said."

Barbara Haynes told the women attending the seminar that the speaker's personality makes a good listener.

Lena Dearborn said that a person's environment and experience affects the way she listens.

She said if a person is used to a great deal of noise, for example, they might habitually tune out what is being said.

Geraldine R. Tepper, Barrister and Solicitor, was the afternoon speaker.

Her main topic was Canada Pension and the new rules as of January 1, 1975.

Mrs. Tepper explained the three main recipient benefits of CPP retirement pensions, disability benefit and survivors' benefits.

One new ruling she said, is that husbands and or children of school age can now collect the pension should the wife and mother die. Previously, there was no provision for this. She explained the benefits and non-benefits of different age groups, the common-law spouse and children with regards to survivors' benefits.

Disability benefits will be paid if and when the disabled can prove his or her disability to the satisfaction of the Canada Pension Board.

The retirement pension, is paid to all those reaching the age of 65 upon application, although it is possible to pay into it until the age of 70.

Anyone requesting pertinent information and new books covering the above benefits were advised to contact their local CPP office.

Mrs. Tepper highlighted the benefits of the Retirement Pension Fund and the Home Ownership Fund. She spoke briefly on the importance of everyone making a will and stressed that it should be done in consultation of a lawyer.

Mrs. Downing closed the day's program with a poem on wisdom.

'It's Difficult to Listen'

Wilf Wilkinson, National Secretaries Association, Bay of Quinte Chapter, Boss of the Year, told that group's annual seminar Saturday that it's difficult to listen.

"It's becoming more difficult to just listen. We are more and more saturated with messages and in order to retain sanity we just have to shut them out."

Mr. Wilkinson told the 100 women who attended the seminar that people could be compared to "two rows of television sets blaring at each other" — each with no value to the other.

"But our lives are filled with people who need us to listen."

Mr. Wilkinson said that the "disadvantaged of the society, for example, were provided for in a physical sense by various levels of government.

"But these people need more than that and to give it we must listen."

Mr. Wilkinson said that during World War II it was discovered that combat fatigue in aviators was in part caused by the strain of listening to the noise of plane to plane communication.

"Interestingly, the study also discovered that a person's listening ability can be improved."

He said that people must realize that to listen we use physical energy and that listening takes concentration.

"You can't, listen to more than one thing at a time."

He quoted one expert who deplored North Americans' need for "background music to everything" and who believed the habit of having radio or television blaring is "mind crippling".

Even piped music in stores, Mr. Wilkinson said, is distracting to shoppers and employees.

To better listening habits, he suggested that the audience close their eyes for one minute and concentrate on the sounds around them.

"Don't think of anything except what you can hear.

"In this noisy age we learn to shut out sounds for our own comfort but we mustn't become so expert at shutting out that we can't tune back in."

'Lady-like' Clothes in Demand Again

MONTREAL (CP) — The return to femininity in women's fashion has created a demand for designer Hugh Garber's clothing. The Montreal designer is known for his classic, casual but lady-like styles, even when pantsuits were in vogue.

"I like to dress ladies in ladylike clothes," said Garber in a recent interview. "While is my favorite color for any season and I like navy too."

"I hang up the items in each of my selections and look at them for a week before I know if I really like them."

He designs a Hugh Garber label line and another called Grasshopper for Margo Dress of Montreal. Since he started designing for Margo seven years ago, Garber has developed such a substantial United States market that the firm has established a New York office and factory.

Garber always yearned to be a designer. After completing a two-year course in dress designing at the Henry Carr College of Art in London, he attended the Fashion Art Arts Academy in Montreal.

He was lured by the European fashion houses and after graduation from the Montreal academy he wrote to nine designers in Italy requesting interviews.

"I was sure my sketches would get the fashion world on fire," he said.

He landed a job with Patrick de Barentzen of Rome and remained there for two years. Then he designed for a ready-to-wear firm for four months until he realized there was no future for him in Italy, and the pay was poor.

Back in Montreal he canvassed the fashion manufacturers and was hired by Margo Dress. His fall '75 line will include dresses in velvets, corduroys and velvets.

His affinity to using prints is obvious when he says, "I've found some charming face-horse prints for the fall line."

Return to Femininity

The return to femininity in women's fashion has created a demand for designer Hugh Garber's clothing. The Montreal designer is known for his classic, ladylike styles. The 32-year-old bachelor is shown refinishing old furniture in the basement workshop at his home. (CP Photo)

Books By And About Women

OUR HIDDEN HERITAGE

by Eleanor Tuttle

One hears so rarely of great women artists, few of us know much about women such as the French artist Rosa Bonheur, famous for her paintings of animals, particularly horses Nor are we well acquainted with Suzanne Valadon, a friend, of Toulouse-Lautrec, and whose son, Maurice Utrillo, became a well-known painter.

However, our Hidden Heritage remedies this Both Valadon and Bocheur are included in this book along with twenty other women artists.

An interesting fact emerges in this study of artistic women: Most of these women were the daughters of artists They were able to learn how to paint because of the availability of their fathers' studios and training.

These interesting portrayals provide new insights into the lives and works, the frustrations and successes of these talented women The author delves into their relationships with their contemporaries, husbands, friends, and families.

This book is available at Corby Library

Strike by Women in Bombay Paralyzes City for One Day

BOMBAY (CP)—Life in Bangalore, a major Indian metropolis with a population of nearly two million, was virtually paralyzed for 24 hours recently.

Law courts, colleges, cinemas and shops shut down. In some areas, even cigarette kiosks were not open.

The general strike was called by the Women's Action Committee for Justice. According to P. Pramila, its chairman, it was the first general strike in any part of the world organized by women.

The shut-down was ordered by Bangalore's women to protest injustices to "widows, wives and daughters" in the recent land reforms legislation passed by the legislature of Karnataka (formerly Mysore) state.

Associations of lawyers, students and shopkeepers as well as several opposition political parties backed the general strike.

"The response from our men was just splendid," said Miss Pramila. "It shows that men are not selfish."

The Karnataka women complain that the legislation will make it difficult for women to own as much land as men and for daughters and widows to inherit land. They call it "male-dominated" legislation.

The opposition Socialist and Communist parties have promised women their "fullest support" on the issue.

The Women's Action Committee for Justice is hoping to launch a national campaign to protect the ownership rights of women in regard to land. It says that women in seven Indian states have been treated "shabbily" by their "male-dominated" administrations.

Sashikala Kulkarni, women's leader of Poona City in Maharashtra state, has suggested a "women's march on Parliament" to focus attention on the problem.

"Even though a woman is the prime minister of India, our legislators and officials do not care for the interests of women," Mrs. Kulkarni told a meeting.

Meanwhile, the Karnataka committee has called for the resignation of Mrs. Nagarathna Amma as Speaker of the state legislative assembly.

It says that women in positions of authority should either fight for women's rights or admit failure and quit.

Says Narayan Sastry, a Bangalore businessman: "I hope the government will stand firm against these women. This equal rights demand is only a cover for the ultimate female domination of our society."

Sastry plans to organize a group for the defence of men's rights.

Ann Landers

Atheist Says Ann Offends

Dear Readers: Recently I said I was waiting for permission to print a good letter from an atheist about the writer's name. Today, permission was granted. Here it is: The author, Madalyn Murray O'Hair, founder of the Society of Separationists, Inc.

Dear Ann Landers: I am addressing you because I receive thousands of pieces of mail each year with clippings of your column enclosed, as you continue to refer persons with troubles to their minister, rabbi and priest.

The atheistic community of the United States comprises about 20 per cent of the population. This means you are offending a helluva lot of people week in and week out. Your columns are replete with religious references also, in other vein.

The Society of Separationists, Inc., which I founded, is dedicated to the complete and absolute separation of state and church, i.e., of religion and government. Atheists are good people, fine citizens, educated and mature people. Please stop offending them by pretending they don't exist. Telling an atheist to go to his minister with a personal problem is like telling a Jew to light a candle for the Holy Mary. Considération, understanding and empathy extends to us also, along with everyone else.—Madalyn Murray O'Hair

Dear Madalyn Murray O'Hair: I am sure you on the left and am impressed by your sincerity and courage.

I, too, am a firm believer in the separation of religion and government, but after that we differ completely.

I'm sorry if you feel I am offending "a helluva lot of people" week in and week out for the reason my columns are "replete with religious references" is because I happen to be a person who has religious beliefs and my values reflect my convictions.

When one has an audience of 60 million readers, seven days a week, 365 days a year, it is impossible to tailor every reply to every segment of society. Surely you are not suggesting that I stop telling people to seek help from a minister, rabbi or priest when you yourself have stated that 80 per cent of the people in the United States do hold religious beliefs. Actually, it's 77 per cent, according to a recent Gallup poll.) I frequently advise people to seek help from physicians, psychiatrists, lawyers, social agencies and marriage counselors as well.

I am sure many atheists are fine citizens, educated and mature, but I see no reason for those individuals to be offended by my references to God. The fact is, most of the atheists doesn't fit they can ignore it.

Sincerely yours,
Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: You are a big traitor to your sex. Instead of standing up for us women who really need it, you always support the selfish, inconsiderate husbands who should get a swift kick in the bartstool.

Why don't you be honest with your readers and tell it like it is? Some of these jerks we're stuck with are just plain stinkers and they wouldn't come home for Elizabeth Taylor. Sign me—Fed Up Fan in Ra-cine, Wisconsin

Dear Former: I agree that some men are stinkers—but who picked them? Since you brought it up, beauty doesn't guarantee faithful monogamy. Elizabeth Taylor now is in the process of considering No. 8.

How Many Ministers Do You Know Who Are Women?

VANCOUVER (CP) — A headline on a newspaper advertisement for International Women's Year says: "Most people don't encourage their daughters to become doctors, lawyers and politicians."

It might have included ministers.

Although enrolment of female students at Vancouver School of Theology (VST) has climbed in recent years, there still are only 11 women among 32 full-and part-time students and no female professors.

"The number of women interested in studying theology and in professional ministries is increasing," said Dorothy Anderson, an ordained United Church minister and a professor of Christian social ethics at VST. "I wouldn't say it's because of women's changing role in society."

Mr. Anderson said the women's movement has had a considerable influence on some Christian attitudes.

He cited three issues of increasing concern: the role of education into the social aspect, adding problems such as understanding the students' emotional difficulties.

"Approximately 15 new subjects have been added to bring the curriculum up to date," he said, but when we look at this aspect, it is difficult to solve one problem without aggravating another.

"It is difficult to educate a child in the basics, let alone his whole potential. The problem is we are letting each child develop at his own rate. That creates a problem with an average class of 35 students. This is not only a problem, it is simply impossible."

She said teachers are making the system work reasonably well considering the high student-teacher ratio.

"In a business, you would not put one man in charge of 35 people, but teachers are confronted with that problem every day."

She suggested that someone has to clarify the teachers' goals.

"It is up to society to decide what the schools should be doing. Teachers are concerned about the children as a whole, but when we look at this aspect, it is difficult to solve one problem without aggravating another.

Teachers Face New Problems

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP)—If qualified educationists are perplexed about the quality of education, no wonder the public is confused, says Florence Henderson, educational secretary for the Federation of Women Teachers' Associations of Ontario (FWTAO).

Speaking at a meeting of the Federation's Algoma chapter, Miss Henderson said: "The job of the teacher has been clouded by the rapidity and frequency of new fields entering into teaching."

She said this has caused a move from the basic academic education into the social aspect, adding problems such as understanding the students' emotional difficulties.

"Approximately 15 new subjects have been added to bring the curriculum up to date," she said, but when we look at this aspect, it is difficult to solve one problem without aggravating another.

"It is up to society to decide what the schools should be doing. Teachers are concerned about the children as a whole,

"In this issue is the least amount of the interest.

"The church teaches that we must love our neighbors as ourselves and if you show intelligent caring for your neighbors then you seek justice for them as well.

"If we are to act in accordance with Jesus' teachings and in accordance with loving our neighbors, then we must attribute dignity and power to all human beings."

The possibility of women's theology in the sense that one speaks of a black theology or a Third World theology still is being explored, Mr. Anderson said.

"I don't think the church's track record has been as bad as some but neither has it been good. We're working at changing."

Ann Landers

Atheist Says Ann Offends

Dear Readers: Recently I said I was waiting for permission to print a good letter from an atheist about the writer's name. Today, permission was granted. Here it is: The author, Madalyn Murray O'Hair, founder of the Society of Separationists, Inc.

Dear Ann Landers: I am addressing you because I receive thousands of pieces of mail each year with clippings of your column enclosed, as you continue to refer persons with troubles to their minister, rabbi and priest.

The atheistic community of the United States comprises about 20 per cent of the population. This means you are offending a helluva lot of people week in and week out. Your columns are replete with religious references also, in other vein.

The Society of Separationists, Inc., which I founded, is dedicated to the complete and absolute separation of state and church, i.e., of religion and government. Atheists are good people, fine citizens, educated and mature people. Please stop offending them by pretending they don't exist. Telling an atheist to go to his minister with a personal problem is like telling a Jew to light a candle for the Holy Mary. Consideration, understanding and empathy extends to us also, along with everyone else.—Madalyn Murray O'Hair

Dear Madalyn Murray O'Hair: I am sure you on the left and am impressed by your sincerity and courage.

I, too, am a firm believer in the separation of religion and government, but after that we differ completely.

I'm sorry if you feel I am offending "a helluva lot of people" week in and week out for the reason my columns are "replete with religious references" is because I happen to be a person who has religious beliefs and my values reflect my convictions.

When one has an audience of 60 million readers, seven days a week, 365 days a year, it is impossible to tailor every reply to every segment of society. Surely you are not suggesting that I stop telling people to seek help from a minister, rabbi or priest when you yourself have stated that 80 per cent of the people in the United States do hold religious beliefs. Actually, it's 77 per cent, according to a recent Gallup poll.) I frequently advise people to seek help from physicians, psychiatrists, lawyers, social agencies and marriage counselors as well.

I am sure many atheists are fine citizens, educated and mature, but I see no reason for those individuals to be offended by my references to God. The fact is, most of the atheists doesn't fit they can ignore it.

Sincerely yours,
Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: You are a big traitor to your sex. Instead of standing up for us women who really need it, you always support the selfish, inconsiderate husbands who should get a swift kick in the bartstool.

Why don't you be honest with your readers and tell it like it is? Some of these jerks we're stuck with are just plain stinkers and they wouldn't come home for Elizabeth Taylor. Sign me—Fed Up Fan in Ra-cine, Wisconsin

Doris Clark

Is Son's Divorced Wife Still Daughter-in-law?

Dear Doris: We have a heartbreaking situation. Our son has divorced his first wife and married again. Is the first wife still our daughter-in-law or not?

The children too would like to know if she is still their sister-in-law. She's a lovely girl and we all like her, but we do not know just which it is. For Christmas and birthdays, do we just count her along, or not?

Your column is heartwarming.

N.Puzzled.

Dear Puzzled: Since the association or contract between you son and your loveable friend has now been dissolved, the "in-law" relationship is also dissolved. This does not mean that you cease to like her as a dear friend and an almost-daughter.

Consider the number of persons who have found their way into lifelong places in the affection of others, even to the point of being seen as "one of the family". We often hear this phrase. Love is too precious for us to be a loser one go lightly.

I think you might well remember her on special occasions, such as Christmas or birthdays. All you have to remember is that neither she nor the new wife should ever be put into an embarrassing position by both being invited to a family gathering where they would come face to face. Your son should be considered in this too.

Dear Doris: My grandmother will be 99 in a few months' time and has been going down hill fast, so early fall.

She lives with my uncle, who is a bachelor and also has a heart condition, making it impossible to care for her properly.

Doris, you wouldn't believe the shoe store assortment in — the dirt is incredible.

My grandmother has high blood pressure and diabetes; her legs give out on her frequently and she falls. She is also incontinent, and is not kept clean.

I think she should be fit a nursing home but my uncle won't consent, saying she won't go. I've called every organization possible — the V.O.N., Public Health, her doctor, and they all said they can't do anything without her permission or request.

I think it's a sin to sit back and watch someone you love rot their days away, when they could be happy and comfortable in a nursing home.

I don't know whether to take it into my own hands and have a doctor in here to see or not, or do I just have to sit back and watch her die this way?

Worried Granddaughter.

Dear Worried: You do need consent of the person concerned or her next of kin.

But if she has high blood pressure and diabetes, is she not being seen regularly by her doctor? Surely such urgent conditions could be the means of bringing about public health inspection and regular visits from the V.O.N. even if just to give your grandmother comfort. I'd guess that your uncle hates the idea of changes, but in this case a kindly nursing home will surely have to be the answer.

Keep working away at enlisting the doctor's sympathy — and you may surprise yourself by getting somewhere. Even stubborn uncles have been known to give in to pressure.

Two good ways to beat tree and shrub pests

John Bradshaw

Yet keeping your trees and shrubs pest free is usually not a costly or time-consuming business.

The expert gardener maintains a year-round tree and shrub health program that, by the way, he can catch a tiny problem before it becomes a disaster.

CIL has several very good products for such a program; here are two you should be using now.

CIL Organic Microbial Spray is a mix-and-spray liquid containing "Thuricide", it controls insect larvae like inchworm, hornworm, looper's and other caterpillars. It cannot harm friendly insects — like ladybugs or bees, and it's safe for pets, fish and plants.

CIL SLIK* is a mix-and-spray systemic that controls the hard-to-get-at pests like leaf-miners, aphids, mites, and cutworms as well as armyworms and webworms. CIL SLIK contains two pesticides that control a broad spectrum of insects. It's an unusually effective product, and you should have it on your garden shelf, along with the bottle of CIL Organic Microbial Spray.

Oil Price Bill Before House Hefty Weapon at Conference

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government goes into Wednesday's negotiations with the provinces on petroleum prices with a hefty weapon in reserve.

A bill before the Commons not yet passed—would give Ottawa the right to set price for interprovincial sales of oil and natural gas if a suitable agreement cannot be reached in negotiation.

Consideration of the bill, introduced last fall, was delayed in December when it ran into stiff opposition from Progressive Conservatives, mainly those from Alberta.

Debate had been expected to resume after the Christmas recess, but Energy Minister Donald Macdonald said it had been delayed until at least after the meeting Wednesday.

Main reason for the delay, federal officials said, was a goodwill gesture to the producing provinces, who oppose it as an intrusion into their jurisdiction over natural resources.

However, if Prime Minister Trudeau and the 10 provincial premiers reach a deadlock in their negotiations—towards a compromise Ottawa might bring the bill into play.

With a majority in the Commons, the Liberals could pass the bill and then name their price. However, the government would prefer that the new prices be set at the bargaining table.

Energy Minister Donald Getty of Alberta said last week he doubts whether the meeting will arrive at a specific price, but might reach agreement on the general principle that oil prices should be high enough to encourage exploration.

Alberta has "no preconceived price expectations", going into the meeting, he said, but published reports indicate the province wants a $2 or $3 increase on the current from domestic price of $6.50 a barrel.

These increases would add between six and nine cents to the retail price of a gallon of gasoline or home heating fuel. In total they would cost the consumer $1.4 to $2.1 billion annually.

Reaction among consuming provinces is that no large increases should be approved. Ontario Premier William Davis says he will accept no significant increase while Premier Gerald Regan of Nova Scotia says there should be no increase at all.

The federal government, which sees its role at the conference as mediator between the conflicting views, says some increase is needed to encourage conservation and to provide additional revenue for Alberta and Saskatchewan.

Saskatchewan May Ask $2 Increase for Oil

TORONTO (CP) — Saskatchewan will press for an increase of at least $2 a barrel for all at next week's federal-provincial energy conference if his compromise proposal is rejected, Premier Allan Blakeney said Sunday.

"If people are not concerned about security of supply, then we in Saskatchewan will be pressing for a significant increase in the price of oil—$2 a barrel is the minimum we would consider," Mr. Blakeney told a news conference here.

Earlier, the Saskatchewan premier met with Ontario Premier William Davis to brief him on the proposal Saskatchewan will present at the Ottawa conference Wednesday and Thursday.

The proposal is for a multi-billion dollar fund to be set up by the federal government and the oil and gas producing provinces for exploration and development.

Mr. Blakeney said Saskatchewan would content itself with any minimal increase if his plan is accepted by the federal government and the other nine premiers.

"Every cent of the increase should be spent on exploration and development in Canada," the Saskatchewan premier said.

Ontario Premier Davis, who said Saturday night his province would strongly oppose any major increase from the present $6.50 per barrel, was noncommittal about the Saskatchewan proposal.

The Saskatchewan leader is scheduled to meet with New Brunswick Premier Richard Hatfield today to brief him on Saskatchewan's position.

Mr. Blakeney said he still hopes to meet with Quebec's Robert Bourassa before formal talks begin Wednesday.

MP's Pay Debate Expected

OTTAWA (CP) — It's been a cold spring on Parliament Hill but MPs will walk into a blast of political heat when they return from an 11-day Easter recess today.

That quarrelsome bill to increase their salaries by 23 1-3 per cent is expected to be called for debate sometime this week, perhaps this afternoon. It is likely to revive the storm of controversy which blew across the country when it first was introduced just before Christmas.

MPs now earn a basic $18,000 a year, plus $8,000 a year in tax-free expense allowance, a total of $28,000. The bill calls for a $34,000 salary and an allowance of $10,000, for a total of $44,000. It also would peg these volumes to the industrial wage index.

The bill is a modified version of the one presented to the Commons in December. The original, prepared after talks between backbenchers in all parties, proposed boosting the salary and the allowance by 50 per cent.

That proposal caused an outcry that forced the government to reduce the planned increase by almost 17 per cent. However, the reduction did little to quell the opposition from all parts of the country.

The New Democrats and Social Credit are expected to fight the modified bill and they might be joined by some Progressive Conservatives.

Two Convicted For Attica Prison Revolt

BUFFALO, N.Y. — New York state has won its first convincing victory in its effort to prosecute persons indicted in the 1971 Attica prison rebellion.

John Hill, 23, of Buffalo was convicted of murder Saturday in the beating death of guard William Quinn. Co-defendant Charles Pernasilice, 22, of Syracuse was convicted of an assault charge.

Quinn was attacked by prisoners on the first day of the Sept. 9-13, 1971, uprising and died of head injuries two days later, the first of 43 men—32 prisoners and 11 employees—to die in the revolt.

Hill and Pernasilice were both charged with murder, but state Supreme Court Justice Gilbert King instructed the jury to disregard the murder count against Pernasilice and consider only lesser charges. He also gave the jury the option of considering lesser charges against Hill, but allowed the murder charge to stand.

King ordered hall on the defendants revoked and remanded the men to the Erie County jail facility, setting sentencing for April 2.

Insurance Firms Shy Away From Nuclear Plant Policies

OTTAWA (CP) — The Atomic Energy Control Board apparently has been unable to talk private insurers into covering Canadians against "personal injury" arising from the existence of nuclear facilities.

The insurers are prepared to cover Canadians against physical injury, death or property damage arising from a "nuclear incident," but they are wary of the term "personal injury" which might result not from an "incident" but from locales in the area of a nuclear plant.

Claims might result from a decline in property values. Or an individual who found a nuclear plant nearby might become incapacitated by anxiety and claim damages, even if there was no incident.

The Atomic Energy Control Board and the Nuclear Insurance Association of Canada have been discussing the extent of liability for five years, since Parliament passed the Nuclear Liability Act.

The act would require nuclear facilities to have $75 million worth of insurance against "personal injury" arising from a nuclear incident. The haggling over what "personal injury" means nearly resulted in an impasse at one point in negotiations.

The government has agreed to cover the "fringe areas," which would be contested in court if claims were made, while the private insurers will stick to a standard policy specifying liability for physical or property damages arising from a nuclear incident.

In Ottawa, meanwhile, experts are working out the amount of basic insurance 15 or 20 nuclear facilities across Canada must have.

The act requires anyone handling flammable—explosive—materials to have $75 million in insurance.

The policy for each plant will set out the amount of basic insurance, covering the worst expected damage that might result from an incident, the operator must carry. This might be $5 million for a fuel fabricating plant or a small university research reactor.

The remaining $70 million would be in the form of supplementary insurance on which nominal premiums would be paid.

Petes Win Five Straight to Take Shrine Grand Championship

Peterborough forward, Bob Walling, puts the Petes ahead 4-3 with this goal in the third period of the Belleville Peewee Shrine Tournament Grand Championship game. Jean Lauzon, Nepean goalie, made the original save, but dropped the rebound and Walling tucked it under the goalie's stick. Defenceman Jeff York was almost helpless in the situation. Peterborough went on to win the Grand Championship contest 6-2.

Sunday is supposed to be a day of rest, but obviously Peterborough's Jeff Larmer doesn't believe it. In two games on the Sabbath, Larmer scored four goals and three times assists to lead his club to the A and Grand Championship of the 1975 Belleville Peewee Shrine Hockey Tournament at the Memorial Arena.

In the A Championship Peterborough edged St. Catharines 4-1 and Larmer led the way with two goals and an assist. In the Grand Championship he tallied two more and added a pair of helpers as the Petes rolled to a 6-2 win over Nepean Raiders.

Until Sunday, 5 games Larmer had scored only three goals and had picked up only one assist. His output in the finals was enough to give him the tourney's Most Valuable Player award.

Peterborough coach, Bob Gardner was more than pleased with his team's performance.

"We played well all weekend," he said, "it wasn't just a couple of guys either, it was everybody on the team, although there were a few who played particularly well."

The few who did particularly well were Larmer, his goalie Mark Evans and a defenceman named Tim Killingback, who was the tournament's trophy as the Most Valuable Defenceman.

This is the fifth straight year Peterborough has attended the Shrine Tournament and the second time they have won the Grand Championship of the 16-team event. Their first title came in 1970 in Gardner's first year of coaching.

"We like it here," said the coach, "you've always treated well when you come to Belleville. I've been to a lot of tournaments since I began coaching and this is probably the best one. The competition is good and the organization is great."

The Petes finished first in their Ontario Hockey Association AAA grouping with an 18-1-1 record. They lost in the second round of OMHA playdowns however, to Oshawa (a team from their own grouping). They also won the consolation title of the Dixie Lions tournament won the Grand Championship of the London-Forest City tournament and lost in the semi-finals of the Quebec City tournament.

"We played 55 games this year and only lost seven of them," said Gardner. Five of those wins came at the Belleville Tournament. The Petes defeated Toronto Dixie 4-3 Friday night, Brampton 7-2 and Burlington 5-4 in overtime Saturday and on Sunday downed St. Kitts and Nepean on their march to the title.

Nepean, the B Champion and runner-up to Peterborough for the Grand Championship, lost their opening game Friday night to St. Catharines 3-1. Saturday they beat Belleville Dixie Lees 7-3 and Whitby 3-1. Sunday they squeezed past Niagara Falls 5-4 to win the B title before losing to the Petes.

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, MONDAY, APRIL 7, 1975

Shriners' Hockey Tournament At a Glance

FIRST ROUND

FRIDAY

Winners and advance to A competition, losers drop to B.

PETERBOROUGH 4

TORONTO 1

Peterborough Petes, the pre-tournament favorites, edged Toronto Blues in the first game of the tourney. The bustling Petes had no trouble containing the Blues and Peterborough goalie, Mark Evan, was sharp whenever called upon.

BRAMPTON 7

Ottawa 2

The first period told the story as Brampton lumped into a 5-0 lead. Ottawa battled back, but couldn't get enough goal. goalie Larry Camoso. Again the defending at both ends of the ice was sharp.

BURLINGTON 7

BELLEVILLE 1

Burlington skated, hustled and played good positional hockey to rout the host Belleville Rollins Majors. Despite the score, Hugh Northey was outstanding in Rollins goal. Mike Fredo and Scott Ward led the Burlington attack with two goals and two assists each. Jamie Robertson was the only Belleville marksman.

TRENTON 4

NIAGARA FALLS 2

Trenton cam eup with a strong all round effort and surprised everyone with this victory over Niagara. Doug Mudd fired two goals to lead up the Trenton scorers. The winners were nervousness reminding from Al Marchand, who proved you don't have to be big to be good in goal. Marchand was the smallest goalie in the tourney.

KINGSTON 7

BELLEVILLE DIXIE LEE 6

The locals forced a last minute substitution, replacing Whitby in this game. The Whitby squad encountered a heavy snow storm just as they were leaving home. The scrappy minor squad kept Kingston off balance for most of the game with their aggressive approach to the contest.

In the third period the Limestones City crew pumped in three goals that put the game out of reach. Ian MacInnis scored twice to top the Kingston scoring list.

ST. CATHARINES 2

NEPEAN 1

St. Kitts had a one-two punch in this game as Guy Pacquette and Scott Madole took care of scoring duties. Nepean opened the scoring, but Pacquette tallied to tie things up. Madole drew the assist on the goal. Late in the third, Madole scored from Pacquette for the win.

KINGSTON TOWNSHIP 3

WINDSOR 2

The Ken and Ray's crew came out like gangbusters and held a 3-0 lead before Windsor even got going. It was a surprise to everyone when Kingston won the game. Windsor was supposed to have been one o the higher seeded teams and the team from the Township hadn't even been given a rating. Trey St. Hilaire, Kingston's goalie, was instrumental in his club's victory. Marty Stever picked up a goal and two assists in the Kingston win and teammate Tracy Drinka scored twice.

LONDON 1

WHITBY 0

Because of the storm, neither team from Cornwall could make it to Belleville. Cornwall pulled out of the tournament completely, so Whitby assured organizers they would be able to make it down for the second round on Saturday. Belleville Dixie Lees were brought in to replace Whitby and Whitby moved into Cornwall's spot against London. The Whitby club automatically lost their first game by default and dropped into B competition while London was awarded this 1-0 victory and automatically advanced to the A side.

SATURDAY

A QUARTER-FINALS

Winners in this round advanced while losers were eliminated.

PETERBOROUGH 7

BRAMPTON 2

The Petes rolled to victory in this one. Brad Cowie and Kevin Casey fired two goals each and Warren Ferguson picked up a goal and two assists. The Petes played Todd Bailey in goal, proving they had not one, but two strong netminders.

BURLINGTON 4

TRENTON 2

Burlington took advantage of a few sloppy mistakes in the third period to put the game on ice. The winners scored twice in the final frame. Trenton had several good chances, but couldn't get the puck past Burlington goalie Rob Deerraan. Emilio Iorio tallied twice to top the winner's scorers and Bryant Seaton added a goal and two assists.

ST. CATHARINES 3

KINGSTON 2

Kingston showed the effects of a long layoff. They've been unable to get ice time in the Limestone city since they've only played twice in the last six weeks. St. Kitts simply outclassed the locals and Holmes led the way with his two markers.

KINGSTON TOWNSHIP 1

LONDON 6

Tray St. Hilaire was again between the posts and was the mainstay of the Kingston squad. He robbed several London attackers from point blank range. Scott Dunbar gave his team all the scoring they needed in turning in the victory.

B QUARTER-FINALS

Winners in this round advanced while losers were eliminated.

TORONTO 4

OTTAWA 3

After falling behind 2-0, Toronto battled back to earn a 3-3 tie at the end of regulation time. Randy Kinton NS the Blues comeback drive as he scored twice and drew an assist. With the score tied, a sudden-death, overtime period had to be played. Kinton was instrumental in setting up the winning goal by John Dvornecbuk. Along with Kinton, Steve Poland also drew an assist.

NIAGARA FALLS 5

BELLEVILLE 2

The local Rollins Lumber team appeared to have fully recovered from their first round loss Friday as they romped into the semi-finals. Tom Quesnel scored that one from Steve Slaughter. That, however, was the only lead they held as Niagara bounced back with five straight markers. Marty Grant scored three times and picked up an assist for Niagara and teammate Gary Gigliorio tallied twice. The other Belleville goal, Jamie Robertson rounded the scoring out with Tony Parks drawing the assist.

NEPEAN 7

BELLEVILLE DIXIE LEE 2

Gill Egan scored three times and Jamie York added a pair as the raiders dumped the locals. Nepean held a 3-0 lead before Belleville got on the scoreboard. Craig Saxby and D'Arcy Mather got the only goals for Dixie Lee. Nepean also got an assist, as did Brian Cavanagh, Dave Howe, and Stu Emerson.

WHITBY 2

WINDSOR 4

Whitby made the trip a day late, but they were right on target from the start of the game as they blanked Windsor, Darrell Bluegniers tallied twice and added an assist to his goal tear ba wi. Dale Hinett earned the shnout.

B SEMI-FINALS

PETERBOROUGH 5

BULINGTON 4

Peterborough proved why they were chosen the pre-tournament favorites as they edged out the well-balanced Burlington squad in overtime. Bob Walling, Kevin the Petes, and Bob Deerraarn had a real goaltenders duel as both played exceptionally well. The Petes held a 4-1 lead early in the second period, but Burlington bounced back with three consecutive goals to earn the tie and force the sudden-death, some period. Tim Killingback was the man of the hour as he potted the winner for the Petes. He also drew an assist earlier in the game.

ST. CATHERINES 1

KINGSTON TOWNSHIP 0

In another goaltenders duel, Troy St. Hilaire from the Township, lost to Brent Eymann. St. Hilaire had so many saves on the Kits goal, however, as he made the initial save and the puck was loose on the ice. Eymann, man. Guy Holmes was credited with the goal, his third in as many games.

B SEMI-FINALS

NIAGARA FALLS 3

TORONTO BLUES 6

Jeff Larmer continued his Sunday surge with two goals and two assists for the Petes, giving him 11 points on the weekend and the tournament's Most Valuable Player award. His output in this game led the Petes to their fifth consecutive win and the tournament's Grand Championship. Other Peterborough goals were scored by Tim Killingback, Kevin Casey, Greg Rowe and Bob Walling.

Nepean got singles from Gill Egan and Mike Berger.

Jamie York accepts the Belleville Shrine Club Trophy on behalf of the Nepean Raiders. The Raiders, led by captain York, scored with 27 seconds remaining in the B Championship game to oust Niagara Falls Flyers 5-4. Shrine Club President, Harry Hutchinson (left) and Shrine Club Tournament Director, Aubrey Haines made the presentation to the Nepean forward.

Petes' Larmer Takes MVP

Cornerstone In Corner

Cornerstone Builders, first place finisher during the Quinte Hockey league's regular season, find themselves with their backs to the wall in the final playoff series with Reid's Dairy.

When the six-point series resumes at Memorial Arena, Thursday night Cornerstone will face a win or else situation.

The club fell behind 2-0 in games. Sunday night when Reid's got a pair of goals each from Brian Smith and Ralph Plane to go with a single marker by Jerry Lucas as the team skated to a 5-3 win.

Lionel Bolly, Jim MacKay, Moe Hunter and Allan Ray each drew a pair of assists.

Cornerstone Pope, Roger Johnson and Norm Pope polled the Cornerstone goals.

Grand Championship and those points combined with his stats from Peterborough's previous four games gave him seven goals and four assists for the weekend.

His teammate, Tim Killingback, was given status as the tournament's Most Valuable Defenceman. Killingback picked up four assists and scored two goals in the two weekend games. One of his goals was the most important of weekend for the Petes as he tallied the winning marker in overtime in the Petes 5-4, semi-final game.

Nepean's Bill, alternate captain, Gary Gigliorio captured honors as the Most Valuable Forward. His club was beaten out in the B Championship game. In that contest Gigliorio fired a hat trick. In the three games prior to that he had scored four times for a weekend total of seven goals.

The Gigliorio family appears to be headed in the same direction as the Joseph clan. At last year's Shrine Tournament, Carmine Iacobucci, Nick, was named the tourney's Most Valuable Goaltender.

This year's goalie award went to Mark Evans. Evans and Ken and Rays Troy St. Hilaire. In two and one-half games he allowed only three goals. The Township team was beaten out 1-0 by St. Catharines in the A semi-final, but finished in fact of St. Hilaire. The puck was kicked in by his own defenceman.

Tourney Runs on Time Despite Weather

All 23 games in the Belleville Peewee Shrine Tournament ran right on schedule. Officials had feared the Memorial Arena until 7 p.m. Sunday night and presentations after the Grand Championship were completed two minutes before the deadline.

Tournament director, Don Gavey, had his hands full with this one because of the unpredictability of the weather. Nevertheless everything went as smoothly as if there were no complications.

Gavey said however, "this will be one I won't forget for a while." Only Cornwall had to cancel out at the last minute because of the weather. Whitby was a day late coming, but still made it.

Peterborough coach, Bob Gardner, expressed the visiting coaches' opinion after his club earned the Grand Championship. "We're proud to be the best run tournament around. We've been here for five years now, and we'd be back again next year."

Snow Doesn't Stop Fans

Fans didn't seem to mind the weather. Over 1,000 spectators braved their way to the Memorial Arena to watch games at one time or another on the weekend.

Shrine officials estimate that the tourney earned nearly $1,000 for crippled children.

Islanders Feel Rangers Could 'Choke' Again

By GLENN COLE

The National Hockey League's 70-game schedule concluded Sunday night and for six teams, it was the end of a long year.

But for the 12 teams that qualified for the Stanley Cup playoffs, it's like starting all over.

"Now we start a whole new season," said Peter Slemkowski, a veteran centre with New York Rangers.

The Rangers closed out their season Sunday by dropping a 6-4 decision to New York Islanders, who they will meet in the first game of their best-of-three first-round series Tuesday night.

In other Sunday action, Philadelphia Flyers clinched the best over-all record in the league by downing Atlanta Flames 6-2, Montreal Canadiens topped Detroit Red Wings 4-2, Boston Bruins and Toronto Maple Leafs played to a 4-4 tie, Chicago Black Hawks blanked Minnesota North Stars 3-0, St. Louis Blues topped Kansas City Scouts 3-2, Los Angeles Kings and California Seals played to a 1-1 tie and Washington Capitals bombed Pittsburgh Penguins 8-4.

Saturday night, Buffalo Sabres topped Toronto 4-2, Los Angeles defeated the Seals 5-3, Montreal thrashed Washington 10-2, Pittsburgh downed Detroit 7-1, St. Louis edged Chicago 4-3 and the Flyers defeated the Islanders 4-1.

Both the Islanders and Rangers finished the season with 88 points but the Rangers got second place in the Patrick Division because they beat the Isles 3-2 in the season's series with 25 for their crosstown rivals.

This is the ninth consecutive year the Rangers have made it to post-season play while the three-year-old Islanders were making their first appearance.

"Maybe they'll choke again," said Islanders goaltender Glenn Resch referring to the fact the Rangers have only made it to the finals once in the nine-year span and lost to Boston in the 1971-72 final.

The Islanders were 3-3-1 against the Rangers this season, with both wins coming in the last two weeks of the year.

Sunday, Jude Drouin and Jean Potvin ace-ed goals in the second period to help the Islanders to their first-ever win.

...ARD SHERO

In nine games at Madison Square Garden, the Rangers play all opens Tuesday.

The Flyers earned the right to meet Vancouver for all their playoff series by downing Atlanta. By finishing the season with 50 points to the Canucks, the Flyers clinched the Vezina Trophy awarded annually to the goalenders on the team allowing the fewest goals during the regular season.

The Flyers gave up 181 goals in 80 games with veteran Bernard Parent appearing in 48 of the games and posting a 2.62 average.

"It's nice. It's nice," said Parent, slowly sipping on a cool beer.

The Flyers, champions of the Patrick Division, will not play again until the quarter finals begin next Sunday. Montreal, the North Division winners, Buffalo, tallies in the Adams Division and Vancouver Canucks, first-place finishers in the Smythe Division, also get automatic byes into the quarter finals.

The Flyers finished the season with a 14-game undefeated string, including 12 wins and coach Fred Shero was named in the layoff would hurt.

"You never know," he said. "It will give us a chance to recover from our injuries."

"Well, it's better than playing in those two-of-three series," noted Montreal coach Scotty Bowman, who got his 300th NHL win against the Red Wings.

Serge Savard scored twice for the Canadiens to become the 10th Montreal player to score at least 30 goals this season.

Bobby Orr scored two goals and assisted on Don Marcotte's game-tying effort to increase his league-leading points total to 135. Orr finished with 55 goals and 80 assists for 135 points, eight ahead of teammate Phil Esposito.

Billy Reay got his 300th coaching win and Tony Esposito posted his sixth shutout of the year as the Black Hawks blanked the Minnesota North Stars in the season's finale.

UNTIL NOW, THE CARS THAT NEEDED RUSTPROOFING MOST COULDN'T GET IT.

Because they're used cars. And there's never been a rustproofing process that could work effectively on a car that's already started to rust.

Until now.

Now there is one. And only one. The only rustproofing system in the world that really works on used cars.

It's Tuff-Kote. Which makes Tuff-Kote dealers the only people in the world who can rustproof not only new cars — but cars that are anywhere from 5 months to 5 years old.

What's more, they'll guarantee the job in writing. Something no other rustproofers in the world will do.

Because they don't have Tuff-Kote's exclusive double coating system for rustproofing both new and used cars.

So whether you're driving a new or a used car, bring it to a Tuff-Kote dealer and get the protection of total rustproofing. Your car will not only last longer — it'll be worth more when you trade it in.

Lacroix Smashes Assists Mark, Wins WHA Crown

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The World Hockey Association's regular season all but ended Sunday with Bobby Hull and Andre Lacroix both finishing with scoring records.

The season officially ends tonight with a meaningless game between Houston Aeros and Baltimore Blades.

The best-of-seven quarter-final playoff lineup has Cleveland at Houston, Minnesota at Quebec, Minnesota at New England and Toronto at San Diego for the first two games.

The New England and San Diego openers are set for Wednesday, Houston for Thursday and Quebec has yet to announce whether it will open Wednesday or Thursday.

In Sunday's final games, the 5-5 overtime tie at Winnipeg had little to contribute to the final standings but it contained the final barbs for the scoring records.

Hull scored his record 77th goal of the season for Winnipeg Jets against San Diego Mariners while the Mariner's Andre Lacroix wound up his league scoring title with 41 goals and a record 106 assists.

Hull's goal scoring surpassed the pro hockey record of 76 scored by Phil Esposito of the National Hockey League Boston Bruins in the 1970-71 season.

In that same season, Esposito's linemate Bobby Orr had the pro record of 102 assists in one season which Lacroix surpassed by four.

In other games Sunday, Houston Aeros beat Toronto Toros 3-2, Minnesota Fighting Saints defeated Baltimore 6-5, Vancouver Blazers beat Indianapolis Racers 4-3 and Edmonton Oilers beat Chicago Cougars 4-3.

Hull had tied Esposito's mark with his 76th goal in a 8-5 loss to the Nordiques at Quebec Saturday night. In other Saturday games, San Diego beat Indianapolis 8-3, Houston defeated Minnesota 8-2, Cleveland Crusaders beat New England Whalers 5-2, Baltimore upset Phoenix Roadrunners 7-6 and Vancouver edged Edmonton 3-2.

Hull's final goal in the last minute of the second period came on a 30-foot shot past San Diego goalie Russ Gillow. It gave the Jets a 3-3 tie and they went ahead 4-3 midway in the third period before Lacroix, who had two assists in the game, scored his 41st goal.

Winnipeg's Mike Ford made it 5-4 for the Jets with less than four minutes remaining but Lacroix picked set up Rick Seeters for his 44th goal of the season and second of the night to tie the game at 10:46 and the clubs went scoreless through to overtime.

Hull, who had led the scoring parade for much of the season, finished second behind Lacroix with 65 assists and 142 points.

The Mariners centre had 31 points in his final 10 games, leading the team to a record of 41-31-6 in their last 11 games.

When the Toronto game finished, the Winnipeg game was still in progress and thus the Toros could not assure who their playoff opponent would be. But Toros coach Bobby Leduc said it didn't make much difference to him who he went against. "If we play like we did tonight, we're not going to beat anybody. The team came out as flat I can't believe it."

The Toros' relaxed attitude allowed the Aeros to open a 2-0 lead on goals by Jim Sherrit, Frank Spring and Mark Howe before Frank Mahovlich scored his 38th of the season late in the second period.

Sherrit and Hughes, both scored again later in the contest which was preceded by a special ceremony honoring Aeros' right winger Gordie Howe who plans to retire after next season's first game at Houston.

The game was marred by a

Golden Jet Breaks Espo's Goal Barrier

WINNIPEG (CP) — A hard-wrist shot by Bobby Hull of the World Hockey Association Winnipeg Jets made major hockey league history Sunday.

Hull, 36, let the shot go from the blueline in the third period 19:26 mark of the second period, beating goaltender Russ Gillow of the San Diego Mariners for his 77th goal in 78 games.

The goal, which gave the Jets a 3-2 lie in a game eventually deadlocked 5-5, eclipsed the old record of 76 goals in a season set by Phil Esposito of the National Hockey League Boston Bruins.

"I didn't hesitate a moment," Hull said. "We were both flying when we hit the blueline. Anders (Hedberg) gave it to me and I let go with a full wrist shot."

It was Hull's eighth goal in six games against San Diego this season and raised his major league total to 785 in 1,253 games. He has scored 181 goals in 218 games in the WHA.

Hull, dubbed the Golden Jet for his scoring feats during a 15-year NHL career with Chicago Black Hawks, credited linemates Ulf Nilsson and Anders Hedberg for his success.

"What happened this year was just because of those guys," Hull said after the game. "Everything that happened was because

Toronto Maple Leafs hope to accomplish what they could not do during the regular National Hockey League season when they meet Los Angeles Kings in first-round play of the Stanley Cup playoffs.

The Leafs, who open their best-of-seven series against the Kings in Los Angeles Tuesday night, failed to defeat the Kings during the 1974-75 season, gaining a tie in five meetings. The Kings outscored the Leafs 34-7 and in two games in Los Angeles, posted 4-0 and 8-0 wins.

The other three first-round series also are to begin Tuesday. Series B will begin in Boston with the Bruins meeting Chicago Black Hawks. Pittsburgh Penguins will be at home to St. Louis Blues in series C. New York Rangers and New York Islanders will meet in series D with the opener scheduled for Madison Square Garden, the Rangers home rink.

Twelve teams—three from each of the four division—qualified for this year's expanded playoffs which start Tuesday and as May 29. Last year, eight teams—four from each division—were eligible.

The pairings for each series are decided by points gained during the regular season, although divisional winners all gained a bye. Of the remainder, the highest qualifier meets the lowest qualifier in series A, the second-highest team plays the second-lowest in series B, series C pit the third seeded team against the sixth-ranked club and series D has the fourth-seeded squad against the fifth-highest qualifier.

Philadelphia Flyers of the Patrick Division, Buffalo Sabres of the Adams Division, Montreal Canadiens of the Norris Division and Vancouver Canucks of the Smythe Division have gained byes into quarter-final play, Philadelphia, by defeating Atlanta Flames Sunday, gained home ice advantage for all series in which they play by having the best over-all record.

The Flyers, Sabres and Canadiens all finished with 112 points while Philadelphia, defending Stanley Cup champions, gained the second spot by posting the most wins—61. Buffalo was second with 49 and Montreal third with 47. Vancouver had 86 points, lower than the Kings, Bruins, Penguins, Rangers and Islanders.

The Bruins and Black Hawks met four times during the regular season with each team winning two games. Chicago outscored Boston 15-14.

Chicago has never taken a playoff series from the Bruins. Last year, the Bruins took the semi-final series in six games to advance to the final against the Flyers.

The Penguins and Blues each had a win and two ties in four meetings this season, with St. Louis outscoring Pittsburgh 12-11. The Blues defeated Pittsburgh in a six-game semi-final in 1970 in the only previous playoff series between the two clubs.

The Islanders, making their first playoff appearance, had two wins, three losses and a tie against the Rangers—the two wins in the last two weeks of the schedule including Sunday's 4-1 triumph as Rangers bowed out. The Rangers entered the Islanders 23-21.

Each first-round participant will win $1,000, regardless if his team wins or loses a series. The winning teams advance to the quarter finals, scheduled to begin next Sunday.

Thursday, the Leafs will play host to the Kings, the Bruins will go to Chicago, the Penguins will visit the Blues and the Islanders will be at home to the Rangers. If a third game is necessary in any series, it will be at the site of the first game on Friday night.

The CBC has announced it will not televise the opener of the Toronto-Los Angeles series, but will carry Thursday's clash.

LISTED AS DH

WINTER HAVEN, Fla. (AP) — Tony Conigliaro, out of baseball for 3½ years, was listed Sunday as Boston Red Sox' designated hitter for the baseball team's 1975 American League opener against Milwaukee Brewers Tuesday in Boston, Conigliaro, 30, who led the American League with 32 home runs for Boston in 1965, was struck in the eye by a pitch in 1967.

TRADE OUTFIELDER

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP) — Philadelphia Phillies traded outfielder Bill Robinson to Pittsburgh Pirates Saturday for pitcher Wayne Simpson, signed to the Phils' Toledo farm team in the International League, Robinson, 31, with the National League baseball team for 2½ seasons, last year batted .236, hit five home runs and collected 28 runs batted in. Simpson is a 25 year-old right-hander.

Expos Win 20th

WINTER HAVEN, Fla. (AP) — Mike Jorgensen and Pat Scanlon each hit two-run homers as Montreal ended their exhibition baseball season Saturday with a 9-2 victory over Boston Red Sox.

Jorgensen capped a four-run first inning against Boston starter Bill Lee with his second homer of the spring. Scanlon replaced Hal Breeden as the designated hitter in the ninth and added two insurance runs with his second exhibition homer off Diego Segui.

Montreal rightfielder Dennis Blair, who had allowed just two earned runs in 29 previous innings, picked up the victory. He walked six but allowed just two hits and two runs in six innings.

Morales For Carrithers

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Montreal Expos announced the contract of pitcher Don Carrithers outright to their Memphis farm club of the International League and purchased Jose Morales, a catcher-utility man, from the same club Saturday.

The Expos also officially placed outfielder Rich Coggins on the 21-day disabled list retroactive to March 23. Coggins, acquired from Baltimore Orioles of the American League during the off-season, has entered a Los Angeles hospital for treatment of a kidney and liver disorder.

The moves brought the National League's Expos to the 25-player opening day limit.

Take Me Out to the Ball Game

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The weathermen must be baseball fan, at least in Cincinnati.

After more than a week of an seasonably cold weather, the temperature rose along the Ohio River Sunday and a former warming trend is expected to push the thermometer above to 20 today for the opener of the major league baseball season between the Reds and Los Angeles Dodgers.

Three more games are scheduled under the lights as the National League begins its 1975 campaign and the American League its 76th.

In the NL, Montreal Expos will be in St. Louis to face the Cardinals while Atlanta Braves invade Houston to play the Astros. The lone AL contest finds Kansas City Royals in Anaheim against California Angels.

The Royals and Angels meet again Tuesday night while eight other AL clubs get under way: New York Yankees against the Indians in Cleveland,Milwaukee Brewers against the Red Sox in Boston, Minnesota Twins against Texas Rangers in Arlington and Chicago White Sox at Oakland against the world champion A's.

In NL games Tuesday, Philadelphia Phillies face the Mets in New York, San Francisco Giants meet the Padres in San Diego and the Braves and Astros go at it again in Houston.

The Cincinnati Reds last tormented the midwest canned two of Tuesday's scheduled openers to be called off. Chicago Cubs will play host to Pittsburgh Pirates in their NL opener on Wednesday instead while the AL's Baltimore Orioles will face the Tigers in Detroit on Thursday in a regularly scheduled game, Tuesday's Detroit game will be made up later in the season.

The Dodgers finished four games ahead of the Reds in the NL West last year and the two teams are expected to pick up where they left off. Don Sutton, 19-9 in 1974, will pitch for the Dodgers against Cincinnati's Don Gullett, 17-10, before a sell-out crowd of 52,000 in the refrost Stadium, including baseball commissioner Bowie Kuhn and Ohio Senator Robert Taft who will throw out the first ball.

After viewing the Dodgers and Reds, Kuhn will rush to St. Louis to watch veteran pitcher Bob Gibson begin his final season. Gibson will be opposed by Montreal lefthander Dave McKay (0-0 with Baltimore Orioles, who traded him to the Expos during the off-season.

In Houston, the Braves, minus Hank Aaron for the first time in 21 years, will use knuckleballer Phil Niekro against the Astros' Larry Dierker.

However, the best may come when California's Nolan Ryan goes against Kansas City Royals, Ryan has pitched a no hitter in each of his first two seasons.

WAIVERS ON PITCHER
LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — Detroit Tigers have asked waivers on veteran left-handed pitcher Luke Walker for the purpose of giving him his unconditional release, the American League baseball club said Sunday. Walker, 31, formerly with Pittsburgh Pirates, joined the Tigers last year and was 5-5 with a 4.98 earned-run average. He appeared in five games this spring and had an 0-1 record.

Now For First-time Home Buyers –
Start Building Tomorrow With THE SELF-HELP HOME PLAN

"SHOULD I BUILD NOW WHEN PRICES ARE HIGH?"

It may surprise some people that this same question has been asked continually for years and years. It seems that everything is relative. While building materials were cheaper ten years ago, your paycheck was a lot smaller as well. There is no sense kidding ourselves, quality materials cost money, but when assembled properly into the form of a house — their value doubles. You can own that house for far less than you think with the Self-Help Home Plan.

Rollins Lumber once again suggests that you make your move now Here's why: (a) It seems obvious that prices are not going to go down. (b) Interest rates are as low as they'll ever be. (c) Mortgage money is presently available. (d) We have approved building lots available, but they are getting scarce. (e) If you build before October 31, 1975, first-time home buyers may be eligible for the $500.00 government grant.

We have ready-to-build plans available and we will assist you in arranging the proper mortgage. Basically what Rollins Lumber has done is lowered the cost of home ownership and eliminated a lot of the red tape to make it easier for you. You don't even need a Down Payment. Call today — there's nothing to stop you now!

Weiskopf Back on Top

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Tom Weiskopf, a winner again after 18 months of frustration, turned a happy face today toward Augusta, Ga., and the upcoming Masters, that annual spring rite that occupies a unique position in the game of golf.

While Weiskopf's relatively easy, three-stroke triumph Sunday made him the happiest man in the Greater Greensboro Open, there was a large number of pro golf's greats who found their own ray of sunshine in the wind and cold that plagued this old event.

"I think I accomplished what I wanted to," said Johnny Miller, a three-time winner this season who made a surprise entry here to hone his game for the Masters.

"I played a good, solid tournament," he said. "My game is good. My swing is good. My putting is coming along. It isn't great yet, but it's good." He tied for sixth.

"I'm really quite pleased," said Gary Player, the South African who holds the British Open crown and will play in Augusta. A final round 69 brought a big smile to his face.

"That's the best round I've played in several years," said Arnold Palmer. "It's really very encouraging." After shooting himself out of contention in the early going, Palmer closed with a five-under-par 66 in the final round but, like Player, was far back.

"Fantastic," said Lee Elder, who will be the first black to play in the Masters. "Maybe I can surprise some people." He secured a rare double eagle—holing a 182-yard five iron second shot on the par-five 14th hole.

Lee Trevino finished fourth in the wind and biting cold that beat him digging for extra sweaters every round. "I was wearing everything I owned," said Trevino, who shot a late round of 68, 281.

George Knudson of Toronto finished with a 75 for 288, worth $295.

Weiskopf, a leader since his opening round of 64, gushed his lead to six shots with a 15-foot sidehill putt for an eagle on the ninth hole, then cruised home with a 68 and a 275 total, nine under par on the 6,645-yard Sedgefield Country Club course. Al Geiberger slipped in to take second with a 66—278 after Jerry McGee. Weiskopf's only challenger in the final round, hit in the water and made a double bogey on the 17th hole. He was third at 68—280.

"I'm swinging the way I did in '73," said Weiskopf. "I'm hitting the same type of shots."

That was his banner season, one of the great seasons anyone has compiled in recent years. He won seven times in four countries and included the British Open among his triumphs.

But he hadn't won since.

"I'd played inbred last year," Weiskopf said, referring to a hand ailment that plagued him most of 1974. "I compensated, and I got my swing fouled up. This year I've worked hard.

Clifford, Hunter Top Field

INVERMERE, B.C. (CP) — Jim Hunter of Calgary and Betsy Clifford of Old Chelsea, Que., won combined titles in an International Ski Federation slalom and giant slalom during the weekend at Panorama Mountain, 12 miles west of this eastern British Columbia town.

There were 141 entrants in the international event, the second of three spring competitions sanctioned by the federation.

Hunter finished the two-run giant slalom Saturday in two minutes, 35.31 seconds. Dave Irwin of Thunder Bay, Ont., was second in 2:46.77 and Robert Saffrata of Toronto was third in 2:47.15.

In Sunday's slalom, Irwin was first at 1:46.56 for both runs, followed by Hunter in 1:46.35 and Daniel Bergeron of Shawinigan, Que., at 1:46.84.

Kathy Kreiner of Timmins, Ont., finished the Saturday giant slalom in 1:17.81. Betsy Clifford was second in 1:21.54 and her sister Susan was third at 1:22.77.

In the slalom Sunday, Betsy Clifford was first with a time of 1:46.55 for two runs. Susan Aslet of western Ontario had 1:46.97 and Perla Moser of Toronto was third in 1:49.23.

The final event in the series will be held Tuesday and Wednesday at Lake Louise, Alta.

MacDonald Opposes More Toronto Growth

BRESLAU, Ont. (CP) — The MP for Kingston and the Fiera MacDonald, federal Pro gressive Co nservative critic, says that steps should be taken to stop growth in the Toronto area.

parts of Ontario If an acute housing shortage is to be avoided.

"Where industry goes, people go, houses will have to be built. We should be part the time where we consider it economical to have industry only in certain parts of the country," Miss MacDonald said that by the year 2000, Toronto's population will be about seven million people, but no one is stopped to ask Toronto if it wants seven million people."

She said the federal government has not dealt effectively with providing housing because it thinks only in terms of major centres, an attitude that makes the housing situation worse.

Air Canada Machinists Ratify New Contract

MONTREAL (CP) — A two-year agreement to increase salaries by 25 per cent and improve cost-of-living adjustments was ratified by a small majority Sunday following a voting by Air Canada machinists across the country.

The machinists, members of the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers, voted 1,879 to 1,438 to accept the agreement which goes into effect today, a union spokesman said.

Under terms of the agreement, wages are increased 15 per cent in the first year and 10 per cent in the second. The agreement also incorporates cost-of-living adjustments of 25 cents hourly in the first year and $10-a-month during the second.

Hourly salary rules for mechanists during the first year of the contract range from $6.87 to $8.39 in the maintenance division and between $7.33 and

Ninth Consecutive Year

Knicks Earn Playoff Berth

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

For the ninth year in a row, New York Knicks are in the National Basketball Association playoffs, but this year they waited until the last day to get there.

The Knicks, who used to breeze into the playoffs in past years, had to squeeze in this time—and in fact needed the help of another team to do it Sunday.

The Knicks beat Buffalo Braves 105-93 and then had to sweat out Kansas City-Omaha Kings' 95-94 win over Cleveland Cavaliers. The results gave New York and Cleveland identical records of 49-45, but the Knicks claimed the wild-card berth because they beat the Cavaliers 5-1 in their season series.

The Knicks landed the 16th and last berth and will face Houston Rockets Tuesday night in the opener of the Eastern Conference playoffs. In another first-round game Tuesday night, Seattle Supersonics will play Detroit Pistons in the Western Conference.

Both of those quarter-finals are best-of-three affairs. The eastern winner meets Boston Celtics and the western winner takes on Golden State Warriors in the conference semi - final rounds.

The other eastern semi-final opens Thursday with Buffalo at Washington Bullets. Kansas City-Omaha visits Chicago Bulls for the first game of the other western semi-final Wednesday night. All of the semi-finals are best of seven series.

In other games Sunday, Washington beat New Orleans Jazz 119-103, Portland Trail Blazers walloped Los Angeles Lakers 128-97, Seattle stopped Phoenix Suns 114-111 and the Chicago Bulls ripped Milwaukee Bucks 113-108.

In NBA games Saturday, Boston topped Philadelphia 76ers 111-97, Milwaukee dumped Detroit 118-106, Washington overwhelmed Atlanta Hawks 129-115 and Seattle edged Golden State 107-105.

Three quarter-final series opened Sunday in the American Basketball Association with New York Nets topping the Spirits of St. Louis 111-103, Kentucky Colonels beating Memphis Sounds 98-91 and Denver Nuggets defeating Utah Stars 125-107.

Saturday night San Antonio Spurs opened the other quarter-final with a 125-119 decision over Indiana Pacers.

New York's victory overshadowed a 35-point effort by Buffalo's Bob McAdoo which made him the fifth highest single-season scorer in NBA history. McAdoo finished the season with 2,831 points, the most since Wilt Chamberlain accumulated 2,948 with San Francisco in the 1963-64 season.

Nate Archibald scored 33 points and Ron Behagen blocked a shot by Fred Foster with one second left as Kansas City-Omaha shattered Cleveland's playoff hopes.

Wes Unseld hauled down 30 rebounds to win the NBA's rebounding title as Washington defeated New Orleans, 129-103.

Archie Clarke fired in 31 points to lead Seattle over Phoenix while Norm Van Lier scored 26 points and Kicked Ca ertl added 19 to power Chicago past Milwaukee.

Reds Pick Bad Time To Start Losing

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Providence Reds had the best regular-season record in the American Hockey League, but they're changing the rules in the Calder Cup playoffs.

The Reds are one game from playoff elimination after dropping a 5-0 decision Sunday night to Springfield. The Indians lead the best-of-seven quarter-final series 3-1.

After other weekend quarter-final action, Virginia Red Wings and New Haven Nighthawks are tied 1-1, Hershey Bears lead Richmond Robins 3-1 and Nova Scotia Voyageurs and Rochester Americans are tied 2-2.

The Wings downed the Nighthawks 5-2, the Bears beat the Robins 5-2 and the Americans edged the Voyageurs 5-4 in other Sunday games. On Saturday, the Indians stopped the Reds 5-2 and the Bears overcame the Robins 6-2.

Providence dominated its season series with the Massachusetts team, winning seven games and tying three, but since winning the opener 5-4 they have lost 5-0, 5-2 and 5-4.

Loroe Stamler, a rookie from Michigan Tech, has been a big factor in the Springfield surge. A breakaway gave him one of his two goals Sunday. Dale Lewis, Tom Cassidy and Bob Pulkenen were the other scorers for the Indians, who led 3-0 after the first period.

A Springfield crowd of 4,250 saw Springfield goalie Rick Charron turn aside 28 shots to earn the shutout.

Cassidy scored twice and Pete Haraszin, Dennis Abgrall and Stamler once each in Saturday's game.

At Norfolk, Va., a crowd of 3,117 saw the Wings build a 5-0 lead Sunday night before Rick Kessell and Bob Cook deprived Virginia goalie Terry Richardson of a shutout in the third period.

Brian Murphy, Ron Simpson, Ken Mann, Mike Jakubo and Dennis Johnson were the Virginia scorers.

Yves Bergeron scored a pair of goals, including the winner, for Hershey in its Sunday win over the Robins before a Richmond crowd of 3,404.

Other scorers for the Bears were Mario Faubert, Derek Smith and Billy Inglis. Serge Charron had two assists to earn the shutout.

Richmond goalie Bernie Wolfe, who had 36 saves in Sunday's game, turned in an outstanding performance to keep the score down at Hershey Saturday night with 36 saves, including 19 in the third period when he blanked the Bears. Morris Titanic scored twice for Hershey in that game.

Gurtis Clark skated in alone and fired a shot that trickled off the pads of Nova Scotia goalie Ed Walsh at 11:54 of overtime to give the Americans their win before a home crowd of 7,200.

Craig Sarner scored twice and Doug Gibson and rookie defenceman Ray Martel once each for Rochester. Greg Hubick had two goals and Mike Bumiuk and John Van Boxmeer one each for the Voyageurs.

Playoff action resumes Tuesday when the Red Wing-Nighthawk series switches to New Haven. The other series resume Wednesday at Halifax and Hershey and Friday at Providence.

Trophy Honors Gordie Howe

HOUSTON (CP) — The World Hockey Association has announced a new trophy to be presented the most valuable player in the league playoffs—the Gordie Howe Award.

The trophy was unveiled at a Houston Aeros' booster rally gathering Friday and honors the 47-year-old winger who has said this will be his final year, marking the end of a 27-year career as major league hockey's most prolific scorer.

Howe was the MVP award winner in the WHA last year.

The trophy, sculptured in Howe's likeness, was announced by Ben Hatskin of Winnipeg, chief executive officer of the WHA.

"There is no question that this represents one of the most cherished awards a player can receive," Hatskin told the gathering. "The name Howe is synonymous with greatness."

Howe, who went over the 2,000-point mark this year, played 25 years in the National Hockey League with Detroit Red Wings, retiring four years ago to take a front-office job with the Wings organization.

He had, however, expressed a long-standing desire to play on the same team as his two sons, Marty and Mark. When the Aeros plucked the two younger Howes from the Toronto Marlboro Junior organization two years ago, Howe senior went along with the deal, and later signed on as a player, realizing a dream.

KASHIWA WINS CUP

CERVINIA, Italy (AP) — Hank Kashiwa of the United States captured the world professional ski cup Sunday with 14 points margin over France's Henri Duvillard. Kashiwa placed third in a dual slalom race won by Duvillard. Werner Bleiner of Austria was second. Kashiwa won the cup with 360 points, without winning a single race. Duvillard won nine races for 346 points.

WINS PLAYOFF

TAIPEI (AP) — Kuo Chi-Hsiang of Taiwan made a 15-foot birdie putt on the fourth hole of a sudden-death playoff Sunday and won the $20,000 China Open golf tournament. Kuo finished 72-hole regulation play tied at 277 with Haleh Minan of Taiwan and Ben Arda of the Philippines.

The Parable of "The Hotel Man and the BEDBUGS"

Once upon a time there was a hustling young newspaper advertising salesman who called upon the operator of a small hotel in his town. He suggested that the hotel man begin a schedule of display ads to increase the use of his hotel for guests of local people who did not have overnight accommodations for out-of-town guests.

The local hotel entrepreneur agreed there was merit in the suggestion and that advertising to local people for this purpose could result in an increase in his hotel's occupancy rate.

He felt, however, that he could not afford "large enough" ads to do the job. He told the energetic and imaginative young space salesman that "nobody reads small ads".

The not-to-be discouraged newspaper man thought for a moment-and then said, "Mr. Jones, I know people do read small ads. In fact, I'm so convinced they do that I'm going to run a series of two-inch ads for you absolutely free."

This perked up the ears of the slightly reluctant innkeeper, who was still smiles when Mr. Adman said, 'But, I want to write the copy in the ads myself." This didn't seem like a too unreasonable request, so Mr. Jones responded with "O.K., but what are you going to say in my ads?"

"Nine words, Mr. Jones, is all I want in your ad. It will simply read: 'The Jones Hotel has the biggest bedbugs in town.'"

To which the now nearly apoplectic innkeeper responded, "You'll drive me out of business!" and received the quick rejoinder: "Mr. Jones, you said no one ever reads small ads."

MORAL:

People do read small ads. Many a large business started with small ads, and only because the small ads produced results were they able to become big enough to run larger ads. Don't put off telling people about your products or services just because you can't compete elsewhe with larger businesses . . . call today for an Intelligencer display advertising account executive to help you set up a small-space advertising campaign.

Tonight Tells Kingston Tale

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Sudbury Wolves advanced to their first Ontario Hockey Association Major Junior A semi-final series Sunday, tying Ottawa 3-2.

The tie enabled the Wolves to take their eight-game quarter-final series 8-4 and moved them against either Toronto Marlboros, Kingston Canadians, deadlocked 7-7 after Toronto defeated the Canadians 5-2 Sunday.

Kingston plays at home to Toronto tonight to resolve their series. The Canadians defeated Toronto 5-2 in Kingston Saturday.

A sellout crowd of 9,385 in Ottawa watched Geoff Green score at 7:45 of the third period to lift Sudbury to the semi-finals.

Since entering the league in 1973-73 season, the Wolves lost four consecutive quarter-final games to Ottawa and four more to Kitchener Rangers last season.

Ron Duguay scored the other Sudbury goal, the only one in the second period, after Peter Lee and Tim Higgins had moved the Wolves to a fast lead in the first period.

The Wolves peppered goaltender Bob Daly with 42 shots while the 67s managed only 26 as John Leland hit the Sudbury net.

Ottawa was playing without Tim Young and Jim Roberts while Steve Marengere played with a broken thumb. The 67s also lost Bruce Baker with a severe charleyhorse late in the first period.

During the regular season, Ottawa finished in fourth spot, one point ahead of Sudbury. In the series, Sudbury took the opening three games but Ottawa rallied with two wins and two ties.

In Toronto, the Marlboros took period leads of 1-0 and 3-2 and cushioned the lead with two unanswered goals in the final period.

Mark Napier led Toronto with two goals. Mike Kaszycki, John Anderson and John Smrke got the others.

Alex Forsyth and Greg Hotham replied for Kingston, which finished in eighth place after the regular season. Toronto topped the standings and held a 43-point margin over Kingston.

The Canadians outshot Toronto 36-34.

Kingston's inability to score powerplay goals seemed to make the difference as the Marlboros drew eight of 13 penalties assessed, including a five-minute major for highsticking.

On Saturday, the Canadians scored just two short-period goals, the final one into an empty net, to take a temporary lead in that series.

Hotham, Tony McKegney, Barry Smith, Michel Blais and Mike O'Connell scored for Kingston before a crowd of 4,344.

Napier scored twice for the Marlboros while Lynn Jorgrogalo and Steve Ecch each had 36 shots on goal.

Big winners in the annual ANAF Winter Dart Tournament Saturday were the Hawkeyes from Oshawa Legion Branch 43. With the winning dart still in the double 20, Al Grant, Dick Brown, Bill Raderford (who shot the winner) and Doug Grant got $160 to go along with their trophies. Forty-five teams from eastern Ontario registered for the tournament, which concluded with a dance in the ANAF Tartan Lounge.

Hawkeyes Live Up to Name

A four-man team from Oshawa, the Hawkeyes, took top money — $160 — and trophies at the second annual ANAF winter dart tournament Saturday. Al Grant, Pick Brown, Bill Raderford and Doug Grant represented Oshawa Legion Branch 43, one of 40 teams competing.

Tournament organizer Tim Bolsover had 45 teams signed up for the event, with an additional dozen applying after the cutoff. Number kept five registered teams from competing.

Runners-up in team play were Belleville ANAF shooters Dick Thompson, Paul Fellies, Rusty Garvin and Gerry Robertson. Another ANAF team placed third: Bob Totten, Neil Ford, Jack Asselstine and Harry Vesterfelt.

Doubles winners were P. J. Hill and Bob Hart, of the Havelock Legion. Belleville ANAF's Rusty Garvin and Gerry Robertson were second; Trenton Legion ranks shooters Ken McLeod and Archie Beauregard earned third ahead of Belleville Legion Branch 99's Glen Denike and Bob Reid.

Top scorer was Al McGuire of the Whitby Falcons with a maximum 180 and the prize for top woman scorer went to Angie Stitt of Kingston with 132.

WHA Crowds Increase

LOS ANGELES (AP) — This season's attendance for the World Hockey Association has topped the four-million mark. Bud Poile, vice-president and executive director, said Saturday night crowds of 11,569 in Quebec, 8,879 in Cleveland and 8,176 in Houston increased attendance to 4,015,383—an average of 7,477 for each of 537 games.

Marichal Killing For Dodgers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Juan Marichal, the old Dodger-killer, is still at it—only this time he's pitching for them.

The veteran right-hander, recently signed by the Dodgers after failing to come to terms on a contract with Oakland A's, made his spring debut Sunday and was the losing pitcher to Los Angeles' 3-3 exhibition loss to California Angels.

Marichal gave up three runs—all in the first two innings—and seven hits in six innings. He walked four and struck out three ad his performance improved notably after the third inning when he control got better.

Marichal, longtime ace of the rival San Francisco Giants' pitching staff, received a mixed reaction from the Dodger stadium crowd when his name was announced.

But he was applauded when he took the mound for the first time and received a standing ovation from the fans behind the Dodger dugout when he left the field after his final inning.

Elsewhere on the first day of spring training, Baltimore Orioles edged Atlanta Braves 8-7 in 11 innings, Texas Rangers and Houston Astros battled to a 2-2 tie in 11, New York Yankees whipped Pittsburgh Pirates 9-3 in 10, Detroit Tigers clobbered New York Mets 16-1, Minnesota Twins downed Boston Red Sox 7-5, Milwaukee Brewers edged Chicago Cubs 13-6, Chicago White Sox trounced San Diego Padres 9-3 and Oakland A's beat Tucson Toros, their Pacific Coast League farm club, 8-5.

Baltimore's Al Bumbry singled home the winning run to cap a two-run rally in the 13th inning against Atlanta, which dropped eight of nine spring decisions to Baltimore.

Rookie Jim Fregosi homered in the seventh inning to tie the game and the Rangers and Astros battled through 11 innings before the game was called to allow the Rangers to catch a plane home. Bobby Bonds doubled with one out in the 11th and scored on Bob Oliver's single to lift the Yankees past the Pirates.

Mauch Goes With Rookies

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Bob Gibson of St. Louis Cardinals takes the mound tonight against the Montreal Expos in his 10th straight National League season-opening assignment.

"He's been throwing well," said Cards' manager Red Schoendienst, referring to Gibson's 3.21 earned run average in six spring training games. "He pitched more games this spring than he has the last two."

Gibson, the major leagues' top active winner with 224 career triumphs, was hampered in 1974 while recovering from previous knee surgery. The 39-year-old two-time winner of the Cy Young Award has vowed to cap a 17-season career with a flourish this summer.

"I've never thought spring training meant much. But I've been satisfied with the way I've been throwing. The thing that's encouraging is the knee. When I wake up in the middle of the night I halfway expect it to be stiff like it was last year, but it isn't.

The Expos' lineup will include only shortstop Tim Foli and catcher Barry Foote from Montreal's starting roles on opening day a year ago.

Manager Gene Mauch will go with a lineup that includes rookies Tony Scott and Gary Carter flanking newcomer Pepe Mangual in the outfield and last rookie Larry Parrish at third base.

By contrast, St. Louis' lineup remains the same as in 1974 with the exception of Ed Brinkman, a veteran from the American League; ex-shortstop and rookie Keith Hernandez at first base.

Another Montreal newcomer is left-hander Dave McNally, a former American League all-star for Baltimore Orioles, who will be Gibson's pitching opponent.

District Teams Looking Good After Weekend Action

Success came in large helpings for area teams involved in Ontario Minor Hockey Association provincial final playoff series on the weekend.

It wasn't all roses for teams representing communities in the district but teams which took commanding leads in their showdown sets or remain strong contenders for honors.

In Juvenile AA action at Oakridge Village, Trenton Birt's Handy Stand, bidding for an unprecedented three straight Ontario titles, came out of the opening two games of the eight-point series with a split. The teams traded 6-4 wins.

Saturday, Birt's got a pair of goals from Dave Lewis and singles from Harold Roberts and Rick Matheson. Joe Henry looked after the bulk of the Oakridge production, coupling four goals. Tom Walton and Jeff Stevenson rounded out the Midwest scoring.

The Trenton team was never headed in the Sunday match. Leading the club to even terms in the set was Lewis, with a pair of markers. Matheson, Roberts, Bob Thompson and Dave Stevenson connected for the other Birt's goals.

Henry, Steve Stoyanovich, Greg Heiscon and Jerry Lalaid hit for Oakridge.

The teams are in Trenton on the weekend for Games 7 and 8.

Saturday at Trenton Community Gardens, the action is called for 7 p.m. start and Sunday, the teams go at it at 3 p.m.

Remaining games are scheduled for Trenton, Wednesday, April 16 at 7 p.m. Oakridge Village, Friday, April 18 and Trenton, April 20 at 3 p.m.

Bantam B play in Exeter saw Picton Kiwanis drop a pair as the title set opened but after a lopsided 10-1 reversal in a Saturday match, Kiwanis showed Sunday that the club is far from being written off when the home team had to work for a narrow 5-4 win.

Picton owned a 4-0 lead after two periods Sunday but couldn't hold Exeter off in the third frame when the winners whipped in five unanswered goals to pull it out.

"They're a big, aggressive team," commented Picton club manager Vern Armstrong. "But we proved Sunday we can skate with them."

Kiwanis gets a chance to square things this weekend at home with games Saturday (8 p.m.) and Sunday (2 p.m.).

Dennis Brown was the loos Picton marksman Saturday. Duane Krock potted two Sunday with singles for Darryl Crane and Steve Allan.

In Teeswater, Marmora Bantams marked up within a win of capturing the second OMHA title for the village they represent when they skated to a 7-3 win Sunday after opening the six-point series with a 7-6 win Saturday in Madoc.

The Marmora club can wrap it up Friday night in Madoc when Teeswater will be in town for an 8 p.m. match.

Most of the players on the Will Terrico-coached team were with the Ontario championship Marmora Peewees two years ago. Tom Henley is club manager and Bob Baech, trainer.

Brighton's OPP Peewees took the opener of their C series final, Saturday at home, topping Mitchell 5-3 as Brian Rorabeck scored twice and picked up an assist.

Mike Cline, Larry Reddom and Alan Currie each scored once for the home side.

Mitchell marksmen were Jay Heinbuck with two, and Mike Pedersen.

Only four minor penalties were assessed in the game with the winners on the receiving end each time.

The series switches to Mitchell for Games 2 and 3, Saturday and Sunday.

A polished Wellington Loyalist Coach Lines team is just one win away from the Peewee D crown after taking a 2-0 lead in games by turning back Cayuga Sunday in Cayuga.

The third game is scheduled to be played in Wellington, Friday night at 7:30 p.m.

Glenn McQuaid potted three goals for Wellington. Singles went to Dick Mountney, Don Macdonald, Stewart Carter and John Jackson.

1975 OASA Executive Elected

SCARBOROUGH (Special) — Port Perry's Vicny Walker, a strong favorite with Bay of Quinte delegates to the 53rd annual Ontario Amateur Softball Association convention here on the weekend, upheld the faith placed in his capabilities when he was elected president.

Two Belleville men were also elected to office.

Moving from second vice-president to first vice-president, is Belleville recreation director Cliff Belch. Jim Tebworth was returned as a member of the executive council.

Bruce Nickle and Doug Murray of Belleville along with Bill Huffman of Trenton and Terry DeRoche, Picton will serve as special OASA coopers.

Rounding out the 1975 executive are past president Tom Sims of Meaford; second vice-president Don Prescott of Little Current; third vice-president, George Thomas, Simcoe; secretary, George Malcolm, Windsor, and treasurer, LeRoy Pickard, St. Catharines.

Roger Stewart of Grimsby and Clare Butler, Willowdale, were elected auditors and the executive council members are Leo Burger, Niagara Falls, Jim Conlin, Peterborough, Jim Gillet, Scarborough, Keith Fleming, Oshawa, Jim Tebworth, Belleville and Mike Yourkevich, Oshawa.

Appointed to the executive council were Jack Higgins, Kemptville, Norm Fraser, Willowdale, Len Henderson, Markham, Carol Martin, Timbrook and Bill Prince, Sudbury.

Your Horoscope

By BERRICE BEDE OSOL

Tuesday April 8

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Don't bring people into the act now who aren't helpful or pertinent to your immediate cause. They'll only gum things up.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Be careful not to criticize someone who's been helpful to you recently. Your remarks will anger this person when he learns of them.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Something will be offered you. You may think you're entitled to more. Don't talk yourself out of a good thing.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You know the course of action you should now take but at the last minute you'll switch tactics to less-effective methods.

LEO (July 23-Aug 23) It's difficult for you to keep a secret today. You'll disclose something you shouldn't, then worry that you did.

VIRGO (Aug 23-Sept 22) Stand firm on an agreement you work out with another. Keep it fair to both parties. Don't let your selfish interests predominate.

LIBRA (Sept 23-Oct 23) Be careful that another doesn't overshadow you on something achieved. This person is not entitled to share the returns.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22) Put a limit on assistance you offer a pal when he comes to you for advice or she'll expect you to do the physical end too.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 21) This can be a profitable day if you don't divert your attention to frivolous things. Keep your mind on business.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) If you're not careful you'll exceed your budget on something you want for your children. Shop only for what you can afford.

Jim: "South became a member after going down at three notrump. He remarked: "Hida seen that my diamond suit was not satisfactory. I da made my contract."

Oswald: "South won the spade lead with dummy's jack and promptly led a club to his queen. West won with the ace and shifted to a heart. East was allowed to win and continued hearts. South took the third heart in dummy, cashed four diamonds but could not get to his hand to score the last two."

Jim: "South was very unlucky. East had made a brilliant defensive play when he continued hearts instead of leading a spade back. Had he done so, South could have ducked and discarded a diamond from dummy. Later on he could unblock by discarding another diamond on the ace of spades. East's continuation of hearts ruined this chance."

Oswald: "South had two ways to make his contract. The simple one would have been to overtake dummy's jack of spades with his queen, lead the low spade right back and discard a diamond right then. The second diamond would go on the ace of spades later."

To Your Good Health

Angina Patients Need All Tricks

By G. C. THOSTESON, MD

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 67 years old. Seven years ago I suffered a slight heart attack. Shortly afterward, I began suffering angina attacks. I am a potato farmer and still do what work I can, driving a tractor or truck.

However, walking bothers me as much as anything, especially upgrade. I am taking medication for my angina. Can you tell me if I am better off keeping active or should I retire completely?—F.K.

Many angina patients continue active lives and learn the art of using nitroglycerine tablets—a real perfection to take one, when not to. They don't have to wait for an attack, but learn to anticipate a potential attack situation, such as before heavy activity or a heavy meal, or, in your case, when there is a need to walk uphill or on inclines.

They learn, too, that exertion is not the only factor in bringing on an attack. Breathing cold air will induce anginal pain.

But, as to your question: I would not advise you to retire, but instead I advise you to learn all the tricks you need, including the ones I've listed, so you can remain active, safely.

Take cold, for example. There is a plastic mask that can be worn over the nose and mouth in cold, windy weather.

As to your walking, be aware that tractors and trucks, especially as they get on in years, become unpredictable in behavior. Since walking gives you problems, you should be armed with a whistle or a horn, so that if you are ever stranded or up 30 acres away from the dinner bell, you can give a signal to let someone know to come and pick you up.

If you are overweight, reduce—admittedly, a tough assignment with a farm kitchen around.

Studies have shown that anginal discomfort can be reduced, along with the need for nitrotreatment, if one engages in regular but mild forms of exercise. Driving a tractor or truck strikes reasonable limits seems to qualify for this.

So, no, there's no need for retirement, even though you are 67, beyond the benefits of accepted retirement age. Having been as active as you probably have been all your life, you might deteriorate more quickly as a retiree.

I would suggest a modification of your choices, especially those involving extensive walking. And there is medication besides nitroglycerine which can be used in a regular, non-emergency dosage to avoid angina pain.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have always had healthy fingernails. For the past few years I've been troubled with ridges on only some of my nails. I've left polish off for weeks, and have been keeping them with creams. I always wear gloves for chores, so you recommend, so it can't be soap.

Also, I have another problem. My jaw seems to move around. My left ear seems to be involved. The whole thing is bothering me.—Mrs. E.B.

Nails first. I presume you are referring to longitudinal, or lengthwise, ridges. Small ones are not uncommon as one gets older. Large ridges can be caused by a defect in care, for example: at the base of the nail, or in the matrix from which the nail growth begins.

Local injection of creams will not help this. Often, it is a matter of the stress to which your nails have been subjected over your lifetime. It is not unusual for only two or three nails to be affected. The thumb and forefinger nails of the hands seem to take the worst of this punishment over the years.

As for your jaw problem, have your dentist check your "bite." Malclosion of the teeth can often be a factor. This can produce pressure or sensations with jaw movement.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I've had a sore throat for over a month, on the back of my tongue. The first tonsils were removed. Is it possible I have another tonsil? Health other than for this. Could this tonsil be diseased?—A.

Everyone has this second pair of tonsils. They are called lingual tonsils to distinguish them from the palatine tonsils, the pair that is seen prominently at the rear of the throat, the ones that usually cause the most problems.

The lingual tonsils were there at the time you had your earlier tonsillectomy, but they probably were not so prominent and there was no need for their removal.

The lymphoid tissue, of which tonsils are composed, has a capability of regeneration, and this accounts for more pronounced in some persons than in others. It is possible for tonsils to come back. But from your letter regeneration does not seem to be the problem. I believe you are referring to some larger tonsils.

With your history of chronic sore throat, you could be dealing with a recurring infection of these tonsils. You should return to your doctor. Removal would depend upon the size and the degree of infection.

CP News Roundup

May Order Teachers Back to Job

PARRHILL, Ont. (CP) — The Ontario government is under pressure to force striking Ontario secondary school teachers back to work, William Stewart, Ontario minister of agriculture, said during the weekend.

Mr. Stewart, speaking Saturday at the opening of a $1.8-million addition to North Middlesex district high school at Parkhill, 25 miles northwest of London, said that if the teachers' salary dispute is not settled soon, the government might have to legislate them back to work.

The strike, affecting more than 28,000 students, started Feb. 27.

The minister said the teachers' proposals for increases of 47 per cent are "completely unreasonable."

He also criticized Metropolitan Toronto's 12,000 secondary school teachers who are asking for salary increases of 43.8 per cent in a one-year contract.

"Surely the demands have gone too far," Mr. Stewart said."If every teacher in Ontario demanded, and got, a 40 per cent increase, the bite on the province would come to an additional $560 million."

Demands Opposed

TORONTO (CP) — A request for a 35-per-cent wage increase by Toronto's 4,300 policemen was termed "exorbitant" Saturday by a lawyer for the metropolitan board of police commissioners.

George Mace told an arbitration hearing for the 1975 police contract that present salaries and benefits were substantial.

"The commission seriously questions the advisability of continuing the trend to escalate police salaries and benefits at a greater rate than those of the taxpayers who ultimately are required to provide the funds necessary for the financing of the force," he said.

Plane Crashes

BOBCAYGEON, Ont. (CP) — James Banford of Yellowknife, N.W.T., escaped injury Sunday when his single-engine aircraft crashed on a private airstrip near this community 20 miles northwest of Peterborough. Police said the airplane flipped over when its wheels dug in at the airstrip, which had not been plowed since a snowstorm last week. There were no passengers aboard.

Many Inquiries

ORILLIA, Ont. (CP) — Response here to the adoption of Vietnamese orphans is excellent, an immigration officer said Sunday.

Charles Brooks, Canadian immigration representative here, said his office has received more than 100 inquiries and telephone calls during the weekend.

"It is excellent for the size of Orillia," he said.

Violence Feared

LETHBRIDGE (CP)—The next major confrontation between Indians and the federal government might result in people being shot unless the government starts responding to native problems, says the Canadian director of the American Indian Movement (AIM).

Ed Burnstick of Edmonton said Friday that the government has taken a negative view of what is happening to Indians in Canada.

Twenty Homeless

OTTAWA (CP) — Twenty persons were left homeless early Sunday by fire that burned through a body shop and five adjoining apartments in neighboring Vanier. Firemen estimated damage at $140,000. The blaze is believed to have started in rubbish or rags inside the body shop. No injuries were reported.

Queen May Visit

LONDON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth is likely to attend the Olympic Games in Montreal next year and then may visit the United States to attend celebrations marking the 200th anniversary of its independence from Britain, a Buckingham Palace spokesman said Sunday. But the spokesman stressed that no definite plans have been made.

South Africans Told Unisex Threatens Nation

JOHANNESBURG (Reuter) — South Africans have been warned of the tactics the country's "enemies" are using to destroy the nation's morals—the unisex trend in clothes, butterfly motifs as decoration and bright red apples as sex symbols.

The warning comes in the current issue of Salvo, the weekly publication of the state run Armaments Corp.

In a full-page article entitled "Know Thine Enemy," this week's issue says: "A strategy is being practised by the enemies of our country in using harmless looking symbol to deceive, lure and finally destroy."

On the unisex trend, Salvo comments: "A major campaign of the enemy is to break down nature's clear line of demarcation between the sexes. The symbol the enemy uses is a circle with a line through the centre implying ball man, half-woman.

"Men's and women's clothes, which are identical, are being advertised.

"Think of the psychological effect on young children when the father and mother images are so effectively obscured. Thus the seeds are planted for a homosexualized world."

Referring to the apple as a sex symbol, Salvo says that the replica of a bright red apple with a piece bitten out of it is frequently worn on blouses and shirts and also appears as decoration on writing paper.

The impression one gives in wearing such a symbol is that of sexiness or nakedness," the article says.

On the butterfly, Salvo says the butterfly motif implies moral laxity. The butterfly, it notes, flits from flower to flower in search of color, seeking nectar.

Beef Given Away

WINNIPEG (CP) — The Manitoba Cow-Calf Producers Association, protesting the economic plight of the farmer, tried to give away 1,300 pounds of ground beef Saturday. But when the demonstration ended, the farmers had almost 500 pounds left.

The protest, held on the grounds of the legislature, drew about 500 people who received two pounds each. It was the second such protest by the farmers in recent weeks.

When the first demonstration was held March 20 at Winnipeg City Hall, about 875 people showed up and 175 were turned away empty-handed when supplies ran out.

Few Tax Cuts Likely in Budget

TORONTO (CP) — Opposition spokesmen at the legislature say they expect few tax cuts or vote-winning measures tonight when Ontario Treasurer Darcy McKeough brings down the provincial budget.

But they see the timing of what may be an election-year budget as important in tactics of the Progressive Conservative government, coming as it does two days before a federal provincial energy conference.

Ian Deans, NDP house leader, said in an interview that rather than promising new programs which would add to inflation, the government is likely to blame Ottawa for its economic and social ills.

Liberal finance critic James Breithaupt said he foresees that the government might allow "certain packages of goodies . . ." but tax cuts would not be among them.

More important in what he suggests might be the Conservative election plan, is the Ottawa conference where Ontario is expected to oppose any increase in oil prices.

If the results of that meeting go badly for Ontario, it would "give Premier Davis the opportunity to fight the election by fighting Ottawa," he said. "What we could well have is a budget announced and an election called before I even get a chance to reply to it."

The NDP spokesman predicted that the 2:30 p.m. EST budget would contain "more puffery and argument with Ottawa" than election-aimed goodies."

Both parties expect a sizeable deficit of between $1 billion to $1.5 billion in a $10 billion budget.

Opposition spokesmen see possible "marginal increases" in social benefits, tax credits for eastern and Northern Ontario or a one-per-cent cut in sales tax and an end or modification to the land-speculation and land transfer taxes.

The latter measures, introduced last year to inhibit speculation and increases in housing prices, have collected little revenue and alienated Conservative party supporters, opposition critics say.

Modification or abolition of the taxes would be presented as a measure to stimulate housing production, critics say.

Housing Minister Donald Irvine has made known that the provincial budget for housing this year will be increased to more than $434 million from $374 million, but critics say he is playing with figures and much of that amount has been committed in existing programs.

The actual increase will be "considerably less than they'll try to sell," Mr. Deans said.

Woman Saved By Her Friends

CHATHAM, Ont. (CP) — Two Detroit women saved the life of a friend Friday after ignoring fellow passengers on a CNR passenger train who insisted the woman was dead.

Kathy Ellen Carakostas, 21, also of Detroit, collapsed in her seat from a heart attack on the Windsor-to-Toronto train. Traveling companions, Donna Brennan, 21, and Kimberly Miller, 22, applied external cardiac massage and mouth-to-mouth resuscitation.

"A lot of people were saying she was dead," Miss Brennan, a nursing student, said Sunday.

She and Miss Miller, a nursing assistant, continued first aid until the train arrived in Chatham and Miss Carakostas, a ward clerk at a Detroit hospital, was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital. Her condition was fair Sunday.

Help Orphans

TORONTO (CP) — A team, headed by Victoria Leach, adoption co-ordinator for Ontario, left Sunday for Hong Kong to work with officials of internal affairs and the immigration department in the transfer of Vietnamese orphans to Canada.

The team, including a doctor, a nurse and social worker, left by commercial plane. They will help orphans bound for Ontario.

The orphans are being ferried to Hong Kong from Saigon by Canadian forces Hercules aircraft.

Davis to Fight Oil Price Boost

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario Premier William Davis has warned that his provinces will stand strongly against any attempt by Western oil-producing provinces to get large increases in oil prices at next week's federal-provincial energy conference in Ottawa.

He said in a speech Saturday night that "we might indulge in a little less gentlemanly stickhandling and a little more body contact."

"I don't think there should be any mistake about the implications of increasing the price of crude oil and natural gas. Even an increase of $1 per barrel for crude oil will eliminate thousands of jobs in the consuming areas of Canada, as well as adding to the already dangerous inflationary pressures."

"What it would also do, of course, if the pattern of the 1974 increase is followed, is fatten the treasury of the federal government and the producing provinces without necessarily adding anything to our capacity to bring on new supplies of oil and natural gas in Canada.

Mr. Davis said he did not want to indulge in what he called the "we-have-to-pay-more" syndrome, when Ontario paid a higher price for Canadian oil than it would have paid for imported oil for about 10 years.

"We agreed to the commitment of the big industrial market of Ontario, west of the Ottawa River, to the oil producers of Western Canada. We agreeed because the producing provinces needed the market. . .

He said Ontario should make any needed contributions toward the Canadian confederacy, whether equalization payments, assistance to producing provinces or co-operation with other governments in strengthening Confederation.

"But at a point, resistance begins," he warned. "Demands must be reasonable."

Lewis Opposes Blakeney Plan

TORONTO (CP) — Stephen Lewis, Ontario NDP leader, says the Ontario government has already decided to capitulate to western demands for higher oil prices.

The Progressive Conservatives will make tough speeches against the price increases but have already decided to accept the higher tariff, Mr. Lewis told a Metropolitan Toronto-area party conference Saturday.

He said an increase of $2 a barrel, proposed by Saskatchewan Premier Allan Blakeney, was "blind extortion on the part of the oil companies," and said the increase would mean Ontario oil consumers will pay $400 million more each year.

CAMBRIDGE, Ont. (CP) — Fire destroyed the Iroquois Hotel in downtown Cambridge early Sunday.

One fireman was taken from the scene in an ambulance. His condition was not immediately known. No other injuries were reported.

Idle Total Peaks

OTTAWA (CP) — Unemployment in Central Canada last month was the worst in almost 14 years, Statistics Canada reported today.

The March unemployment rate in Quebec was nine per cent and in Ontario six per cent.

Across the country the rate went to 7.2 per cent from 6.8 in February. There also were increases in unemployment in the East but virtually no change in the West.

A total of 840,000 were without jobs.

A major part of the problem was caused by new job seekers. The economy has not been growing fast enough to create jobs for people wanting work.

The nine-per-cent unemployment rate in Quebec is the worst since September, 1961, and is up from 8.6 per cent in February. The rate in the province was about seven per cent at the start of the winter.

In Ontario, the rate had jumped to six per cent in January, then back to 5.8 per cent in February. The last previous time it was at six per cent was in April, 1964.

These figures all are adjusted to account for seasonal variations.

The actual unemployment rate last month was 8.6, unchanged from February. The labor force increased by almost 75,000 workers in March.

Total employment was 8.95 million, up from 8.87 million in February.

The seasonally-adjusted figures indicate the number wanting jobs was growing more than twice as fast as job openings.

Postmen May Strike

OTTAWA (CP) — A strike by 16,000 letter carriers might come early next week should their union reject a conciliation report released Monday to government and management negotiators. Proposals included in the conciliation report were kept secret at the request of the Letter Carriers' Union of Canada, and the bargaining agent for the workers.

Thieu Escapes

SAIGON (AP) — A South Vietnamese jet fighter bombed and rocketed the presidential palace in Saigon today, but President Nguyen Van Thieu escaped unhurt.

Premier Meets Rebels

PHNOM PENH (AP) — Premier Long Boret was reported today to have made contact with the Khmer Rouge. The premier stopped in Bangkok, and Thai Foreign Minister Charichai Choonhavan reported that he met for four hours Monday night "with a party of the other side concerning peace talks."

Morning In Jail Planned

By MARGARET HAYLOCK
Staff Reporter

PICTON — Town councillors, accompanied by Picton Mayor Donald King, will spend Saturday morning in jail to familiarize themselves with the lock-up.

The decision to visit the old county court house and jail where the town leases lock-up facilities came in response to a motion from the Picton Police Commission terming the lock-up "a most deplorable situation".

Council also received a detailed report of the lock-up and its facilities from Picton Police Chief Charles Fletcher.

"While a prisoner is incarcerated in our cells the only way he can relieve himself is by using a pail which is placed outside the cell door," stated Chief Fletcher.

"There are no floor drainages in the cells or corridor and the heating is effected by three hot water radiators placed along the outside wall of the cell corridor."

A motion from the police commission stated: "We feel it is our responsibility, on behalf of the town, to take action to rectify as most deplorable situation insofar as the lock-up facilities which are now in use by the town are concerned and to recommend to the council in as strong terms as possible, that some steps must be taken to rectify the situation."

At last month's council meeting it was observed the lock-up does not meet all required safety standards and should an inmate commit suicide the town would share heavily in the responsibility for his death.

Mayor Donald King suggested a tour of the lock-up is necessary before council can further discuss the police commission's motion and Chief Fletcher's report.

Employee for 33 Years Refused Picton Pension

By MAGARET HAYLOCK
Staff Reporter

PICTON — Picton Councillor Russell Alexander Monday termed council's refusal to grant a monthly pension to a long-term municipal employee as "showing discrimination."

John Carey, who retired in 1973, had been an employee of the public works department for 33 years.

He appealed to council by letter for an actuarial pension allowance, stating he had had no opportunity to contribute toward a town-sponsored pension plan, a privilege now available to municipal workers.

Councillor Alexander rele rred to council's approval of a $100 per month retirement allowance to retired police chief George Pitt and said he could see no difference in the requests for a superannuation.

"If one gets it the other should too," he said.

Either we give him (Mr. Carey) $100 a month or we should rescind the policeman's allowance," added Mr. Alexander.

He moved provision of an annual pension of $1,200 for Mr. Carey but the motion was defeated.

Councillor Richard Byers suggested council was "once again falling into the mistake of dealing with personalities instead of principles."

He said the question councillors must answer is whether or not they support pensions paid by the town for retired employees.

Councillor Alexander observed he was in agreement with this question of principle but asked why a pension had been given to one man — the police chief.

"A good question," replied one councillor.

Mayor Donald King pointed out Chief Pitt did contribute to a pension plan for 10 years before retirement.

He contended that Mr. Carey had had an opportunity to contribute but did not do so.

Picton deputy-reeve Larry Richardson said councillor Alexander had forced other members of council to take "a good honest look" at themselves.

He said from a practical point of view, if council supported the pension request, it would be setting a potentially harmful precedent.

It was noted by councillor Norman Marsh that the Municipal Act does not permit the town to supplement the pension incomes of employees hired after 1940.

Budget Bolsters Economy

Sales Tax Slashed To Stimulate Buying

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario Treasurer Darcy McKeough distributed a wide assortment of tax cuts and other benefits Monday night—including a slash in the retail sales tax to five cents seven per cents—in a budget expected to be the last before a provincial general election this year.

Besides the sales-tax cut, effective only for the remainder of this calendar year and worth an estimated $230 million to consumers, he provided an $85-million lift to first-home buyers—also effective this year only—and knocked 450,000 low-income earners off provincial income-tax rolls in addition to spreading around other cheer.

All old-age pensioners will automatically qualify for free prescription drugs, adding 375,000 beneficiaries for a total of one million at an additional cost of $15 million.

The province's guaranteed annual income payments will rise by an average $9.50 a month to make Ontario's minimum income for consumers the highest in Canada, nosing out British Columbia.

Buyers or builders of their first home between now and the end of 1975 will qualify for $1,500 grants, $1,000 immediately and $250 a year for the next two years.

Industry gets a temporary break worth $410 million through elimination of the sales tax on production machinery and equipment up to the end of 1977, while $19 million a year will be saved through elimination of taxes on gasoline and diesel fuel for commercial use.

In all, the package of tax cuts and benefits added up to $607 million for the current fiscal year, though Mr. McKeough calculated the net cost of the budget measures would be $430 million when offsetting items are taken into account.

These include $100 million to be received in corporation taxes in the current fiscal year through advancing the due dates of payments, and $30 million resulting from a decision that oil and gas royalties will not be credited against provincially-taxable income.

Talking to reporters before he went to the legislature with his third budget, the 45-year-old Mr. McKeough smilingly skirted questions about whether it was an election-aimed document.

"Whether it is the right kind of budget politically is a point I am sure you will have no hesitation about deciding for yourselves," he said.

If observers saw election implications in the one-shot 1975 budget goodies, Mr. McKeough said he regards them as expedients to add to purchasing power to help Ontario over a weak spot in the economy, which he expected to be rectified by the last quarter of 1975.

Something for Everybody

Budget Seen as Springboard To Catapult PCs to Victory

TORONTO (CP) — Treasurer Darcy McKeough presented a springboard budget to the people of Ontario Monday night.

It is a budget from which the Progressive Conservative government of William Davis hopes to catapult to another victory in the general election expected later this year.

The budget that contains a little something for everybody—including a cut to five per cent from seven per cent in the retail sales tax, more money and free drugs for pensioners and a $1,500 incentive plan for first-time home buyers.

Significantly, two of the major government incentives, the sales tax cut and the home grant, will be terminated the programs indefinitely and the economy is expected to take a turn for the better by then.

Political observers expect that the election will probably be held no later than this fall.

The treasurer served notice that Ontario will take a tough stand on oil prices at the federal-provincial energy conference in Ottawa Wednesday and Thursday.

Political observers predict that Ontario's resistance to continuing increases in oil prices may be a major plank in the government's electoral platform.

For Other Stories On Ontario Budget
See Page 19

At a news conference Mr. McKeough consistently avoided questions on what effect an 18-per-cent increase from the present $6.50 a barrel would have on his budget.

But he said in his speech natad at the end of the year.

Mr. McKeough told a news conference that the government couldn't afford to opthat any increase would be harmful.

"A further oil-price increase in Canada would severely retard the anticipated recovery in the Canadian and, Ontario economies."

His prediction is that the Ontario economy will take a turn for the better later this year.

And government members are hoping that Progressive Conservative party will do the same with the al dof the new budget.

Budget Highlights

TORONTO (CP) — Highlights of the Ontario budget tabled in the legislature Monday:

Retail sales tax reduced to five per cent from seven per cent until Dec. 31, 1975.

Seven-per-cent sales tax removed from machinery and equipment, also to the end of the year.

Payments under the province's guaranteed annual income system, affecting about 303,000 pensioners, raised and free prescription drugs provided for all pensioners effective Aug. 1.

About 450,000 low-income taxpayers removed from provincial income tax rolls.

Budgetary deficit set at $1,215 million for fiscal 1975-76 on revenues of $8,777 million and expenditures of $10,192 million.

Buyers of new or used homes to get a $1,500 grant. Loans and grants to various programs increased to stimulate housing construction.

Gasoline and diesel fuel taxes removed for industrial, commercial and institutional u ;h uses, such as hospitals and schools.

Tax credits for small businesses doubled to a maximum of $6,000 from $3,000 a year, and compensation provided to small firms to cover the cost of collecting retail sales tax.

Level of exemption from succession duties on estates increased to $250,000 from $150,000, and $75,000 in assets of small businesses or farms transferred to members of family exempted from paying gift tax.

Farmers to receive provincial guarantee to protect them against losses below a certain production level caused by high fertilizer and energy costs. Owners of tree farms to get 50-per-cent rebate on property taxes.

Provincial payments to municipalities increased by 16.3 per cent but not enough to prevent anticipated higher property taxes in 1975-76.

Government restraints on crowds expected to bring a 2.5-per-cent reduction in civil-service ranks.

Tax write off on environmental protection equipment extended two years.

The program is to remain in effect until Dec. 31, 1975. Price of the dwelling will have no bearing on the grants.

Ontario residents will find, however, that it will cost as much as ever to build a home in some of life's smaller luxuries—such as dining out and having a cocktail or two.

The existing 10-per-cent retail sales tax on alcoholic beverages, prepared meals valued at more than $4 and admission fees will remain in effect.

Consumers Aided In Inflation Fight

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario consumers—especially those contemplating major purchases such as a home or car—received some welcome relief from inflation in the budget announced Monday night by Treasurer Darcy McKeough.

Mr. McKeough announced that, effective today, the basic retail sales tax rate is being reduced from five per cent to five per cent. This reduction will remain in effect until Dec. 31, 1975.

He estimated that the individual consumer will save about $100 on purchase of a new car and a total of about $125 on appliances and furnishings for a home. The direct benefits to consumers from this tax cut will be about $230 million a year.

Buying a house to store the furnishings and appliances and at which to park that new car also will be made more appetizing under a grant program announced in the budget speech.

Effective today, Mr. McKeough said, anyone purchasing a first home, whether new or old, in Ontario will receive a $1,000 grant the first year plus an additional $250 in each of the two succeeding years, for a total grant of $1,500.

Hercules Gets No Refugees

THE CANADIAN PRESS

A Canadian Forces Hercules left Saigon today without any Indochina war orphans aboard.

The 90-seat aircraft landed in Hong Kong with only seven Asian and one child, not believed to be an orphan. An immigration department spokesman said the Ottawa today that the cabin is empty of Saigon were Canadian officials.

"We are still on a standby situation," the spokesman said. "If Saigon says we can get another plane in and there are people we can bring out, we will go."

It is believed that a curfew imposed after the Monday night bombing of the presidential palace in Saigon prevented refugees from reaching the plane.

Meanwhile, Immigration Minister Robert Andras said in the Commons Monday that while thousands of Canadian families have offered to adopt war orphans "many of them will not receive children."

"Our best estimate in a confused situation is that there may not be more than 50, 100 or 150 children."

Replying to opposition questions, Mr. Andras said Canada requires exit visas for all the children. The government did not want to remove children whose parents might be alive and looking for them.

His prediction is that the Ontario economy will take a turn for the better later this year.

And government members are hoping that Progressive Conservative party will do the same with the al dof the new budget.

Waiting For Spring

The bubbly laughter of youth and the serious business of adult relaxation are reflected in O Hara Mill just north of Madoc. Both are waiting for each other, still captured in winter's prolonged grasp. Soon the saw will be singing its interesting tune again for the folks who enjoy coming to this pastoral setting to breath clean air or perhaps catch a pink-fleshed trout in the pond, which is all part of the complex publicly owned by the Moira Conservation Authority.

Ontario Would Aid Orphans

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Hundreds of Ontario families have offered to provide permanent homes for orphaned South Vietnamese children but there may not be enough children to go around.

The airlift of orphans out of the Saigon has slowed because opposition critics claimed the plan was a propaganda move by the government of President Thieu.

Picton Advertising Rent Help Program

PICTON — A rent supplement program proposed through the Ontario Housing Corporation will be advertised in Picton and the response evaluated.

Town councillors Monday agreed to insertion of the ad in the local paper after hearing the rental supplement program explained by OHC representative John Cook.

Under the program the OHC seeks rental accommodation for lower income families who are spending more than they can afford for housing.

The rental supplement program for landlords will guarantee units will be occupied at the prevailing market rents for three years or more. Rents will be tested annually to ensure their consistency will rents in the Picton area.

If the program is introduced the town would contribute seven and a half per cent of

Suggest Taxi Move

PICTON — The Picton police commission has suggested to town council that taxis now renting parking slots on Main Street could be given stands in a central area of the Market Square from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

A metered area on Main George Ward officiated at the service.

"It might also be considered wise to whether 5 minute parking would be appropriate and that, in this way, traffic would be constantly moving from this particular area. Yet it would give the public an opportunity to park, go in a store, pick up parcels and return within the 15-minute time limit," stated the commission.

any operating loss resulting from the operating cost of the housing units.

For developers, the OHC will provide a second mortgage financing at below market interest rates — up to 25 per cent of capital cost — to bring mortgage financing up to 95 per cent of construction cost. In return, developers are requested to participate in the rent supplement program.

John Cook, an OHC representative told council renters are subsidized for the difference in what they can afford to pay and what the landlord is charging. Tenants are integrated into the community and signs associated with low rental housing is removed.

He noted rental supplement housing involving about 2,000 units have been introduced in several communities the size of Picton as well as in large centres such as Oshawa and Toronto.

Mr. Cook told council there are now 26 families in Picton on a waiting list for low rental housing and 80 senior citizens also seeking accommodation. He suggested the rental supplement program would fill an immediate need.

Picton deputy-reeve Larry Richardson suggested the OHC proposal appears as a "mop-up measure" and " a different kind of plan."

He said he plans to stress to Prince Edward county council that a delay of undetermined length has been suggested by the OHC in relation to senior citizen housing until construction here.

Park Plan Review

Trenton official clerk Aubrey Sharp (left) and Deputy — Clerk Arden Royce stand on either side of Toronto consultant Brad Johnson as he points out details Monday of the final draft of the master plan for Centennial Park on Trenton's waterfront. The consultant estimates development cost for the project could range between $700,000 and $1 million and take a minimum of five years to complete.

New Reeve In

PICTON — Picton deputy — reeve Larry Richardson Monday was acclaimed reeve of the town following the resignation of reeve Ross Cronkwright, who resigned in March because of ill health.

Councillor Richard Byers, a lawyer who topped the polls last December was acclaimed to fill the vacant deputy-reeve's seat.

To fill the vacant council seat resulting from the shuffle councillors appointed John Kinney, a defeated candidate in the 1974 election.

Trenton Could Spend Million

Park Plan to Include Plaza

By AL ZARAS
Staff Reporter

Trenton town council received with little comment or criticism Monday a centennial [illegible] that could cost up to one million dollars to implement.

The cost estimate was made outside chambers by Brad Johnson, Toronto consultant with Johnson Sustronk Weinstein Associates, Ltd., who have been working on the plan since November, 1974.

Mr. Johnson said the cost of park development could go as high as $1-million and he could not see it going below about $700,000.

He emphasized the cost need not be borne entirely by the town since sponsorship from local groups and industries could be sought. His estimated cost does not include that for the marina.

In unveiling the final draft of the park plan, he told council its central feature is a plaza tied closely to the park's waterfront.

The plaza, nestled between two man-made hills, would form a natural amphitheatre that could handle up to 4,40 people. Plaza, soccer pitch, baseball diamond and playground would all be tied together, yet separate, by a system of lined bikeds, joined by an extensive system of walkways.

The plan, previously under study by town officials, is now subject to council approval and subsequent inclusion in Trenton's official plan.

Some features of the plan:

— the existing water treatment plant is to be transformed into a multi-purpose community centre.

— a ball diamond is to be built adjacent to the existing tennis courts now in the park's southeast corner.

— washrooms and a concession stand (and possibly sport change rooms) would be located at the tennis courts, to be expanded from three to six.

— a marina, which would require federal government money, to be complete with club house and restaurant.

Eliminated from the plan as originally drafted are:

— small offshore islands termed too costly by the consultant.

— a man-made 65-70-foot land sculpture, or hill, on the waterfront that was earlier opposed by council.

— camp sites in a large passive parkland area at the park's eastern extremity.

Mr. Johnson said council estimate land fill, especially in the area set aside for the ball diamond, must be done.

Final costs would depend on the amount of detail followed in implementing proposals in the master plan he sees as lasting 20 to 30 years.

If required money was immediately available, it would take at least five years to complete, Mr. Johnson said. Land fill alone would take a minimum of three years.

Development Urged for Centennial Park Diamond

TRENTON — It is imperative a decision be made to go-ahead on plans to build the baseball diamond in Centennial Park, LeRoy Wannamaker, town recreation committee chairman, told council here Monday.

He urged council not to "dally" over plans when the prime season for grading and seeding the park site for the diamond was at hand.

The chairman's pleas were echoed by councillor Bob Wannamaker who told council he felt it should not "fool around" and decide soon.

Impetus for construction of a new baseball diamond was given in March when the Rotary Club of Trenton agreed to donate $40,000 for a diamond in Centennial Park. Plans are now stalemated because the proposed site is still owned by the town, not having yet been turned over to the parks board.

In answer to chairman Wannamaker Monday, Mayor Bob Fairick said council will meet as soon as possible with the Rotary Club to talk over plans for the new field.

Part of the funds for its construction will come from the town purse. Parks director Demo Getias estimated the $40,000 would only cover costs of grading and seeding the site.

In requesting council for an early decision, chairman Wannamaker warned that the Bay shore park now used for baseball is both "inadequate and dangerous".

He said the town would only be fooling itself if it thought it could be used for much longer: "How many years we can use it is questionable."

Trenton Retailers Ring Up $42 Million

TRENTON — In 1974, Trenton retailers rang up $42.4-million in sales, less than half of Belleville's total, but roughly a fifth of the entire county's sum of $202.8-million.

The sales picture is based on figures compiled by the Financial Post in its survey of Canadian markets.

In Trenton, a town of about 15,000 people and second largest in Hastings County, the survey reveals that personal disposable income at $4,180 is above the county average of $3,903, but below Belleville ($4,330), the county's largest municipality.

In per capita spending in Trenton's 140 retail outlets (1966 census) the town ranks first in the county at $2,830, $280 above Belleville.

Trenton's retail outlets are concentrated in the downtown area — between the old Dundas St. bridge and Division St., and Bay and Front St. However, commercial development is also taking place along Dundas, Trenton's main thoroughfare, to the town limits.

Retailers range from chain-store supermarkets, to automobile dealerships to clothing, hardware, and home furnishing outlets. In the town as a whole, food stores and car-related businesses have the largest representation.

Downtown in Trenton, numerous banks and financial institutions are represented.

Stirling Wants Cost Shared

By CHRIS ALMEY
Staff Correspondent

STIRLING — Stirling is being charged $2,005 by the Ontario Ministry of Housing for the Stirling Senior Citizens Housing Units and council wants other municipalities to share the cost.

Speaking at council yesterday, Stirling Reeve Ray Short, who was Rawdon reeve before, said a verbal agreement was made that the cost would be split, but nothing was put in writing, when he was Rawdon Reeve.

Any municipality that has similar units is charged a standard seven-and-one-half percent operating loss per year. Former residents of Rawdon, Sidney and Huntington townships live in the Stirling complex, as well as Stirling people, Reeve Short said. He said that each municipality should be asked to pay its share based upon the percentage of residents living in the quarters that formerly lived in specific municipalities. The numbers are being written in by Clerk Robert Hicks.

* * *

In other business, council heard from a local city official of a public body. Clerk Hollis Bronk is the chairman of council that the chairman of the planning advisory committee received his first meeting, whereas his counterpart in the committee of adjustment received $5 less.

Council took the $5 extra given to the one chairman away, and will pay them both the same as other sitting members, $15. It was pointed out that the previous workload no longer existed.

* * *

The Stirling Fair Board made its annual request for a grant. Clerk Bronk said that it was $300 a year for the past two years. He said it had been but $125 previously. Councillor Wayne Martin said inflation should be taken into consideration, and council went along with his suggestion of $375.

* * *

Regarding a request from another Ontario municipality for support in a bid to get the province to give grants for firefighting equipment, council learned the matter ever to fire chief Graham Mcock for a report.

Deputy-reeve Fred Brandt said that when trucks become old, parts are difficult to obtain. He called Stirling's fire trucks "obsolete" and a "burden on the village".

Bill Queried

TRENTON — A $1,434 bill from Trenton management consultants failed to get Trenton council approval Monday after councillor Peter De Groot sparked questions over the nature of the billing.

A January bill from Stevenson Kellogg Ltd., a Toronto management consultant, lacked any details upon which the charge was based according to Mr. De Groot.

We had one meeting with them," he said.

The councillor's question prompted council to give approval to the March cheque register of $408,808-plus with that one exception.

Council will request the consultants to provide a detailed breakdown of the bill.

Music Festival Opens Today in Bancroft

BANCROFT — School children, church choirs, band members, quartets and instrumentalists are busily practising and putting the final polish on their performances for the North Hastings Music Festival which will be held in Bancroft this week.

The festival, which has been a community effort for a number of years, is open to all contestants throughout its four — day run.

The adjudicator for the musical events will be Dawson Woodburn a former professor of music at Althouse College of the University of Western Ontario.

Mr. Woodburn was the adjudicator for the local festival in 1968.

Today and Wednesday, all the sessions will be held in the Lady of Mercy School auditorium while Thursday, the "locus of activity will be in the auditorium of North Hastings High School (NHHS).

Friday's session will be held at the North Hastings Senior Elementary School.

The festival of Stars, a showcase of winners from the festival competition will be held on April 16 in the auditorium of NHHS.

Practice Makes Perfect

The Junior Choir of St. Paul's United Church in Bancroft are hard at work practising for their involvement in the North Hastings Music Festival this week.

Snow Fence Stays Put

TRENTON — Council will take no action to remove a snow fence partially blocking Murphy St. in front of the fire-gutted Gilbert Hotel until it consults with its lawyers.

Council's decision came Monday in response to a request by Gilbert owner Earl Steinburg for removal of the fencing.

Town work crews threw the fence up the day after a $160,000 fire March 11 that gutted the three-storey Trenton downtown hotel.

It was felt no action to remove the barricade should be taken until either the walls of the fire-damaged hotel were re-inforced or ripped down.

Town officials have previously said supports, particularly at the third floor level, are weak and could topple into Murphy St. under a heavy snow load or high winds.

NOTICE TO VENDORS
RETAIL SALES TAX REDUCED TO 5%

In the Ontario Budget of April 7, 1975, the Honourable Darcy McKeough, Treasurer of Ontario, proposed a number of changes to The Retail Sales Tax Act to stimulate the economy. The changes noted below will take effect immediately.

PLEASE NOTE THE FOLLOWING MAJOR CHANGES:

1. Sales Tax reduced to 5%

   As a temporary measure, the 7% rate of tax on purchases of tangible personal property and taxable services is reduced to 5% until December 31, 1975 inclusive.

   The 10% tax rate on purchases of alcoholic beverages, meals over $4 and on admission charges to places of entertainment is unchanged.

2. Temporary exemption for production machinery and equipment

   Production machinery and equipment used or connected with production of tangible personal property is exempt from retail sales tax, effective April 8, 1975 to December 31, 1976, subject to notice and delivery dates to be outlined in an Information Bulletin.

3. Temporary exemption for construction machinery and equipment

   Construction machinery and equipment used by contractors or others in the construction of any real property, building, structure, fixture, road or similar project is exempt from retail sales tax from April 8, 1975 to December 31, 1976 inclusive, subject to notice and delivery dates to be outlined in an Information Bulletin.

4. Time limit on application for refunds

   Applications for refunds of retail sales tax overpayment must be filed with the Ministry of Revenue within 2 years of the date of overpayment.

VENDORS: PLEASE NOTE

Information Bulletins explaining these and other changes are in the mail to all vendors registered with the Ministry of Revenue.

In the meantime, Information Bulletins, quantities of updated tax schedules and purchase exemption certificates are available for pick-up at Retail Sales Tax District Offices, Ministry of Revenue Regional Assessment Offices and at Province of Ontario Savings Offices.

If clarification is necessary on specific questions, contact your nearest Retail Sales Tax District Office.

Ottawa Clings to 'Contract'

Government Annuitants Are Stuck With Only Four Per Cent on Investments

By RICHARD JACKSON

OTTAWA — Bet you would never guess, but there is a sizable group of Canadians — better than 100,000 of them according to official figures — the federal government has been using as guinea pigs in the one single, handy way it has so far been made to hang tough on inflation.

They are the unlucky clients of an obscure branch of the federal bureaucracy that went out of business eight years ago.

It is the Canadian Government Annuities, a branch, ironically enough, of the Unemployment Insurance Commission.

Ironical, because these 102,000 or more prudent Canadians years ago paid their good dollars — remember when they were worth something more than the current 57 cents? — into the government's Annuities Branch, with the idea, in their later years, of drawing a small, assured income. They weren't unemployed — in there years "wages" was at least a gleam in the eye of some bureaucrat's ambitious — but invest in a new federal tax-aid-to-spend program — they were workers.

And they had no remote idea of becoming unemployed and getting paid for it, for prudently, they were just plugging away at their jobs and seeking a few dollars into fixed annuities for the future.

Then eight years ago the government stopped selling and writing new annuity contracts.

But the contracts it had written with the luckless annuitants remained in force, and the branch continued in operation to receive ongoing instalments into, and payments out of the fund on maturity.

Among this group, I am a former federal finance minister tipped off a friend — there may have been more than one — to stop further annuity payments to the branch, and begin drawing payments even at a necessarily reduced amount.

Why?

"You'll know," he said, "when you see what we are going to be doing to the dollar."

What they were going to do" — and have continued doing also — was the pricing of more money, the devaluing of the dollar and the inflating of the economy.

Death yearly removes annuitants from the rolls, but currently some 102,000 remain, and the annuity fund has tripled its assets of some $1,300 million.

Now here is the rub that makes the annuitants' the bold of the whole sick inflation joke — the contributions they made to the now fat devalued dollar fund earn only four percent interest.

The government is suspect of creaming the difference between the four per cent it pays on the investment and the interest the fund earns on it at the higher going market rates.

The issue is raised regularly, year after year, in the Commons.

In simple justice to their constituents who paid into the annuity fund, MPs regularly demand:

An increase in the fixed payout to annuitants to compensate for inflation's devalued dollar.

The right of "captive" annuitants, held "prisoner" at four per cent, to withdraw the money they have contributed and deposit it elsewhere at a higher yield.

The answer is always no.

But meanwhile the government raises the yield on Canada Savings Bonds held to maturity . . . adjusts the Canada Pension Plan . . . increases the Old Age Pension and supplements (although with a niggardly hand) . . . and moves up the Civil Service pension rates, providing increases to offset inflation.

So why not the same treatment for annuitants?

Because, says the government, the annuitant gets the amount he contracted for up to a maximum $100 monthly, and a contract is a contract, even if the $100 is worth only $25.

And because, argues the government, while Canada Savings Bonds can be cashed at any time, annuities are a long-term investment — with more than 30 annuitants now 100 years or older, the payout can be so prolonged that the investor might come out of the inflation rat and take the break-even or better black.

And finally, contends the government, not every annuitant is a "shackled case," as that is automatic increase in maximum payments, offsetting inflation, as has been done with other groups, is "unwarranted."

You have got to hand it to the government — they can bang your head tough on inflation when only a helpless 102,000 or so Canadians are involved. Whose votes, if all gathered together, would not worry any politician or bureaucrat.

World of Starvation

The picture on this page of a illustrates starkly the continuing plight of a great host of children — an estimated 960 million in 112 countries — around the world.

It emphasizes also the need for further aid to agencies such as UNICEF which in 1973 had only $81 million at its disposal to these youngsters.

Only $81 million compared with the $200 billion the nations of the world spend annually for military purposes.

A UNICEF bulletin points out that an additional $14.4 million was used for relief and rehabilitation — still a modest enough sum by comparison, and remembering the further strain that will be imposed on all relief agencies by events in Vietnam.

About 70 per cent of UNICEF's long-term aid goes to equip health centres, provide piping and pumping for village wells, food production, textbooks and teaching aids; and nearly 30 per cent goes to support training of nurses and other essential personnel.

A message from the Ontario UNICEF committee points out a need for more volunteers at the community level. It asks a nucleus of interested people to form committes to sell Christmas and Year Round greeting cards and to organize the Hallowe'en program — in addition to informing people of the work of UNICEF.

Children, the bulletin rightly points out, are the world's most important natural resource, and it invites anyone interested in the organization's continuing work to write to: Ontario UNICEF Committee, 6 Pailloh Crescent, Toronto.

Child of Our Time

The child in this UNICEF picture is a victim of our times, of a harsh and brutal world. It is a world some in our own society experience in their malnourished and underprivileged state, but for the most part it is a phenomenon of the societies of Asia, Latin America, Africa and some parts of Europe. More and more it is a situation that compels the attention of the so-called "have" nations, which must concern themselves with providing both short-term relief to these peoples as well as helping them toward long-term self-sufficiency.

Pamphlet Peddlers

A number of city residents have been annoyed by a group calling themselves the Children of God.

They confront you with a pamphlet, sometimes with the inference, sometimes with an explicit suggestion that a "donation" is expected.

Since begging and vagrancy have been removed from the Criminal Code, such activity is within the realm of the law.

Impeding of traffic is about the only misdemeanor with which police officers could charge the often overly-persistent clan members.

On the surface, the problem does not seem serious. But a recent Globe and Mail expose revealed that unwilting young people are often mesmerized by such groups into leaving homes and joining them on their "crusades."

One Toronto girl literally had to be held down by experts hired by her distraught parents and "de-programmed" from a brainwashing that she says saw her collecting up to $300 a day for the particular sect she left home to join.

A number of complaints have reached The Intelligencer about over-zealous pamphlet peddlers: one woman was seen closing her car window on a young man's hands when his requests for funds at the Quinte Mall became too persistent.

This city has a bylaw enforcement officer, one of whose jobs it is to see that all lotteries and public fund drives have municipal approval. As we all know, there are few teeth in this local legislation.

What is drastically needed is a bylaw requiring specific approval for any street soliciting.

Without it, the consequences of permitting anyone to hawk whatever they want on city sidewalks far surpass the classic "buddy-can-you-spare-a-dime."

Red Advance

Remember when the United States, in the person of then Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, threatened the Communist world, the Soviet Union in particular, with "massive retaliation" if they unleashed a nuclear war.

That's all in the past now and the Communists are gaining a lot of ground, and absorbing whole nations, by conventional military and political means.

The U.S. meanwhile is drained of any will to halt the Red tide in Southeast Asia. And a final irony: remember one of the articles of the peace accords in Paris, ending U.S. involvement in Vietnam, was a U.S. undertaking to assist in the rebuilding of Communist North Vietnam.

In view of events, it is not surprising that the Americans are not giving effect to any such undertaking.

Viewpoint

Credibility at Stake

Yorkshire Post

Russia has never ceased to pour aid, including heavy armament, into Hanoi, but Congress has used the fig leaf of the Paris peace agreement to crawl away from American commitments, and in doing so to starve Saigon economically and militarily to its present state. Interests and alliances were traded for scraps of paper and assuaged consciences.

Now they await a Communist victory in Indochina to bury their betrayal. What guarantees can the United States give now? Her credibility and therefore her ability to negotiate has evaporated. The American people cannot be blamed for no longer wanting to hear about South-East Asia at all. Their country has taken a whole series of kicks in the teeth.

British Educational Policy's Diverse Image

As Viewed by Visiting Belleville Principal

Bayside Secondary School principal LINTON READ is spending a sabbatical in England attending seminars and lectures on the secondary school system there. The emphasis is on the comprehensive school system and Mr. Read is visiting a number of schools in England and Scotland.

In the following article, Mr. Read discusses the wide range of facilities and standards encountered in Britain and notes a certain British sophistication and capacity for what is called "muddling through" that tends to be lacking here.

In English secondary schools, the only thing consistent, is inconsistency. I have now visited 10 schools in and around London and perhaps I can best get to the heart of my impression by quoting the words of two headmasters.

Headmaster Mr. J. R.: "Occasionally, of course, we still send the bird red as bad boys up to 14 or 15."

Headmaster Mr. K. J.: "We are particularly concerned with two aims — to become a real community school and to develop "half-way house" techniques for young people rebelling against the seeming irrelevancy of much 'O' their studies."

There is exemplified the wide diversity of English educational policies and attitudes. The questions are exactly as I heard them from two admirably qualified and committed school principals.

Paradoxical? Mutually incompatible? Not really. All of English life is securely rooted on a contradictory between an amazing ability to adapt to radical upheavals in a whole way of life and a stubborn clinging to tradition. And so it is in education as well.

I have been large comprehensive schools with a tone and attitude that catered very quickly to the sense of acceptable dress and behaviour on the part of staff and student alike. On the other hand I have been in sexually large schools in similar socio-economic areas which were a joy to visit. I have seen five year old school buildings in a state of disrepair though to make one heartsick; but I have also been in a not quite completed secondary and community school costing $5,000,000 and highly imaginative in architecture and professed philosophy. It even included a $50,000 pipe organ!

One day I visited a residential school for emotionally and mentally maladjusted boys. England is more concerned and generous than we are with these problem people. What a terribly difficult place in which to learn! But on another day I spent several hours in a prestigious grammar school where there are no discipline problems and the results were more academic than we in Ontario; they receive a direction from the Ministry and yet every secondary school has its own board of Governors that meets each term to assist the headmaster in policy making and staff promotions. There still exist as well Her Majesty's Inspectors, but they are essentially resource and support people and are our regional consultants in Ontario. Headmasters are not required to take principal's course, or to secure a special certification and master's degrees as are principals in Ontario. There are still a number of principals of English secondary schools without university degrees of any sort!

While this is surprising, it is far from appalling. I have been very much impressed by the rich intellectual level of the headmasters whom I have visited. Although in one or two instances I would quietly question their administrative know-how and ability to relate warmly with staff and students. The real accomplishment of them all, however, is to have created a soundly based, well structured educational system in the form of teachers' deep concern with the personal, social, educational and vocational problems of his special group of students. To support him in England are much better developed ancillary services than we have available to schools in Ontario — medical, dental, psychological and social agencies on call. While there are instances of misused personnel, nevertheless the needs are recognized and are being met in every possible way.

"Further Education," too is expanding the opportunities for the non-university student very rapidly — almost to the point that like our Ontario community Colleges, institutes of higher education over here are in competition with each other for students.

One could write so much about the turmoil in education brought about by the steam roller of "socialism at any cost" that is so profoundly affecting English society. One could shake his head in despair . . . at the physical state of buildings at the bureaucratic planners, at the militancy of teachers, at the discipline and absenteeism problems. But the English ability to cope because of that wonderfully intelligent equanimity and imperturbability lead me to the firm conclusion that gradually things will work out and that British educators ultimately will achieve what they never in their aim — equality of educational opportunity for all.

I close with a twinkle in my eye. The English have a great flair for sophistication and like civilized anomalies — and so on several occasions during my visits, I was asked by principals as they opened very special sherry or claret with a decanter in their offices: "Would you care for a glass, Mr. Read?" Do you think that when I return I could introduce this custom at Bayside?

Some 797 elementary school pupils were inoculated in the first round of polio inoculation completed this week by the Public Health of Health in Grades 1 and 2 of city schools. The figure represents about 95 per-cent of all pupils registered in those grades. There were no reactions to the inoculations. The second round of the series will start April 18 and will end April 28.

Cows averaged one hundred and sixteen dollars a piece today, early part of the fifteenth annual consignment sale of the Belleville Holstein Friesian Cattle at the Belvedere hotel yards this afternoon. The highest price paid up to three o'clock was for the pure-bred cow, Lady Aaggie, consigned by W.H. Gough of Elm Hill. The cow sold was $180 to a buyer from Quebec.

Ontario Lottery

TORONTO — After at least 30 years of arguing and indecision, Ontario at last is actually getting into the lottery business.

A while ago I had to do some research in 1968 newspapers.

And one of the headlines that caught my eye was Argument Rages Over Lotteries.

Quite a common one actually in those more precious times.

The arguments, as we all know, now has been settled.

Providing all details are worked out in time — a reservation which, of course, one always has to make when dealing with acts of government — on April 17 tickets will go on sale for the first official Ontario lottery.

Then a few weeks later the draw will be made for the first $100,000 winner plus several hundred other prizes.

Following this, every two weeks there will be further draws and further $100,000 prizes.

And Ontario will be a step closer to the 1976.

It will be on a par, or close, with Ireland, Quebec, the seven provinces and those other jurisdictions through the Olympic Games, which have seen it as fitting to give the public a chance to have a bob and take in some handy loot at the same time.

I say "close" because Ontario isn't quite starting out in the big league of lotteries.

Other jurisdictions have bigger prizes and higher goals.

But though our government is willing to let its hopes be high it isn't willing to gamble that much on its own and in starting out on a smaller, and more modest scale.

In fact there apparently was quite an argument within the corporation administering the lottery about how big the approach should be.

However, the conservative element won.

In fact, considering how big a consumer item lotteries are, still have in Toronto, it is somewhat surprising that at least some people didn't object to the whole plan.

But so far as I know there has been none.

Now you sit at the wicket, and then for one little buck we can have a two-week dream of fortune.

And next, of course, off-track betting.

With reference to your article "Young Folk Want Jobs" in last night's paper, I agree with everything said.

My husband was transferred to Belleville at the beginning of the year and on enquiring at Canada Manpower was told I'd have no trouble in obtaining a job with my qualifications. What a laugh.

I have written to various companies along with numerous letters in reply to advertisements in your papers. I have not had an acknowledgment of same, best granted an interview and advised that the position has been filled.

If employers have no intention of interviewing would be applicants they should not advertise.

No wonder so many people go on unemployment insurance in order to survive.

Please, future Belleville employers, won't you help.

Home of the Week

DESIGN S4-1012
Upper — 1,136 sq. ft.
Lower — 580 sq. ft.

This Colonial split-level home illustrated combines two bedrooms on both the upper and lower levels with each level having its own full bath room with double basins. For additional space the upper level is cantilevered over the lower at the front.

Living room and dining room form an L with a good sized kitchen — over 120 square feet — tucked into the angle of the L. The living room looks on to a protected front entry and porch.

All bedrooms have ample closet space, in addition the two rear bedrooms have built-in dressers. The exterior is a combination of brick and horizontal siding and any builder could easily extend the garage to four-car width if required. The covered patio behind the garage would then be au wide that its outer end could be further sheltered by including a large storage cupboard for outdoor equipment.

Plans for Design S4-1012 cost $35 for the first set, $11 each additional set and are supplied by return mail.

60 Reps At Seminar

More than 60 Quinte area real estate personnel attended the Region seven sales seminar in Peterborough last Wednesday.

The region — one of nine in the province — has 1,800 members and is one section of the Ontario Real Estate Board.

Seminar highpoint was a discussion of the pros and cons of regional government.

New Democratic Party home leader Ian Deans spoke against regional forms and Leo Parsons, chairman of the regional municipality of Peel spoke for regional government.

Gerry Joyce, past president of the Quinte board and current Ontario Real Estate Board vice-president, said the discussions "ended up in a tie," after returning from the convention Friday.

Realtors Attend Conference

Regional government and the image of the real estate salesman were the key topics of discussion at a recent sales seminar held in Peterborough. More than 60 Quinte salesman attended the conference. Shown are provincial president Lee Hoppe, Brampton real estate broker Ernie Mitchel and Belleville salesman Bob Gibson of Joyce Realty.

Takes Action

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP) — Kingston Township's dog catcher, ordered by council to clean up the stray dog problem, is taking the crackdown seriously. At a council meeting he reported putting the "bite" on nine dogs and charging three owners with violations. Earlier, he had told council he would laid charges and usually issued a warning to the owners.

Learning Early

ST. THOMAS, Ont. (CP) — Students in kindergarten and Grade 1 at Balaclava Street School are learning how to make maple syrup. The students have tapped five maple trees on school property and will make maple syrup for a pancake feed.

North Bay Rock Structure Shows Indians Geometricians

THUNDER BAY, Ont. (CP) — A gigantic rock structure of stairways, paths and low walls, built more than 500 years ago near North Bay, Ont., indicates by its measurements that geometry was practised in Canada at least 100 years before European man arrived, an Ontario government archeologist has reported.

Allen Tyrska, archeologist with the provincial ministry of natural resources, told a meeting of the Canadian Archeological Association that the structure, on a natural slope of granite near a small lake, consists of an "elaborate configuration" of paths winding up the slope to a pavement at the top. The whole structure, built of rocks quarried from the local granite, covers an area 180 feet by 160 feet.

Beside it stands a long pile of rocks in the shape of a serpent.

Mr. Tyrska said all lengths of walls and paths are either six, 12, 24 or 48 feet—that is, a geometric progression of 1:2:4:8.

"All accessory walls are six or 12 feet long; pathways and staircases are 24 feet long; the serpent petroform, following its coiling from the tip of its tail to the tip of its nose, measures 48 feet."
